LOOMIS AND BOWEN

President Will Take Up Venezuelan Affair at Once.

TAFT SO SAYS AFTER CONFERENCE

Ex-Minister Bowen Expected In Washington Tomorrow—Secretary Refused to Talk—Paul Jones to Be Buried at Annapolis.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The case involving Assistant Secretary of State Loomis and Herbert W. Bowen, American minister at Caracas, will be taken up by the president early next week.

This announcement was made by Secretary Taft last night after a two hours' conference with the president at the White House about this and other matters. President Roosevelt will conduct the inquiry into the matter personally, and both Mr. Loomis and Mr. Bowen will be given whatever opportunity they may want to submit their respective sides of the case.

Secretary Taft has had the subject under consideration in the absence of President Roosevelt from Washington, and he will give the latter what assistance he may desire in the disposition of the case. The expectation is that both Messrs. Loomis and Bowen will be given the privilege to submit in writing any data bearing on the case.

Mr. Bowen is expected in Washington tomorrow, and the probability is the whole matter will be taken up by President Roosevelt on Monday. Secretary Taft expressed an aversion to discussing any programme which may have been agreed upon between himself and the president regarding the conduct of the case.

One of President Roosevelt's first acts after his return was to approve of the recommendation of Secretary Morton that the body of John Paul Jones be buried at Annapolis, Md., after being brought from France.

A SQUADRON FOR FRANCE.

Admiral Sigsbee Will Be Sent For Body of John Paul Jones.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The announcement was made at the navy department that Rear Admiral Sigsbee's squadron will be sent to France to bring back the remains of John Paul Jones.

This squadron consists of the cruisers Brooklyn, Chattanooga, Tacoma and Galveston. All but the last named vessel are in Dominican waters, but will proceed shortly for New York to fit out for a trip across the Atlantic.

Admiral Sigsbee will sail from New York between the 5th and 10th of June.

MORGAN AFTER ART TREASURES

Italian Government Watching Famous Collection at Florence.

FLORENCE, Italy, May 13.—When J. Pierpont Morgan was here the rumor was circulated that he was negotiating for the purchase of an art gallery belonging to an old family. This report is now revived, with certain elaborations, the gallery being that of Martelli, one of the richest in art treasures in Florence, comprising famous silver works attributed to Cellina and famous bas reliefs by Donatello and Verocchio.

It is alleged that Mr. Morgan offered $400,000 for the collection and that the owner asked $1,000,000. The government, learning that negotiations were in progress, ordered the police to keep a careful watch over the Martelli palace, as the art treasures contained in the gallery cannot be exported.

HEAD TAX ON CANADIANS.

House of Commons Discuss Demand on Excursionists.

OTTAWA, May 13.—The head tax of $2 levied on Canadians visiting the United States came up in the house of commons. Samuel Barker, the member from Hamilton, called the government's attention to the cases of John Sweet and Thomas Mayer, who recently accompanied an excursion from Hamilton to Niagara Falls, N. Y.

They were stopped at Suspension bridge and asked to pay $2 each. They intended to visit Buffalo and return to Canada the same day. They refused to pay the tax and went back to Hamilton.

The premier asked for the name of the United States official who demanded the tax, but Mr. Barker was unable to give it. The matter was laid aside for further information.

No Bread In Lodz.

LODZ, Russian Poland, May 13.—The bakers here have struck, and no bread can be secured in town. Neighboring villages are sending supplies. Some of the largest mills in Lodz are closed. The domestic servants here have gone on strike. The Jewish Benevolent association, owing to lack of funds, which Jews here are unable to secure, has ceased its work of assistance. Those seeking assistance in their disappointment broke the windows and furniture in the association's office.

Storm Hits Marlow, I. T.

GUTHRIE, Okla., May 13.—A terrific wind and hail storm has struck Marlow, I. T. Many business houses were damaged, and awnings and roofs were blown off. Light structures were demolished, and much damage to residence property is reported. The Catholic church was lifted from its foundations. A child of John Hutchinson and an unidentified man were severely hurt.

Haverford Cricketers Won.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 13.—In a cricket match played in the Harvard stadium the team from Haverford college defeated Harvard, 138 to 68 runs.

"EVEN THE GRASS WAS KILLED."

Mayor of Oklahoma City Visits Stricken City of Snyder.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 13.—Mayor J. F. Messenbaugh of Oklahoma City returned from the storm stricken town of Snyder and confirmed reports of the conditions prevailing there. He says:

"Every building in the town is damaged and three-fourths of them are good only for kindling wood. Even the grass was killed. The ground looked as if it had been run over by a big harrow.

"The track of the storm has been determined for twenty-two miles, but the dead and injured in its tracks will not be known for some time. There is plenty of help on hand to take care of the wounded and homeless and to perform the last rites for the dead.

"Those who passed through the tornado say that the full force of the storm did not last over five minutes."

The mayor added: "The scene in and around the town is one that once witnessed would never be forgotten. The army of willing workers taking care of the injured and preparing the dead for burial; the utter destruction of dozens of buildings; the dead bodies of hundreds of horses, cattle, hogs and chickens; the scattered household goods from hundreds of homes; weeping children hunting for parents, the husband seeking his wife, others looking for friends and relatives—all go to make a scene that words cannot well describe."

Troops to Assist Snyder Sufferers.

LAWTON, Okla., May 13.—Colonel Kingsbury, commandant of the Eighth cavalry at Fort Sill, has made a requisition on the war department for orders to send troops to Snyder with rations for the tornado sufferers. The engineering corps of the Oklahoma national guard has started for Snyder with seventy-five tents to be used as temporary homes for the destitute.

WHITE HOUSE GARDEN PARTY.

Railway Congress Delegates Entertained by the President.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A reception and garden party given by Mrs. Roosevelt on the grounds of the White House constituted the feature in the proceedings of the international railway congress. President Roosevelt attended the reception, as did Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks, the members of the president's cabinet who are in the city and their wives and the members of the diplomatic corps, as well as officers of the army and navy and distinguished citizens of the city. All delegates to the congress were invited.

Two hours were spent in the cool of the evening in the shade of the huge trees on the south side of the executive mansion. Although personal conversation was animated on many serious questions of the day, there were no addresses, and the function was entirely social.

The congress met in general session and adopted the conclusions reached by the sections on the subjects of bookkeeping, organization of a cheap service on branch railways tributary to main lines and traffic conveyed by automobiles.

The congress will close today. The next session of the congress, five years hence, will be held in Switzerland.

FRILLS AND FANCIES.

New Reticules—Many Colored Stones Combined In the Same Setting.

Pockets being as inaccessible as ever in the summer frocks, every well dressed woman carries a hand bag, or reticule, as it is called. This useful little article is to be had in all kinds of materials, from gold and silver to leather and silk. Some quaint and new reticules are made of cut steel and jet and in brocade, the pattern being darned into the material with gold or silver thread and set with stones.

In the smart jewelry the most unlikely stones are put into the same setting. It is not unusual to see a sapphire framed in rubies or a combination of rubies and emeralds. In fact, stones of every color are blended, and it is no uncommon sight to see as many as four or five different stones in one setting, with charming results.

There is a new silver neck chain ornamented with brilliants, each section being composed of ten small stones placed at alternate intervals and marked with a large pearl. This kind of bijou is very popular and is called the rosary chain.

The picture shows one of the smart small hats of the season. It is made of rough straw in a lovely shade of tan. Brown ribbon is folded about the crown and finishes at one side with knots and one pointed end which extends over the crown. Under the brim on the opposite side is a soft, fluffy chou made of tan and brown silk. Two quills give height to the creation.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Fruit Blossoms on Brown and Velvet Tulle Toques—A Dainty Gown.

The most perfect of fruit blossoms are on the side of brown and violet tulle hats, and tulips in variegated reds and mauves upon golden straw are wonderful imitations of the real flowers and make harmonious color with dark tailor made gowns. Indeed, color is everything in the hats of today.

A new coat is of the loose sack order in tomato red cloth. The shoulders are broadened by a cape of the same cloth embroidered in clear wheel stitch with silk and appliqued with coarse ivory lace. This is a useful coat if carried out in lightweight cloth for wear at the seashore or mountains.

A dainty summer gown is that of black organdie scattered with yellow roses and made over a slip of pale yellow. Palest blue taffeta forms the girdle and other little details about the waist, which is high, with a transparent yoke. The effect of the blended colorings is very lovely, the roses on the gauzy black showing up wonderfully well over the yellow lining.

New parasols have silk covers worked in eyelet hole embroidery and lined with silk of a contrasting color.

Foulard silks will be popular this summer, but are of a finer quality than they were last season. The new variety is called radium and is opalescent in appearance. The old conventional designs are not seen on the new radiums, pin line stripes hardly their own width apart and tiny checks having taken their place.

The gown illustrated is of dotted swiss. Around the full gathered skirt is a puffing of the swiss finished on each side with tiny lace ruffles. The waist is surpliced in effect.

NAN PATTERSON FREE.

"Florodora" Girl Leaves Tombs With Sister and Morgan Smith.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Greeted by her weeping father and later by a roaring, cheering crowd, Nan Patterson was freed on motion of District Attorney Jerome by Recorder Goff and was allowed to walk out of the Tombs, where she has remained for eleven months, not under the heavy bail that her counsel were prepared to furnish, but on her own recognizance. This was on suggestion of Mr. Jerome, who confessed that he despaired of securing a conviction and that he has presented to the juries in the two trials that were completed all the facts that he was able to gather.

The conspiracy indictments against J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Nan Patterson's sister and brother-in-law, were also dismissed and the couple went free.

Nan was waiting, attired in a new light gown and great black hat that she wore at the last trial. She has made it a point to invite the happy occasion by dressing as if to leave the Tombs whenever the rumor has come to her that she was to be freed. This time she found her preparation needed, and ten minutes after the recorder had given the order she advanced, smiling, into the courtroom.

She walked firmly to the bar, nodding to her counsel, all of whom were present. She knew what to expect, and with something of gayety and a flush on her cheek that has been absent since the ordeal of the last trial she took her position before the white haired recorder.

He told her simply and with a note of kindliness in his voice that the ends of justice had been served and that she would be permitted to go on her own recognizance. For a moment she seemed dazed and then, turning to her counsel, said:

"Am I really free at last?"

GAS HOLDER EXPLODED.

Two Killed, Forty Injured at Point Breeze Works, Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—Two men were killed, one was fatally injured and two score others were more or less seriously burned here by the collapse of an immense gas holder at the Point Breeze works of the United Gas Improvement company in the southern part of the city. The dead men are George H. Whalen, a tin roofer, and James Ogilbie, his assistant. Owen Brady, an employee of the gas company, was fatally injured.

The gas holder collapsed from some unknown cause, and the great volume of gas which the holder contained exploded with such force that buildings within a radius of half a mile were shaken. When the holder collapsed Whalen and Ogilbie were at work on a small building near by. It is believed that when the gas escaped from the holder it was ignited by the tinner's furnace, causing a great flame.

There were more than fifty men a short distance from the tank, and nearly all of them were either badly burned or scorched before they could escape from the fire zone.

Whalen and Ogilbie were so badly burned that they died in a few minutes. A general call for ambulances was sent out, and all the injured were conveyed to hospitals. About a dozen are still in the hospitals under treatment for burns.

KILLED HER HUSBAND.

Mary Carew, Dead In Police Cell, Thought to Have Murdered Him.

NEWARK, N. J., May 13.—Timothy Carew, thirty-five years old, a leather worker, was found dead with his throat cut at a furnished room house in this city. His wife, who died in the East Orange police station yesterday, is thought to have murdered him.

Nothing had been seen of Carew since Monday night, when he was heard quarreling with his wife in their room. Near Carew's body when found was a basin of blood stained water. The door of the room had been locked, but was broken in, and no key could be found in the room. Two insurance policies, one in the name of Thomas Kelly and another in that of Mrs. M. Carew, were found in the pockets of the dead man.

Where Carew was employed it was learned that he had not been there since Saturday and that his wife, whose maiden name was Margaret Kelly, was arrested in East Orange on Wednesday night charged with intoxication and had died in a cell in the police station there.

The wrapper worn by the dead woman was stained with blood. The police advance the theory that the woman killed her husband in a quarrel.

An autopsy on the body of Mrs. Carew shows that death was due to natural causes, of which the principal was acute alcoholism.

Pittsfield Express In Wreck.

DANBURY, Conn., May 13. — The Pittsfield express for New York while approaching the station here took an open switch, crossed over on the Highland division tracks and crashed into the engine of a special train which was filling with excursionists, wrecking both engines and causing considerable excitement. No one was seriously hurt, but the escape of the engine crew of the express was considered remarkable, as the engine, aside from being badly wrecked, was thrown from the track.

Earl Grey In New York.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, arrived here today on a short unofficial visit. Lady Sibyl Grey leaves for England today, and the Countess Grey and other members of the family are at Quebec to see her off.

KAISER SCORES CZAR'S OFFICERS

Emperor at Strasburg Said They Were a Complete Failure.

BERLIN, May 13.—A new version of Emperor William's speech to the officers at Strasburg differs materially from the first report, but contains a number of interesting details.

The emperor spoke for half an hour, some of his most striking utterances being:

"Young men in the army must be given more to do. They must work hard all day so as to be thoroughly fatigued by evening and want to go to bed early instead of seeking enervating pleasures.

"The officers' corps is the soul of the army and must ever be kept in trim, otherwise the army suffers. The present war furnishes examples enough of that. The Japanese officers' corps is the extremely efficient and, like the Japanese common soldier, has stood the test fully.

"The Russian officers' corps, on the other hand, has completely failed, whereas the Russian soldiers have behaved well and fought bravely.

"My son told me that Russian officers bought up all the champagne at Kaiochau. The soldier in the field must accustom himself to an abstemious life and dare not think of such things.

"In regard to field tactics, it must be said that the lessons of the Boer war have been confirmed. One must not offer himself as a target to the army, and in making or repelling attack one must not wait for pioneers."

JACQUIN WON NEW ROCHELLE.

Favorite Beat Buttling and Race King at Belmont Park.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Jacquin, backed from 3 to 1 to 2 to 1, won the New Rochelle, seven and a half furlongs, at Belmont park. Jacquin made the pace from start to finish, but had to be hard ridden at the end to beat Buttling, a 30 to 1 shot, a head. Race King was third, three-quarters of a length back.

Two favorites won, the other events going to long priced horses.

In the first race Prince Ching, backed from 60 to 1 down to 15 to 1, fell after going a short distance. His rider, Powers, received a slight shaking up. Summaries:

First Race.—Colonial Girl, first; Dandelion, second; Preen, third.

Second Race.—Yeoman, first; Lord Badge, second; Delcanta, third.

Third Race.—Jacquin, first; Buttling, second; Race King, third.

Fourth Race.—St. Estephe, first; Ironsides, second; Flipflap, third.

Fifth Race.—Merry Boy, first; Gold Sifter, second; McKittredge, third.

Sixth Race.—King Pepper, first; Toscan, second; Burleigh, third.

Cornell Won Out With Ease.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—The help of Taylor, the intercollegiate quarter mile champion who was barred by the University of Pennsylvania faculty for falling behind in his studies, could not have turned defeat into victory in the Penn-Cornell dual meet at Franklin field, as the Cornell team won out easily, the final score being 66 to 51.

Rustling Silk Won In a Drive.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 13.—In a furious drive Rustling Silk, beautifully ridden by Buchanan, captured the third race by a nose from St. Joseph at Elmridge. Rebo won the fifth race at one mile, covering the distance in 1:39½, a new record for the course.

Otto Stifel at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—Otto Stifel won the fourth race, the feature of the fair grounds card. Miss Leeds in the first race was the only long shot to win.

Weather Probabilities.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

A review of the history of the prize ring goes to show that dark horses have as a rule been the safest betting propositions in championship fights. When the champion of a certain division is matched against an aspirant he is sure to be made a strong favorite, no matter what the reports of his condition may be.

Jefferies.

The public knows what he can do, and expects him to live up to his reputation. When Jack Dempsey was matched against Bob Fitzsimmons everybody who thought that he knew anything about the game concluded that Dempsey had an ironclad cinch on the result, and figured that the Cornishman was in for a severe thrashing. But Dempsey was whipped just the same, and by a man who it was thought had not the slightest chance of a victory. So great a hold had John L. Sullivan upon the affections of the public that when he was matched against Jim Corbett for the heavyweight title in 1892 the large majority of the sports refused to look upon the young bank clerk from California in any other light than as a loser. The same thing was illustrated in the case of Jim Corbett against Bob Fitzsimmons at Carson City, in 1897. It was admitted that Fitz was a great fighter and all that, but to beat a man of Corbett's known cleverness and reputation was thought to be impossible, especially by a man like Fitz, who had the worst of the bargain in point of weight. But again the "dark horse" triumphed. After that mill the Cornishman was regarded as invincible by every one who thought he knew how to size up a real mighty pugilist. But his turn came when he tackled Jim Jeffries, at Coney Island, in 1899. Dark horses have upset calculations among the little men, too. After Terry McGovern's winning streak, and especially so after he had conquered the mighty George Dixon in a manner to convince the critics of his greatness, it was whispered all along the line that he could not lose. So when Terry was matched to meet Young Corbett, McGovern's friends were laughing in their sleeves and were figuring upon just how they would spend their money. Ring followers remember the outcome of that mill pretty well. Terry was put to sleep in just two rounds, and by a man of whom little was really known in the east. McGovern's friends thought that their man had been whipped by a chance blow, so another match was arranged. This time the affair took place at San Francisco, and the result was the same. Young Corbett's recent defeats by Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson were instances of the talent going wrong again. Joe Bowker proved to be a good dark horse when he defeated Frankie Neil recently in England. So did Pedlar Palmer when he fought Billy Plimmer the first time and repeated the dose later on. Terry McGovern surprised the fight sharps when he conquered Palmer at Tuckahoe, N. Y., as did Kid Lavigne when he went abroad and dethroned England's pride among the lightweights. This list will be increased as time goes on, and dark horses are certain to figure in ring history. In nine cases out of ten the man who bets against the favorite in a fight will come out a winner in the end.

Football plans are being laid at most of the leading eastern and western colleges, and the coming stars of the gridiron are receiving their spring training. Yost, at Michigan, is planning to develop punters and clean handling of kicks. It is expected from this that he foresees a radical change in football rules, leaning more to the "open play," and for that reason will try to get good men to punt, which will be an essential feature of a modification of the rules. Only a few men are doing anything at Princeton and Harvard as practice in the east is mainly for the purpose of getting a line on material in the universities not hitherto dealt with. Princeton wants some heavy men in the coming freshman class. It is unlikely that Michigan will get a game in the east this year. The intercollegiate football rules committee, composed of Paul Dashiell, chairman, United States naval academy; Walter Camp, Yale; L. M. Dennis, Cornell; John C. Bell, University of Pennsylvania; Robert D. Wrenn, Harvard; John B. Fine, Princeton, and A. Stagg, University of Chicago, held a preliminary meeting recently at the Racquet club in New York City.

Alone, without food, or place to rest, a bird belonging to the Mishawaka (Ind.) Homing Pigeon club will be required to make a flight across the Atlantic from Belgium to this city. The carrier has been shipped and the captain of the steamer carrying the aerial racer will release the pigeon immediately upon reaching port, then notifying the local organization by cable regarding time of liberation. It is predicted by pigeon fanciers that the flight will be successful, although never before attempted by American bird owners.

R. W. Walden, a prominent turfman and breeder, aged 75 years, died at his home, Bowling Brook Farm, near Middleburg, Md. He had been identified with the turf since a boy and was a breeder of many great horses that have won some of the biggest stakes in the country. He was a director of the Maryland Jockey club.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

The baseball games of local interest today are as follows:

Plainfield against Cuban X Giants, Crescent Oval, 3:30.

Westfield against New York Colored Giants, Westfield, 3:30.

Orange Fied Club against Hope chapel, Hope Commen, 3:30.

North Plainfield H. S. against Flemington, at Flemington.

Plainfield H. S. against Rutgers Prep., at New Brunswick.

Leal's School against Pingry, at Elizabeth.

New Market against East Millstone, at East Millstone.

"Foxy Grandpa" Denman says that he will not drop Waller for the Plainfield series. If this is true, Westfield fans will have to forego some fine games this season.

It cannot be said that the local management is afraid to meet Westfield with Waller, for the "brick-top" twirler has never defeated the local team as now constituted.

Manager Devlin, of the High Bridge team, has signed Jacoby, [of Easton, the crack pitcher, for the season. He recently shut out Newark, of the Eastern League, with one hit.

The Plainfield fans are not willing to give up their good team and forego a season of first-class attractions for one man—Waller. Let Denman do the right thing and play clean ball.

The Morristown-Chatham A. C. team cannot play Westfield, because of the National agreement and nowadays it is hard to find a first-class team that does not respect this agreement.

The following is the lineup of the Dunellen A. C. who play Somerville High School at the Madison avenue grounds, Dunellen, today: Garretson, lf; Randolph, cf; Lowrie, rf; Bogardus, 1b; Mullin, 2b; Hallam, ss; Brakley, 3b; Giles, c; Logan or Anklen, p.

The Bryant School nine defeated the Netherwoods in a hotly contested game, Thursday afternoon, by a score of 19 to 15. The batteries were, for Bryant School, Bellows and Dara; Netherwoods, Rubenstein and Wright. Dara distinguished himself by making three home runs.

"Red" Waller jumped the Bridgeport, Connecticut State League, twice, and the Sporting Life has advertised him as a blacklisted player, warning National agreement players not to engage in a contest in which he plays. Waller's wrong act should not be permitted to interfere with the series. There are other good pitchers.

GOLF.

Paul T. Kimball has been given a handicap of 15 and H. C. Munger a handicap of 17, by the handicap committee of the Metropolitan Golf Association.

F. O. Reinhart is now in training for some of the big golf events scheduled for the season. He expects to enter some of the championship tournaments.

It is expected that a Princeton class team will play the team at the Plainfield Country Club a week from today and on the following Saturday, May 27, it is hoped to have the Yale Golf Club team here.

Secretary Leighton Calkins, of the Metropolitan Golf Association, has sent out the programme for the seventh annual tournament to be held on the links of the Fox Hills Golf Club, Staten Island, May 24, 25, 26 and 27. The events will comprise the "Metropolitan Championship," thirty-six holes medal play, the first thirty-two to compete for the championship and prizes, the others to compete for cups; "Metropolitan Club Pairs Four Ball Match," eighteen holes medal play. Teams to consist of two players, both of whom must be members of the same club. It is expected that the Plainfield Country Club will be represented in this tournament.

The Plainfield Country Club schedule will offer several attractions for today which are sure to bring out a large field of players. In addition to the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, which is being contested for with more interest than ever, there will be the first play in the women's championship event in the morning for the Mumford cup. This afternoon at 1 o'clock there was golf ball sweepstake and the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. There will be a team match with a Princeton University class team a week from today. W. L. Glenney, who is captain of the local team this season, is doing good work thus far and he hopes to have a championship team at the close of the season.

There will be the usual events at the Park Golf Club, including the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club trophies. This competition is attracting many players this season and the rivalry is becoming very interesting. The course was never in better condition and low scores are the rule, even among those who did not practice the game constantly.

The event at the Westfield Golf Club today will be the continuation of the play in the qualifying competition for the June handicap. The schedule at this club is an attractive one and the season promises to be a successful one.

TENNIS.

The feature of the day's play Wednesday in St. Nicholas Rink, New York, was the victory of Holcombe Ward, the national lawn tennis champion, in the singles, over his successful opponent of the previous day, former Champion Malcolm D. Whitman. He defeated him handily. Ward was in much better form than when he played at the Plainfield Country Club on Tuesday. He was particularly good off the swiftly moving ball on the hard board court and, by hammering away at the side lines, soo had Whitman at a distinct disdavantage.

WOOD ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

Prosecution Says it Will Prove Robbery as Motive for Murder of Williams.

JURY IS SELECTED

Aphasia to be the Defense—Several Witnesses Called This Morning—Before Justice Garretson.

Neatly dressed in a black suit and looking anything but a man charged with a capital offense, George H. Wood, indicted by the Somerset County Grand Jury, faces a jury today at Somerville which will determine whether he is guilty of murdering George Williams, the Watchung grocer who was found dead in a sleigh. The crime was committed on February 2 and the scene was the Coentown road near Warrenville.

Justice Garretson is the trial judge. On the bench with him today is Judge Schenck.

Robbery is the motive alleged by Prosecutor Reger, who is assisted in the case by former Congressman A. A. Clark, and asphasia, a form of insanity, is the defense to be presented by former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, who is assisted by W. R. Codington and George Bird, in endeavoring to save the defendant from the gallows.

Thirty-two jurors called were examined. Twelve were challenged by the defense and eight by the State. Among those challenged were Frank Jones, A. G. Perry and Augustus Moore, all of North Plainfield. Forty-eight were impanelled altogether, this number being drawn from the box by the clerk. The blanket system was used. The jury was selected in twenty-four minutes.

This is the jury: John V. A. Merrill, foreman, Millestone; Joseph H. VanCleef, Millestone; Charles T. Duffield, Harlingen; Joseph Zeglio, Warrenville; William H. Polhemus, Hillsboro; Ferdinand R. VanDoren, Bernards township; Thomas Moore, Pluckemin; Edwin I. Voorhees, Rocky Hill, George Crater, Bedminster township; William B. Brokaw, Somerville; T. A. Yawger, Bound Brook; J. DeWitt Smith, Somerville.

At 10:50 Prosecutor Reger began his opening address. He declared that the crime was a cold blooded deliberate murder and told the jury that he would show that Wood, the defendant, was guilty. He offered in evidence a map, covering the territory from Plainfield to Millington and showing the scene of the crime. It was admitted in evidence after objection was made by the defense.

Prosecutor Reger said that the motive did not have to be proved but that he would show that robbery was the real motive. When Wood left New York he came out for the purpose of getting money and purchased a revolver with that intent, he dramatically declared.

His purpose, said Mr. Reger, was to visit the homes of Louis Pollock, his grandfather, and George Whitten, his father-in-law, to get money. Continuing he declared that when the alleged murderer went into Williams' store at Watchung he saw a roll of bills.

He succeeded, he said, in getting the store-keeper to drive him on the errand and after committing the crime on the Coentown road fled in terror without carrying out his purpose because he heard sleigh bells in the distance.

The Prosecutor declared that he would prove that two weeks previous to the murder, Wood was put out of his home in New York for not paying his rent and that a week before the commission of the crime he raised a check from $4 to $40 given him by Dunn & Losey, of New York, for whom he worked.

This check he gave to his grocer whose clerk cashed it. He also declared that some notes given by him were due on the day he came to Plainfield and that he had failed to pay them.

Finishing his argument Mr. Reger said that he would ask the jury to find Wood guilty of murder in the first degree.

At 10:30 Mrs. Wood, wife of the accused, came into court and Counsellor Swackhamer gave her a seat along side of his client. Wood kissed his wife when they met. A moment later Mrs. Williams, the wife of the murdered man, walked into the court room and took a seat beside the prosecutor.

Joshua Doughty, who made the map offered in evidence, was the first witness called. He is the county engineer. His testimony was unimportant.

The second witness was Eugene Pope, formerly of this city, who lives near the scene of the crime, and who gave the alarm. He told of finding the body bent over in the sleigh. The witness related how he went to the Pollock home to give the alarm and of examining the footprints in the snow and of organizing the posses to search for the murderer.

Mrs. Annie Dunwell, of Coentown, was the next witness. She said that she had come along the road soon after Pope and had seen the bent figure in the sleigh. This testimony was to prove the corpus delecti, otherwise the death of the man.

John Miller, whose farm-house is nearest the scene of the murder, was the next witness. He said that he lives within eight hundred feet of where the murder took place and that the first intimation he had had of the crime was when Eugene Pope came running over to his home. His chores boy, George Cruse, had told him that he had heard a shot fired. On cross examination by Mr. Swackhamer it was proven that there is another house nearby.

An adjournment was then taken until 1 o'clock when the session was resumed. It is said that evening sessions will be held to expediate the trial.

Williams was found in his sleigh shot through the back, in a lonely road near Warrenville, on February 2. It has been shown that Wood and Williams drove from the village together on the day of the murder and that they had never met until Wood hired Williams's sleigh.

The case against Wood is entirely circumstantial.

The defense will set up that Wood was suffering from asphasia at the time Williams was killed. He returned to New York the day after the murder and laughed when told of the charge against him. He went to Police Headquarters and there told that he had left home the day before the murder and could not recall any of his actions during that time.

Dr. Pierce Bailey, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and Dr. Frederick Peterson, medical director of the Craig Epileptic Colony, at Lonyea, N. Y., and Dr. A. L. Stillwell, of Somerville, examined Wood in March. He was also placed in a trance by a hypnotist, but even under that influence could recall nothing of the happenings of those three days.

P. B. A. HAS THE HABIT

Cuban X Giants This Time the Victims of Crack Team.

THE SCORE WAS 8 to 5

Beisel in the Box for Winning Team—Pretty Fair Exhibition of Ball.

Entirely without racial animosity, but nobly determined to withstand the black peril that has engulfed Newark's pink and white hosts, Captain Dave Driscoll's league-scarred heroes handed another one to the colored brother Saturday afternoon. Corrected list of the dead and wounded: Plainfield, 8; Cuban X Giants, 5

As a baseball exhibit, the Giants will pass. Not so swiftly as the Philadelphia Giants, but they manage to get by. In the matter of side-shows, though, the X brand of Giants is not in the top-line class. They played so silently that the assembled beauty and chivalry harbored dark suspicions that they were burnt-cork artists from black-list circles. Clarence Williams, one of the old whooper-up sort when teams from the other side of the color line played ball as much with their mouths as with the rest of their mechanism, was the only tinted athlete who made a try for the elusive giggle of the multitude, and his display of verbal hits and stops was as one-old-cat to a big-league game compared with Monroe's airy outpourings.

Things were so quiet that the crowd didn't warm up until the fifth, when the X Giants, having seized some opportunities with skill and judgment, accumulated a lead of one run. It looked then as if Dave Lamar's silent band were on the verge of pulling off the catastrophe that the Philadelphia wonders were unable to dump on Davey's devoted head. When they increased the lead by another tally in the sixth, the fears became painful in their obtrusiveness and interest deepened, particularly in the clouded bleachers. Thereupon, stung by injured pride, Dave spat on his hands, glared balefully at the scoreboard and yelled for biffs. Followed a juicy error and a tornado of swats. When the excitement died down Plainfield had five more runs, and one better than the Giants could turn out all through.

Hon. L. Groo's infant phenom, James Lester Montgomery Beisel, was in the shooting box. Up to the fourth he defied the colored brethren to do their worst with marked success. There was a painful pause in the defiance when Talbot opened that session for the Giants. Jimmy got two strikes on him, and immediately thereafter ignored the plate for three flings running. Then James carefully lined one over the plate. When Mr. Talbot got through with the ball he had time to walk around the bases twice. It was so good in the home-run class that Pete Oregan didn't bother to sling it back any quicker than a bat-boy returns a stray foul. Jackson was an easy out, and a sharp double between Oldring, Kiernan and Driscoll retired the side after Wilson toddled. But after that James was roughly handled; if his pals hadn't been on their responsible positions every minute terrible things would have happened several times. In the remaining five tries the Giants reached James eleven separate and distinct times. The fielders worked like pipe-dream imps, Cosgrove going particularly hard on the running-catch game.

The Giants scored in each of the two succeeding innings, one on Oldring's wild throw and the other on timely biffs. That put them on the good side, 3 to 1. Then came the blow-up. One down, Oldring shot a pop high in the circumambient. Ball got under it, but he didn't have molasses enough on his breadhooks. That little muff fixed things. Rube snooped unmolested to second, and waited. Connolly flied out, but Peter Cooper Oregan, late of the Cincinnati High School, got there with a single and Reuben made his mark at headquarters, Pete settling down at second. Kiernan swiped one into left, and stole the second step, both runners registering on Michael O'Mara Leonard's bump to center. Davey used right field for his. Mike went to third and Davey took a tainted sack. Lamar thought right was pretty good and put his contribution there. Leonard scored on the bump, and a fool throw to second opened the homeward way for the busy captain from third. Beisel corked the molasses jug with an easy one to short.

Thereafter the Giants were nix. They scored, and on clean hitting for the main part, but the Daubsters

HELD UP BY TWO MEN

Felix Chargois Says He Was the Victim of Highwaymen.

THEY GOT NOTHING

Waylaid at Richmond Street and Norwood Avenue Last Night—Reported to Police.

Felix Chargois, driver for the Lindsay dairy, was held up at the junction of Norwood avenue and Richmond street, at 8:30 o'clock last night. The highwaymen, two in number, allowed Chargois to go on when they found that he had nothing worth taking.

Chargois was driving a wagon from the freighthouse with a load of milk. The men sprang to his mule team's heads from either side of the road, and ordered him to halt.

"Have you anything in there in the shape of money?" he was asked.

They wouldn't take his negative without question, and made an examination of the wagon body. Chargois was in his working clothes and they evidently thought it unnecessary to look for a haul on him.

"Nothing here," said the spokesman after a search. "Be on your job," he said to Chargois, and the couple sprang to the ground and disappeared up East Front street. Chargois reported the incident to Patrolman Saunders.

Chargois says they were white, and well dressed. One had on a new derby. They didn't appear to be drunk.

BOSS MURPHY'S AUTO BUTTS A FENCE POST

TAMMANY CHIEFTAN'S TOURING CAR RUNS AMUCK.

A big touring car, with three men in it, ran amuck for a few seconds on West Front street yesterday afternoon, and smashed a fence in front of S. C. Peck's house. The machine was running eastward at a fair speed, when the wheels became caught in the trolley tracks. In working the auto loose, the chauffeur shot it on the sidewalk, and it hit the fence post before he could bring it to a stop. A lamp and the front of the car were somewhat damaged.

The chauffeur told Roundsman Flynn that the auto belonged to Charles F. Murphy, 65 East 67th street, New York. The machine was numbered 14,846 N. Y. and 6,761 N. J. Roundsman Flynn says nobody in the auto looked like the Tammany leader. He didn't get any names.

Linderman Disqualified.

After being assured that he would be permitted to use Ernest Linderman as the pitcher for the local team during the season, Manager Daab was notified on Friday by Secretary Knowles, of the New York National Club, that Linderman is on the reserve list of the Giants and will not be permitted to play with any other National Agreement Club.

OBSERVED ANNIVERSARY

Trinity Church Ladies' Christian Work Society.

GOOD REPORTS GIVEN

Address by Missionary Worker a Feature of Session Last Night.

The twenty-fourth anniversary of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, of Trinity Reformed church was observd in the church, last night, when reports were read and an address by Rev. Dr. Poole on missions was given. The members of the society entered the church in a body and occupied seats together.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor, read a letter to the society from Rev. James Cantine, stationed at Veloor, India, thanking them for various articles. He had stamped all of the articles "Plainfield," and they were the first received from any society or church and were put into use at once.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read by Elder Robert Clark, Jr. The report of the secretary, Mrs. Mary A. M. Newell showed an enrollment of forty-nine active and fourteen honorary members, a gain of three over last year. Ten regular and two special meetings were held, with an average attendance of twenty-three. Through the efforts of the missionary committee in collecting five cents a month from each family in the congregation the society has been able to divide the sum of $71.65 between the two Women's Boards of Domestic and Foreign Missions.

Last fall the sewing committee sent a box valued at $101.65 to a missionary's family in South Dakota; also a barrel of clothing to the colored school at Aiken, South Carolina. During the year the decorations of the church have been looked after and the sick cheered by gifts of flowers and plants from the flower committee.

A recent talk by Mrs. Page, field secretary for the native Indian work, netted a collection of $93.65 altogether and through the society, sent to the Women's Board of Domestic Missions, to be used in Commanche Indian work. In answer to a plea from Mrs. Burrell, president of the Women's Board of Foreign Missions, a special contribution of $35 was made to that board; also a special gift of $10 toward the outfit and traveling expenses of Miss Lillian Hart, sent as a missionary nurse to the Mary Taber Schell Hospital at Veloor, India.

Other special gifts have been $5 to the Volunteer Students' fund, $5 to the Mountain Whites, of Kentucky, to the Arabian Mission, pillow cases, sheets, towels, bandages and two women contributed $5 each to Arabian Missions. To the home church an individual communion service was given at a cost of $39. Muhlenberg Hospital and the W. C. T. U. and needy people were aided financially. Altogether, $365 was given to various objects.

One death occurred during the year in the society, Mrs. Abram VanCleef being called away.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., for 1904-1905, show that $373.06 was collected in the general fund and $6.77 in sewing fund, making a total of $379 83. The disbursements of $380.56 were for various missionary objects, as enumerated in the secretary's report. There is a balance of $76 69 in the treasury.

After the reports, Rev. Dr. Charles H. Poole, of Somerville, at present holding a position on the Domestic Board of Missions, made an earnest address on domestic missions. He told in a lucid way how the money sent to the Board was used. He paid a deserved tribute to Trinity church and the different societies for the amount of their annual gifts and the promptness with which they were received. He complimented the Ladies' Christian Work Society for their share in the funds received and asked them to continue to be in the future what they had been in the past. He told of the number of new churches in the West that were receiving help from the Board and closed his address by calling attention to the great need of funds and Godly men and women to help make men and women of the thousands of immigrants who are daily landing on our shores.

Record-Breaking Crowd at Show Grounds Saturday.

LARGE RECEIPTS

Indians Have Arrived—Dancing a Drawing Card—All Attractions Popular.

Fully 10,000 people entered the carnival grounds Saturday. The first "matinee" was held in the afternoon, and in spite of baseball, golf and other attractions, all of 3,000 pleasure-seekers were on the grounds. The evening crowd was the record one of the three days. Receipts took a big jump.

All the shows, big and little, did a heavy business and the untented attractions were kept busy.

Another breakdown put the merry-go-round out of commission at about 9:30 o'clock p. m. Chairman Fisk had men at work on it almost immediately and the big machine will start up again tonight.

Dancing was added to the list of attractions at night, and a highly popular addition it proved to be. The platform was crowded with whirling couples all evening.

The hit-the-nigger game went into commission for the first time. The concessionaire induced a mysterious and daring youth known as "Slats" to brave the shots. The game made big money.

The Animated world took a jump in popular favor. People all over the grounds talked of the remarkable village in miniature, in which wooden figures three inches high went to church shod a horse, danced to a fiddler's music, and worked a mill outside which a water wheel turned, and rowed around a lake. It is the only thing of its kind in the world.

The Oshkoshites were responsible for the ticket selling and barker corps. They had the following collection of amateur showmen on duty: Arthur Peck, J. C. Sellers, William Heffman, Theodore Howse, Harold H. Miller, George Muir, William Rushmore, Owen Fleming, C. W. McGee, Kenneth Phillips, Peter Sweeney, Robert Meeker, Jr., Fred Goddard, H. Reeve Stockton, M. J. Dumont, J. B. Dumont, Jr., T. M. Muir, John Cose, Herbert Fluck, Hugh Gray, C. F. McCann, Peter Fleming, Edward Grannati, Joseph Robinson, G. B. Cose, Cortlandt Adams, Walter Swaim.

The Red Men will run the show tomorrow night, and Wasohung Council, Knights of Columbus, will have charge Wednesday night.

It was announced at the headquarters tent that the Elks had signed for another gambol on the grounds next Friday night. Special features will mark the occasion.

The Vando-Curriculum, where Mascot, the remarkable trained horse appears, and the Southern Jubilee singers will run a changed programme this week. The Shelbys, who have a great line of mysteries, will extend their programme.

Full blooded Indians are the latest attraction at the Carnival. The tribe arrived today and have pitched their tents to be ready for tonight's performance. They are Chief Long Feather, Chief Dark Cloud, Bright Eyes, J. White Eagle, Jim Little Bear, Old Deer, Deer Foot, White Rose, Whippoorwill and Prarie Flower. Sun, snake and war dances, hunting, capturing and torturing will be among the numbers on their big bill, which will change nightly. A Punch and Judy show will also be added to the forty odd attractions.

A handsome Decker & Sons piano with player and full library of popular music, worth $700, will be entered as a prize tonight in the most popular lodge contest. Twenty-five cents a throw.

NO ONE HURT.

Only Two Got Bumps in Carousel Accident.

A break-down of the merry-go-round at the carnival grounds Saturday night started a scare from which a fine sheaf of rumors was launched. Two little girls received bumps on their heads, and that was the only harm done, but the carnival crowd, unable to learn exactly what had occurred, started its own news bureau.

The merry-go-round will be in shape for service, it is hoped, by tonight. Chairman Fisk, of the carnival committee, has had the contrivance carefully inspected, and if it runs it will be absolutely safe. Mr. Fisk has made this a personal matter.

A NARCOTIC POISON

Herbert Croker's Death Looked Like Foul Play.

WAS SHORTLY TO MARRY MISS HORTON

Clothing Worn by Young New Yorker Proved to Be Not His Own—Newton's Chief of Police Doubts Murder Theory.

NEWTON, Kan., May 15.—Additional evidence has been found that convinces the local authorities that Herbert V. Croker of New York was drugged and robbed in Kansas City before being placed on the Sante Fe train on which he died.

The coroner's jury has rendered a verdict that the young man died of narcotic poison administered in Kansas City, and investigation has shown that the clothing he wore evidently was not his own, being of cheap material and badly soiled.

The hat Croker wore had on it initials other than his own and bore the trade mark of a Minneapolis (Minn.) firm.

HERBERT V. CROKER.

His own clothing evidently had been stolen and other garments given to him. No jewelry or valuables of any kind were found on his person.

The local authorities have not performed an autopsy upon the body and will not unless instructed by the Kansas City police to do so.

The coroner's jury brought in the following verdict:

"We find that said Herbert V. Croker came to his death on Santa Fe train No. 17 while between Kansas City, Mo., and Newton, Kan., from the effects of narcotic poison taken into his system at Kansas City, Mo., before boarding said train by means and manner unknown to this jury."

T. F. Cunningham of New York has arrived here and positively identified the body of the young man as that of Herbert V. Croker. Mr. Cunningham was passing through Newton on the way to Arizona and, learning of Croker's death, stopped here to see that the body is properly taken care of. He met Herbert's brother, Richard Croker, Jr., on his arrival from New York.

In an interview Miss Horton, who was engaged to be married to Herbert Croker, said: "I do not believe the story that Herbert was an opium fiend and that he was a hard drinker. He drank, so far as I know, only as they say a gentleman should drink, and I certainly never saw him drunk or even under the influence of liquor.

"I am deeply grieved over the awful manner of his death, and I cannot but feel that he has been the victim of foul play somewhere."

Richard Croker, Jr., was met by two detectives at the station, and they told him the wishes of his brother's visit to Kansas City. Mr. Croker asked if it were possible that his brother had been murdered, and when told that the result of the investigation did not justify that belief he intimated that he would take the body to New York at once and that no further investigation of the case would be requested.

Chief of Police Hayes said:

"I am confident that young Croker met with no violence or foul play in Kansas City. I think that the young man's constitution was not strong enough to stand the form of dissipation that he indulged in there. After drinking hard he smoked opium, which proved too much for his heart."

Wanted a New Mamma.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—Responding to the earnest pleadings of his five-year-old daughter, Edna, Henry M. Lawson, late catcher of the New York National baseball team, led Miss Lillian Mayme Shoemaker to the altar. This terminates an episode unique in the line of romance. A few days ago Lawson and his little daughter came to Des Moines and registered at the Dakota hotel. Fifteen minutes later little Edna pointed out Miss Shoemaker, the hotel stenographer, as the lady whom she would like to have for a "new mamma."

Braun to Get Proper Protection.

VIENNA, May 15.—With regard to the controversy between the Hungarian authorities and American Immigration Inspector Marcus Braun the American embassy here has received instructions from the state department at Washington to afford Mr. Braun all proper protection and report on the case fully. Mr. Braun is coming to Vienna to confer with Ambassador Storer.

Demented, He Jumped Into Mohawk.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., May 15.—The body of James Donaghy, a prominent resident of Frankfort, was found in the Mohawk river here yesterday. While demented Donaghy jumped into the river six weeks ago.

AN EMPEROR'S WIFE

Boston Italians Fooled by an Austrian Fraud.

CLAIMED FRANCIS JOSEPH'S THRONE

For Eight Years Dupes Have Paid In Their Cash, Hoping to Be Ennobled When "Carlotta" Came to the Throne.

BOSTON, May 15.—A woman who claimed to be Carlotta, the wife of Maximilian, former emperor of Mexico and brother of Francis Joseph, present emperor of Austria, has, it is reported here, left the city after securing some $40,000 from members of the Italian colony on the pretense that she was the rightful claimant to the Austrian throne.

She is, it is said, being sought by over 100 residents of the north end district, who for almost eight years have been paying her money to enable her, as they supposed, to gain possession of the Austrian throne, upon which event taking place she promised that those who helped her would be made ministers and nobles and be given vast estates. One woman, the wife of a prominent Italian, gave her $3,000 on the strength of the promise that she should be made a duchess. An organ grinder contributed a few hundred dollars, all his savings, on the understanding that he should be made court musician. Others contributed tens and hundreds on similar assurances.

Many Italian residents secretly visited her at her royal headquarters, a handsomely furnished room in a dwelling house on the corner of two south end streets, where the pseudo queen sat on an imposing throne, resplendent in red cloth and tinsel and graciously allowed them to kiss her hand on the occasions on which they brought her tributes of money. At each side of the throne stood fake courtiers and a bodyguard who clanked stage arms.

Mysterious secrets such as would overthrow the present Austrian ruler were credited to this woman. When she appeared in Boston eight years ago it was mysteriously whispered among the few in the north end that Carlotta, sister-in-law of Emperor Francis Joseph, was in Boston in disguise, having escaped from Brussels, where she had for many years been confined in an asylum.

Italians are fairly familiar with Austrian history, and when they were told that Carlotta had come here to collect a few faithful followers on whom she could rely and enough money to return to Austria and use in connection with her all powerful secrets and that those who aided her would bask when she gained the throne in her royal favor they believed their fortunes were made.

Carlotta's aids in this vast enterprise were a number of select and dashing young men of various nationalities, among whom was one, Moriarity, who represented himself to be the Crown Prince Rudolph, the eldest son of Emperor Francis Joseph, who in January, 1889, shot himself.

Recently the Italians were getting rather suspicious and began to hint openly that Carlotta and the henchmen were delaying matters. Recent visits to the throne room disclosed that the birds had flown.

Railway Congress on Tariffs.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The conclusions adopted by the international railway congress, which has closed its seventh session here, have been officially announced. The most interesting related to railway rates, on which, after a prolonged discussion in which every country in which railways are operated was represented, the congress unanimously expressed its conclusions as follows: "Tariffs should be based on commercial principles, taking into account the special conditions which bear upon the commercial value of the services rendered."

Graves Was Tired of Living.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 15.—John M. Graves, about twenty-three years old, son of Charles Graves of Pawtucket, R. I., committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart, probably Saturday evening, in his room in this city. He was last seen going to his room at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and his body was found yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The man had apparently been dead nearly twenty-four hours. He left a note saying, "I am tired of living and have nothing to live for."

Thirty-four Still at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 15.—None of the thirty-four victims of the South Harrisburg railroad disaster are yet able to leave the Harrisburg hospital. With the exception of George Loeffler of Pittsburg, Miss Anton Piler of Cleveland and Harold Elfreth of Philadelphia all are believed to be out of danger. Loeffler is in a critical condition and may not live. The other two are expected to recover.

Clarke of Binghamton Led.

UTICA, N. Y., May 15. — Robert Clarke of Binghamton was awarded first prize and George D. Southwick of Plattsburg second in the interscholastic speaking contest at Hamilton college. The prizes were $20 and $10. Syracuse High school won by thirty-seven points in the athletic contests.

Was Crushed to a Pulp.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 15.—Timothy Cullinane of Canandaigua, forty-five years old, was killed in that village yesterday afternoon while attempting to jump on a trolley car. He slipped off the rear platform and was crushed to a pulp by a trailer attached to the car.

A STRIKE MARTYR.

Chicago Teamsters at Funeral of Only Union Victim.

C. S. PIERCE SHOT DEAD BY SHERIFF

Two Thousand Men Marched With Muffled Drums—Said to Have Assaulted a Nonunion Driver. Slayer Exonerated.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Marching with draped banners and muffled drums, more than 2,000 union men followed the body of George S. Pierce, a striking teamster, who was killed by a deputy sheriff, from his home to the Union station, whence the body was taken over the Pennsylvania railroad to Louisville, Ky., for burial.

No funeral services were held in Chicago, but the escorting of the body to the station was made the occasion of a labor demonstration in which not only the Teamsters' union but organized labor generally participated. The men, marching solemnly four abreast, each wore on his coat lapel a white button with this inscription in black, "We mourn the loss of a murdered brother."

Even the spectacle of three coal wagons manned by nonunion negroes near the Union station elicited no more than mutterings as the column filed by. The only break in the serious mien of the men occurred when a patrol wagon, called in anticipation of trouble by two policemen in charge of the coal wagon, galloped to the scene. Then cheers and handclapping, mingled with shouts of derision, broke out along the line for a block. But there was no work for the police.

The procession formed near Pierce's home, and immediately following a carriage bearing the aged mother, sister and two brothers of the decedent came thirty carriages occupied by union labor officers. In the first carriage was President C. P. Shea of the Teamsters' union, with Vice Presidents John Sheridan and E. J. Mullen. The succeeding carriages contained officers of the various locals of the Teamsters' union and of other affiliated unions. At intervals along the line were the banners of the different locals and four American flags, each draped in black. Eight hundred marchers fell in behind the carriages at the start. All along the way other detachments joined their ranks until when the station was reached the column extended ten blocks. A brass band marched at the head. Eight strikers who had worked with Pierce were the active pallbearers. Eight other striking teamsters were honorary pallbearers.

Pierce was an employee of Rothschild & Co. as driver on a delivery wagon. He was shot by Special Detective F. P. Waldorf. He is the only union man who has lost his life during the strike, and he is regarded by other union men as a martyr to the union cause. Pierce is said to have assaulted a nonunion driver in the presence of Waldorf. Waldorf was exonerated by a coroner's jury.

The decision of the teamsters to fight the owners will be reconsidered, as a call has been sent out for another meeting of the teamsters' joint council tonight.

Another death has been added to the list of strike victims, making a total of nine deaths. John Cahill shot James Jennings, colored, in the head and killed him. Jeffries Will Turn Miner.

CHICAGO, May 15.—James J. Jeffries, heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, has been knocked out. Disease accomplished what no human being was ever able to do. A combination of rheumatism and malaria has put the pugilist out of the fighting game for all time, according to Jeffries, who, cancelling all engagements, last night started for Los Angeles to try to regain his health. In the future it is Jeffries' intention to devote his time to several mining claims which he and his brother possess in Arizona.

SIR WM. STRONGBUTT TO ATTEND CARNIVAL

GUEST OF HONOR ON KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS NIGHT.

One of the features of the "Knights of Columbus" night at the Carnival and Fair on Wednesday night, when Watchung Council, of this city, will have charge, will be the attendance in a body of Bayley Council, Knights of Columbus, of Elizabeth, escorting as guest of honor, that Council's talented initiation goat, Sir William Strongbutt. Sir William's diet is a mixture of broken bottles, moth balls, resin, etc., but the royal custodian of his most worshipful goatship has been for some time endeavoring to regulate Sir William's menu and hopes by Wednesday to have him in such frame of mind that he can be escorted to and from Plainfield without arousing the ire of various police departments.

The affair will be managed by a committee of fifty, of which A. E. Kenney is chairman and A. Arthur Cannon secretary. It is expected to have two noted male vocalists at the Carnival who will sing popular songs in front of the Knights of Columbus headquarters.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Township Board of Education will meet today. A member of the Board said Saturday that the body will order the erection of the new $30,000 school without delay, and push the work to a rapid conclusion. The members are said to resent the reports that they have been dilatory in attacking the school problem, and intend to show the village and township voters that they are as anxious to get the work over and done with as the most ardent supporter of the project. Not much of the mandamus or certiorari talk is heard now, and a clear road seems to be ahead of the proposition.

There will be a special meeting of the Council tonight. A hot fight on the trolley loop question is expected. A report from the committee of the whole that went over the Sanford property on Saturday afternoon, in relation to the drainage of surface water, will also be handed in.

Freeholder Staats is hard at work to induce the State road commissioner to honor the freeholders' requisition for work on the short stretch on the New Market-Stelton road, continuing it from Center street to the Union County line.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hopkins, of Elizabeth, are happy over the arrival of a bouncing baby boy. Mrs. Hopkins resided here several years ago; she is a sister of Mrs. Charles Ross.

The recently elected officers of the Epworth League, of the M. E. church, were installed last night. Rev. S. K. Doolittle, the pastor, delivered a brief sermon.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the First M. E. church, will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival Thursday night.

A lecture will be delivered at the Presbyterian chapel tomorrow night. Professor Sutton Fletcher will be the lecturer.

The school money from the State this year, for the borough, will amount to $100 more than last year.

Contractor P. J. Staats has driven stakes for the macadamizing work on Dunellen avenue.

Reginald A. Hollister, of Westfield, has rented the small house at Conover's corner.

A number of local people attended the carnival in Plainfield Saturday night.

John Peters, of Cranford, visited his parents here yesterday.

W. E. Terry has ordered a curb laid along his new property.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The running team of the High School Athletic Association finished third in the relay race held Saturday at the athletic meet of the Pingry School at Elizabeth. This was the only event the local association entered and considering the number of entries, which included the best teams from schools in this section, the members are to be congratulated upon the showing made. The local team consisted of Joe Carrone, George Brick, Joe Chilton and Frank Carter.

Rev. T. Moore-Smith, of the Baptist church, will deliver a lecture in the borough fire house, Saturday night, May 27, upon "Poetical Ireland." Mr. Smith, beside being an interesting speaker, is considered an authority upon Irish poetry, so the lecture will be a treat for the residents of the village and borough.

The P. A. C. team added still another victory to their unbroken list Saturday afternoon by defeating the strong Cuban X Giants at Crescent Oval. The Westfield team took its first defeat of the season, the New York Colored Giants doing the trick.

The Muhlenberg Hospital carnival being held corner Darrow avenue and Fourth street, Plainfield, has sprung into popular favor here, many from town being found on the midway every night spending their money in the good cause.

Harry Flannery, who is employed by a large electrical company at Schenectady, N. Y., is spending several days with his sister, Mrs. George H. Johnston, of Westfield avenue.

Augustus D. Shepard, Jr., of New York, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shepard, at "The Gables."

Mrs. George L. Dunn led the weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. held last night in the church parlors.

Scotch Plains and Berkely Heights crossed bats yesterday afternoon on the Berkely diamond.

Miss Marion Goodwin has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

George Baldwin, of Rahway, spent Sunday with friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Board of Education met in regular session this afternoon. The proceedings of the last special school meeting having been forwarded to the Attorney-General for approval may be reported to be in conformity with the statue so that the Board may be able to proceed with the erection of new school buildings.

The Township Committee will be in adjourned session tomorrow afternoon to take up the passage of a repealing ordinance of the Piscataway Water Company, which they claim was obtained by misrepresentation.

With the building improvements now being made in the village it is hoped by many that the old dilapidated red barn located on one of our principle streets will be removed.

This township will receive $4,517.53 as its apportionment of the State school money for the year.

G. A. Steengraff, of Newark, visited his father and mother here yesterday.

Cessation of Cop Gymnastic.

W. S. Tyler, chairman of the police committee, has decided that beginning with June to call off police gymnastics at the Y. M. C. A. until fall. This meets with the approval of the members of the force.

WASHINGTON LETTER

PHILIPPINE PARTY DWINDLING CONSIDERABLY IN NUMBER.

EXPEDITION NOT A JUNKET

Senate in Recent Years Has Lost Many of Its Distinguished Old Men—Majority of Our Presidents Have Been Masons.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary Taft has caused consternation among the congressmen who have been contemplating a trip with him to the Philippines. The congressmen had supposed that their expenses would be defrayed from some public fund or other and they are somewhat surprised to learn from a recent statement of the secretary that they will only be furnished with transportation. They will have to pay for their meals and Pullman fare to San Francisco; for their meals on board the transport across the Pacific and for their subsistence while in the Philippines. The secretary calculates that this means an outlay of about $500 per man.

As this trip was proposed for the purpose of enlightening the prominent statesmen on many questions affecting the Philippines and the general government, and the results of the expedition are to be shown in general legislation, a number of the congressmen cannot understand why they are called upon to give up good money of their own for the benefit of the Philippine government. Secretary Taft believes that every cent expended on this trip will be well invested, and also that all the expenses of the party should be defrayed either by the Philippine government or out of the United States government. He is restricted, however, in the extension of the hospitality of the Philippine government, as some very finnicky auditors of the treasury department might question the accounts, with bills to come in for feeding and otherwise entertaining the statesmen.

It now looks as though the party would be much smaller than at first anticipated. It is very doubtful if Speaker Cannon will be a member of it, although the declaration of Secretary Taft that the trip cannot in any way be regarded as a junket, removes a very serious objection that "Uncle Joe" had to it.

Senator Newlands.

IN THE hearings now in progress before the interstate commerce committee of the senate a pretty wide range of questions is permitted. This freedom is taken advantage of by Senator Newlands of Nevada, who is very fond of poking questions at high railway officials and securing all sorts of information. He does not always confine himself to the exact subject under consideration, but wanders a good deal into general fields of political economy. Mr. Newlands is a very strong advocate of granting charters by the national government to corporations doing an interstate business. In his cross-examination of railroad men before the committee he is sure to lead up to his hobby.

There has been a disposition on the part of Senator Elkins, chairman of the committee, to restrict cross-examination to the main subject under consideration, that of the government fixing railway freight rates. He has not, however, checked Mr. Newlands in the latter's inquiries, and the reason given is because the Nevada senator is "such a good fellow." Mr. Newlands is entitled to being termed a good fellow, as he is one of the most royal hosts in Washington. He lives in a century old mansion on the heights overlooking the northwest section of Washington, and the broad lawns and rambling rooms of this old home are ideal for the exhibition of whole-souled hospitality. The senator delights in entertaining here numbers of his colleagues, and no pleasanter evening can be spent than at his almost baronial dining table. The interstate commerce committee has had this pleasure more than once, and it is easily apparent why Mr. Newlands is given free rein in his line of questioning at the committee rooms.

Mr. Newlands has invested may millions of money in the development of Washington, and especially its suburbs. Through his wife much of the Sharon estate came to him, and he has invested it about the capital city where returns are reasonably certain.

The Late Senator Platt.

NO MAN will be more missed from the United States senate than Orville H. Platt," was the remark of Senator Spooner of Wisconsin when the news came of the Connecticut senator's death. Mr. Platt was one of a half dozen republican senators who virtually controlled all important legislation in the senate, and that meant its control in congress. Not one of that half dozen gave more time and thought to the country's interests than did Mr. Platt. His deep study of every question and his sound, common-sense judgment made him the most trusted of all the leaders.

There were many men more brilliant in the senate, but none more honest or able. Mr. Platt had no vanity, and he never tried to learn the tricks of an orator. He was somewhat ungainly in appearance, and when he arose to address the senate he seemed to get out of his seat in sections. He was very tall, and as he came up out of his chair slowly he seemed to unlimber a section at a time. He had a somewhat querulous voice and spoke in jerky fashion. His gestures were strained and awkward, but he was never at a loss to find the proper language in which to express his ideas, and they were always listened to with the closest attention.

Mr. Platt was very fond of out-door life, and not long before his death he remarked that in the previous 25 years he had probably lived five years out of doors. He had a lodge in the Adirondacks, being first attracted to those delightful surroundings by the talks and writings of the late Rev. W. H. H. Murry, who was for some years pastor of a Congregational church in Connecticut, of which Senator Platt was a deacon.

Some of the Older Men.

THE death of Senator Platt emphasizes the rapidity with which old and famous men are being taken out of the United States senate. One year ago there were 14 men of national reputation on the rolls of the senate who were above the scriptural limit of three score years and ten. To-day there are just nine senators who are over 70 years of age, over one-third of last year's number having crossed the Great Divide. Those who have passed away in the last 12 months are Senators Quay, Hoar, Bate, Hawley and Platt.

This mortality among the older statesmen inspires the question of "Who will be the next?" There are now serving in the senate at more than three score and ten years of age Senators Morgan and Petus of Alabama, Teller of Colorado, Cullom of Illinois, Allison of Iowa, Frye of Maine, Platt and Depew of New York, and Proctor of Vermont. The weight of increasing years is plainly visible on some of these noted statesmen. Senator Morgan of Alabama has aged very perceptibly in the last year. He has lost flesh and, although still able to make a prolonged speech, his voice has lost much of its fullness, and after an hour or two on the floor he is compelled to seek the indulgence of the senate while he sits down and rests in the course of his speech.

Senator Frye of Maine, president pro tem of the senate, is another who is showing the burden of years. Mr. Frye has had frequent weak spells in the last year or two and is not nearly so vigorous as some of his older colleagues. A long rest this summer, most of which he will spend at his lodge on the range of lakes in Maine, may restore much of his vitality, but his friends have been watching him with anxious eyes. Senator Platt of New York is probably the feeblest man in the senate, but as he has been in that condition for some years the chances are he may outlive many of the more robust senators. Teller of Colorado is becoming bent and stooped with his 75 years, and even the hard-working Allison is beginning to desire a little more rest.

Well-Known Statesmen Masons.

THE great majority of presidents of the United States, from Washington down to Roosevelt, have been members of the Masonic fraternity. Mr. Roosevelt did not become a Mason until after he had been elected to the office of vice president. In the winter following the election of 1900 he became a member of Matinecock lodge at Oyster Bay. He has been elected to receive several high degrees in masonry, but the pressure of public business has prevented his taking them. He will probably wait until he retires from the presidency before going through these initiations.

Vice President Fairbanks also became a Mason after his election to the vice presidency, but it is his intention to take as many degrees as possible in the near future, so that when 1908 comes around he will be a full-fledged Mason of the several degrees, including the Knights Templar and the Scottish rite degrees up to the thirty-second. Mr. Fairbanks entered a lodge in Indianapolis during the Christmas holidays last winter, a special dispensation having been granted in order that he might take three degrees in one day. During the present year he expects to take the remaining degrees of the York rite.

The best known of Masons among presidents of later years were Garfield, Harrison and McKinley. Garfield and McKinley were Knights Templar, and usually attended the conclaves of that order. Andrew Jackson was at one time grand master of the grand lodge of Tennessee. John Quincy Adams was one president who was conspicuously opposed to Masonry. He was elected during the days of the anti-masonry excitement and talked and wrote against the order with considerable vigor. A poll of the house made a few years ago showed that 87 per cent. of the members were Masons, and a similar poll of the senate showed that 80 per cent. of the latter body belonged to that order.

FREAKS OF FASHION.

Stitching Still a Popular Dress Trimming—Cashmere Much Worn.

The fancy for rows of stitching still prevails. An extremely pretty walking dress in brown cloth has a close fitting vest in a lighter shade of brown entirely covered with stitching. The collar and cuffs of the long open coat are trimmed to correspond. The buttons used on this gown are of antique silver.

Cashmere will be in vogue for early summer frocks. A tasteful model for afternoon wear is of pearl gray. The bodice is draped to simulate a bolero outlined with velvet in a darker shade than the cashmere, and the gown has a yoke of Irish lace. Over the small yoke is a fichu of alencon lace caught in front with two pink chiffon roses. The puffed and gathered sleeves finish at the elbow with wide revers of peau de soie. The full undersleeves are of white silk muslin.

A pretty name given to the latest fancy in Parisian matinees is that of "liseuse." Silk and lace are the materials most in use for these pretty jackets.

The stunning evening gown illustrated is carried out in black jetted net. It is made en princesse. Wide black velvet ribbon outlines the dress from the decollete neck to the skirt edge. The bands fit into the figure at the waist and broaden out on the skirt at the knee. Lace and mousseline de soie trim the decollete neck and the short sleeves.

Flowered Nets and Muslins—How to Make "Tub" Summer Frocks.

Flowered net and muslin gowns are going to be more worn this summer than ever before. The new designs are lovely, and when made up over a slip of china silk of a harmonizing shade the effect is charming.

The flowered net frocks are trimmed with a profusion of German, valenciennes and mechlin laces, often used in combination with exquisitely sheer embroidery.

The skirts are made very full, ruffled and flared into as much fullness about the feet as possible. The waists in many instances have little yokes of all over lace or strips of insertion put together with beading and outlined with two ruffles of wide lace set one directly on top of the other. This double ruffle gives a pretty, fluffy effect.

Many of the most effective thin summer frocks have full skirts gathered or tucked at the waist and falling free. They are trimmed with ruffles between bands of tucks or with the newer flat trimming consisting of insertion applied in bands edged with lace ruffles top and bottom.

A dainty trimming is made of bands of flowered wide ribbon set on with fancy stitches or between narrow insertions of lace. The same ribbon is used for girdle and waist trimming either in knots or bretelles, which are very smart this summer on dressy costumes.

The smart little toque illustrated is of yellow neapolitan straw. It is becomingly lifted off the face by an indented upturning brim, which is jauntily trimmed at the side with a chou of black velvet ribbon caught through a dull gold buckle. Around the shallow crown are rosettes of the velvet ribbon, and a band of this faces the under side of the brim at the edge.

The Secret of Woman's Unrest—Furnishing the Guest Chamber

"This is certainly the age of unrest," remarked the bachelor as he read of another woman who had encircled the globe.

"Only for women," put in the bachelor girl. "You men seem to care only for eating and drinking and selfishness."

"Personalities again," observed the bachelor dryly. "But I never saw anything to beat the modern woman. A few years ago man was supposed to be the more volatile of the two, and mothers, with bated breath, used to instruct their daughters how to keep him home from the club and how to retain his fickle fancy. Now it's the man who has to look out. In a few months, according to newspapers, woman tires of matrimony and the humdrum existence it entails. She wants to travel, to keep on improving herself, to see more of life. Naturally hubby objects. Why isn't she content to be just plain married like his mother before her? Why should a woman want to compose music and write novels and be an architect, a lawyer, a doctor, any of these unnatural things? Why not occupy herself right in the home? And, do you know," went on the bachelor, "that's what I ask myself, and that's one reason why I don't want to marry."

"As to that—m'—m'—" chuckled the bachelor girl, "I could tell you very easily the reason of woman's unrest. She hasn't as much to do as formerly. Compare the life of the present woman with that of her mother before her and her mother's life with that of her grandmother and watch the difference. Life is being made easier for women all the time and more difficult for men."

Domestic Difficulties.

"More difficult for the man. Will you kindly explain that?"

"It's very easy. I said life had been made easier for woman. So it has by apartment hotels with all conveniences, by department stores, which keep everything from a needle to an automobile, and by countless other devices. But these all cost money. The cost of living is now twice what is used to be, dress is more elaborate, dressmakers and tailors charge more. What used to be considered luxuries of the table are now necessities. We eat lettuce and tomatoes and strawberries out of season because they are in the market and we cannot resist the temptation. The price of an apartment in a skyscraper is many times that charged for the rent of a house formerly, and, unlike the house, it gives its mistress no occupation whatever, for everything is done almost automatically for her. Now, what is she to do? Sit at home and cross her hands? No, indeed. She tries to find some means to pass the time that will not bore her. It is even worse with the woman who has married a poor man. Rent, fuel and the comforts of life are the same price for her as they are for her more fortunate sister. There is practically no way in which she can save materially. Home dressmaking, that great economy of our mothers' time, is almost denied to her because modern dress is too complex to be attempted by the amateur. So she determines to help make money instead of wasting time trying to save it. She does not gain anything by staying quietly at home, for the work there is almost all done for her, and it would not be much of a gain if she did the little there was, but she does gain by earning a fat salary and increasing her money making powers just like a man."

The Guest Chamber.

How few women know how to furnish a guest chamber! For instance, there should be coat hangers in the closet. They are indispensable, and it is hard to make room for them in a trunk. A soiled clothes bag is another necessity the visitor does not find in one room out of ten. A small desk, with paper of assorted sizes and pens, is simply a blessing, and a hot water bottle has often been very much appreciated on cool nights.

MAUD ROBINSON.

BRUTAL COSSACKS.

Girl Students at St. Petersburg Slashed With Whips.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 15.—The widely heralded May day demonstrations in St. Petersburg were a complete fiasco, and reports from Moscow and the provinces indicate that order reigned generally throughout the entire extent of Russia.

Minor disorders are reported at Reval, Kishineff and one or two other places, but no reports of serious tumults or loss of life have been received. More or less tension and agitation were apparent in the industrial quarters among workmen promenading under the eyes of Cossacks with whips in their hands.

At the Preobrajensky cemetery, where the principal meeting in honor of "the January Martyrs," as the victims of "Red Sunday" are popularly called, had been advertised, Cossacks dispersed the crowd, the more aggressive of whom sang the "Marseillaise" as they were crossing the fields.

On Vassili island, where a dozen students, mainly girls, sang the "Marseillaise" and gathered a crowd, Cossacks cantered up and dispersed the crowd with whips, seeming to take special pleasure in slashing the girl students with their whips, but the latter apparently were anxious to pose as martyrs and deliberately provoked attack by singing revolutionary songs. The affair gave rise to rumors that a number of persons had been killed.

Vice Admiral Nazitoff was shot and killed by an orderly in his room here. The orderly fired three shots from a revolver at the admiral.

The crime is attributed to the anger of the murderer at his dismissal from the service.

Emperor Nicholas has sanctioned an important law, permitting the Poles to purchase land in the kingdom of Poland. They were deprived of this right after the insurrection of 1863, the land tenure of Poles being limited to land acquired by direct inheritance. The inability to buy land has been ever since one of the chief grievances of the Poles.

At Simferopol an incendiary fire which started here on Saturday destroyed more than 140 shops, mostly belonging to Jews.

TRAIN WRECKERS AT WORK.

Six Santa Fe Passengers Badly Injured Near Emporia.

EMPORIA, Kan., May 15.—An Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe passenger train was ditched by train wreckers just east of this city. Six passengers were injured, and two probably will die.

James Euger of the Soldiers' home at Leavenworth was fatally injured. J. O. Rice had his left ear partly torn off, Nate Hendricks of Roswell, N. M., was seriously hurt, J. L. Cooper had his elbow fractured and E. A. Taylor, the conductor, had cuts on scalp and four teeth knocked out.

This is the fourth attempt in the last four months to wreck passenger trains in the same place. Previous attempts were made by piling ties on the track, but without serious results. The wreck was caused by removing the spikes and fish plates of two rails on the inside of a curve. The locomotive passed over the loose rails safely, but a mail car left the track and was dragged 100 yards along the embankment before the train was stopped. The next five cars, two express and baggage cars, a smoking car and two day coaches, went into the ditch across the right of way fence. The end of the baggage car went up in the air high enough to ground the telegraph wires. Two Pullman cars remained on the track.

The passengers were asleep when the wreck occurred. There is no clew to the wreckers.

Well Known Actress Dead.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Jessie Bartlett Davis, a well known actress, died suddenly at her home here yesterday. The cause of her death was heart disease, produced by nephritis. She was taken ill on Friday and on Saturday morning became unconscious, from which condition she never recovered. She first became prominent on the stage while she was connected with the Bostonians. Her first engagement on the stage was in the role of Buttercup in "Pinafore" about thirty years ago.

Took Trip Around the World.

NEW YORK, May 15.—When K. Kapia, a native of Honolulu, who arrived here on the steamer Cedric in custody of Sheriff Henry C. Vidd, reaches Honolulu he will have completed a trip around the world, more than half of which was made as a fugitive from justice and the remainder as a prisoner. Kapia is charged with the larceny of $15,000 in bonds in Honolulu.

Wreckage From Ill Fated Aransas.

CHATHAM, Mass., May 15.—Considerable wreckage, supposed to be from the steamer Aransas, which sank in Pollock Rip slue a week ago, was washed ashore during the day. Only one mast of the Aransas could be seen above water, and it is believed that the other was broken off by some vessel passing during the night.

Bank President Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 15.—Meldin B. Copeland, president of the Middletown National bank, is dead here in his seventy-seventh year, death being caused by a general breaking down of the system. He had been president of the bank since 1883 and was treasurer of the Connecticut Hospital For the Insane.

FRENCH NEUTRALITY.

Tokyo's Report on Movements of Russian Warships.

LONDON, May 15.—A Tokyo report says that latest telegrams from Indo-China indicate the presence at Honkohe on Saturday last of seven Russian battleships, seven cruisers, two torpedo boat destroyers and four converted cruisers.

Since the appearance of the Russian fleet in the far east Saigon has become a base for the transportation of military supplies for Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet. The number of vessels furnishing supplies to the Russians is so great that those anchored at Saigon are countable by tens.

The governor general of Indo-China had officially reported that the Russian fleet had entirely departed from Kamranh bay on April 22, but on April 23 there still remained in the bay one cruiser, one torpedo boat destroyer and fifteen transports of the Russian fleet. On April 24 the entire Russian fleet re-entered Kamranh bay and rode at anchor until April 26, when a majority of the warships sailed, leaving behind four converted cruisers and one torpedo boat destroyer. These latter vessels took supplies of coal and provisions. On April 26, toward evening, these vessels stopped and examined the German steamer Loosook and the Norwegian steamer Providence, which passed outiside of the bay. On April 27 more than thirty Russian vessels were anchored at Honkohe, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon they stopped and examined the British steamer Stettin which was passing.

According to the French official report Vice Admiral Rojestvensky promised Admiral de Jonquieres that he would leave Honkohe on May 3. It is evident, however, the Russian admiral did not keep his promise.

A Saigon (French Indo-China) dispatch says the British steamer Carlisle has been detained there on suspicion of carrying contraband of war.

Pittsburg Nationals Won.

BROOKLYN, May 15.—At Washington park the Pittsburg Nationals won from Brooklyn by a score of 5 to 1. The local men were easily outbatted, and Leever outpitched Eason. A home run hit over the right field fence by Clancy, a great catch by Howard and a splendid throw from deep left to the plate by Sheckard were the features.

Chicago Americans Win.

CHICAGO, May 15.—The Chicago Americans defeated New York by the score of 9 to 3. Puttnam was a little unsteady, allowing Chicago to make five two-base hits and giving five men their base on balls, three of whom scored. The difficult one hand catches made by Chase, who later made a home run, were features of the game.

Chicago, 5; Hoboken, 1.

NEW YORK, May 15.—In a ten inning exhibition game played on St. George's cricket grounds, Hoboken, N. J., the Chicago Nationals defeated the Hoboken team by a score of 5 to 1.

Philadelphia Won Handily.

ST. LOUIS, May 15.—The Philadelphia Americans got eleven hits off two St. Louis pitchers and, assisted by many errors by St. Louis, won handily, 10 to 2.

Now Digging Tornado Cellars.

LAWTON, Okla., May 15.—As a result of the tornado at Snyder, Okla., the inhabitants of the "new country" in Oklahoma are digging 5,000 tornado cellars. City officers and town boards are urging the construction of such caves, and some towns have passed ordinances requiring the digging of them.

Admiral Dewey Ill.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Admiral and Mrs. Dewey have reached Washington from a brief visit to New York. The admiral still suffers from the sore throat and cold in the chest which he contracted while away. It is believed that the indisposition is but temporary and will soon yield to treatment.

Storm Swept Sulphur, I. T.

ARDMORE, I. T., May 15.—In a storm which swept over Sulphur, Ada and other points in the Chickasaw Nation a number of houses were destroyed. The body of John Layton was recovered from the ruins of the Harper hotel, destroyed at Sulphur.

AUTO BOATS SUNK.

Race From Algiers to Toulon Ended In Disaster.

TOULON, May 15.—The auto boat race from Algiers to Toulon has ended unfortunately, all of the boats participating in the second stage of the run from Port Mahon to this port being either sunk or disabled, owing to a heavy storm when still many miles from the finish. Happily the arrangements for escorting the craft were efficiently organized and loss of life was avoided.

The seven racers left Port Mahon Saturday morning at 4 o'clock for Toulon. A torpedo boat destroyer accompanied each auto boat, while two cruisers followed.

The sea was somewhat rough at the start and soon became worse. The competing boats were unable to withstand the violence of the storm and requested the warships to tow them. Shortly afterward the Mercedes C. P. sank, men from the torpedo boat destroyer Hallebarde rescuing her crew.

The cruiser La Hire hoisted the F. I. A. T. and her crew aboard. The Camille was abandoned, the destroyer Dard saving her crew. The Heracles II. is adrift, but her crew is on board the destroyer Sarbacane. The Malgre-Tout sank, and her crew was taken on board the destroyer Carabine. The Mercedes-Mercedes had to be abandoned, the destroyer Pertrusane saving the crew.

There is no news concerning the Quand-Meme, about which there is considerable anxiety. Her crew consists of seven men, including the Duke Decazes. The cruisers Desaix and Kleber are searching for the vessel.

The storm which overtook the frail craft shortly after their departure from Port Mahon was of terrible intensity, the waves attaining a height of twenty-five feet. It was impossible to keep the flotilla in tow, steel hawsers breaking repeatedly, owing to the sea's fury, and the destroyers themselves being in imminent danger. In several instances they were compelled to cast off tow lines in order to avoid sinking themselves. Some of the competitors, however, persisted in racing until they were swamped.

When the crews were landed at the Toulon quay by the destroyers a great gathering of sympathizers awaited them, the event having attracted sportsmen of many nations to the finishing point, owing to the international character of the original entries, which included French, German, Italian, British and American boats. The latter two, however, did not take part in the race, owing to their late arrival.

BOWEN AND LOOMIS TANGLE.

Cabinet Member Suggests Both Be Dropped From Service.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—When the charges reported by Henry W. Bowen, American minister to Venezuela, against the official integrity of Francis B. Loomis, assistant secretary of state, came up in the cabinet meeting one of the members suggested that both minister and assistant secretary be dropped from the public service.

"The affair has become such that there is no other way to quiet it," this cabinet officer is said to have remarked.

How President Roosevelt might have regarded it did not develop, for Secretary Taft, who is temporarily in charge of affairs of state, expressed the opinion that such a course would not be fair to either man, since charges had been preferred and had become a matter of public knowledge. With that the subject was postponed for the conference which Secretary Taft and the president had at the White House.

Mr. Loomis had a personal conference with the president and handed to Mr. Roosevelt his formal written answer to the charges reported by Mr. Bowen. This answer is a detailed denial of all the charges and an explanation of the circumstances surrounding some of them. What he said and what the president said are things concerning which no information is obtainable. The seal of silence has been set upon the lips of all concerned in this affair.

Mr. Bowen is in Washington and will see Secretary Taft and probably the president today. The president has taken full charge of the investigation. This is a relief to Secretary Taft, who was a classmate of Mr. Bowen for four years at Yale as well as being a friend of Mr. Loomis.

It is not yet announced whether there will be a general hearing of the charges or whether Mr. Bowen and Mr. Loomis will be brought face to face or each will see the president alone.

So far as existing relations with Venezuela are concerned, diplomacy is at a dead stop. The Bowen-Loomis affair has blocked everything in that direction. Before this matter developed President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft were inclined to intervene to protect the rights of the New York and Bermudez Ashphalt company. They have not changed their attitude, but until the Bowen-Loomis affair is closed up there will be no action.

DAMAGING TESTIMONY RULED OUT

Evidence as to Wood's Financial Condition, Motive Alleged for Murder, Not Admitted After Vigorous Fight Between Counsel—Defendant to Take the Stand.

PROSECUTION HAS CLOSED AND DEFENSE BEGUN

Swackhammer Fails in Attempt to Have Court Dismiss the Case, His Plea Being That Motive Had Not Been Proven—Insanity is the Defense Outlined by Wood's Lawyer in Opening His Case When Court Reconvened.

Baffled at every turn in an attempt to prove their assertion that George H. Wood was in financial straits a few days previous to his eventful trip to Plainfield which led up to the murder of Grocer Williams, today's session of the accused man's trial was one of defeat for the prosecuting lawyer.

Witness after witness brought from the Harlem district, where the prisoner lived, was placed on the stand but Counsellor Swackhamer objected to their testimony when they sought to speak of Wood's money matters and Judge Garretson sustained him.

Prosecutor Reger and Hon. Alvah A. Clark were in constant communication and sought by every legal tactic to get in the evidence they believe would bear them out in their opening address to the court that Wood killed Williams for the purpose of committing robbery but lost his nerve when his companion in the sleigh fell back dead.

It was plainly evident to the spectators that they were greatly chagrined.

The prosecution closed its side at 11:45 and the defense commenced at the afternoon session, Counsellor Swackhamer making the initial address.

His motion, however, for a dismissal of the case this afternoon, on the ground that a motive had not been proven, was refused.

He has fifteen witnesses, among them several noted alienists and medical experts to prove insanity. In reply to a question, he said that Wood himself would be allowed to go on the stand and tell his story to the jury

"He has convinced us," said Mr. Swackhamer, "that he was mentally irresponsible; why not the jury"

The summing up will in all probability begin tomorrow noon.

Despite their setback in attempting to prove motive, the prosecution has presented a strong case. The last links were soon woven this morning in the chain that has traced Wood's movements from the time he arrived in Plainfield until he was arrested in New York the day after the fatal ride over the Warrenville and Cocntown roads.

Alfred Jennings and other testified as to seeing the cutter go by their homes; George Cruse, chore boy for John Miller, told how they passed him in the road and how he heard a pistol shot and a groan after they disappeared in the wood patch beyond the house.

Coroner W. Howard Toms testified as to the autopsy and exhibited the murdered man's clothing with the blood stains and powder marks still upon the shirts and coat.

He exhibited the bullet extracted from Williams' heart and County Physician Taylor and Dr. William Long, of Somerville, related the medical details as to the cause of death.

Chief of Police Kiely, of this city, told how he had worked up the clues that led to Wood's arrest and of the finding of his suit case in Blimm's hotel. This was produced in evidence and the contents were shown the jury. Beside articles of clothing they comprised a box that had carried a revolver, a half emptied box of .32 cal. cartridges and three empty shells. The bullet that killed the grocer was of this same calibre. The revolver has never been found.

New York witnesses who tried to tell what they knew of Wood's doings in the city during January, 1905, were kept from it by the defense's objections which were upheld by the court. These witnesses were Wood's landlord, who put him out for not paying rent; the head of the Eagle Iron Works, who advanced Wood money on notes that were not paid, and a sergeant-detective at police headquarters, New York. The names of several New Yorkers were called but they did not respond. Wood's groceryman who cashed a check that the prisoner raised from $4 to $40 did not answer when called.

When the court refused to allow the testimony from this source is depleted the State's witnesses and there was a delay from 10:55 until 11:40, when Jacob Blimm, Jr., was recalled to identify the suit case found in his father's hotel. Dr. William Long gave further details about the position of the bullet to conform with measurements of the sleigh as submitted yesterday.

At this point the State rested and at Counsellor Swackhamer's request adjournment was taken until 1 o'clock.

At 1:45 this afternoon, Mr. Swackhamer concluded his address and his motion for dismissal of the case by the court on the ground that the prosecution had failed to prove a motive being denied he stated that he would prove that Wood is a lunatic and should be in an asylum, that he is mental irresponsible, that from January 30 to February 5, Wood was entirely out of his mind.

He said that he would also show that Wood's sister committed suicide three years ago by taking carbolic acid and that there was insanity in the family. He also referred to the fact that Wood had scarlet fever when a boy and that his mind had been more or less affected ever since.

Mr. Swackhamer said that he would call experts and alienists to prove the unsound condition of Wood's mind and would refer to the imaginary person, Jacob Welfe, who Wood says introduced him to the mysterious man Mack, and that he would place Wood on the stand and let him tell his own story.

Wood will be called this afternoon by the defense.

The testimony brought out during yesterday afternoon's long session was unimportant, simply serving to link Wood as the man who had committed the crime. Practically everything submitted by the State's witnesses was allowed to pass unchallenged by Counsellor Swackhamer and his associates as what they told was merely a repetition of their stories before the coroner's jury. There were times when a question or two might have made the evidence assume a different aspect but they were not forthcoming. It indicated clearly that Wood's lawyers intend to rely solely on the extraordinary defense of a dual brain or double personality, that the man's evil self compelled him to the crime and that he was therefore irresponsible at the time.

In one sense of the word, the "star" witness of the session was George Whitten, the aged father-in-law of the prisoner. In his day he has been an actor and a school teacher and his answers at times showed that he is possessed of a keen and ready wit. When being questioned by Prosecutor Reger as to his relationship to Wood he was asked:

"Wood married your daughter, didn't he?"

"I believe he did," was the quick reply, "but I can't say for a certainty as I didn't see the ceremony."

Again when he was asked what made Wood change his mind about returning to Plainfield two nights before the crime, in order to remain at Whitten's home, the old man ejaculated:

"Why, don't everybody change their mind at some time or other. Certainly they do, especially women."

The murder was committed on Thursday and Wood appeared at Whitten's home, totally unexpected, the Tuesday evening before. He was admitted by William Stites, who then occupied a portion of the house, and was made welcome by Whitten, although it was generally understood that they were on bad terms because of a disagreement they had while conducting a blacksmith and wheelwrig t business at Scotch Plains. In his testimony Whitten declared he acted in an altogether different way than what he had been used to seeing and he wandered about for an hour or more talking about different matters. He declared that he was having good luck in the city and in support of this statement he pressed a two-dollar bill in Whitten's hand, telling him it "was his just for luck." This unusual good nature nonplussed the father-in-law for a moment and the defense brought it out strongly that it showed that Wood was doing queer things. Whitten said he (Wood) wanted him to go to New York with him and take a position as his bookkeeper and they had practically agreed when it came time to retire.

The two slept together that night and in the morning Wood left to go to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Pollack. He was met just beyond the Whitten line fence by Ferdinand Linnertz, Mrs. Pollack's hired man and they went off together, afterward driving to Plainfield. Whitten said as they passed off, he heard three revolver shots, which it was shown were the three that Wood had fired when asking Ferdinand as to whether the dog with him was afraid of shooting.

The first witness on in the afternoon was Henry Kline, a farmer, whose residence is just east of John Miller's home, beyond which the crime was committed. Kline told of seeing a sleigh with two men in it passing by his place and thought nothing more of it until informed of the murder. He was one of the posse which followed the tracks from the sleigh to near Millington and described them, but on cross examination he was unable to tell as to whose shoes made them. He also failed to identify Wood as one of the two men who had gone by in the sleigh.

William Miller, another farmer, gave testimony concerning the searching of the body and also as to the thickness of the woods about the point where the murderer jumped from the sleigh. In cross examination it was brought out by Mr. Swackhamer that John Miller's house can be seen clearly from a point fifty feet from where the tracks started.

Israel V. Adams, Antone Ammen and Frank Winn, all residents of the Cocntown road, who formed part of the posse that took up the tracks from the sleigh and followed them to the Pollack place and to near Millington, offered similar testimony to that effect.

Miss Emma Marvin, of West Millington, positively identified Wood as the man who had stopped at her home shortly after 12 o'clock on February 2 and inquired the way to Millington station. Mrs Nellie Fenimore and Miss Ida Coriell were put on the stand and told of seeing a man answering Wood's description hurrying along toward the station about 1 o'clock but neither identified the prisoner positively. They were followed by Charles Day, a schoolboy, who told this same stranger the time of day, and Randolph Giddes, of Millington, who had offered him a ride to the station, which was refused, but they also were unable to say the prisoner was this person. They declared there was a resemblance but that the stranger had a moustache and the prisoner hasn't. Wood removed his moustache just previous to his arrest.

Jacob Blimm, Jr., told of Wood coming to his father's hotel on Somerset street, this city, on Monday, January 30, and detailed his movements about the place until he went away on the morning the crime was committed. He said Wood asked to have a room for one week and casually remarked that he had come to Plainfield to secure some contracts for iron work. He described the man's appearance and positively identified Wood as the same, remarking that he now has no moustache while he had one during his stay at the hotel. He also identified Wood as the prisoner he had seen at police headquarters, New York, two days after the murder.

Jacob Long, hostler at Blimm's hotel, gave unimportant testimony as to meeting Wood at the place and Charles Roberts, who managed his father's livery business on West Front street, told of renting Wood a sleigh to go to the Pollack place two days before the crime was committed. The sleigh was driven by Eugene Wood, who went on the stand and told of his taking George Wood up. He identified the prisoner as his passenger.

Ferdinand Linnertz, the Pollack hired man, who now resides in New York, related how he had met Wood at the Pollack place on Tuesday night and made an agreement to take him to Plainfield the next morning. He met him as agreed just off the Whitten place and as they were returning to Pollack's, Wood pulled a revolver from his pocket. He asked if the Pollack dog, that was frisking about, was afraid of pistol shots and when told by Linnertz that he didn't know, Wood fired the pistol three times. He informed Linnertz that they were blank cartridges and nothing more was said about the circumstances. Linnertz took Wood to Plainfield and that was the last he saw of him until his arrest.

Henry C. Hood, superintendent of the W. T. Kirk Company, of this city, testified that a man calling himself George H. Wood had appeared at his office on Thursday morning, February 2 and asked if the firm wanted to give out any contracts for structural iron work. He was informed that the firm did all its own constructing and a general conversation followed, Wood afterward leaving for the Watchung avenue trolley terminus with the expressed intention of going to the Levering & Garrigues structural iron plant at West Dunellen.

STROKE FATAL TO SAMUEL S. GUION

ATTACK OF PARALYSIS IS FOLLOWED BY DEATH.

Samuel Seabury Guion, a well-known resident of this city for nearly twenty years, died at his home in Carlton avenue, last night, as the result of a paralytic stroke on Monday night of last week, following his attendance at the Church Club dinner held at the Casino.

Mr. Guion was about fifty-five years of age, and by profession was a civil engineer. He was deeply interested in religious affairs, being a liberal contributor to St. Stephen's church. He was a member of Grace church at the time of his death. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Mr. Guion is survived by a wife.

JUDGE CODINGTON ON INVESTIGATING COMMISSION

ONE OF THREE NAMED TO LOOK INTO TEACHERS' FUND AFFAIR.

Charles J. Baxter, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, yesterday announced the commission to investigate the State teachers' retirement fund. The members are Byron O. Mathews, instructor in science in the Newark high school; William H. Codington, of this city, former city judge, and member of the Assembly from Union County in 1896 and 1897, and Charles R. Hartshorne, lawyer, of Jersey City.

The commission was named under the authority of resolutions adopted by the New Jersey State Teachers' Association at its annual meeting December 29, 1904.

DOG ATTACKED GIRL.

Tore Her Clothes and Inflicted Ugly Wound—Bite Cauterized.

While picking flowers one day last week, Miss Clara Barton Smith, daughter of William O. Smith, of Grandview avenue, was attacked by a large dog owned by Mr. Kent, of Summit avenue. The dog jumped on the girl's back, tearing her clothes and inflicting an ugly wound. Mrs. Kent, attracted by the girl's cries, hurried to the scene and drove the dog off. She took the girl home. Dr. Norman H. Probasco cauterized the wound. No serious results are feared, although the wound is healing very slowly.

Twenty Years Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Conger, of Mountain avenue, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding, last night, when they entertained forty relatives and friends. During the evening there was a programme of music and games were played. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Boy Bicyclist Hurt.

Louis Siegel, 14 years old, son of Julius Siegel, of West Third street, rode his bicycle into D. T. Kenney's carriage at Park avenue and Second street, this forenoon. He fell under the wheels and his arm was bruised. The wheel was smashed. Mr. Kenney paid for the damage done.

DOCTORS AS "BARKERS"

Those Who Cure Physical Ills Strengthened the Receipts.

MOUNTAIN OF SILVER

Indians Prove a Drawing Card at the Carnival—Punch and Judy Tonight.

The first bit of bad weather didn't affect the Carnival very much. After the shower ceased just before 8 o'clock last night the people trooped into the grounds in goodly numbers.

"We piled up profits tonight just the same," said Secretary Lovell at closing time, as he scooped a small amount of silver into a gunny sack.

Doctors were on duty at the attractions. They worked so faithfully that a conference on "Threatius Barkerium: Its Cause and Tested Cures" was held in headquarters tent after the shut-down. The sufferers at the conference included Drs. Buchanan, Carman, Ard, Cregar, VanHorn, Norman Probasco, Clawson, B. VanD. Hedges, E. W. Hedges, Murray, Long and Pittis. Holes in the barking corps created by a lack of doctors were filled by Carroll Runyon and Irving Clark.

The merry-go-round was running as usual. It has been strengthened all through, and not even a minor break in any part of it is expected to occur again.

The Indian band arrived on time, and gave eight highly interesting shows. There are Senecas, Iriquois and Canandaiguas in the band, and they show the gaping palefaces how the corn, the sun, the war and the snake dances go. A double-knife duel over an Indian bride was on the bill, and other Indian sketches. It is a great show.

Gus White's big Punch and Judy show was set up last night, but not quite ready for showing. It will be started tonight. It is said to be the funniest in the show business.

The piano and piano player, with library of music rolls, which are to go to the lodge receiving the greatest number of popular votes, at twenty-five cents per vote, was on exhibition in the Muhlenberg tent. Forty ballots for Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, were cast.

The other voting contests are livening up a little. Hose Company No. 3 seems to have a cinch on the clock. There are sixty-three ballots in the box for No. 3, and none of the other houses has any. The other contests score up as follows: Letter carriers—Loughlin, 2; policemen—Higgins, 21; Kiely, 9; conductors—Higgins, 1; baseball players—Cosgrove, 1; Martin, 1.

Tonight the Redmen will have charge of the ticket selling and barking.

RED MEN TO RUN CARNIVAL TONIGHT

K. OF C., TOMORROW NIGHT; KNIGHTS TEMPLAR THURSDAY NIGHT.

Miantonomo and Wetumpkah tribes will meet in their lodge rooms tonight at 7 o'clock and after they have donned their full regalia march steal down to the Carnival grounds. The Red Men will have full charge of all the attractions and expect to do a big business.

Tomorrow night Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, will run the shows and assisting them will be members of the order from Elizabeth and Somerville. It is hinted that they will outdo the efforts of the Elks on last Friday night.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, have been assigned Thursday night. A brass band or drum corps will be engaged today to escort the templars, who will be in full uniform, to the grounds.

On Friday night the Elks will conduct the exhibition again.

Appeal Case.

The appeal case of Louis Williams against Joel Coddington, on contract, will be tried in Somerville before Judge Schenck May 26. F. J. Blatz will appear for the plaintiff and Horace Coddington for the defendant.

Won Blue Ribbon.

Miss Leila Cruikshank, of Belvidere avenue, won the blue ribbon in a class for carriage horses, at the Orange Horse Show, which opened last night. In the same class, Mrs. Everett Colby won the red ribbon.

AFTER GALVIN'S PARK

Fanwood Township Committee to Take Action Friday.

NEW LAW HELPS

No More "Barking" and "Wheezy" Sounds—To Regulate Sunday Shows.

The Fanwood Township Committee intends acting on a proposed ordinance at the meeting to be held in the town rooms Friday night, to regulate amusement parks and other kindred attractions. The ordinance when passed will place the committee in a position to make certain changes at Galvin's Park which has annoyed the residents here since the park opened several years ago. The committee has been powerless in the past to take action unless some one made complaint that the park was a disorderly place.

Petitions have been made to the Board of Health and Township Committee claiming that the cry of the barker on the midway and the constant grinding of the wheezy tune from the hand organ at the carousal were a menace to public health, as it disturbed the usual quietness of the neighborhood of Embree Crescent until the midnight hour, making sleep impossible.

The management of the park was up in arms and threw down the gauntlet. Sunday dancing was started, the dancers being told they need have no fear of being arrested. More shell games, it is said, made their appearance on the midway. The Township Committee finally called a halt to the Sunday dancing and an officer was sent to the park to see that the order was obeyed. Then followed vaudeville shows Sunday afternoons and nights under the protecting name of sacred concerts.

These conditions existed until the season closed, the Township Committee coming in for many unjust criticisms, but were practically powerless to remedy the matter. Now everything will be different; during the past winter the Legislature passed a law empowering townships and boroughs to pass an ordinance to regulate public amusements of all kinds, the law being sweeping in its scope as it permits the officials to license such things at whatever license fee they see fit to impose, to regulate the hours of opening and closing, permits them to forbid Sunday amusements as well as regulate the kind of amusement that shall be offered the public.

The local committee welcomed such a law as it would enable them to say how and when Galvin's Park should be open and conducted. Just what the ordinance will be has not been told yet but the residents of the Plains can rest assured that the Township Committee, after their experience in the past, will draft an ordinance which will regulate the park and other places of amusement so as to meet with the approval of all fair-minded amusement lovers. As any failure of a management to live up to the ordinance gives the committee the power to revoke the license and close the place.

P. H. S. Scrubs Win.

The Plainfield High School scrub, or second team, defeated Leal's first team, yesterday, by a score of 16 to 11. A feature was the batting of Collier for the scrubs. The batteries were Bogert and Russell and Will Douglass for the scrubs and Jewett and Tracy Howard and Arthur Willis for Leal's school.

Greer & Greenwood, East Front street, men's outfitters, have as complete and up-to-date a line of fancy and utilitarian things for men as you can find anywhere.

Stair building is the business that John Herrmann has followed up for years and he understands it thoroughly. Let him figure on that contract before you give it out.

Money Raised for Memorial.

The members of the Women's Relief Corps have raised a sufficient sum of money with which to purchase a large urn which is to be placed in the soldiers' plot in Hillside Cemetery on Decoration Day. The erection of the urn and its dedication on that day will be marked by special exercises. Mrs. M. C. Dobbins and Mrs. John Manley, of the Corps, have been in charge of the work of receiving subscriptions for the urn, which was purchased this week. It is the purpose of the Corps to keep it filled with flowering plants during the season as a memorial to the veterans who have passed away.

The Business Men are trying to arrange a game with the cops' basketball team. The bluecoats are still a little green at the game and some shyness on their part is visible.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tonight's performance will be the even 140th of "Fantana," the greatest musical comedy of recent years produced in New York. Ever since the opening night Jefferson DeAngelis and Kitty Barry have played to full houses and Shubert Brothers, the enterprising managers, have reaped a rich harvest as a result. "Just My Style" and "Tammany" are but two of the songs in the show which have become famous, but they suffice to bring out the fact that no greater hit has been made by any comedy of the higher order in recent seasons. Just to hear Kitty Barry say "'asn's 'e got 'orrid 'abits" is worth the price of admission alone. Matinees Wednesdays, Saturdays and Decoration Day.

Henry W. Savage announces there will be two "College Widow" companies next season, so great has been the success playing at the Garden Theatre. The interest to see this George Ade comedy has been unprecedented in New York, where the final metropolitan performance was given last Saturday night. The piece has attracted large audiences since last September and has run for thirty-four weeks, and a total of 284 performances. The two "College Widow" companies will be known as the eastern and western companies. The western company will be just as strong as the eastern, for several members of the cast which enjoyed an all season run in New York will be transferred to the western organization. By this method Mr. Savage believes that the companies will be of uniform strength and evenly balanced.

LITERARY.

Dan Beard, the new editor of Recreation and the author of "The American Boy's Handybook" and other "How to do" stories, is the father of a new juvenile organization, known as the "Sons of Daniel Boone." A report from Saigon, Cochin China, says that the Russian fleet, which reappeared off Honkohe bay, has sailed northward.

Admiral de Jonquieres telegraphs from Nhatrang, Anam, that he has visited all the bays so far north as Turan and found no Russian vessels.

The officials are not aware of the exact locality of the fleet, but communications with the French naval and civil authorities in Indo-China satisfy them that the Russians remain outside French limits.

The British government is using every effort to keep the Japanese cool and at the same time urging upon France the necessity of respecting neutrality, in which Great Britain agrees in principle with Japan.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister at London, said that he was positive that if France sent a definite demand to St. Petersburg Vice Admiral Rojestvensky would not remain in French waters twenty-four hours. Minister Hayashi characterized as absurd the French charges that Japan intended ultimately to attempt to annex Cochin China. He applied a like characterization to similar statements in the United States regarding the Philippine Islands. "Korea, Manchuria and other territory nearer Japan," the minister said, "are more desirable than Cochin China, but I repeat the Japanese have no territorial ambitions. Japan is large enough for us. We are simply fighting for national existence."

At Ekaterinoslav Police Lieutenant Shishko was shot and mortally wounded by Takhchogio, a nobleman. A crowd which assembled beat Takhchogio severely before he could be arrested by the police.

At Libau a complete strike was inaugurated in the factories there. The strikers also forced all the stores to close.

At Saratov all the mill and factory workmen are on strike.

At Odessa a strike of large proportions has begun and threatens to become general.

BOWEN SENT TO TAFT

Minister Reported Charges as a Matter of Duty.

LOOMIS HAS FILED HIS ANSWER

President Received Former Minister and Referred Him to Secretary of War, Who Talked With Him Over Venezuelan Tangle.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The formal trial of the issues between Acting Secretary Loomis and Minister Bowen opened here when Mr. Bowen presented himself at the White House. He had sent a card to the president and followed it by appearing in person, where he was immediately received by the president, who told him that as he had come in answer to his summons he would be pleased to have the minister call at once upon Secretary Taft. Mr. Bowen accordingly went to the war department and spent a short time in conversation with the secretary. The status of the case is officially explained as follows:

Acting Secretary Loomis has notified Secretary Taft that he has completed the preparation of his answer to the various allegations concerning himself which had been transmitted to the secretary of state in the first place and then to the secretary of war by Minister Bowen. Minister Bowen had been careful to explain to Secretary Taft that these were not his charges; that he merely transmitted them for the information of the department. Mr. Loomis had previously waited upon Secretary Taft and submitted his answer, with accompanying documents bearing upon the subject. Secretary Taft went over these with care and then carried them to the White House, where he told the president of their contents and consulted with him as to the course to be pursued. It was then agreed that Secretary Taft should undertake to arrange the matter for presentation to the president. So when Minister Bowen called upon Mr. Taft the latter turned over to him both Mr. Loomis' answer to the charges transmitted by Mr. Bowen, with the accompanying documents, and Mr. Loomis' counter charges against Minister Bowen to the effect that he had instigated the circulation of unfounded reports against his superior officer, involving malfeasance in office.

The secretary advised Mr. Bowen to prepare at once his answer and in order to facilitate his task tendered him the services of one of the war department stenographers. Mr. Bowen returned after the interview to his hotel and began his task. It is Secretary Taft's expectation that this matter can be cleared up within a week.

CHICAGO CHILDREN ON STRIKE.

School Pupils and Messenger Boys Go Out In Sympathy.

CHICAGO, May 16.—When a wagon loaded with coal from the Peabody Coal company went to the Hermann Raster public school here 400 pupils left their books. The principal of the school sent for the police, who scattered the crowds that were about the school.

About 100 messenger boys employed by the Western Union Telegraph company also went on strike. The strike was because coal from the Peabody Coal company was delivered at the Western Union building by nonunion teamsters.

While on the way to the freight house of the Pennsylvania railroad a wagon belonging to the McNeil & Higgins company was attacked by a crowd of strike sympathizers at Milwaukee avenue and Canal street. The wagon was under police protection, but the crowd became so large that a riot call was sent to a nearby police station. Floyd Adams, colored, the driver of the wagon, was struck twice on the head and shoulder. He was taken to the hospital severely injured. Two men were arrested as a result of the disturbance.

An attack made on a teamster for the Crossfeld & Roe Grocery company resulted in a riot call and the arrest of eleven men.

As a result of developments in the strike the employers predict its speedy end, while the labor leaders assert that the strike will spread and will be aided financially by unions all over the country. An appeal for funds has been sent out by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, and this call gives a color of truth to the strikers' assertion.

Church Service Stopped by Thunder.

RICHMOND, Va., May 16.—While Rev. W. F. Dunaway of Ashland was exhorting his congregation in Cool Spring Baptist church at Lee, Va., lightning struck the building and injured some eighteen people, several of them seriously. The stroke splintered a part of the floor, tearing a hole through one of the pews and causing a panic among the congregation.

Sage's Agent Got Verdict.

NYACK, N. Y., May 16.—Ezekiel C. M. Rand, for twenty years confidential agent of Russell Sage, has obtained a verdict against Mr. Sage in the Rockland county supreme court for $800, which he claimed Sage owed him. Sage denied the claim and retained ex-Senator Clarence Lexow to defend the case. Ex-Congressman A. S. Tompkins was Rand's counsel.

Lawyer Fields Guilty.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A jury here brought in a verdict of guilty against Thomas M. Fields, an attorney of this city, charged with the embezzlement of nearly $16,000 of the funds of the defunct Washington Beneficial Endowment association.

UNDER THREE FLAGS

Ocean Race For Kaiser Wilhelm's Gold Cup.

START OFF SANDY HOOK TODAY

Eleven Yachts, Representing United States, England and Germany, Cross Line at Start In Contest Across the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Eleven deep sea going yachts, the cream of American, German and English racing boats, manned by expert sailors and captained by long experienced skippers, crossed the line today at Sandy Hook in the start for the German emperor's transatlantic yacht race.

The starters include eight American boats, two English and one German boat.

The eight American yachts entered are: Atlantic, the early favorite in the betting as a winner; Apache, Ailsa, Endymion, Fleur de Lys, Hildegarde, Thistle and Utowana. The British boats are the Valhalla and Sunbeam, and the German boat is the Hamburg.

Their appointed course is from a line between the Sandy Hook lightship and the Lizard point, on the southwest coast of England. The distance is about 2,900 miles as the crow flies.

Endymion, one of the starters, holds the present transatlantic sailing record. She covered the distance from Sandy Hook to the Needles, on the Isle of Wight and considerably farther than the Lizard, in 13 days 20 hours and 36 minutes.

Propellers have been removed from the auxiliary yachts, by the conditions of the present contest.

Emperor William's prize is a $5,000 gold cup, offered in the name of the Kaiserlicher Yacht club of Germany. Additional prizes will be given, one among every three yachts starting.

The emperor will personally deliver the prizes to the owners of the winning yachts at Kiel at the beginning of the so called Kiel week of the German seafaring sportsmen.

Emperor William has cabled his felicitations to the yachtsmen, saying:

"Best greetings to yacht owners and starting committee, hoping race will be a success and wishing good and speedy cruises."

VIOLATED THE FLAG?

Temperance Reformer Took Unique Method to Stop Sunday Baseball.

HUTCHINSON, Minn., May 16.—Mrs. L. Slaight, a temperance reformer, announced that she would call the attention of federal officers to what she terms a violation of the American flag when she attempted to stop a Sunday game of baseball.

Clad in rich clothes and with a large American flag wrapped about her, Mrs. Slaight on Sunday afternoon entered the Hutchinson baseball grounds wherein she had had placards posted bearing the words, "To attack the flag of the United States, while it is being used in the enforcement of law, is, according to the statutes, high treason," and tried to stop a game of ball.

A large crowd had assembled to see the game and the players took their positions. When the umpire called "Play ball!" Mrs. Slaight majestically marched on the diamond and took up a position between the pitcher's box and the home base. The pitcher attempted to curve the ball around her, but failing in this another battery was placed a little to one side. The pitchers began tossing the ball alternately, while Mrs. Slaight skipped from one line of fire to the other, apparently trying to get the American flag hit with a pitched ball. The game was unsatisfactory with a duet of batteries, and finally the crowd swarmed on the field. Good naturedly surrounding the flag enshrouded woman the spectators forced her off the field, flag and all. The game then proceeded unmolested.

Wants a Warship For His Birthday

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The sultan of Zanzibar will be of age June 7 and would like to be honored by the presence of an American warship at his coronation. American Consul Mitchell at Zanzibar has transmitted this request by cable to the state department, which in turn has referred it to the navy department. Zanzibar is within the limits of the south Atlantic station, and owing to its great distance from the summer headquarters of the American squadron it probably will be impossible to send a ship.

House Cleaner Ran Amuck.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 16.—William P. Robinson, a house cleaner, ran amuck here, killing four persons, wounding two others and then killed himself. At first Robinson was said to be crazed by liquor, but later it was said that he had threatened W. H. Doddridge, one of the victims, for an alleged attempt to have Robinson shanghaied when he was a sailor.

Tax on Trolley Line Sustained.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The supreme court of the United States sustained the mayor and aldermen of the city of Savannah, Ga., in their ordinance imposing a tax of $100 a mile on the tracks of the Savannah, Thunderbolt and Isle of Hope Railway company, a street railway in that city.

Plainfield, N. J., May 16, 1905.

The defense that will be made by the lawyers for Wood, now on trial at Somerville for the murder of Williams, the grocer, is a strange one inasmuch as it is proposed, it is said, to show that the defendant has a dual mind. Natural the proceedings in the Somerville court will be watched with keen interest not only by physicians and barristers but by all intelligent people. The purpose is to prove in defense of the terrible crime charged to the prisoner at the bar that he has had a Jekyl-Hyde existence and that the murder was committed while he was not his normal self. It is for those twelve men chosen yesterday to pass judgmennt upon the merits of excuse to be given for the alleged murder and whatever the verdict be, the case will go down as a precedent in the annals of criminology.

Churchman may think it presumptious for the secular press to express its opinion regarding the criticism made by Bishop Scarborough on the alleged "political trickery" at the Diocesan Convention of Episcopalians in this city, but nevertheless some journals have taken it upon themselves to pass judgement. The facts in the case are these. Some of the younger clergy and many of the laity felt that at least two members of the standing committee, the most important in the diocesan organization, had served long enough and that a change would be beneficial. Accordingly those holding this belief prepared an independent ticket. Subsequently the matter was brought to the attention of the convention and the good bishop expressed his feelings rather radically, stigmatizing the movement as a political trick. Just what argument he could advance to support this statement is not clear for to the average layman it would appear that independence of thought and action in any body, political, religious or commercial, is highly desirable. On the other hand cut and dried action, in the Church and in the business world, is altogether too prevalent in this age. The delegates, clericals and lay, at that convention were solemnly pledged to perform their duties as they saw them to the best interests of the diocese. Why then should the exercise of the right and duty be characterized as "political trickery?"

THE FORUM.

Military Matters.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I notice in a recent edition of your paper that the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., is to take part in the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Elizabethtown and that a committee had been to see Governor Stokes urging him to order out the Second Regiment, of which Co. K, of this city, forms a part.

May it not be a good move on the part of the committee to also urge Governor Stokes to look into the matter of making prompt payment to the members of the Second Regiment after the coming celebration is over, for their services, and as a small restitution for the time that is lost by the members of the National Guard? Time that a great majority of the men can ill afford to lose, as very few of them are rich men.

And may it not be in order to take this means of informing the committee in charge of that celebration at Elizabeth on June 8 that the members of the National Guard have as yet not received their pay for their attendance at the obsequies of the late Quartermaster-General, which event took place on March 2. If the powers that be cannot get any of that three million surplus to pay for the show at Elizabeth, may it not be wise for them not to order the Second Regiment out?

These few lines are penned in a spirit not of fault finding, but more from one, of an inquiring mind.

Yours respectfully,
General Hardtack.

MODERN METHODS IN SUNDAY-SCHOOLS

Modern methods of teaching the various departments in Sunday-school were presented in interesting addresses at the tenth annual institute of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union held at the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon and evening. The first vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Powlison, presided.

The afternoon session opened with devotional exercises by Mrs. John P. Mosher, after which Miss Rose Scott, of Newark, gave a practical illustration of holding a beginners' session. Miss Voorhees, of this city, rendered piano solos, by Francis J. Darrell. A feature of the afternoon session was the presentation of a primary programme by Mrs. D. L. Pierson, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Harold Serrell was chairman of the supper committee and assisting her were Mrs. Elvaine VanName, Miss Florence Serrell and several others.

The evening session opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. A. E. Finn. The review of the past year's work and the roll call was in charge of the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Robert B. Barnes. The report showed that nine new members have been received, making the total fifty-seven.

In putting up a leader yesterday afternoon, George Giles, the tinner, cut open an artery in the back of his hand. The leader slipped and cut into the hand. Mr. Giles got to Dr. Brakeley's office just in time to save himself from a serious loss of blood. The wound was packed to stop the bleeding.

Councilman Moynihan, who has been suffering with a long illness, was well enough to attend the Council meeting last night, for the first time in several sessions. He is rapidly recovering his old strength, but is not yet strong enough to take up his railroad work again.

Contractor Staats will begin the macadamizing work on Dunellen avenue tomorrow. He calculates that the job will take two weeks to complete.

On account of the condition the renovation work going on, the Council meeting last night was held in the upstairs room.

P. S. C. ASKS FOR THE CHESTNUT STREET SWITCH

FORMAL APPLICATION DECLINED BY COUNCIL—ACTION POSTPONED.

Formal application for permission to run a Y-switch into Chestnut street was made to the borough council of Dunellen, last night by the P. S. C. The application was brief, and a map was the only thing in the way of comment that the company filed. Action on the application was laid over, the matter going into the hands of the law and ordinance committee for consideration, and the expected fight between the West end residents, who favor the Chestnut street switch, and the residents and property owners of the center of the borough, who want the Y near the business section, did not materialize. Division Superintendent Brown handed the application to Clerk DeGroff.

Two petitions for the location of the switch in the center of the borough were received. One was signed by practically all the business men of North avenue, Dunellen's main street, and the other by most of the principal property holders in the borough center. Both petitions asked for the location of the loop in the business section on the grounds that it should be near the railroad depot and law and order would be easier to maintain in that locality.

None of the councilmen made any comment on either the petitions or the application. The latter was referred by Mayor Wyckoff to the ordinance committee, after vainly waiting for a motion on it. The committee will probably report on it at the next meeting. Councilmen Moynihan, Fredericks and Ryno are on the committee.

"Have you any particular reason for wanting the switch at Chestnut street" Mr. Brown was asked.

"Well, it gives a fifteen-minute service direct to their work to the men of the Levering & Garrigues and Aluminum Plate & Press plants."

Both shops are within a block of the proposed terminus. Former Councilman Garrigues, of this city, of the L. & G. plant, is in favor of it has asked the road to make the proposed change. Both shops have had trouble in keeping skilled men whose homes are in this city or to the eastward at work on account of the trolley service, particularly in fall and winter.

Fox Caught Eating Chickens.

Attracted by a commotion in his hennery, Sunday night, James Hurley, of Belmont avenue, ran to the place and surprised a full-grown fox in the act of making a meal of one of his chickens. He quickly stopped all openings and with the aid of his son, Edward Hurley, despatched sly Reynard with a club. Mr. Hurley's place is situated just at the foot of the mountains, but this is the first time a fox has ever been caught in that vicinity.

Mr. Parker's Talk.

The closing meeting of the Men's Club, of Grace church, for the season was held at the Y. M. C. A., last night, when Andrew McClain Parker, of this city, gave an illustrated travelogue on "Panama and the Canal." The views included some of the finest ever shown and Mr. Parker having been over the ground professionally, his lecture was of unusual interest to all.

"How Other People Live," will be the subject of the mid-week prayer-meeting at the Congregational church tomorrow night. Special music is expected.

NO CHANGE YET IN HOD CARRIERS STRIKE

BOSSES HAVE SOME JOURNEYMEN AT WORK.

There is little or no change in the condition of affairs regarding the hod-carriers' strike and there is little chance of either side giving in. The boss masons have not change their decision of Saturday night not to grant the asked for increase of three cents an hour and they will remain firm to this decision.

On the other hand the Union hod-carriers declare that they will not return to work unless they get the extra money. Each of the bosses have a few men at work, and Tallamy Brothers, who have the new High School contract, have not been interfered with in their work. Titus H. Laury is not making much headway on the Dr. Pittis job, but he has two or three men employed on another contract. The other bosses are getting along fairly well with their work, but not one is willing to predict the outcome.

Drunks Punished.

Jack Trayner and Jack Ford, a Binghamton hobo, were each sentenced to sixty days in the county jail by Recorder Doud last night in the borough court, for drunkenness. Lud Frazee was fined $10 for the same offense.

QUAND MEME LOST.

Duke Decazes and Crew Safe—Heroic Rescue of Mme. du Gast.

PARIS, May 16.—The ministry of marine has received a dispatch announcing that the torpedo boat destroyer Arbalete has arrived at Cagliari, Sardinia, having on board the owner, the Duke Decazes, and all the crew of the motor boat Quand Meme.

Further advices show that although the crew of the Quand Meme were saved the boat itself was abandoned. The commander of the Arbalete telegraphs that he has all the members of the crew on board the destroyer, but that he was unable to bring the Quand Meme into port, as heavy seas swept over the autoboat, repeatedly snapping the towline and making it impossible to tow her.

The Quand Meme led the racers from Port Mahon, island of Minorca, until about fifty miles outside of Toulon, when the storm blew her back over the same course she had taken. The rescue of the crew of the Quand Meme closes the contest without loss of life, but with only two of the seven starters afloat.

One thrilling incident was the rescue of Mme. du Gast, the one woman contestant, from the deck of the Camille by the crew of the French cruiser Kleber. An officer of the ship said:

"After a first trial had failed, with rare skill our commander brought the Kleber around in the violent sea and made straight for the Camille. We steamed right over the tiny craft and struck her stern, starting the plates.

"We had already prepared a rope ladder, which Mme. du Gast caught. She attempted to climb on board, but was too fatigued, and hung to the lower rung in danger of being crushed to death.

"Two sailors immediately slipped down the ladder. One of them took Mme. du Gast in his arms. He endeavored to climb back with her, but the task was impossible, and, losing strength, he let her slip into the sea. We all thought Mme. du Gast lost. She disappeared under the hull of the Camille, but two other men who had dropped into the water with ropes put one around her waist, and by this means Mme. du Gast was hauled on board."

JOHN PAUL JONES' BODY.

Memorial Chapel at Annapolis to Serve as a Monument.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Acting Secretary Loomis has suggested to Ambassador Porter that the remains of John Paul Jones be embarked on Admiral Sigsbee's squadron not on the Fourth of July, as originally proposed, but on some other day in the same week, because the Fourth invariably is celebrated in the navy with all the bunting at the mastheads, with much gun fire and is generally a day of jollification.

It is the present intention of the navy department to have the remains of John Paul Jones finally deposited beneath the great memorial chapel at Annapolis, one of the most beautiful, elaborate and historically interesting of any of the government buildings.

The chapel itself will thus serve as a splendid monument to the memory of Paul Jones, and it will be unnecessary for the congress to provide for a special memorial structure.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Silk Covered Cords a Pretty Trimming—New Foulard Called Radium.

An attractive trimming for taffeta dress is cord covered with the silk and knotted and twisted into all sorts of figures.

Parasols are smartly severe or elaborately ornate. The severe examples have wonderfully fanciful handles, among them being birds' heads of the most exquisitely tinted woods, with jeweled eyes.

HAT OF OPALESCENT STRAW.

Separate white linen or lawn waists will be worn with cotton skirts this summer, as they have been all winter with cloth skirts.

For wear under the very sheer lingerie blouses are white nainsook corset covers. A pink taffeta waist demands a pink corset cover, blue under blue, and so on down the color scheme.

Foulard dresses will be very much worn this summer, only they will masquerade under the new name of radium. The flowered foulards are not popular. The new designs taking their place are strips in hair lines and tiny checks.

A charming novelty of the summer will be flower boas and muffs made of large roses of most delicate colors. The boas are about half a yard long, the foundation of chiffon being dotted with the satin ribbon roses. Long ends of chiffon finish the boas.

The ribbon muffs are made in the shape of the winter ones on a thin stiffening, with just enough wadding to give them softness. This foundation is then covered with china silk and covered with the ribbon roses. The ends have double ruffles of chiffon.

The hat pictured is of opalescent straw in tones of pearl and rose. The brim is straight in front and rolls high at the sides and back in pretty convolutions. Around the crown is a wreath of ribbon roses in deep red, mingled with artificial foliage.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SARTORIAL ITEMS.

Embroidered Linen Much Used as a Trimming—Belts and Girdles.

Embroidered linen is an effective trimming on taffeta gowns.

The new belts in many instances have a V shaped buckle, which gives the much liked tapering effect to the waist. A pretty belt to wear with a shirt waist suit is of violet leather and violet silk in alternate strips. It is shaped in a dip at the front, fastening with a strap.

Cloth of gold and silver makes very effective belts for evening wear. Smart tailored costumes have belts made of the gown material fastened with a leather buckle of the same shade as the cloth.

Belts embroidered in Chinese designs are stunning. A bright red one has a design of Chinese temples, and a yellow dragon belt is equally attractive. The buckles on these belts are very elaborate and usually of gold or jewels.

A stunning hat from Paris is of silver gauze stretched over pink on a low frame. The effect of color is very good, as the silver throws a white light upon the pink. The trimming is nothing but a twist of crimson velvet tied in a small bow at the edge of the brim.

The waist illustrated is of lilac messaline silk. The surpliced fronts are almost entirely formed of bands of Irish crochet lace laid over a fold of purple velvet. The chemisette and choker are of mauve mousseline de soie overlaid with lace. Points of lace are placed over the short sleeve. The girdle is of purple velvet ribbon and ties in front in three pompadour bows.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A DUAL PERSONALITY.

Unique Defense In Williams Murder Trial at Somerville, N. J.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., May 16.—Peculiar interest attaches to the trial of George H. Wood, arraigned here charged with the murder of George Williams, by reason of the unique character of the defense made.

Counsel for Wood is trying to show that he was mentally irresponsible when he shot Williams, while not being insane in the ordinary sense. The contention is that Wood was afflicted with a form of aphasia, causing him to have a dual personality, which resulted at times in the commission of abnormal actions in innocence of any wrongful intent, and that it was while in such a condition that he killed Williams, retaining no recollection of what he had done when his other personality was dominant.

Prosecutor Rogers in his opening address denied that Wood was mentally afflicted and said that it would be shown that the motive of the crime was robbery. He followed this up by declaring that he would prove Wood to be a forger and a "skillful manipulator of commercial paper."

Several witnesses testified to the finding of the body of Williams in his sleigh and to having seen Wood in the vicinity that day and that he was armed with a revolver.

Charles Thorne, a clerk employed by Williams, told of Wood having hired his employer to drive him from Watchung to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Pollack, near which Williams' body was found.

Handicap Went to Cardigan.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 16.—A heavy rain and wind storm visited Elmridge, and three of the races were run in the rain. The Spring Steeplechase handicap brought out only three starters, Cardigan, Charawind and Ruth's Rattler, and that was the order in which they finished. Ruth's Rattler fell while in the lead, and W. Kelly, who had the mount, was carried from the field unconscious, but soon recovered. Judge Himes, favored by the heavy going, won the fourth race.

Dartmouth Shut Out Syracuse.

HANOVER, N. H., May 16.—Dartmouth shut out the University of Syracuse by good pitching and errorless fielding. The visitors' infield played good ball, but Watkey was batted hard. Score, 11 to 0.

CORNELL'S BODY FOUND.

Mystery of Naval Reserve Man's Disappearance Cleared Up.

NEW YORK, May 16.—With the pockets rifled of more than $100 in cash, diamond ring, stud and pin gone and a handsome gold watch and chain missing, the body of R. Lester Cornell of Brooklyn, a prominent member of the First battalion naval reserves, who disappeared on the night of April 8, was found in the East river here. After identifying the body at the morgue the father, Reuben L. Cornell, gave it as his opinion that his son had been murdered, robbed and then thrown into the river.

The police, who immediately began an investigation, found that young Cornell had no love affair which might have caused him to commit suicide. For weeks his family searched the hospitals and institutions in the hope that the young man might have been taken ill suddenly, but they could find no trace of him.

Identification was made possible by a card case found in a pocket of the overcoat. It bore the name "R. L. Cornell," and the police at once notified the parents of the young man. Mr. Cornell, the father, was greatly affected when the body was shown to him. It was in an excellent state of preservation, so that identification was easy and positive.

It was not until Mr. Cornell viewed the body that it was learned that the jewelry and money were missing. Up to that time it was thought young Cornell had met with an accidental death.

Cornell, with a party of friends from the ship New Hampshire, which was at that time lying in the Brooklyn navy yard, had a dinner at the Arena hotel on the night of April 8.

The party broke up late, and Cornell refused to join some of his fellows, saying he was going home at once. That was the last he was seen alive. On April 12 the parents of the young man sent out a general alarm through the police, and finally Mr. Cornell offered $500 reward for any tidings of his son alive or dead. Young Cornell was a member of the Civic club and was employed by the American Bank Note company.

RACE TRAIN DITCHED.

Belmont Park Special Ran Into Open Switch—Twenty Hurt.

NEW YORK, May 16.—With the score of persons were injured in the wreck of a special race train on the Long Island railroad bound from Brooklyn to the Belmont park race track. At Woodhaven Junction, where the Rockaway branch leaves the main line, the locomotive ran into a half open switch and was overturned, and the three forward cars, filled with passengers, left the rails and crashed into each other. All the passengers injured were in these cars, those in the rest of the train escaping with a slight shaking up.

Those most seriously injured are: James Demitt, fireman of the train, probably fatally hurt; George I. Green of New York, Thomas Connelly of Brooklyn, James Ducas of Brooklyn, Mrs. Amelia Hall of Brooklyn, A. McMahon of New York and Isidor Gerkentel of New York. The other injured persons were able to go to their homes.

Engineer Valentine saw the half open switch as he approached the junction in time to reverse his engine and call to his fireman to jump. Valentine escaped unhurt, but Demitt was struck by the tender and had all his ribs crushed.

The accident was said to be due to the fact that the work of installing a third rail system had interfered with the proper working of the switches.

INSANITY WOOD'S DEFENSE

The prosecution next put on Edward Martins, bartender at Maul's hotel in the Notch, who asserted that a man answering Wood's description had stopped at the place on the morning of February 2 and asked for someone to drive him to the Pollack place on the Ocontown road. He was directed to William Demler at Watchung and left after taking a drink of whisky.

Martins identified the prisoner as the man who had made the inquiry.

William Demler told of the stranger asking about the rig and of sending him to Grocer Williams. He was followed by Charles Frone, then clerk for the groceryman, who related how the stranger had entered the store and asked for some one to take him over to Pollack's on the Ocontown road. Williams volunteered and a haggle followed as to what price should be paid. Williams wanted $3 but afterward consented to go for $2.50. Frone said Williams displayed a little money in the store while Wood stood near by but that it was only a small amount and that he took it from one pocket and put it in another. In reply to a question he said it was "some bills" and this led to the only argument of the day between counsel. Mr. Swackhamer wanted to know if Frone hadn't said at the coroner's inquest that it was "one or more bills" and Mr. Clark objected. Both sides contested the point and it was finally allowed to stand, Frone admitting that he had said, "one or more bills" at the coroner's inquest. William Acker and several other witnesses were put on the stand to testify as to seeing the stranger drive off with Williams and identifying Wood, after which court adjourned for the day.

Wood's impassive calm was absolute. Time and again his wife, who was never absent from his side, gazed anxiously into the colorless, expressionless face. There was no response. Not even when County Prosecutor John T. Rieger, in his opening address, said it would be shown that Wood deliberately murdered Williams for the purpose of robbery did the prisoner change expression by so much as the quiver of an eyelash.

It was only when he was ordered to stand up, and one witness after another identified him as the man seen at various points along the route traversed by the murderer in his flight, that his face relaxed. A look of incredulous surprise swept his features, disappearing as he resumed his seat.

Wood's demeanor is in keeping with the defense which his counsel will present. They say he is a victim of double consciousness manifest at times in an uncontrolable desire to do harm followed by complete forgetfulness of deeds done while afflicted with the dementia.

WOOD TAKING STAND TELLS JURY MYSTERIOUS WOLF COMMITTED THE CRIME

Without Any Display of Insanity, Solemnly Declares He Does Not Remember Being in Plainfield Nor Near Scene of the Murder.

PROSECUTOR FAILS TO SHATTER HIS STORY

"Wolf is the Man Who Committed the Crime," he Says, and Adds: "I Don't See Why I Should Have Done It"—Blames His Double for all the Trouble—Wood "Has a Convenient Memory," Prosecutor Tells Press Reporter.

Without giving the slightest sign of insanity, and telling a story that seems impossible, wierd yet well connected, George H. Wood took the witness stand at the Somerville court house, in his own defense today.

The mysterious man Wolf, and not he, committed the crime, he declared, and after two and a half hours of questioning his story was not broken down.

He made a great impression on the jury and spectators and his counsel declared at noon that he was highly satisfied with the manner in which his client withstood cross examination.

Place Wood on the Stand.

The opening of court was delayed a half hour through the illness of Juror Charles T. Duffield with an attack of lumbago. He was finally brought in and propped in his chair with pillows. Three unimportant witnesses were heard and then an expectant flutter passed over the court room as Counsellor Swackhamer turned to the prisoner and said:

"George, you take the stand." Wood obeyed with alacrity, as if he were glad to get out of the seat he has held so mutely, and he took hold of the Bible, to be sworn, with a firm hand.

Wood simply nodded when the oath was administered and moved quickly to the witness chair.

Denies the Crime.

"George," said his counsel, "you are charged with the murder of George Williams. Did you do it?"

"No sir," came the answer in a clear sharp tone, with not the least hesitation.

"Did you ever know Williams?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever see him?"

"No, sir." "Do you know Mrs. Williams?"

"I do not."

"Wolf," the Murderer.

Then through a series of questions put to him by the counsellor he told the remarkable story of the mythical Henry Wolf, his illegitimate half-brother, or "the little black man," and the mysterious Mack, whom he or no one else knows where he came from or where he is. He declared he first met Wolf seven years ago at his father's house in New York and that two nights afterward he learned all about the escapade of their parent.

Wolf Hounds Woods.

Wolf swore vengeance on the senior Wood and from that time on George H. Wood was relentlessly pursued by the "little black man." He left job after job to get rid of him, moved from one place to another but all to no purpose. Finally in January, 1905, Wolf changed his actions and offered to help Wood and introduced him to "Mack."

Starts for Scarsdale.

This led up to the alleged start to Scarsdale, Pa., to get the loan of $1,000 from Mack's father and Wood's loss of memory at some junction on the P. R. R. When he was asked where the junction was, he said:

"I do not know, but I can draw the place and its surroundings."

This he did and the result, a combination of tracks, buildings and roads was shown the jury.

Doesn't Remember Plainfield.

Continuing he denied knowing anything about his wanderings in this section and the fatal sleigh ride or his flight to Millington and his arrest in New York. He said he did not know where he got the clothes he wore when he came to his senses in the tombs and denied having a revolver in his possession when he left New York. He also denied knowing Dr. Ball.

Family Maladies.

He told of the headaches he had suffered from for years and how at times all grew black before him. A brother died a few years ago from a double heart and in 1903 his only sister killed herself by drinking carbolic acid.

"Do you know where Wolf is now?" he was asked.

"I do not, but I think he has something to do with my present trouble.

Cross-Examination.

Prosecutor Reger began cross-examination by making Wood detail every move of the railroad trip; who was with him; how the $1,000 loan was to be gotten; what security he was to give; why Mack was so anxious to help and what was Wolf to get out of it for all his trouble. At no time did Wood hesitate to answer.

Money Troubles in Evidence.

Through questions put by Mr. Reger Wood told a peculiar story about the Dunn & Lucey check, which the prosecution declared yesterday, had been raised by him from $4 to $40. He denied knowing who raised it if it wasn't Wolf.

Mr. Reger tried to bring out that Wood went from place to place because of business troubles solely.

Once the witness declared emphatically that he believed "Wolf is the man who committed the murder."

He asserted that Wolf is his counterpart and that the resemblance has led to his being accused of the crime.

"I see no reason why I should have done it; I don't remember being there and I don't understand why these witnesses say I did."

Other Witnesses.

The only other witnesses on during the morning were Jacob Blimm, Sr., of Plainfield; Theodore Murray, the New York World reporter who escorted Wood to Dr. Ball's and Eliza Pollock, the defendant's aunt. She testified as to Wood's queer actions.

Physicians on the Stand.

This afternoon most of the time will be taken up with the hearing of expert testimony from physicians and alienists, of whom there are a large number in court.

Wood, a Fakir, He Says.

To a Daily Press reporter Prosecutor Reger said at noon that he believed Wood "has a convenient memory," or in other words that his story has been made up and he "forgets" when he gets entangled.

Introduces Evil Demon.

Counsellor Swackhamer's address to the jury, yesterday afternoon, though brief, was probably one of the most remarkable defenses ever heard in a New Jersey law court. That a mythical person named "Henry Wolf," an evil demon created by his own dual mind, impelled Wood, the man with the double brain, to shoot and kill George Williams, was what he asked the twelve men to believe and which he said he would prove.

"I want to tell you that the defendant was an absolute stranger to the deceased," he began. "Williams was alone in the sleigh for at least half an hour before his body was discovered. The prosecution has shown no possible motive for the crime. The defendant may not have been near Williams when the crime was committed. I am in the extraordinary position of representing a deranged man, a man unable to make a defense like one who is in possession of his normal faculties. I can neither deny nor admit the circumstances of the crime.

"I am in the position of representing a deranged man—a man unable to make a defence as he would if he were possessed of all his faculties," he said. "This defendant knows nothing, remembers nothing between January 30 and February 5, and you will remember that the crime for which he is now on trial for his life was committed on February 3. In what mental condition he was he will show you by his own testimony.

"This may seem strange to you, but we will endeavor to make it clear to you by the testimony of medical experts who have proffered their services solely in the cause of humanity. We will show you that if this defendant did kill Williams he did it without the knowledge of his act.

Wood's Hallucinations.

"On January 30 this defendant believes he met two men, one 'Mac' and the other Henry Wolf. Wolf had been his evil genius for years, and had told him he was his half-brother, a natural son of Wood's father. Wood had left many jobs to get rid of Wolf. On this January 30 Wolf asked him to go with 'Mac' to Scarsdale and he would get $1,000 with which to start business. 'Mac' promised the money and said he wanted no security except his paper.

"Wood says all three went to a queer junction, where they visited a cafe. While talking, he drank some beer and felt queer. A little black man came in and Wolf and Mac left. The little black man then acted as Wood's guide and led him somewhere.

"The next we know Wood came home. His wife asked if he had the money and he said that when he got to Scarsdale Mac's father had sent him to a Jersey town and that the little black men had led him to Plainfield.

"His wife questioned him if he had been to his father-in-law's home, and by his strange answers and actions saw that something was wrong. He could not eat.

Surprised When Arrested.

"On February 3, when he was arrested, a reporter asked him if he did not know he was accused of murder. He was surprised, and they went to a physician's home, and we will show you that the physician knew he was dealing with a crazy man."

After detailing some strange actions of Wood at home the attorney said:

"The mythical Henry Wolf was a man who only existed in the vagaries of a madman's mind. And yet Wood believes he went away on that trip with Wolf. He is not a criminal, but a crazy man.

"We will call the defendant and you can see for yourself. We will show that his aunt was crazy and that three years ago a sister killed herself.

"If this man did that shooting why did he do it at 11 a. m., when there was three feet deep of snow and no chance of escape? Remember that Mac and Wolf and the little black man were each a myth. Would a sane man put a noose around his own neck in this way?"

Mrs. Wood Testifies.

Mrs. Wood had wept through the lawyer's speech, and at the end was called to the stand. She was very pale and nervous. She is a slip of a girl and was poorly dressed. There was a wrange as to whether she could testify in the case, but the court held she might be called in her husband's behalf, but not against him.

She spoke in such a low tone that even His Honor could not hear her. She said that she had been married five years, and told of various places they had lived, and said that on January 30 last they lived at No. 576 West One Hundred and Thirty-first street.

"Have your married relations been pleasant?"

"Yes; very, up to now."

"Has your husband been ill?"

"Yes, he had spells, especially at night. He'd ask me to get water for him, sometimes I'd get him six glasses. He would be excited and cry. He had cold perspiration on his face. The spells grew worse. Sometimes they would be weeks apart and then again would be frequent. He never remembered the next day what had happened."

"What was his appearance just prior to January 30?"

"He wanted to sleep all the time and complained of his head.

"He went away on Monday, January 30. He promised to write, but did not, and I did not see him until Thursday afternoon. My sister was there and my brother-in-law came in later. He closed the door behind him and put his back to it. 'Where did you get the cap?' I asked, and he said, 'I lost my hat and valise on the train and this is all I could find.' I asked, 'Where is Mac?' and he said, 'I left him in Summit looking for his father's money. I guess he's in the mountain.' Later I asked, 'Where's Mac?' and he said, 'I am to meet him at 9 o'clock.'

Strange Actions.

"He went out and did not come back all night. When he came in the next day I said did you meet Mac, and he said 'Mac.' I wasn't to see 'Mac.'

"I told him that he had been home the night before and gone out to see Mac. 'Nonsense,' he said. 'I've just come over the ferry now.'"

Mrs. Wood then repeated the story Wood had told her about his trip with the imaginary Wolf and Mac and the little black man who acted as his guide. She told of the visit of the reporters and how dazed her husband was when told about the murder.

"We went to Dr. Ball's office. Mr. Wood was dazed and appeared as though he was hypnotized," continued the witness. "Then we went to the police station, but the police did not want to arrest him."

Mrs. Wood told of other strange actions of her husband. "A year ago," she said, "a young couple called on us, and after they had gone he told me the woman was a girl he had married when he was fifteen, and had lost her in Halifax. 'I've found her at last,' he said. Afterward he went to the woman's husband and told him the same story."

Fierce Cross Examination.

In the cross examination, Mr. Clark subjected the witness to a merciless volley of questions about her husband's business affairs and sought by various means to prove that it was these and not insanity that caused his queer actions. He was particularly searching in reference to the check raised from $4 to $40 by Wood and passed by Mrs. Wood on her grocery-man. She at first denied all knowledge of anything wrong about it but afterward admitted that she had heard it was no good and so informed her husband. Mr. Swackhamer objected to questions bearing on the subject but was overruled and the witness faltered her replies. In her direct testimony she was asserted positively that Wood did not own a revolver previous to his leaving home on January 30 but in rebuttal the fact was brought out by her that he had one in his possession last summer.

Mrs. Wood was on the stand just two and a half hours and when she left, Dr. George W. Ball, of West Twenty-eighth street, New York, was called. He is the physician to whom Wood was taken on the night following the murder by his wife and a newspaper reporter. In reply to a question he said he is a graduate of the New York University and that he is connected with the New York and Roosevelt hospitals and that he has had wide experience in the treatment of nervous, epileptic and insane people.

Alienist's Story.

Wood was brought to his place on February 4 with the request that he be examined, as he supposed, physically. He had put but one or two questions to him when he saw that man was lacking in mentality. Wood had a shambling gait, gazed continually into space and gave no normal answer; his eyeballs were sunken, the pupils dilated and his whole physiognomy denoted insanity. When the story of the crime was told the doctor in front of him, he seemed disinterested and could not be aroused to a realization of the charge against him.

He recognized the defendant as the man he had examined and said that his condition at the present time, physically, is thinner, and mentally, much brighter. In cross examination he explained in detail how he had conducted his test of Wood's mentality and for Mr. Clark's benefit defined his condition as primary dementia, or the first stage of lunacy. Mr. Clark wanted to know if a severe shock to his mental system would not have caused the same symptoms and was informed it wouldn't, that the pulse would beat quicker.

"Supposing you had known at the time of your examination that the man had been riding with a man, killed him, and then fled over the mountains?"

"I should have felt he committed the crime under mental distress. That night I examined him he was absolutely incompetent to understand right from wrong. Even though able to distinguish wrong, an impelling force might have compelled him to do a wrong act."

"The night he was brought to my office," declared the physician, "it was absolutely impossible for him to distinguish right from wrong. I may add that people in that state are impelled by some hidden force to commit an act of this nature and yet be able to distinguish between right and wrong."

Mr. Clark had the witness repeat this statement several times and then prompted by medical men seated beside him, challenged the assertion. Medical terms traversed back and forth but in the end Dr. Ball and his statement were triumphant.

Suffered From Headaches.

The third and last witness of the afternoon was Mrs. Sarah Pollock, the aged grandmother of the defendant. With nodding head and quivering tones she declared that "George was a good boy" but that for many years he had suffered from severe headaches and always wanted to sleep. He would lie down anywhere, she said, and after taking a short nap, would get up refreshed. She related his coming to her home on the Countown road January 31 and said that he was very nervous and paced the floor continually. This was brought out to uphold the defense in its declaration that Wood has been weak mentally for many years.

Dr. Farrand Explains Disease.

According to Dr. Livingston Farrand, professor of psychology at Columbia University, and expert on all matters relating to mental diseases and criminology, psychic epilepsy is a form of disease in which a period of insanity takes the place of the more ordinary convulsions. Prof. Farrand says a person suffering from this malady might or might not have memory of acts committed while the attack was on. That the victim of the disease would not have normal control over his behavior Dr. Farrand asserts with surety.

This is the diagnosis which Wood's counsel will endeavor to persuade the jury to apply to the prisoner at the bar. In general form it is no new defense. Many criminals have pleaded lunacy and so have escaped unscathed. In Wood's case it is difficult to determine whether he was forced to that defense through fact or lack of other resort.

Besides this matter of psychic epilepsy, the defendant's lawyers will try to prove duality of nature. They expect to establish that Wood has another self than his normally passive one; that besides his real friends and acquaintances, he holds communion with spirits of his own invention—"Mac," "Wolf" and the "Little Black Man"—personalities that exist only in his own mind. He has spoken of them as realities, looked upon them as friends, and followed their dictates with all good faith.

Wood May be Lying.

Wood's defense may be a lie, but the man looks the part of a creature of dull mentality, liable to almost any sort of aberration of reason. He has the look of a decadent, a weakling member of a spent race.

Small Alice Williams, a cherubic youngster of three years, who sat at her mother's side, babbling baby talk, fussing with her cap and jacket and striving to pull her diminutive socks higher over her plump calves, was a puzzle to the bewildered prisoner. He studied her ceaseless movements assiduously, finding them more comprehensible, perhaps, than the process of working out his own fate.

Wood's Demeanor Yesterday.

George H. Wood sat throughout his trial with apparent apathy, staring at witnesses with unmoved countenance and displaying emotion only when the Sheriff called him to return to his cell. Then he leaned over his frail little wife and kissed her fondly.

Without a sign of emotion, he listened to the testimony against him, to the plea of counsel in his behalf and to the evidence, showing that he was irrational at the time he is alleged to have killed George Williams in a sleigh on a country road. The cooing of the murdered man's baby whenever there was a lull in the courtroom left him unmoved. His apathy is the result of insanity, in the opinion of alienists who have gathered in his defense.

SETTLING STRIKE.

Two of the Bosses Make a Compromise With the Journeymen.

It is reported today that the members of the Hod-Carriers' Union and some of the bosses held a meeting yesterday afternoon and that as a result two bosses, Seaman Williams and W. H. Pangborn, adjusted differences with their men by granting an increase of fourteen cents more a day, making the wage $2.64, instead of $2.50 as formerly. Tallamy Brothers, Titus H. Laury and W. C. Smith still refuse to concede the increase.

The bosses will meet tomorrow night when it is expected that the troubles will be settled.

UNION CO C. E. SESSION

Rev. C. E. Herring Speaker at the Annual Meeting.

IN CRANFORD

Officers Are Elected—Some Good Reports—Banner is Presented.

The Christian Endeavor Societies, of the First Presbyterian, Trinity Reformed and Seventh-Day Baptist churches were represented to the number of fifteen at the annual rally and business meeting of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union held in the Presbyterian church, Cranford, last night. The important features of the meeting included the address of the evening by Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, this city; the election of officers and the presentation of the Endeavor banner to the society having the largest representation present. The banner was given to the Aldene Society, it having fourteen members in attendance.

The report of the secretary showed that there had been a gain of two societies during the year, making forty-two in all new members of the Union. Seventeen societies responded to the roll call.

The nominating committee presented this list of officers for election, and the report was adopted unanimously:

President, James DeGroff, of Dunellen; vice presidents, F. E. Woodruff, of Westfield; W. V. H. Rankin, of Elizabeth; Mrs. C. T. Pearson, of Westfield; Mrs. William Smith, of Cranford; secretary, D. J. Price, of Westfield, treasurer, G. B. Clark, of Cranford.

After the election the new president made a short address in which he thanked the members for the honor conferred on him. He said that he would make every effort to fill the office acceptably during the year. After the presentation of the banner to the Aldene Society, Rev. Charles E. Herring made the address of the evening.

Mr. Herring spoke for about twenty minutes, taking for his subject a part of the pledge—"To make it a rule of my life to read the Bible and pray every day." Along this line he gave the Endeavorers much encouragement and urged them not to forget the daily reading of the Scriptures and daily prayer, thus the highest attainments in the Christian life are possible. Mr. Herring's remarks were earnest and full of help to all. After the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," the meeting adjourned.

MRS. CAHOONE BURIED.

MUSTN'T TAKE DIRT FROM THE ROADWAYS

DUNELLEN COUNCIL EXPRESSES DISAPPROVAL OF PECULIAR PRACTICE.

The application of the P. S. C. for a Y-switch was not the only matter of importance that was brought to the attention of the Dunellen Council at its special meeting Monday night. Chairman Schneider, of the street committee, asked the solons to decide if it was right for citizens to dig up the public streets to get dirt for grading their sidewalks. The Council decided that it wasn't.

It appears that whenever citizens on a back street has had walks to lay or holes in backyards to fill they have used the dirt of the roadway in front of their houses. Chairman Schneider said the borough had been put to expense a number of times in filling up holes in the roadways resulting from the practice. At present the street force is engaged in filling a deep hole of that character at Washington and Dunellen avenues.

The Council agreed that the practice was wrong. A resolution requesting W. H. Terry, who has just been detected grading the walk in front of his new house on First street with sections of the road, to replace the dirt he took was passed as a notice to property owners that the practice must cease.

"This taking of dirt from the roads will have to be stopped," said Mayor Wyckoff.

AMUSEMENTS.

In all New York and in fact anywhere on the globe there is no attraction equal to the gigantic and wonderful show at the Hippodrome, America's National there, Sixth avenue, 43d and 44th streets. The programme of marvels is constantly changing in detail but the great features, "The Circus on Mars" and "The Raiders" are still drawing packed houses and long before the time the exhibition begins every one of the 5,200 seats is taken by an eager, expectant audience. Col. Berdeverry, who startles, yes, holds the spectators in awe by his unrivalled rifle work, continues to play the piano with his gun and to outdo William Tell. For one best night in New York, select the Hippodrome.

LITERARY.

The May number of Pearson's Magazine contains, in addition to the usual number of bright, snappy short stories, a number of features of especial importance. Some interesting revelations regarding the shackling of Jefferson Davis, as told by an eye-witness, appear in an article entitled "The Shackling of Jefferson Davis." "The Revival of Ocean Yacht Racing" is a well illustrated article, by W. J. Henderson. Martin M. Foss has contributed an article on "The Bucket Shops of the Book World," and A. V. Stratton one on the manufacture of lead pencils.

Crowds Going to the Circus.

Intense interest has been aroused in this community by the announcement that Ringling Brothers' immense circus is to exhibit in Newark on Wednesday, May 24. Several big excursions will go from this vicinity and local people will be well represented at the big show. Those who go from here should make every effort to arrive in time to see the magnificent new free street parade, which is given in the morning preceding the opening performance. Three miles of parade glories are divided into thirty sections and each section is a show in itself—a parade such as the world has never seen before. In this wonderful display are shown 100 beautiful dens, lairs and cages of rare wild animals, a herd of forty big and little elephants, 650 horses, and 1,280 people. One section of the procession is devoted to magnificent and costly floats representing Germany, Russia, England, France, India, Persia, Scotland, the United States, and other countries. The performance that follows, and which includes the superb spectacular production of The Field of the Cloth of Gold, is the most magnificent display of arenic wonders ever presented by any amusement enterprise in America. The menagerie is filled to overflowing with rare beasts and birds, including the only baby elephant bred and successfully raised in the United States, the only rhinoceros in captivity and the last living pair of giraffes.

FOG HOLDS UP RACERS

German Emperor's Contest Postponed by Bad Weather.

FLEUR-DE-LYS DAMAGED BY SCOW

Yachtsmen Chafe at Sandy Hook Over Delay—Atlantic, Captained by Charles Barr, Is One of Sportsmen's Favorites as Winner.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The report from Sandy Hook that the yachts had started for the great ocean race proved to be erroneous. A thick bank of fog which bore down and enveloped the racers made a postponement necessary.

Eight of the eleven yachts entered in the transatlantic race for the $5,000 cup offered by the German emperor were at the starting line off Sandy Hook ready for the run across to the

CHARLES BARR.
[Captain of the Atlantic.]

English coast. A dense blanket of blinding mist hung over the Hook and the sea outside it where the start was to have been made.

The smallest yacht in the fleet, the little American schooner Fleur-de-Lys, owned by Dr. Lewis A. Stimson of the New York Yacht club, had been run down by a mud scow in tow while the yacht was at anchor in the lower bay before daylight and so damaged that repairs were absolutely necessary before she could have started in the race. Dr. Stimson and his guests were on board the yacht and asleep when the scow ripped away a portion of the yacht's bulwarks. She was promptly towed into Erie basin, and the damage was soon repaired. Dr. Stimson announced that he would be ready to start in the race today.

Among sportsmen the Atlantic, captained by Charles Barr, is one of the leading favorites for the cup.

Robbins Acknowledged Monopoly.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Before the senate committee on interstate commerce, which is investigating railroad rates, President George R. Robbins of the Armour Car Lines company admitted that the company had twenty or thirty exclusive contracts with railroads for fruit transportation business and acknowledged a monopoly of that traffic in parts of the west and south. "It seems," said Mr. Elkins, the chairman, "that you have all the advantages and none of the responsibilities of common carriers."

Manufacturers' Congress at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 17.—More than 300 of the 3,000 members of the National Association of Manufacturers, accompanied by a hundred ladies, were present at the opening of the tenth annual meeting of the association here. Representatives from almost every section of the country were present, and the membership represents a large majority of the $13,000,000,000 invested capital of the United States.

"Angel of the Tombs" Married.

ST. LOUIS, May 17.—Miss Ada Eliot of St. Louis, who while employed as probationary officer in New York city became widely known as the "Angel of the Tombs," was married to Alfred Sheffield, master of Harvard Preparatory school, Springfield, Mass., at the residence of her father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Christopher Eliot of Boston, an uncle of the bride.

Was a Matter of Exchange.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—It is said that President Roosevelt has already convinced himself that the $10,000 check given by the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company to Mr. Loomis while the latter was minister to Venezuela was merely a matter of exchange. Mr. Bowen has rested his case with his statement just sent in.

Judge Foster Elected.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 17.—Judge John H. Foster of Evansville, nephew of former Secretary of State John W. Foster, has been elected to congress from the First district of Indiana to succeed James A. Hemenway, who was elected United States senator.

Buttling at Belmont Park Won the Feature and Favorite Was Last.

NEW YORK, May 17.—J. L. McGinnis' Buttling, backed from 10 to 1 to 6 to 1, won the Baychester stakes at Belmont park over a heavy track. Zeala, the heavily played favorite, was never prominent, finishing away last in the ruck.

Lyne broke Buttling off in front and, making all the pace, won by five lengths from Sinister, a long shot. Four favorites were defeated. Summaries:

First Race.—The Gadfly, first; Aeronaut, second; Cottage Maid, third.

Second Race.—Guiding Star, first; Astronomer, second; Hammeraway, third.

SOKOLOVSKY IS SHOT

Governor General of Ufa Desperately Wounded.

MARKED FOR FATE OF BOGDANOVITCH

Czar Approves Baron Rosen's Appointment to Washington—Germans Accused of Land Grab at Haichou.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—A special dispatch from Ufa says that Major General Sokolovsky, governor general of the province of Ufa, was fired at several times and seriously wounded in the public garden there during an entertainment. The assassin disappeared. General Sokolovsky's life is despaired of, though he retains complete consciousness. Vice Governor Bogdanovitch has taken over the administration of the province.

The shooting of Major General Sokolovsky, governor general of Ufa, is the second crime of this nature which has occurred at Ufa within two years, his predecessor, General Bogdanovitch having been assassinated in the streets of Ufa on May 19, 1903.

General Sokolovsky, who as vice governor of Orenburg and later as military governor of the same province acquired a reputation as a stern and vigorous official, was appointed to restore order in the turbulent government of Ufa and adopted a repressive policy, which long ago caused him to be marked for the same fate as Bogdanovitch.

Numerous revolutionary societies were broken up by General Sokolovsky, and manifestations were not permitted under his administration, and the last acts of the governor general were the dispersal of an antigovernmental club and the suppression of the May day demonstration, with the arrests of many armed demonstrators.

Emperor Nicholas has signed the appointment of Baron Rosen to be ambassador of Russia to the United States.

At Warsaw there were disturbances in the Jewish quarter last night. The police were attacked by a mob and forced to take refuge in the Market hall, from which they shot and killed one and wounded another of the rioters.

The re-enforcement of the Russian forces at Possiet bay is owing to the reported advance of the Japanese army.

It is reported that Japan has sent a third strongly worded protest to France on the neutrality question.

It was reported from Tokyo that Germany has dispatched a force of troops and occupied Haichou, in the southern part of the Chinese province of Shangtung, where they raised and saluted the German flag. It is suggested that Germany is seeking an extension of her interests in China and is taking advantage of present political conditions.

Extra Session For Hooker Case.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 17.—"While a variety of matters may come before an extra session," said Governor Higgins last night, with emphasis on the "may," "I think the coming session would be devoted largely if not entirely to the Hooker case. I do not wish to be understood, however, as declaring that I shall not ask the legislature to act upon any other topic. I do not see why such a session should be long. A week in my opinion should be sufficient to dispose of the Hooker matter."

Beef Buyers Made Price Each Day.

CHICAGO, May 17.—An attempt was made here by the federal grand jury which is investigating the affairs of the beef packing industry to show that the cattle buyers for the packing concerns and certain commission firms met each morning and agreed upon the prices to be paid for live stock during the day. Evidence along this line was sought from C. B. Van Norman, head of the Van Norman Commission company.

Sovereign Camp Would Not Adjourn.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 17.—The sovereign camp of the Woodmen of the World refused to adjourn and resume the sessions in Galveston, Tex., so that the delegates might attend the unveiling of the monument there erected to the memory of the members of the order who lost their lives in the flood. Two hundred dollars was voted to the sufferers of the Snyder (Okla.) cyclone.

Gomez Better After Operation.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, May 17.—The family of General Maximo Gomez, who is critically ill, arrived here with the Havana doctors, and after a consultation it was agreed that an operation was necessary to arrest the threatened gangrene. The general endured the severe operation bravely. He is suffering greatly, but the doctors' bulletin reports that his condition is favorable.

Yellow Fever In Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—A cablegram from Colonel Gorgas, in charge in the canal zone, received at the insular bureau states that Aubreu, Ruggles and Wood, three of the twelve employees who were stricken with yellow fever May 3, are convalescing. With the exception of one who died, the remainder of the twelve have completely recovered.

"Aunt Patty" Dined at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—"Aunt Patty" Allen, born a hundred years ago as a slave in Amelia, Va., was given a dinner here by Mrs. John G. Deshler, wife of a leading banker. "Aunt Patty" was a nurse in the Greene family, of which Mrs. Deshler is the eldest daughter.

EVENTS AT STEEPLECHASE

Course Will be Dotted With High and Spectacular Jumps.

TRACK LENGTHENED

Mile, Two - and - a - Half - Mile and Three - Mile Races—"In and Out" Will be a Feature.

Over a course lengthened to a mile, three spectacular steeplechases will be on the cards at the jumping races to be run by the Watchung Hunt Club at the old Driving Park Saturday afternoon. The courses will be a mile, two miles and a half and three miles.

The going will make a very pretty sight. Five jumps in all will be taken. Just in front of the grandstand the horses will take four-foot hurdles, as they start. At the Park avenue turn the course has been graded out into the field, and just beyond the extension is a stiff post-and-fence jump, four feet high. Right opposite the grandstand, on the far stretch, is the water jump. It means a jump of twelve feet and the horse that takes it must stretch his legs in a mighty spring.

Beyond the water jump comes the in-and-out, otherwise known as the pig pen. The jumper first takes a fence nearly four feet high and lands in a fenced-in pen. He must take another fence within thirty feet, and the negotiation of the two jumps requires a horse and horsemanship of the highest order. The boys will show their nerve at that jump—and their nervousness, more than likely.

From the in-and-out the horses will disappear into the woods. They will reappear in the act of taking a tall brush jump at the fence of the old course. The sight of the jumpers as they leap into view will be as pretty a one as horselovers can well wish for.

From this last jump the horses run into a plowed field. The plowing was done expressly for the race, and that little stretch through the softened soil will show the mettle of the animals, worked out by the nerve-eating jumps.

Bishop Vincent Coming.

The host of friends of Bishop John H. Vincent, L. L. D., formerly of this city, but now of Indianapolis, will welcome the announcement that he is to preach at the First M. E. church Sunday morning. It has been a long time since Plainfielders have had the opportunity of hearing this celebrated divine and he will undoubtedly be greeted by a large congregation.

Opposition to Arc Lights.

There is some opposition among the city officials to the plan of increasing the number of arc lights in the business section of the city. It is said that they do not favor the increased expenditure in lighting the business part of the town, inasmuch as the merchants do not keep their stores open in the evening.

RAIN CHECKS CARNIVAL; CLOUDS WORRY K. OF C.

PROMISE OF MORE MOISTURE TONIGHT —AFTERNOON BUSINESS AT GROUNDS.

The rain caused a shut-down at the carnival last night. Things were pretty damp on the grounds by 8 o'clock, and the crowd didn't show up so Chairman Fisk called the shows off. The Red Men, who were to have had charge of the attractions, are not likely now to have a chance to disport themselves for the hospital's benefit. All the remaining dates of the carnival, excepting Saturday, have been assigned.

Some business was done on the grounds yesterday afternoon. Five or six hundred pleasure seekers turned out and Secretary Lovell heard the welcome chink of coin all over the field.

The Knights of Columbus expect to run the carnival tonight, but the weather prospects were worrying them this morning. The weather man promised rain for all day and the sky looked like it. The Knights will turn to and carry out their part of the programme if there is any chance, but if the skies drip or the grounds ooze tonight the carnival committee will not be likely to give the word to go ahead.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—J. M. Hetfield has removed from Park avenue to 410 Madison avenue.

—James Love, of Duer street, is having some extensive improvements made about his place. He is having his barn remodeled and in addition will have a wagon house built for the accommodation of four or five wagons.

—The work of excavating a cellar for the foundation of the new bank building for The Plainfield Trust Company, is progressing favorably and the work of laying the foundation will probably be started next week. The general contractor has erected a good size work-shop on West Second street, where tools, etc., will be kept during the work of construction.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Bishop McFaul, head of the Roman Catholic diocese of Trenton, will be at St. John's church on June 4 to confirm candidates for admission into the church. An unusually large class will be presented by Father Dunphy. Several out-of-town priests will assist in the elaborate ceremony.

The Council has hopes of getting water from the city mains into the borough hall free of charge. Superintendent Pierce is not sure it can be accomplished, but the solons have decided to someone "higher up," before they relinquish the project.

William McMahon was brought home from the Jersey City hospital, to which he was taken three weeks ago after being injured in the Central yards. He will be confined to the house for several weeks.

Lud France, formerly in business as a painter here, has joined the Plainfield Painters' Union. He is employed by Woolston & Buckle, for whom he worked a number of years ago.

At the next meeting of the Council in June, it is expected that a date for a public hearing on the Y-switch question will be fixed.

The culvert at corner Madison avenue and Front street is to be repaired. It was left in bad shape by the winter's frosts.

Chief Dougherty, of the Central railroad police force, was in the borough yesterday on a general inspection tour.

Two more carloads of pipe for the gas-main job arrived yesterday. No one knows when the work will be started.

Father Dunphy was in Trenton yesterday attending the semi-annual meeting of the priests of the diocese.

The Dunellen Field Club is trying to arrange a game with the junior New Market team.

Paul Reusch attended the George Wood murder trial at Somerville yesterday.

William Farrier is doing the curb work on W. E. Terry's place on First street.

Miss Elsie Peters entertained a cousin from Newark yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

H. E. Knight's road horse created some excitement in town yesterday afternoon by running away. The animal, who had been left standing near the depot, became frightened in some way and started on a mad run for the 'Plains. When near Front street, Augustus Frentz, who was passing, ran out into the road and made a dangerous but successful capture of the frightened animal. The only damage done was to the wagon and harness, the horse escaping without a scratch.

Mrs. Haskells, the well-known reader and impersonator, will give an entertainment tonight in Excelsior Hall, under the auspices of the Epworth League, of the Methodist church.

Use Randolph's Medicated Benzoin Witch Hazel Soap

for the toilet. It will beautify your skin and make it as soft as velvet.

It contains the purest and most healing ingredients — cures chafing, reduces pimples, etc. Used with Plainfield water, it makes a splendid lather for shampooing, and other purposes.

A new trustee was elected to fill the place vacated by the resignation of Mr. Bates.

The Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening under the direction of Miss Nellie B. Manning was called "a leaderless meeting." The promptness and interest shown during the service indicated that an enterprising leader had not been wanting beforehand.

Change of time on the Lehigh Valley R. R. took place on Sunday, announcing a new morning train leaving Newark at 9:55 for Buffalo and Chicago.

COUNSEL INDIGNANT.

Justice Davis Freely Criticised For Nan Patterson Accusation.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Lawyers throughout the city are commenting on Justice Davis' remarks on the Nan Patterson case. The justice declared, among other things, that the actress held the pistol with which Caesar Young was shot and discharged it and that she lied repeatedly on the stand.

"There is nothing to warrant such a statement being made by the justice," declared Dan O'Reilly, her counsel. "Miss Patterson was on the stand before him, and Mr. Rand cross examined her for a whole day. She was not contradicted in one statement. Justice Davis has said that she lied. Then why did not the prosecution contradict the statement? I do not know why Justice Davis should make such a statement. It is a great surprise to me."

Abraham Levy, also of counsel for Miss Patterson, was also greatly surprised when he learned of the speech made by Justice Davis.

"I will not make any comment until I give Justice Davis' words serious consideration," he said. "It is too grave a matter, and, he being a justice of the supreme court, it would not become me to enter into a controversy with him without thorough deliberation. I may have a statement to make later."

Justice Davis' remarks were made at the banquet of the Phi Delta Phi club. He said:

"Today, in the light of the last disagreement, I feel sure that most people are convinced—that a majority of the people believe—that the pistol that killed Caesar Young was held by Nan Patterson, was discharged by her and was bought by J. Morgan Smith."

NOT THE STARS AND STRIPES.

Federal Ships For Panama Railway to Fly Their National Colors.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Secretary Taft has indicated to the president that some difficulty may be experienced in purchasing ships for the Panama Railroad company. Already some vessels which the directors of the railroad had in mind had been found to be sold and the prices of some others had been raised when the owners had discovered for whom they were wanted.

A question was raised as to the use substantially by the United States government for foreign built vessels and what nation's flag they would fly. Manifestly under the law they could not fly the United States flag notwithstanding they belonged to the United States government without coming into conflict with the navigation laws of the country.

Secretary Taft said that the vessels if purchased would fly the flag of the nation in which the purchase was made and not the stars and stripes.

Called Hoch a Scheming Fiend.

CHICAGO, May 17.—In analyzing the evidence for the jury in the Hoch murder trial State Attorney Healy pictured Hoch as a cold blooded murderer. Attorney Healy dwelt on the sufferings of Mrs. Welcker-Hoch in her last moments and pictured Hoch fiendishly watching and waiting for the end. Pointing an accusing finger at the prisoner, the state attorney denounced Hoch as a scheming murderer, a fiend and a criminal of the lowest type. Hoch shifted uneasily at the scathing words of the prosecuting attorney and continually shook his head as though to deny the accusations.

THE OVERAMBITIOUS WOMAN

She Has Not the Patience to Wait For Things.

There are plenty of foolish people in the world, but among the most foolish must be counted those women who, to use a vulgar expression, "bite off more than they can chew."

You see them on every hand. There is little Mrs. Poorman—she married Poorman with her eyes open. She knew he had a tiny income. Now, why on earth does she stretch that income beyond all powers of endurance by trying to float along with the Richly set? She belongs to a dinner club, for instance, and has to give a swell banquet when she has only one maid, who doesn't even know enough not to pass plates in front of the guests. And she worries herself very nearly into the grave in the effort to "keep up appearances."

Then there is Mrs. Vanity. She lives for clothes and stays awake during the wee small hours planning whether she really can scrape enough from the household money to have that extra dress of pale blue eolienne. The result is that she becomes sallow and wrinkled fretting about it all, and the pale blue eolienne, when she gets it, doesn't help her appearance much.

And there is Mrs. Proudmother. She sends little Gladys to a fashionable school, which she can no more afford than she can afford to keep a horse and carriage. And why? In order that little Gladys may have a chance to learn more? No. She will learn less in the fashionable school, but she will make fashionable friends, associate with little girls who are worth twice as much money as she is and consequently imbibe ideas of discontent and of living beyond her means.

Of course it is a good thing that in America we have no limitations of rank, but it is also a bad thing because it breeds discontent. Every woman in the land, regardless of her own or her husband's limitations, wants to do the same things that the most wealthy women in her town do.

BEATRICE MILLER.

BALCONY EFFECT.

A Very Good Idea For a Large Hall or Reception Room.

Very often there is a large entrance hall or a square unlovely room in an old country house which will not admit of artistic furnishing. The picture suggests a balcony treatment, which is attractive, particularly for entrance halls.

The woodwork of this room is white, giving it a light, cheerful appearance. There is a large window composed of five smaller ones, and across the top of this there is the balcony, just wide enough to accommodate a few plants or musicians in the event of a dance. An oriental rug hangs over the railing and with its deep red and green tones gives a touch of color to the room. The window seat is upholstered in green, and the window draperies are of the same tint. A round table or two and some easy chairs are furnishings sufficient for this sort of a room, to which, if desired, with a piano, which I place with its back to the room.

The general effect is simple, with small rugs or many pictures to [illegible] up the walls and without any [illegible] brac whatever.

JACOB AND THE FORTY THIEVES

MODERN SYNDICATE OF CRIMINALS DISCOVERED IN FRANCE.

GANG RAIDED MANY LANDS

Stole Property Valued at Over Million Francs—Telegraphy of Chief—Band of Arabian Nights' Fame Outdone.

Paris.—The case of the "anarchist burglars," which opened recently before the assizes court, of Amiens, is one of the most extraordinary romances of crime I have ever heard of, writes the Paris correspondent of a London paper. This trial is an event of no mere local interest.

The gang, which consisted of about 40 members, 26 of whom are arrested, ranged from the North sea to the Mediterranean and from the Atlantic to the Alps. They even raided Belgium and Switzerland. Most of the sensational burglaries committed between 1900 and 1903 have been traced to them, and yet the police had no suspicion of this organized body of "Forty Thieves" until April of the latter year.

The investigation into their crimes has lasted two years, the records concerning them consists of 20,000 minutes, 95 charges have been set forth in the indictment and the total value of the robberies, as far as can be ascertained, runs up to 1,260,000 francs. Over 150 witnesses have been subpoenaed from every part of France.

The members of the "Abbeyville gang," as they are commonly called, on account of the place where their leader was arrested, belonged all to the better educated working class. Among their professions I note those of antiquary, compositor, cabinet-maker, goldsmith, wood carver, sculptor, layer of mosaic, locksmith, flower seller, shop clerk, house painter, etc.

I am sure Sherlock Holmes will note with particular interest the apparently trivial—albeit quite fortuitous—circumstance that led to the capture of the gang. An Abbeyville coffee-house keeper, M. Leleu, who lives on Cathedral square, was suffering one night from toothache. Unable to go to sleep, he paced up and down his room in the small hours of the morning with his hand to his cheek, when his attention was called to three strangers stopping in front of his windows. He saw them pick the lock of a neighbor's house and they succeeded in opening the door. M. Leleu pluckily enough went out to rouse the police. Unfortunately the strangers heard him close his door, and when the police came up they had disappeared.

M. Leleu, however, who is evidently a man of head, was able to give a good description of them. He had seen them in the light of an electric lamp. They had been noticed on the high road to Calais, and it was conjectured that they intended to catch a train at the first station (they knew better than to take the train at Abbeyville). Two policemen sent after them caught them without difficulty. The prisoners accompanied them meekly into the station waiting-room. On being charged, however, two of them whipped out revolvers, and fired on the policemen, one being killed, the other seriously injured.

The station officials were panic-stricken, and ran off, and so did the three criminals—in different directions. One of the fugitives, who was no other than the leader of the gang, named Jacob, lost his way and got stuck in one of the marshes around Abbeyville, where he was easily secured. The second also was caught. The third made his way on foot, over 100 miles distant, sleeping at night under haystacks, and avoiding the larger towns. At Paris he was arrested.

The prisoners refused to answer questions. The police, however, in their pursuit had picked up some torn bits of paper, and these, coupled with information given by the telegraph office, led to the discovery of the gang.

The "Abbeyville gang" operated in the following manner: Their headquarters were in Paris. When an expedition was decided upon one or two scouts were sent out in advance. To find out whether a house was empty they placed on the door little strips of dark-colored paper. If, after 24 hours, the strips were found intact, a telegram was sent to headquarters. The message consisted of one work, "George," which meant: "You can come down." They passed the whole night in the houses they robbed in order not to be seen in the streets, and they left by early trains. All the booty was shared with the whole gang. Gold jewelry went into the melting pot; stock market securities were sent abroad.

Among the notable deeds of the gang are the burglaries of the cathedrals of Beauvais, Rouen and Tours (where they "lifted" 200,000 francs' worth of old tapestries). When I say "worth," I mean the sum at which they sold these objects d'art.

Jacob, the chief, is 26 years of age, and a Marseillais. He started in life as a cabin boy, became a compositor, wrote anarchistic tracts (one bears this title: "When Shall We Cut Throats?") and manufactured dynamite bombs.

His first robbery was characteristic. Assuming the part of a police superintendent, he seized a quantity of jewelry at a pawnbroker's. He was arrested. He then shammed insanity and was sent to a lunatic asylum and escaped, after enrolling one of the wardens in the gang. He seems to be a Napoleon among burglars. Among the prisoners are Jacob's sweetheart, his mother and a couple of other women. They have been given a front seat in the dock, and they all wear fur pelisses. One of the men, who played the part of a society gentleman, was arrested at Jibutil, in the Red sea, on a cable warrant. He was a first-class passenger to Tonquin.

The gang were in every way up to date. They were provided with most extensive tools of hardened steel, and carried incandescent lamps.

FAIR THIEF, A BRIDE, TRAPPED BY STEPS.

Woman Storekeeper Solves Mystery of Numerous Robberies by Sprinkling Flour on the Floor.

New York.—Betrayed by a "floury" trail which led from a grocery store she is accused of robbing to her door, Mrs. Elizabeth Bauer, a bride of a few weeks, was trapped by the Long Island city police. The store was owned by a woman, and it was she who devised the plan of sprinkling the floor with flour in order to track the thief, who had been making nightly visits to the store for several weeks.

The plan worked well, but as the tracks led to the door of a friend and neighbor, she hesitated to make an accusation. She turned the case over to District Attorney Gregg, who set the trap which caught the thief. The owner of the store is Mrs. William Huber, of the Blissville section, a widow with six children and with two small grocery stores on her hands. Her store at 161 Pearsall street is in charge of her daughter, a girl of 17.

Recently the small stock had become depleted very fast, while trade was never so dull. Goods that were in place when the store was closed were missing in the morning.

Mrs. Huber hit upon the scheme of scattering flour about the floor in the hope that the footprints of the thief would give a clew. On the following morning more goods were missing and the prints of a woman's foot were plainly marked in the floor, and they led to the door of Mrs. Bauer, who occupies rooms in the same building. Mrs. Huber was on good terms with Mrs. Bauer and refused to believe that she was guilty, but consulted the district attorney.

Mr. Gregg sent Policeman Rigney to the store with instructions to hide and remain on watch all night. No one entered the place until just at daybreak, when Rigney heard a key inserted in the lock of a side door and he saw a woman enter. She selected some canned goods from the shelves and then Rigney crept up and took her by the arm.

The woman pleaded in vain that her husband be spared the humiliation of her arrest. She promised restitution to the widow and anything that could be asked of her to save the disgrace. The woman was arraigned before Magistrate Smith in the police court a few hours later. She confessed that she had been in the store many times and had taken the missing articles. She was married to John Bauer only a few weeks ago. He bears a good reputation. Mrs. Bauer was held in $1,000 bail for examination on a charge of burglary.

Woman a Grandmother at 30.

Bangor, Me.—Mrs. Sarah Jane Dearing, wife of Capt. Charles F. Dearing, of 167 Sheridan street, Portland, although but 30 years old, is a grandmother, and in recognition of this distinction she has just received from President Roosevelt his photograph bearing the presidential autograph. Mrs. Dearing, who was married when she was under 13 years of age, is the mother of seven children, of whom six are living and in the best of health. She was about 13 years and eight months old when her eldest daughter, now 16 and the mother of a fine girl baby, was born.

BANK LOOTERS CAUGHT.

Gilbertsville Robbers Held at New York Had Full Burglar's Kit.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Charged with being implicated in the burglary of a private bank in Gilbertsville, in the Catskills, two weeks ago, two men and a woman were arrested in this city and locked up in police headquarters. Acting Captain McCauley of the detective bureau was reticent about the arrests and would not say how they came about. He said, however, that in the apartments where the trio were found, at 231 West Forty-ninth street, a complete burglar's kit had been seized. He said it was the most complete that had ever been taken to headquarters.

The prisoners refused to make any statement.

Early on the morning of May 2 the private bank of E. C. Brewer at Gilbertsville, Greene county, was entered by five masked burglars. Dynamite was used to open the safe, and the explosion was so severe that it wrecked the entire bank. The noise of the explosion awakened the whole town, but before the burglars fled they managed to secure $10,000 in cash.

As they left the bank citizens who had rushed to the scene, after hastily arming themselves, fired at them. The burglars returned the fire and were chased by a posse for some distance. They finally managed to escape by stealing a team from a stable.

Detectives were put to work on the case and ever since they have been searching for the burglars. It is not known how they obtained the clew, but Detectives Peabody and Clark, with several other central office men with drawn revolvers, broke into the flat occupied by Edward Watson, alias Wilson, here and arrested Watson, his wife Mabel and John Mullen before they got an opportunity to make any resistance.

The detectives, after securing the prisoners, made a careful search of the flat. Among the things they found were two bags of nitroglycerin, twenty diamond pointed drills, a dozen steel wedges, a long coil of fuse, a box of primers, used for setting off explosives; an electric battery, two revolvers and several boxes of cartridges.

STRIKE TO BE CALLED OFF.

Predicted That Trouble Will End Tomorrow.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Although no facts as yet have transpired to fully warrant the prediction, it is asserted both by members of the Employers' association and by the conservative element in the ranks of the teamsters that the strike will be called off probably within twenty-four hours.

It is not likely that any definite action looking to an adjustment of the trouble will be taken prior to the meeting of the national officers of the Teamsters' union which it is expected will be held here today.

Chief among the causes which lead to a prediction of a settlement are the firm stand taken by Mayor Dunne, when in conference with President Shea and officials of the local teamsters' union he assured them that any further spread of the strike would certainly make it necessary for him to call for troops.

Warrants were sworn out by Superintendent of Compulsory Education Bodine for the ringleaders of the "strikes" at the public schools and also for the parents of many of the pupils whose children have not returned to school. The school officials decided to put down the school "strikes" if it should be necessary to take several hundred pupils and their parents into the courts.

Drivers for the musical instrument house of Lyon & Healy have struck because they had been ordered to deliver goods to the boycotted stores.

President Gompers is here and has held a conference with President Shea and local officials of the teamsters' union.

Bad Runaway Accident.

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 17.—In a runaway accident near here Mrs. W. R. Kenan and Miss Sarah Kenan of Wilmington and Miss Annie Kenan of Kenansville, N. C., mother, sister and aunt respectively of Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, wife of the multimillionaire, were thrown from a trap, and Miss Annie Kenan sustained serious injuries. Miss Kenan suffered a compound fracture of the leg just above the knee which may ultimately require amputation.

Union Engineers on Strike.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 17.—Union engineers in every coal yard of this city are on strike to force a recognition of their union. All the yards were tied up save one at which nonunion engineers had been employed. The other dealers say that men from elsewhere will be engaged to fill the strikers' places. The strikers state that in the event of the engagement of nonunion men the coal handlers will also go out.

Questions Garrabrant Sentence.

TRENTON, N. J., May 17. — Miss Mary Philbrook, counsel for Libbie Garrabrant, the woman who is serving a life term in state prison, had a conference with Governor Stokes and raised an interesting point as to the power of the board of pardons to commute a death sentence to one of life imprisonment. Miss Philbrook contends that the board has no such power.

More Victims Leave Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 17.—Two more of the wreck victims have left the Harrisburg hospital for their homes. They were Mrs. Arden Post of Elizabeth, N. J., and R. L. J. Rose, a Pullman porter, of Pittsburg. All the injured still in the hospital are now believed to be out of danger.

SENATOR FROM UNION

Conceded That G. O. P. Nomination is to Go to Plainfield.

RUNYON THE FAVORITE

Perkins, of Westfield, and Coyne, of Elizabeth, Are Also Named Says the Newark News.

"Several candidates for the Republican Senatorial nomination have sprung up in Union County," says the Newark News. "There appears to be an understanding among the leaders," it states in its news columns, "that Plainfield is entitled to the honor this fall, and the most prominent man from that city mentioned is William N. Runyon. Mr. Runyon as the candidate of the anti-Kean faction, opposed Judge Cross three years ago, when he was nominated, but it is declared now that all wounds inflicted in that contest have been healed and all is harmony within the party ranks. Mr. Runyon has by no means the field all to himself. Even announced that two of his neighbors, in Plainfield he has rivals, and it is Ernest R. Ackerman and Charles J. Fisk, once mayor of the city, and both men of wealth and influence, will contest the nomination with him.

"Notwithstanding the reported understanding among the leaders that the nomination shall go to Plainfield, candidates are springing up in other parts of the county. There is Randolph Perkins, the young mayor of Westfield, who was sent to the Assembly to take the seat left vacant by the death of George H. Embree, and who while there showed himself to be possessed of good legislative abilities. He has been mentioned for the honor, and some of his friends think, that should he enter the primaries he would give a good account of himself.

"Nevertheless, the knowing ones do not take his candidacy over-seriously. They are, however, giving more attention to the reported candidacy of Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne, who was recently elected chairman of the county committee to succeed Hamilton F. Kean. Mr. Coyne has been a member of the Assembly twice, and his popularity in the party throughout the county is such as to make him a formidable opponent should he decide to enter the contest.

"The Union County Democrats are looking over the field for a suitable candidate, and among those mentioned at this time in connection with it are Robert H. McAdams, of Elizabeth, and William Tuttle, of Westfield."

Fell Fifteen Feet.

Nelson Runyon, Esq., of the firm of Nelson & William N. Runyon, narrowly escaped serious injury at the new Court House, Elizabeth, this morning. He was ascending a winding pair of stairs, and upon reaching the top was deceived by his double-vision eyeglasses and stepped off the landing on the opposite side. He fell a distance of fifteen feet, sustaining severe bruises. Fortunately no bones were broken.

Broke Harness Three Times.

A sudden jump of the horse attached to a wagon driven by Mrs. Lucy Morrow, of Park avenue, near South Plainfield, caused the harness to break on West Fifth street, near Plainfield avenue, yesterday morning. The horse attempted to bolt, but James Toney, a negro, caught it before it could break loose. It was the third time within three days that the animal had snapped his harness.

Musicale and Sale.

The Ladies' Guild, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, held its sixth annual musicale and ice cream sale for the benefit of the church last night, at the parish house. The programme included piano solos by W. K. Flanagan; soprano solos by Mrs. Bayard Hawthorn; bass solos by J. C. Dempsey; readings by Mr. Flanagan and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorn.

DENMAN'S FUNNY STUNT

Pulliam Denies Truth of Westfielder's Statement.

SUPPORTS DAAB

President of the National League Scores Denman in An Interview This Morning.

In an interview this morning with President Harry C. Pulliam, of the National League, a reporter for The Daily Press learned that he fully supported Manager Philip Daab in his position relative to the controversy with the Westfield Baseball Association over the proposed series of contests between the local team and Westfields. He emphatically stated that Mr. Daab's position is right and that the latter could not afford to jeopardize the interests of his team by playing with a club harboring a blacklisted player, such as "Red" Waller.

Mr. Pulliam stated further that in an interview over the telephone with President C. H. Denman, yesterday, that the latter did not act fair and that it was the last time he would converse in such a manner with a person unknown to him. In the future he said he would demand that matters of inquiry be made in writing.

In explaining Mr. Denman's alleged unfair methods, Mr. Pulliam said that he made no reference to the presence of Waller, a blacklisted man, being on the Westfield team, and if he had he would have quickly given him his opinion regarding it. Mr. Pulliam was quite indignant in speaking of Mr. Denman's manner of withholding certain facts in presenting the case, adding that he had no knowledge of the letter of protest written by James O'Rourke regarding Waller. He declared Manager Daab's position right, honorable and fair, and concluded by saying that if he ever met Mr. Denman he would certainly tell him that he had been deceiving him.

The matter which led to The Daily Press investigation of the Plainfield-Westfield controversy through an interview with President Pulliam, is the following which was sent to this office this morning by President Denman:

"Yesterday President Denman, of the ball association, consulted President H. C. Pulliam, of the National League, and member of the National Commission, in reference to the controversy raised by Plainfield regarding the Westfield series. President Pulliam unreservedly stated that the National Commission's raising the ban from the Hoboken Club related solely to the Hoboken grounds so as to enable the Hoboken team to play National agreement teams there on Sundays and any connection of the Hoboken team as representing Plainfield on Saturdays or any other day was something in which the National commission had no interest whatever."

In addition Mr. Denman says that he went over the ground thoroughly with Mr. Pulliam and told him it was his pleasure whether he committed himself.

ELABORATE SERVICE FOR CHILDREN OF MARY

RECEPTION OF CANDIDATES TO BE MARKED BY STATELY CEREMONY.

The Society of the Children of Mary, of St. Mary's R. C. church, is preparing for the semi-annual reception of candidates, which will take place on May 28. At a special meeting of the society Sunday afternoon a rehearsal of the reception was held. The Society of the Immaculate Conception, the junior branch of the Children of Mary, also rehearsed at a special meeting.

Candidates for the society are admitted only every six months and the reception is attended by elaborate and solemn ceremonies. All the girls dress in white, with the regalia of the order prominent. They wear long white veils and carry large bouquets of flowers.

A litany is chanted, and a long processional is a feature of the service. A large figure of the Virgin Mary stands before the altar. As they go by the girls pile their flowers at the Virgin's feet. One little girl carries a large wreath, and this is delivered into the priest's hands. When the processional is completed and the Children are in their places, the priest crowns the Virgin with the wreath.

Announcement of the number of candidates to be received at the coming service will be made by Father Bogan next Sunday.

JUSTICE GARRETSON. (Courtesy New York World) WOOD, the prisoner, on the stand.

WOOD'S JURY LISTEN TO ALIENISTS' OPINIONS

Prosecution Fights Hard to Shatter Defense Made by Williams' Alleged Murderer.

TRIAL NEARING END

Prisoner Smiles for the First Time—Case May Go to Jury Tomorrow—Tilts Between Counsel.

The hearing of expert testimony furnished by some of New York's best known alienists and specialists occupied most of this morning's session of the George H. Wood murder trial at Somerville. The defense rested at 10 o'clock and from then on the time was taken up with the prosecution's rebuttal of the defense's medical testimony. While in some instances the prosecution gained ground, skilful cross-examination by Mr. Swackhamer overcame it and as a whole it lost nothing by the State's action.

Jury to Decide Tomorrow.

There is an indication that the last of the witnesses will be heard this afternoon and that the case will go to the jury tomorrow at the latest.

Talk As to Verdict.

The impression prevails that Wood will escape the gallows and end his days in an asylum for the insane. The summing up will be handled by Mr. Clark for the prosecution and Mr. Swackhamer for the defense.

With the opening of the day's session, Dr. Sidney Wilgus, of New York, was recalled by the defense and gave further testimony as to his belief of Wood's dual personality.

Prisoner's Aunt on the Stand.

Mrs. Rosetta Randolph, of Mount Horeb, the prisoner's aunt, who until a short time ago resided in Plainfield, testified as to a fainting spell Wood once had. In cross-examination Mr. Clark tried to bring out that Wood's father, who was her brother, might have had an illegitimate son named Henry Wolfe, but this the witness vigorously denied.

Mrs. Pollock Offended.

Mrs. Saran Pollock was recalled to tell what she knew of "Henry Wolfe" and denied that any such person existed as far as the Wood family is concerned. She grew indignant when Mr. Clark suggested that Wood, Sr., might have had another son who took the name of Wolfe and with a snake of her head declared she had known "Georgie's father since he was seventeen years old and was aware of all his movements." The defense rested as she was withdrawn.

Alienist in Rebuttal.

Dr. A. L. Stillwell, of Somerville, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, was the first of the prosecution's medical array to be called in rebuttal, but he failed to strengthen Mr. Reger's case. In cross-examination he admitted that the prisoner might have been insane when the Williams murder was committed.

Dr. Maguire Says He's Sane.

He was followed by Dr. Frank A. Maguire, chief physician in the Tombs, New York, who examined Wood after he was incarcerated on February 4. He declared emphatically that the prisoner was mentally competent on that day.

Questioned by Mr. Swackhamer he admitted that if several facts brought out in the case were proven to be true it would alter his opinion to some extent. Before the cross-examination was ended, the witness said he never before had known of a case like this one.

Wood Not Abnormal.

The third expert for the prosecution was Dr. Pierce Bailey, instructor at Columbia University, a specialist in nervous and mental troubles and a consulting physician in the Craig Epileptic Colony in New York. He asserted that Wood's history or present condition do not reveal epilepsy, neither does the nature of the crime denote the hand of an epileptic and that the prisoner is normal. Where a person commits a homicide act in an epileptic spell, he said, it is always violent and there is no attempt to get away after it is done.

Tilt Between Counsel.

At this juncture a tilt occurred between Mr. Clark and defendant' counsel over the production of the report of Wood's examination that Dr. Bailey furnished former Prosecutor Griggs. Mr. Clark held it and refused to hand it over unless it was admitted entire as evidence but Mr. Swackhamer declined to take it under these conditions.

Dr. Bailey in a Dilemma.

The latter asserted to the court and made Dr. Bailey admit that it made references almost directly opposite to what he said on the stand in connection with an effort to place Wood under a hypnotic spell. In the report it was stated he had been; as a witness he said he thought he had.

Swackhamer Scores.

The report, however, was not submitted, but in further cross-examination Mr. Swackhamer made more out of the witness than the prosecution did.

Before Dr. Bailey left the stand he was submitted to a rapid questioning by Judge Garretson, Mr. Clark and Mr. Swackhamer as to what condition he believed Wood was in when the crime was committed. The witness answered in such a way that neither side gained any ground.

Suicide and Insanity.

The questioning then drifted to suicides and the fact that Wood's nineteen-year-old sister had taken her life was touched upon and Mr. Swackhamer asked if it might not have been the result of an insane taint. Dr. Bailey said "no" and added that he did not consider suicide and insanity synonymous.

"Now you take the Chinese—" said the witness.

"Hold on," objected Mr. Swackhamer, "we are not talking about Chinese, we are talking of Americans."

Prisoner Smiles.

At this retort the prisoner's face relaxed from its stolid indifference into a broad smile and he all but laughted outright.

All Say He Was Sane.

Following Dr. Bailey, Jacob Blimm, Jr., Jacob Lang, Charles Roberts, Augustus Martin, Lewis Smalley and August Schrump were called by the prosecution to testify as to Wood's actions about the Blimm hotel in an effort to show that they were those of a sane man. Adjournmen followed at this juncture.

Five Say Insanity.

The hearing of expert testimony occupied the greater part of the session yesterday afternoon, and most of the time the questions and answers between lawyers and witnesses could not be grasped by the spectators.

Counsellor Swackhamer brought forward five physicians in all, and they were unanimous in their belief that Wood is suffering from insanity and that he was in a sub-conscious state when he took the ride over the mountains with George Williams.

Dr. Parker's Opinion.

The best witness of the afternoon was Dr. George M. Parker, of the New York Pathological Institute, a man of wide experience in the examination of lunatics. He was especially clear in his deductions of Wood's remarkable case and not even with the aid of questions prepared for him by his experts did Mr. Clark shake his testimony or confuse him.

Prison Keeper on Stand.

Immediately after recess, Wood was recalled to the stand and was asked several things about the Dunn and Lucey raised check for Mr. Clark's benefit. John Anderson, keeper of the county jail, followed Wood and told of the defendant's demeanor while a prisoner. He said he noticed nothing irrational about the man except his apathy, though one night he did have a peculiar spell during which he buried himself against the cell door.

Wood's Hallucination.

Emmet Smith, of New York, who has known Wood a long time, testified as to the latter's peculiarities. On one occasion, he said, the defendant declared he thought Mrs. Smith was a girl he had married on shipboard when he was fifteen years old. This girl, witness said Wood asserted, had a birthmark on her left side that was exceptionally tender and hurt her when touched. One night he put his arm around Mrs. Smith and struck her in the side. When Smith demanded an explanation of his conduct he apologized and said he was trying to learn if the birthmark was there and so satisfy himself that she was the young woman he married.

Dr. Lufburrow's Opinion.

With Smith's retirement, Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, of this city, was placed on the stand to give the first of the expert testimony. He had Wood under observation immediately after he was placed in the Tombs and he told of his deductions.

"Wood was brought into the consultation room," he said. "His gait was shambling; he was listless; he did not recognize anybody, not even his counsel. He told me in almost every detail the story that he has told on the stand."

Q. And what opinion did you have?

A. That the man was insane.

Q. Did you make any tests? A. I tried to arouse him to some show of emotion by describing his crime to him, telling him that his life was imperiled, but he could only stare at me with his mouth open and laugh in a silly fashion.

Q. You examined him a few days ago? A. Yes, and his condition is now about the same, except that he is somewhat brighter.

Q. You think him insane now? A. Yes.

Q. On what do you base this opinion? A. His apathy, his apparent lack of interest in the proceedings, his nature.

Wood Insane.

Q. Do you think that he was responsible man at the time this crime was committed? A. I do not.

Cross-examined by former Congressman Clark, Dr. Lufburrow was asked:

Q. Do you know whether he has seen his lawyer, Mr. Swackhamer, before you made that examination? A. I do not know.

Q. Now what sort of insanity is this man suffering from? A. I do not wish to attempt to classify the nature of this man's insanity. It is too grave a responsibility for me to take in this extraordinary and remarkable case. I am sure, however, that the man is insane.

Bellevue Expert's Opinion.

Dr. William Steinach, the Bellevue Hospital expert alienist, said he had examined Wood twice in the Somerville jail.

"I examined him very carefully for hallucination, delusions and illusions," the doctor testified, "and I asked him if he was annoyed by anybody. He said 'Yes, that a certain man named Wolfe was always annoying him and meant to do him harm'."

Q. You put his through an exhaustive physical and mental examination? A. Yes.

Agrees With Other Alienists.

Q. And what is your conclusion? A. He is undoubtedly insane.

Q. What further did you elicit regarding this man Wolfe? A. Wood had hallucination or telephone conversations with Wolfe.

Q. Of how long a duration is insanity in this case? A. Perhaps four years. Dementia has been of slow growth.

Dr. Parker then went on the stand and told how he had examined Wood and found him insane. He said it was impossible for Wood to have

BREAK GROUND FOR HALL

Salvationists Ready to Build and Squatter Loses Home.

JIM'S MANSION

Donahue's Shack Removed to Make Way for Improvement—Firemen As Cellar Diggers.

Ground was broken yesterday for the new Salvation Army hall on East Second street, next to Fire Headquarters. The first shovelsful of earth were taken from within the stakes by Driver Frank Hart, of Hose Company No. 2, and Driver Edward Vail, of the hook and ladder. The rest of the firemen cheered as the earth laden shovels came out of the soil.

The firemen have, in a way, taken the prospective building under their protection. Hart, Joe Clark, Bill Yaeger, Bill Hess and Vail did volunteer service in cellar digging during the afternoon.

The building will be of light-colored brick, two stories high in front and one story in back. Work on it will be pushed rapidly, and Ensign Magee will probably be holding services in the new home before the end of July.

The beginning of the new building makes old Jim Donohue, the only squatter in Plainfield, homeless. Jim's ancient and patched little shack, which stood on the lot, belonged to J. T. Vail, who sold the lot to the Army, and it went with the ground. Jim got notice to move yesterday.

Jim was allowed to leave the home a week ago and returned joyfully to his shack.

It is probably the smallest home in the city—nobody knows of any smaller. There was just enough floor space to enable Jim to make a bed of horse blankets. Besides the bedding the shack contained some coats—Jim didn't have very many changes of raiment—a cheap dress suit case, and a few digging tools with which he did odd jobs for people with bigger houses and backyards.

The order to move away yesterday upset Jim considerably. He tried unavailingly to get the contractor to move the shack to a lot a few doors down the street.

FIFTY SUBPOENED IN GAMBLING CASES

CROWD OF PLAINFIELDERS BEFORE THE GRAND JURY TODAY.

Something like fifty men with subpoenas from the Grand Jury left town this morning for Elizabeth, to go before the county inquisitors. The papers were served during the week, the serving ending yesterday with a big batch divided between Detective McCarthy and Patrolman Overbaugh.

Nobody knows what or who the authorities are reaching for, but it is quite certain that some little poker games and other forms of gambling are being investigated. Patrolmen McCarthy and Overbaugh went to Elizabeth with the witnesses.

The sports around town have four things on their list as the trails the police are following up: handbook betting, crap joints, poker "clubs," and speakeasies. They all scout the idea that the small army of witnesses is needed in the prosecution started against William Soberb, alleged by the police to be a handbook man, two week ago.

Dunellen Girl Marries.

Miss Charlotte A. Ryno, of Dunellen, was married yesterday to Robert J. Tappen, of Highland Park, Rev. H. N. Jordan, pastor of the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church, officiating, at the home of H. B. Ryno in Dunellen.

Sesame's New Officers.

The Sesame Club held its annual meeting this morning and elected these officers: President, Mrs. Martha B. Tennant; vice president, Mrs. William Sandford, Jr.; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Frank Clark.

A Linen Shower.

Miss Edith Cairns, of West Fifth street, gave a linen shower at her home yesterday afternoon for Miss Florence Serrell, of Myrtle avenue. There were twelve guests.

Children's Home Day.

All the inmates of the Children's Home will be the guests of the Carnival committee at the big show this afternoon. Chairman Fisk personally invited the children.

LADDIES' QUICK ACTION PREVENT A BIG LOSS

BARN ABLAZE, BUT FIREMEN STOP FLAMES SPREADING.

Fire partially destroyed Henry Bodenheimer's barn at 251 Somerset street, about 7:45 last night, causing a loss of nearly $300. In response to a telephone call the borough fire department reached the scene quickly and performed great work in saving three other barns very close to the burning structure. Chief Woolston ordered out the hose wagon and two lines of hose were used from the hydrant near Mountain avenue and Somerset street.

While the firemen were finishing their work, a trolley car came along, ran over a line of hose, cutting it in pieces and shutting off the stream. The motorman, it is said, claims that he did not see the hose. Chief Woolston ordered the motorman and conductor arrested and they were told to appear tonight before Recorder Dond for a hearing.

The origin of the blaze is a mystery. Mr. Bodenheimer says that it evidently started in one corner near a pile of manure. He was in the barn not a great while before the flames were discovered. There was practically nothing in the barn, but the owner estimates the damage to the building will be about $300. It is partially insured. One barn seriously threatened was that of George Winans, containing his automobile. Through good work on the part of the firemen this and the other barns were scarcely scorched.

R. R. TICKET TRAFFIC IS SUSPENDED HERE

LOCAL DEALERS GET NOTICE AND ABANDON CUT-RATE BUSINESS.

Not for some time at least is the Jersey Central likely to be troubled by those who have taken advantage of its monthly commutation tickets to reap revenue here. A little heart-to-heart talk with one of the road's representatives yesterday, it is said, has convinced the leaders in the illegal business that they prefer not to run chances of being prosecuted.

Rather than pay $1.00 for an excursion ticket to New York, some have made a practise of hiring commutation tickets from the self-appointed dealers for one-half the regular round trip fare. These dealers earn $7.20 a month on each commutation ticket and a few have done a land office business, although the traffic was practically done away with three years ago when a general raid was made by the road's representatives. "One dollar is pretty steep but they'll have to pay it hereafter," was the remark of one of the dealers yesterday after he had been seen by a Jersey Central man.

Dr. Herring Must Pay.

Judge Vail signed an order yesterday compelling Dr. J. D. Herring to pay $5 weekly until the judgement obtained against him by F. H Smith and C. H. Hand and the costs growing out of the appeal are paid. The order was granted after Counsellor Newcorn, for the plaintiffs, and Counsellor Swackhamer, of the defense, had filed briefs. The original judgement was $65; the costs foot up to about the same figure.

6,000 AT THE CARNIVAL

Knights of Columbus Do a Big Business in Drizzling Rain.

"SHOVERS"; "BARKERS"

Professional Showman Amazed at Size of Crowd on a Bad Night—Out-of-Town People There.

Stinging drizzle, chill winds and damp grounds had no apparent effect on the Carnival booming of the Knights of Columbus last night. In spite of weather that would have justified any amount of home staying, over 6,000 people entered the show grounds. W. S. Miller, the head showman, gazed in speechless admiration at the crowd.

"I have been in the show business eighteen years," he said toward the close of the evening, when sang froid had partially returned to him, "and never before have I seen anything to equal this. I tell you the people who have turned out on a night like this, the general public as well as the lodge men, deserve a whole lot of credit. I only hope nothing happens to 'em. It's amazing."

It was a spending crowd. All the knights, and there were some hundreds of them, were moved by a noble impulse to leave the grounds penniless and their desire was contagious. Every show tent was filled over and over again, and the untented attractions were worked to the limit.

There were 350 knights on the grounds. Watchung Council, of this city, turned out 50 and Bayley Council, of Elizabeth, there on Watchung's invitation, sent the rest of the army of spenders. Bayley Council came down from the county seat on special cars that were switched on the Fourth street line. The Plainfielders met their guests at Plainfield avenue, and the two councils formed in line and marched to the grounds with red fire burning and a band booming. Sir William Strongbutt, the chief initiatory goat of the order, had the right of line, with the Bayley Council initiatory team. The latter were arrayed in white robes and hoods, and clung frantically to ropes of red that held

PLAINFIELDERS HONORED BY EXEMPT FIREMEN

LITTELL, PRESIDENT, AND NASH AND DOANE ON IMPORTANT COMMITTEES.

In addition to the election of Daniel W. Littell as president of the organization, the New Jersey Exempt Firemen's Association, in session at Trenton yesterday, honored two other Plainfielders.

Justice V. W. Nash was appointed chairman of the legislative committee and Chief T. O. Doane was placed at the head of the important finance committee. Justice Nash was also made chairman of a committee to draft a measure to be presented to the next session of the Legislature by means of which the old volunteer firemen of the State will receive some compensation from the State for the services rendered in the days of the volunteer department.

The next convention will be held at Nutley.

Commandery Night at Carnival.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, will run the Carnival tonight. The members, in fatigue coats and caps, will march from the asylum at 6:45 o'clock, headed by a band. The musicians will give a concert during the evening.

LITERARY.

The Race-track Trust receives a solar plexus blow by Alfred Henry Lewis in Success Magazine for May. In his strong, forcible style Mr. Lewis lays bare the method by which the best tracks in the East are operated, showing the amount of money taken in—money that is wrung from the public in the very face of a law that makes betting illegal. After reading Mr. Lewis's crusade against this octopus and the great harm it is doing to men and women all over the United States, one marvels that it is permitted to exist.

ATLANTIC IN LEAD.

Fleet of Yachts Start on Long Ocean Run.

GERMAN YACHT HELD THIRD PLACE

Start Marred by Fog and Light Winds—Earl of Crawford's Valhalla Brought Up the Rear. Mist Stops Wireless Reports.

NEW YORK, May 18.—With the queenly American schooner Atlantic leading the way a superb fleet of ocean going sailing yachts swept across the starting line at Sandy Hook lightship and under a soft breeze headed out into the broad Atlantic ocean on a race of 2,900 miles to the Lizard, on the English coast, for a $5,000 cup offered by Emperor William of Germany. When last seen as they vanished into the misty horizon they were strung out in a line six miles long, heading southeastward and pointing as nearly as possible to a wind that was dead ahead. A quarter of a mile astern of the Atlantic was the ninety foot American yawl Ailsa, which was having a hot brush with the German two masted schooner Hamburg, while all three of the leaders were slowly dropping the Philadelphia schooner Hildegarde. Next was the Endymion, holder of the transatlantic yachting record. Almost a mile astern of the swift Atlantic and more than a half mile astern of the Endymion were the Thistle and Fleur-de-Lys. Strung out behind were the American bark Apache. Lord Brassey's British topsail schooner Sunbeam, and five miles astern of the leader was the American three masted schooner Utowana. Bringing up the rear was the Earl of Crawford's British clipper ship Valhalla. The two latter had been delayed by a bad start.

In such weather as prevailed then it was clear that the race lay between the Atlantic, Ailsa and Hamburg, with the odds largely in favor of the Atlantic.

Leaden skies, low hanging, mist laden clouds and a moderate east wind were the unfavorable conditions under which the great ocean race was started and handicapped the three big square rigged vessels at the very start, for at beating to windward in a light air their spreading courses and bulging topsails were not to be compared with the hard fitting fore and aft canvas of the trim schooners.

Weather prophets declared it not unlikely that the racers were in for a day or two more of moderate head winds. If the forecast be fulfilled nothing but half a gale of wind from astern will save the big Valhalla from defeat.

Despite the lowering weather conditions the start of the great and heterogenous fleet was inspiring. The fog of the day previous had lifted considerably, but still hung too low and obscured the vision beyond a few miles.

KAISER'S STRENUOUS LIFE.

Emperor's Busy Hours With Reviews, Politics and Music.

WIESBADEN, May 18.—The annual festspiele, consisting of four performances specially staged, in honor of Emperor William's visit here opened last night with "Der Freischuetz." Seven trumpeters clad in the fantastic uniform of Frederick the Great's guards and placed in the front of the second balcony greeted the emperor with ancient German fanfares as he entered the flower festooned court theater.

His majesty had reviewed the troops during the morning in Alsace and heard cabinet reports on board his train to Wiesbaden, where he arrived at 7 o'clock in the evening. He drove from the station to the theater to supervise the rehearsal of "Der Freischuetz," which lasted till nearly midnight.

He was none the worse for the busy day and was sitting leisurely on horseback at 7 o'clock in the morning through the streets, which were gay with fine pennants and triumphal arches. Last night his majesty followed the performance of Von Weber's romantic opera with evident delight.

General Porter Honored at Paris.

PARIS, May 18.—The grand hall of the D'Orsay palace was elaborately decorated for a banquet, at which Ambassador Porter was the guest of honor here last night, with flowers and flags, portraits of Washington, Lincoln and Grant occupying posts of honor. The government assigned the famous Republican Guard band of fifty pieces in their showy white uniforms to furnish the music. A letter from Secretary Hay, in which he paid a tribute to General Porter's brilliant career, was read. The speech of General Porter brought out a tremendous ovation, the entire assemblage rising and cheering him.

ALFONSO'S MARRIAGE.

Young King of Spain States His Ideas on Matrimony.

MADRID, May 18.—Replying in the senate to birthday congratulation speeches, King Alfonso expressed the hope that his forthcoming tour of Europe would strengthen the ties of friendship, tend to universal peace and thus assist in the reconstitution of the country and the development of its industry and commerce.

"As for that event fraught with happiness for the country and my hearth which you wait with anxious desire," his majesty said, "I have confidence in God that it will be realized for the good of the nation, for family love is so closely united in my mind with love of my country that I can have no other idea of marriage than that of two people loving and seeking the happiness of the country and its greatness."

King Alfonso has appointed King Edward a Spanish admiral.

OUR NEW AMBASSADOR.

Baron Rosen, Appointed by Czar to Washington, Interviewed.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 18.—In his spacious apartments at the Hotel de l'Europe, where he spent the past winter, Baron Rosen talked with undisguised pleasure of the prospect of representing Russia at Washington. His acquaintance with America extends over a period of almost thirty years, during which, he said, he had learned to admire both the country and the people. Besides his service as consul general at New York and as charge d'affaires at Washington during President Cleveland's first administration Baron Rosen spent much time in the United States en route to and from Mexico and Japan while serving as minister to those countries. Although it is fifteen years since he left Washington, he still retains his membership in the Metropolitan club of that city. Baron Rosen said, "I have already met President Roosevelt as a fellow member of the Metropolitan club, although he may not remember me."

It is likely that Baron Rosen will be the bearer of a personal message from Emperor Nicholas to President Roosevelt.

Baron Rosen has an engaging personality and a frank, hearty manner, which is familiar to numerous acquaintances in America. The premature whiteness of his closely cropped beard and hair gives an impression of age, which the alertness of his mind and body at once contradicts. His lithe frame and clear, penciled features and especially his clear blue eyes betray a non-Russian origin. His ancestors lived in the land of the Vikings, dating back to the mystic and legendary days of Sweden, from whence his immediate branch of the family followed the conquering banners of Gustavus Adolphus in the invasion of Muscovy 300 years ago. Since the annexation of the Baltic provinces in 1817 the family has rendered distinguished services to the Russian emperors in various fields, in some of them displaying remarkable talent. Baron Rosen's brother achieved eminence in science and is a member of the Russian Academy of Immortals, being regarded as perhaps the greatest living authority on Arabia.

Baron Rosen has a charming wife and daughter, who will make a popular addition to the social life of Washington.

Assassin of Sergius Pays the Penalty

LONDON, May 18.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says that Ivan Kaleieff, who assassinated Grand Duke Sergius on Feb. 17 at Moscow, has been executed.

GERSHON MARX HANGED.

Murderer of Pavol Rodecki Executed at Midnight.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 18.—Gershon Marx, the Colchester farmer convicted of the murder of his farm hand, Pavol Rodecki, was hanged at the state prison at Wethersfield. Marx went to the gallows protesting his innocence. Rabbi Hoffenberg, an old schoolmate of Marx in Warsaw, who has been acting as his spiritual adviser, remained with him to the end.

The murder for which Marx was condemned to death was one of the most horrible that has been committed in this state for years, and the only reason for it was the fact that Marx did not want to pay Rodecki a small sum of money agreed upon when Rodecki went to work for him. Rodecki, who was a Russian, took work on Marx's farm for six months, and it was a few days before the expiration of that time that he disappeared. When Marx was asked concerning his farm hand he replied that he had paid him $53 and that he had gone away.

One day in the latter part of April last year another farm hand discovered the body of Rodecki in an abandoned cellar on Marx's farm. The body was chopped in many parts, the head, which was cut off, was crushed in, and the several portions of the body were thrown together in a cloth bag, which was half buried under a pile of dirt and stones. Marx had killed Rodecki as he lay asleep in the former's house.

After his capture and return to New London county the officers in searching about the Marx farm came upon another body similarly dismembered and buried in an out of the way place.

Two Electrocuted at Newport News.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 18.—Earl Gilchrist, formerly of Lynchburg, Va., a telephone lineman, and Ashley Harris, son of former State Senator Harris of Americus, Ga., were accidentally electrocuted here. Gilchrist was working on a pole when wires held in his hand came in contact with a live wire, and he swung from the pole dead. Harris was walking on Huntington avenue when he picked up the end of a broken electric light wire and was instantly killed. Both men were unmarried.

Makes Newspaper Men Exempt.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 18.—Daily newspaper men will be exempt from trial jury duty on and after Sept. 1 under the terms of chapter 437 of the laws of 1905, just signed by Governor Higgins. The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Phillips of Allegheny county, amends three sections of the code of civil procedure so as to make the exemption apply to the entire state and adds editors and reporters of daily press associations to the present exemption in New York and Kings.

Smallpox Among Nyack Negroes.

NYACK, N. Y., May 18.—There is an epidemic of smallpox among the negroes who came from the south to work in the brickyards at Haverstraw. The number of cases in the pesthouse is increasing, and the people are much alarmed.

TAFT'S IDEA OPPOSED

Many Protest Against Foreign Supplies For Canal.

MINISTER BOWEN RESTS HIS CASE

Documents in Bowen-Loomis Tangle Said to Be Missing—Dr. Hollander Reports on Santo Domingo Affairs.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—It is said that a long and deep howl has gone up over the decision of the Panama canal commission, which was sanctioned by Secretary Taft, permitting the purchase of supplies and machinery for the construction of the Panama canal abroad, and numerous protests of a most emphatic character have reached the president and Secretary Taft.

The utmost pressure is being and will continue to be brought to bear on the president to induce him to rescind the order immediately. Those who advocate the policy of Secretary Taft claim that the saving would be so great as amply to warrant the course. They declare, for instance, that steel rails with which to double track the Panama railroad can be purchased abroad for $20 a ton, whereas if they are bought in this country, without the competition of foreign markets, they will cost $33 a ton. Asked if the quality of rails would be the same, they declare that they will not only be identical in quality, but they will be made by the same company.

Secretary Taft explained that neither he nor the commission was particularly concerned with the policy involved by his decision, but that he was of the opinion that the commission would not be warranted in favoring American manufacturers at a material increase of cost in the construction of the canal without some authority from congress.

Minister Bowen had an interview with Secretary Taft at the war department and told the secretary that two cable dispatches, regarded by him as very essential to the case, were missing from the papers handed to him on Monday by the secretary. Secretary Taft thereupon called upon the state department for the missing papers, but they could not be found, although copies were accessible. Secretary Taft and Mr. Loomis consented to accept the copies of the communications in Mr. Bowen's hands as sufficient. These papers have been received by Secretary Taft and he has referred them to Mr. Loomis for further reply. It may be necessary to send an agent to Caracas to prosecute the inquiry, but this has not yet been decided upon.

Having supplied Secretary Taft with the papers found in the legation at Caracas concerning Mr. Loomis, Minister Bowen's position is that he has discharged his duty as he sees it and will rest his case, taking the ground that it is now for the government at Washington to determine whether an inquiry is warranted.

Dr. Jacob H. Hollander of Baltimore, who was sent to Santo Domingo by President Roosevelt as a special commissioner to make an investigation of the fiscal affairs of that government, has had an extended interview with President Roosevelt. He told the president he had found perfect acquiescence on the part both of the officials of the present government and of the people of Santo Domingo in the arrangement which had been entered into between the two governments. The revolution, so called, had not in his opinion amounted to much. So far as his observations went, Dr. Hollander could see no reason why the present status should not continue uninterruptedly until a new and more definite arrangement could be effected.

He is to return to Santo Domingo in September to complete his inquiries and will then make an elaborate report upon Dominican finances and claims, which the president will submit to the senate for its guidance in acting upon the pending treaty.

Student Hurt by Foul Tip.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 18.—Stewart M. Dravo of Pittsburg, a member of the class of 1907, Trinity college, and who is the catcher on the baseball team, is in the Hartford hospital suffering from a severe concussion of the brain received in the game with Syracuse university. Dravo was batting, and a foul tip from his own bat struck him on the head. He thought little of the accident at the time, but three innings later fainted and was carried to the side of the field, and a convulsion followed.

A Thousand Children Strike.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A thousand more school pupils here have joined the strike. Five hundred walked out of the Wentworth school, Seventieth and Wood streets, and 500 walked out of the Bass school, Sixty-sixth and Mead streets. Alleged "unfair" coal delivered by the Peabody Coal company was given as the cause for the walkout at the Bass school. The strike at the Wentworth school is a "sympathetic" strike.

It Was Bishop of Syracuse, Sicily.

ROME, May 18.—There is no truth in the statement published in the United States that Pope Pius X. is displeased with Bishop Ludden of Syracuse, N. Y., and that the latter is to be disciplined. Possibly the report was based on the fact that the bishop of Syracuse, Sicily, has been under pontifical displeasure.

Richard Croker's Friend Very Ill.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Larry Delmour, lifelong friend and political ally of Richard Croker, is dangerously ill of bronchitis at his home in this city. Heart trouble has developed and oxygen is being administered.

Plainfield, N. J., May 18, 1905.

The Bible Society reports that 1,881,096 copies of the Scripture were distributed last year. Appearances would indicate that they are still in a good state of preservation.—Somerset Messenger.

But every place is not like Somerville, Brother Mattison.

No one should lose sight of the fact that there will be an unusual attraction at the Plainfield Driving Park on Saturday. The Steeplechase to be conducted by the Watchung Hunt Club is to be run on an elaborate scale and a big sum of money has already been expended in preparing the grounds for the affair. Seldom does the public have the opportunity offered it to view such a sport under refined management and influence, and undoubtedly the attendance will show that such attractions pay in Plainfield.

The "Stand-pat" crowd is alarmed because President Roosevelt, who is good enough for all honest people whether they be Republicans or Democrats, wants to buy materials for the Canal in the open market. "They are frightened," says an exchange, "because of the object lesson in tariff results which they fear it will give." If the present tariff system is as honest as Roosevelt, no harm will be done by this decision for fair play and no favors. If not, President Roosevelt's crowning act as chief executive will be to expose the fallacy of this theory of economics.

In these columns was reproduced from the Newark Evening News yesterday a story on the Senatorial situation in Union County as seen by its political writer. A long-range view of the field is often-times misleading and it proves so in this case. The possibility of former Mayor Charles J. Fisk entering into any contest to succeed Joseph Cross in the Senate is so remote that it need not be given a moment's consideration. If the nomination were extended to him unanimously there is some reason to believe that the distinguished and much honored former Mayor might become the candidate of the Republican party; otherwise not. Should he refuse, it is quite likely that the many friends of Ernest R. Ackerman, who has devoted a great deal of his time to aid the party, will present his name to the convention. As for Mr. Runyon it appears at this time extremely unlikely that he will allow his name to be used. Of course, the administration forces in this city, to whom he has been an invaluable help in the hour of need, will probably urge the popular city judge to announce himself as a candidate. Without consulting him, we firmly believe that Mr. Runyon will decline.

DIES FROM SCALDING.

Somerville Man Expires After Being Terribly Injured on Monday.

Benjamin Shafer, of Somerville, died in Somerset Hospital Monday as the result of being terribly scalded by steam. Shafer was employed in a factory at Lincoln, where he had charge of an engine. He wanted to blow out the engine, but there was a stoppage in the blowoff pipes, which Shafer thought was due to sediment.

Shafer went down in the pit and took the pipe apart and tried to clean the pipe with a wire. In some way the steam broke through before he could escape from the pit and he was terribly burned. He was taken to the hospital. He leaves a wife and three children.

Gun Club Incorporates.

The club is to encourage and promote the practice of target and trap shooting. The trustees are Henry Haurand, C. William Krause, Mathias Mennenbach, Louis M. Van-Dyke and Charles W. Leonard.

Postponed Address.

The address by James E. Martine on "Public Ownership of Utilities," will be given before the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel on Tuesday night, May 23.

the fierce spirit of initiation in check.

The Knights had a headquarters tent of their own on the north side of the grounds, and here Sir William held a levee. The faithful and the curious gave up a dime apiece to greet him.

The home knights did valiant service as barkers and ticket-sellers. The boom corps, scattered about the various attractions or on duty as "shovers" in the crowd (a "shover" is a foxy attache who expresses loud and consuming admiration for his show wherever a group of pleasure-seekers gathers) was composed of the following:

Dr. A. K. Brennan, A. A. Cannon, Thomas Carty, T. F. Carty, J. J. Carty, W. H. Forrestel, P. S. Kiely, W. J. O'Keefe, J. F. O'Keefe, M. D. O'Keefe, W. H. Schaefer, J. C. Trainor, R. J. Birmingham, W. A. Boone, M. J. Cashin, J. F. Connelly, W. H. Daley, D. B. Doyle, Daniel Galbraith, D. J. Galbraith, B. B. Haurahan, M. F. Higgins, Dr. Hughes, Thomas Hughes, R. McCormick, F. Molnerney, A. E. Mathews, T. A. Moore, J. P. Powers, M. J. Sheils, Charles J. Ward, J. C. Fitzpatrick, Joseph Noonan, E. F. Duchesne, T. J. Shirley, Peter Cogley, James P. Smith, Phil. McGuire, J. F. Saverd, J. A. Hines, J. J. Kenney, Thomas F. Gough, G. W. Kelly.

Two special features marked the occasion. At 7:30 o'clock the great Ouda did his trapeze stunts in the open before the circus tent, and the Knights' band gave a three-hour concert, moving about from tent to tent.

Lumber Yard Improvements.

Boice, Runyon & Co. has plans out for the erection of large and improved lumber sheds to be erected near the site of its West Second street entrance. The idea is to remove the better grade of lumber away from that part devoted to coal so that the coal dust cannot spoil the lumber. It is expected that the plans will be filed within a short time. In case the new building is erected, the old residence now standing near the entrance to the yards will be torn down.

As Usual.

The coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict exonerating the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from any blame from the South Harrisburg disaster last Thursday, in which twenty-two lives were lost and more than 100 persons were injured.

Combination Barking.

Three orders will take charge of the Carnival tomorrow night. The Knights of the Golden Eagle, the Indians and the Elks will divide the barking between them.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The gravity railroad at the new crusher is working smoothly. The road was more or less experimental, and Garretson & Gray were not at all sure as to how it would turn out. Since the several minor changes indicated by the first few days of its operation were made, however, they have begun to feel that the success of the line is assured. A feature of the road is the brake used to hold the cars—or rather the loaded car on its downward rush—in check. It was built along lines planned by A. A. Gray, of the firm, and is the only one, in all its main features, of its kind. Mr. Gray's idea for the brake was entirely original. It is a powerful contrivance, and controls the cars absolutely. There are really two brakes in commission all the time, so that if one gets out of order the other can be immediately applied.

A petition to be circulated among the men of the Levering & Garrigues and the Aluminum Plate and Press shops, favoring the Chestnut street terminus, is being prepared. Naturally, the shopmen who use the trolley are in favor of the proposed change.

CONSTABLE TO GUARD JUROR AT FUNERAL

DUFFIELD, WHO DELAY TRIAL BY ILLNESS, HEARS OF BROTHER'S DEATH.

The time-honored saying that it "never rains but it pours" was exemplified yesterday in the case of Charles T. Duffield, of Harlingen, a member of the jury hearing the George H. Wood murder trial at Somerville. Late Tuesday night he was taken sick and before morning a severe case of lumbago developed. It was a first feared that the trial would have to be postponed on his account but he was finally made easy by physicians and was propped up in a chair in the court room.

He held out during the day and just before adjournment was made in the afternoon a telegram came to him announcing the sudden death of his brother, William Duffield, at his home near Skillman station. In his weakened state, the juryman all but collapsed and there was a hurried consultation between Judge Garretson and the lawyers. Duffield finally assured them that he would continue in the case and in the event of its not being concluded when the funeral is held, arrangements will be made so that he can attend accompanied by a constable. This will be compulsory as the jurymen in a murder trial are not allowed outside communication until after their verdict is rendered.

PRIVATE CAR SYSTEM SCORED.

The Interstate Commerce Committee Hears Testimony Against Armours.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—George F. Meade of Boston, president of the National League of Commission Merchants, continued his statement before the senate interstate commerce committee, giving details of alleged abuses of the private car system. He presented some of the features of the testimony brought out in the hearing in Chicago. He asserted that Armour & Co. in some cases charged several railroads $2.50 per ton for ice and paid the roads a rebate of $1 per ton. Refrigerating charges and freight charges, he said, were consolidated in one bill, the different items not being specified.

E. P. Bacon of Milwaukee was again a witness. The proposed legislation, he declared, had nothing to do with rebates, but was designed to prevent discriminations in published tariffs.

Joseph S. Call, an attorney of Los Angeles, Cal., representing 70 per cent of the citrous fruit growers of southern California, appeared to urge empowering the interstate commerce commission to supervise rates, establish maximum rates and put them in effect until passed upon by a court in accordance, he said, with the recommendations of the president.

Joseph Bartle of St. Paul, Minn, an oil shipper, testified that St. Paul and Minneapolis were not treated fairly in the matter of rates. He said he thought the Standard Oil company gets a concession from the railroads. The rate on oil, he declared, was advanced at the request of the Standard Oil company from 12 to 20 cents per hundred.

CARONIA IN THE MUD.

Big Cunarder Fast Aground Off Sandy Hook.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The big Cunard liner Caronia is still fast on Flynn's knoll, off Sandy Hook, on which she grounded while making her way out to sea in the thick weather of Tuesday afternoon.

When high tide served, six powerful tugs and a steam pilot boat strained and pulled at many hawsers and the big ship turned her own screws in an effort to slide her bows from the mud. When the tide was at its height the Caronia's stern was swung around quite a distance, and the tug men say she was also moved slightly nearer the channel, but all efforts to entirely free her failed, and with darkness and a falling tide the helping vessels suspended operations.

The Caronia has a full cabin list, embracing Lady Brassey, Miss Ethel Barrymore, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and many distinguished people, but practically no word has come from the stranded ship as to how they are passing the long hours in the rain and fog. From where the vessel lies the glow of the city's lights can be seen, but the passengers have been as effectually cut off from shore as they would have been had they been thirty-six hours at sea instead of in the mud, with New York so tantalizingly near.

The Cunard agents express confidence in being able to free the ship with high water, but marine observers at Sandy Hook report the weather as unfavorable, being cloudy and foggy, with the wind blowing a fresh breeze from the northeast.

Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy and warmer; south winds.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 21.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Growing up for God.—Eph. iv, 11-16. (Union meeting with the Juniors.)

God never expects the impossible. Some people look for "old heads on young shoulders," but our God does not. When we are children He only expects us to think as children and to speak as children. God only wants boys to be Christian boys and girls to be Christian girls while they are children. But childhood is not a permanent condition of life. From childhood we grow to manhood and womanhood, and when we become men and women we should put away childish things. Paul taught this truth when he wrote, "When I was a child I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child, but when I became a man I put away childish things." The child is to grow, and not only physically and mentally, but spiritually, he is to grow up for God.

In His church God has made provision for the spiritual growth of His children, whether they be young or old in years. The child needs great care in his growing years. They are the most important years of his life. His physical and mental powers in the future will depend upon the training given to him during the years of his passing from childhood to manhood. God has wisely ordained for this important service to the child the home and the state. His physical well being and his education are thus provided for. But his spiritual growth is not to be neglected, and hence in the church God has set officers possessed of different positions and gifts whose mission is to direct the spiritual growth and development of God's children. The church is our spiritual home and school. Every Junior Endeavorer should have his place in the church. He should regularly attend its services and follow in his daily life the instructions of pastors, teachers and Junior superintendents which he receives there. Thus he will grow up for God, and when he becomes a man he will be strong in faith, in knowledge and in life.

Our model in growing up for God is Jesus Christ, the Son of God and our Saviour. He grew up for God. He was not sent to earth as a full grown man, but came as a little child and grew up as all children grow. Of Him Luke says, "The child grew and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was upon Him." And now He is our model, for He only lived a perfect life, and we are to "grow up into Him in all things." Let every Junior strive every day of his life to grow more like Jesus, and when he becomes a man he will find that he has grown up for God.

Baltimore's Chairman.

William O. Atwood, chairman of the general committee of 1905 on arrangements for the twenty-second international Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Baltimore July 5-10 of this year, was born in Chester county, Pa., in 1862. Mr. Atwood became the first president of a Christian Endeavor society in 1885, in 1889 was elected vice president of the Baltimore C. E. union and ever since has been a member of the executive committee of that organization. He served two terms as president of that union, one term as president of the Maryland C. E. union and at the present time is president of the Christian Young People's league of Baltimore, a combination of Young People's societies of the various denominations. Generally speaking, Mr. Atwood is well known in both business and religious circles and is regarded as one of Baltimore's leading citizens. On his shoulders will rest the burden of responsibility in convention with the care of 20,000 or 30,000 young people from all parts of the world in attendance on "the best yet" international Christian Endeavor convention next July.

W. O. ATWOOD.

A Right to Be a Firm Believer.

The secretary of the New York State union was asked why he "heartily believed in Christian Endeavor," and this was his reply:

"Borne into church work through the Christian Endeavor society, stammering out my first word of public testimony in one of its meetings, facing an audience for the first time as the leader of its prayer meeting, performing my first personal work under its direction, gaining my first and all subsequent lessons in church loyalty within its borders and finding myself indebted to its practices and principles for my development in a multitude of other ways, I have a right to be a firm believer in Christian Endeavor and a loyal supporter of it to the last fiber of my being."

Short Shots.

At the present time there are about 100 Christian Endeavor societies connected with the Baptist chapels in Sweden. In the Lutheran church there are about 118 societies.

One of the most flourishing Christian Endeavor societies in central Africa is that which meets at the Baptist Missionary society's mission station at Yakusa, near Stanley falls, more than 1,300 miles up the Kongo river.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

May 21: "Growing Up For God"—Eph. iv, 11-16—Union Meeting For Juniors.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

Is there any more delightful sight in this world than a healthy, happy child—one to whom life seems a pleasure, who is bubbling full of life and spirits and good nature, bright of face and strong of body, alert of mind and kind of heart?

No wonder that Jesus took such a one as the model of the life His followers are to live.

How teachable and ready for any good thing they are! You can mold them so easily and so quickly that it is astonishing the skill and adaptability they display.

There is one thing better even than this. It is the man or woman that is developed from that kind of boy or girl. We like boys because they make such men. Girls are good because they can grow into women. It is the full grown that is needed in God's world.

We are glad for the Juniors because they grow so quickly into seniors and from the work they have done as Juniors are all the better prepared to do the best kind of service in the ranks of the seniors.

Much ought to be made of this day. The different branches of work that the Juniors are doing ought to be explained in the public congregation, so that the fathers and mothers can get an intelligent conception of the need of the different departments of the league and be better able to co-operate in the work in time to come. Too often the church members have but faint ideas of what all this league business means and altogether too little sympathy with it.

There should be a public graduation of those members of the Junior league who are fitted to pass up into the ranks of the seniors. It need not be made too spectacular, but it is a mistake scarcely less serious to fail to make it sufficiently impressive on all ages and minds.

The missionary feature of Junior work should receive special emphasis. Our future missionaries and preachers not only are to come from these ranks, but it is a fact that needs wider recognition that many of our most efficient workers have received their life direction in early childhood.

If we will impress strongly and clearly on these young minds the claims of Christ and the beauty of holiness and of the devoted life we shall be able to save them many years of wild oat sowing and whirlwind reaping and secure a more devoted band of workers for the Lord.

The signs of the times are auspicious and show that the church is acquiring a more rational view of child nature and the relations of childhood to God and His church. But much more needs yet to be done. We are still giving incalculably more care and cash to training minds and bodies for the bread and butter struggle of life than we are to training the moral and spiritual powers for their life task. In worldly matters we are deadly in earnest, for we have to be or go under in the struggle. Why should we be less earnest and vigorous in the conflict that has eternal interests at stake?

Family training in religious matters is said to be almost a thing of the past. However that may be, it is clear that it is not a thing of the present, and we can scarcely count on it in our calculations of how to train the young people for Christ. The church must increasingly devote her thought to this matter.

The study of child nature is receiving attention as never before. We must make a special study of the child's religious capabilities and necessities. It is likely that such a study will reveal many startling things to us that may well overturn ideas now held and necessitate changes in our mode of doing things. It is not impossible that we may modify our views of the teaching of the Scriptures somewhat and find that the child occupies a more prominent place in God's economy of grace than we have been wont to suppose. All this may modify our treatment of children and lead to sober and far better methods.

It is a serious thing that so many children from professedly Christian homes wander away from God and before they reach twenty years of age have forsaken the church and Sunday school forever. We must search out the error and find the remedy. It is worse than a disgrace; it is a serious damage that in so many cases the best years of the young life are given up to indulgence in frivolity, not to say vicious pleasures, by large numbers of our young people.

The place to correct this is with the younger children. It is possible to manage our boys and girls so that they never stray away from the church and never lose their innocence, but grow steadily in grace until they change their childhood faith for the faith and practice of maturing manhood and womanhood.

The Junior league is at the present time our best and most available means for the accomplishment of this work. Its course must be progressive to fit the growth in years and development of the child nature.

One of the irreparable mistakes is to treat the child who has made considerable advancement as if he was still a little fellow. Juniors grow fast, and when they are ready to become seniors we must be alert to the situation or we lose our hold on them. There is a time when milk diet must be changed for meat. If we are to make men out of our boys there must be manhood in the teachers who lead them up and out.

Whatever else you neglect do not neglect the Juniors? If you do, you will awake when too late to the price you have paid for your indolence and neglect.

Feminine Snapshots

Comments on People and Things From the Woman's Side

"There," said the manager, "there's a text for you. A girl in a factory sees a blazing newspaper. Of course she screeches, 'Fire!' and goes into hysterics. Then the 300 other girls in the factory get crazy with terror and tumble over one another in a frenzied heap, all squealing and howling. Of course scores of them get badly hurt. If that isn't like a woman! Now, I tell my wife never to lose her head whatever happens, but just to keep cool and think instantly what is to be done." I took the paper. Plainly the manager had read only the headlines. These always announce that women go into hysterics at a fire. The exact truth as stated in the item was this: A newspaper caught fire from an electric wire in the factory. One of the workmen—a man, mark you—saw the blazing paper and yelled, "Fire! Fire! Fire!" as though the very lord of fire were after him. The man "became hysterical." The girls were frightened, but the men workers were frightened still worse. They were crazy as loons. They fought like wild beasts, their superior strength enabling them to bruise, trample and crush back the poor girls, who, like themselves, sought the exit. The strong brutes knocked the girls senseless with their fists, and one even struck them with an ax. For the credit of our country, it may be mentioned that the men were foreigners. Numbers of the girls had to be taken to hospitals. Meantime—now note particularly—one woman, a woman, mind you, not a man, walked up to the burning newspaper with a woolen cloth in her hand, threw the woolen cloth over the flames and extinguished them in half a minute. And that is the true story of the "panicky women."

The first movement for the higher education of the feminine sex in this country was made by two women teachers, Mary Lyon of Holyoke, Mass., and Mrs. Emma Willard of Troy, N. Y. We should never forget this, neither that the noble hymn, "Rocked In the Cradle of the Deep," was written by Mrs. Willard.

The most successful singing voice trainers of the present are undoubtedly women. New York city has a thriving school of opera conducted by a woman, Mrs. Ogden Crane. She not only develops the voices but also the stage action of her pupils. Lately her school gave a notable performance of "The Chimes of Normandy." Some sixty young people were in the cast, every one of whom Mrs. Ogden Crane herself trained.

In New York city are six widows who pay taxes on an aggregate of $3,000,000. If the property of one-third of the average voters in New York city were summed up it would not amount all told to $3,000,000. Besides contributing through taxation so largely to the city's support, the widows are all highly intelligent, belonging to the best class of citizens. Yet not one of them has a vote. What do you think of the justice of this?

In case of the crown prince of Germany and his bride, Duchess Cecilia, it will at least not be the young husband's mother-in-law who tries to run things, though it may be some one else.

Probably the best paid, best satisfied factory girls in the world are those in the collar and cuff shops of Troy. These young women earn from $15 to $25 a week, heads of departments even receiving $5 a day. No men in the establishment are paid so much. As a consequence it is found that few of the collar and cuff girls care to marry.

Note.—At Mansfield, O., the co-operative kitchen started three years ago has proved successful in every way, even commercially. Perhaps that is partly because a man, Mr. Grimes, aided his wife to establish it. Any co-operative kitchen can succeed if its managers learn to furnish good meals for less cost than these can be cooked at home. This the Mansfield kitchen has done. Excellent meals are sent to homes in covered vessels kept hot by soapstone bottoms. Bills of fare are distributed beforehand, so each family can choose what it wants. This beats "home cookin'" all to pieces.

TURNING TO SOUTH

IMMIGRANTS ON WHOLE ARE OF STURDY CHARACTER.

HOW THEY INVEST MONEY

The Pathetic Dumb Irishman Figure of Past — Steerage Conditions Much Better To-Day—Living in New York.

NEW YORK.—It was left for a southern state to establish the most up-to-date office in New York to attract white immigration. South Carolina follows her enterprising Charleston world's fair with a bustling employment agency in the metropolis. While waiting to get hold of the immigrants the agent has tried his hand upon older residents of the city. He has already sent 1,000 people south. Within a short distance of Charleston is a colony five years old which is already beginning to pull immigrants thither by the fame of its prosperity. The colonists are Italians.

The Italians are among the best farmers of Europe, and they are no strangers to a hot climate. From everywhere in the south that they have gone comes the same story: They raise more cotton on a small piece of ground than negroes can; they make better use of the small allotments of garden soil about their little houses. Half an acre is a good deal of land to a man who has been accustomed to make a living off a few benches of rich soil propped up on a Sorrento side hill by a succession of wall terraces.

The South Carolina experiment is confined by law to immigrants of the "Saxon race." As nobody knows what the Saxon race is—it assuredly does not mean the inhabitants of modern Saxony only—Col. Watson, the director of the new office, feels justified in sending down Hebrew mill operatives and mixed races from the poorer part of the city.

South Carolina undertakes to find agricultural immigrants homes, land and a fair start. It is only one of a number of agencies that take the immigrant in hand.

I believe the time is coming when the different states will all have their agents at Ellis Island and compete for the likeliest looking immigrants. It will be no more than South Carolina and the Canadian Pacific railway are doing at the very opposite ends of the map.

12,000 a Day.

HERE was a day recently which might be marked with a red stone—or perhaps a stone striped red and white like a barber's pole; for I'm not sure that its altogether good luck when 12,036 immigrants reach New York in one day. And perhaps even that record is beaten by this time. But for a little time at least it stood, and the people in Ellis island worked 48 hours to get rid of them.

No business was ever more systematized than this letting people into the country. They pass slowly along between long railings in single file. The eye-doctor looks for half a second under each uplifted eyelid for traces of sarcoma. The general inspection for vaccination marks and against disease has already been undergone twice, and in some cases three times. A wave of the hand turns an applicant aside into the detention "pen," to be decided upon later, and perhaps sent home at the cost of the steamship company. Fewer are sent back than you might think. The money test is not conclusive. A feeble person with money is looked upon less favorably than a strong young fellow with three dollars by way of worldly wealth.

After all that is said about the admission of undesirables, most of the newcomers are pretty good people. This is the unanimous testimony of those that deal with them. Italians are making our railroads; Hungarians are digging most of our coal; Slovaks, near by at least, are doing much of our farm work. The average ship-load is composed of healthy looking people whose fresh complexions put to shame the city-mured folk that jeer at them.

In reading the late F. L. Olmstead's account of the border slave state, written before the war, I came upon an expression I had not heard for years: 'Dumb Irishman." It meant an immigrant Irishman fresh from off the ship, who had not yet yearned to talk English, and who—this part was pathetic—was yet weak and tremulous from the confinement and privations of the voyage, and could not work well until heartened by food.

What the Immigrants Do.

HE immigrants that herd in New York so persistently—two-thirds of them hive within 200 miles of the city—have many peculiarities. The least of these is the striking tendency of the Italians to become railroad laborers and the Hebrews to become garment makers. If you add that the Greeks are monopolizing the sale of candy and peanuts and the Armenians go to peddling "Turkish" rugs, you complete the common but inaccurate picture of the newcomers' pursuits. Formerly the masons were largely Irish or Scottish by birth, the carpenters German and native American. Nowadays the Hebrew carpenter and the Italian mason are very common. The native American in the building trades is in a small minority. Consider the case of a recent immigrant, not yet a citizen, who is drawing as a skilled mason 70 cents an hour, or $5.60 a short day—and that is the new scale for the new year—let him write to his old neighbors of this fact, and some of them are pretty apt to come and look him up—if they can believe his story!

One natural result is that both the Italian and the Hebrew get to owning city real estate, the most profitable kind of property just at present. They begin in a small way, subletting part of a tenement. Then comes a chance in the division of an estate to buy a tenement with a little ready money, giving heavy second mortgage. Prodigies of thrift pay this off in part and enable the owner to take on another. He lives in one of the tenements and has his watchful eye upon the whole.

The Hebrew has another reason for buying land. He is an intense individualist. As Dr. Blaustein has explained, he wouldn't dream of buying stock in a corporation. He wants something he can see. As a result, he didn't get caught in Steel common in 1903, but bought land; and land went up. Of late a flood of 200,000 Jews has poured over into Brooklyn. In the parts they occupy the price of land has risen threefold. They are themselves the buyers. For years the old owners of land at the Brooklyn end of the new Williamsburg bridge have been selling out, afraid of the "deterioration of the district." Now that the East Siders can see the bridge actually finished, they have arrested the downward tendency of prices and shot them up again. "If I'd simply held on I'd have been $6,000 richer," mournfully said to me the former owner of a rather modest little home in this forlorn but now booming region.

Building Extraordinary.

WITH masons' wages 70 cents an hour, the amount of building going forward is the greatest in the history of the metropolis. For two years a disastrous war in the building trades has kept down building and driven up rents until they are almost unendurable. The result of the prospect of peace in the building trades was to start plans for $50,000,000 worth of buildings all at once. I have sometimes alluded jocularly to the poor men's apartment houses, such as "Charley" Schwab and "Alf" Vanderbilt live in, where by a little judicious search you can find a few plain rooms renting at only $16,000 a year. But it is no joke to the man who is really poor or merely well-to-do. The old New York rule was that a man might spend one-quarter of his income for rent. That was bad enough in all conscience, but many now spend one-third or more.

Why? Ask the man, and he will tell you he has to do it. Perhaps he is right. The first necessity to him is room to live among cultured people and in surroundings not unhealthful. If he is fairly prosperous he may wish sunshine to fall upon his rooms once a day. These things cost money. His food, his clothing, need cost little if any more than in the smallest village. His rent, if he be an educated man in professional life, or moving among professional people, will not cost less than $1,000 a year. He cannot on Manhattan island find a place to live among his kind for less money. This is the literal truth. What may seem in the description like profligacy is really the result of careful weighing of necessities.

Considerably less than $1,000 a year, either in rent or in carrying charges as an owner, will provide a home in Brooklyn, or in near-by New Jersey. Add the vast clearing of great spaces upon Manhattan island, the conquest of residence districts by trade, and is it a wonder that the suburbs grow; and that within 50 miles of New York's city hall in three states are living 6,000,000 people?

With such wages as I have quoted building is expensive, but—it's cheaper than living in Manhattan!

Tennis the Proper Game.

SOCIETY has suddenly decided that it is pretty lonesome business tramping about a great field chasing a golf ball. At any rate, the recent signs of the revival of tennis as the fashionable game continue.

The most fashionable place of games in New York is the St. Nicholas rink, where real ice skating has been popular during the winter, and where one of the most recherche tennis tournaments of recent years has been this spring in progress. I don't know that the scores were anything remarkable, probably not, but it makes all the difference in the world who makes them.

The endurance of the game must have something to do with the American nervous temperament. Young women of the day like to have "something doing." The rapid return of the tennis ball close to the net is something like a real game. Ping-pong was very well, but it was played indoors. Tennis—well, see a game played at the Newport casino, with the watching throng of fashionables, with the bright but kindly sun of a never fierce seaside August upon the scene, and with the fresh air from the ocean rolling in—golf isn't like that.

George Hackenschmidt, known as the "Russian Lion," won the title of champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler the other night by defeating Tom Jenkins in two straight falls at Madison Square Garden in New York city. The Russian completely outclassed the American, and at no stage of the contest appeared at all in peril. Once, early in the first bout, Jenkins, having assumed the aggressive, forced the foreigner into a head spin, but never after did Jenkins have as good as a look-in. It will take another Yousuff or Hali Adali to throw this powerful Russian. The two Turks named—one now dead, and the other out of the wrestling game—could probably have handled the Russian, though it is far from certain that either of them would have had easy game with him. Hackenschmidt combines the agility of a featherweight on his feet with the Herculean strength which is his. The muscles of his neck appear able to cope with the strangle hold and break it. His arms, right and left, are too powerful to fall prey to the hammerlock hold, and his underpinning is so firm as to withstand the most determined efforts at dislodging. Hackenschmidt, according to his admirers, is one of the finest, if not the finest, specimen of the all-around athlete and strong man, and is an inspiration for artists and poets, as the distribution of his muscles is most picturesque. Unlike men of his profession, he is not muscle-bound, as is shown by the fact that he can clear the bar at 5 feet 8 inches, which is his own height. He combines agility with his strength, and it has been this important factor that has won so many honors for him in the wrestling game. Besides being a great wrestler, Hackenschmidt is also a strong man, tumbler and all-around athlete. His great physique is admired by physical-culture and medical experts throughout the world, and he is thought to be the "perfect man" by many. He is 26 years of age, and weighs 210 pounds. Although he is a Russian, he comes from German stock, his relatives having been members of the German army for almost a generation. Hackenschmidt is said to be worth $100,000, and it is asserted that he follows the game for the sport there is in it, and not for the many easy dollars that fall to a man of his ability. In all his career as a wrestler, Hackenschmidt has never been thrown, not a single fall ever having been recorded against him. Among his notable victories is one over Ahmed Marrall, the Terrible Turk, who was the sultan's pride. He lasted less than one minute with Hackenschmidt, and was so badly beaten in that space of time that he was unable to continue.

Bowling fans of Chicago and Cincinnati recently had an opportunity to witness an interesting match between two prominent tenpin experts, Charley Mountain, of Chicago, and Phil Wolf, of St. Joseph, Mo. The match consisted of 20 games, half rolled in each city, and was for $500 a side and a purse of $1,000. In the first fifteen games, which were rolled at Chicago, Mountain scored 119 more pins than Wolf. In the fifteen games at Cincinnati Mountain increased his lead by 345 pins, winning the match by 464 pins. Mountain bowled a total of 5,970, his average in the thirty games being 199, while Wolf rolled 5,506, an average of 180 2-5. Mountain is a brother of the crack jockey of the same name.

Easily the bowling feature of the past season was the phenomenal performance of the Brooklyn team, champions of the National Interstate league, which averaged 1,123¾ recently. These figures were made in the second half of a series against Buffalo. On their home alleys the Bisons had won and lost two, and looked to be easy winners. Brooklyn, however, put up the most remarkable series in the history of the game, in the four afternoon games getting scores of 1,126, 1,112, 1,122 and 1,131. The last score is the highest ever made in competition in Brooklyn, and four successive scores of 1,100 never have been rolled before anywhere.

James J. Jeffries, champion heavyweight pugilist, declares he is about to retire from the prize ring and from the stage, and will go into business with his brother Jack, in California.

Joseph Forshaw, of St. Louis, won the first Marathon race of the Missouri Athletic club the other day. He covered the course from Freeburg, Ill., to the M. A. C. clubhouse, 25 miles, in 2:16:57 2-5, and finished in fine form. Hatch of Chicago was second, and Felix Carvajal, the Cuban, third.

Charles G. Wridgway, of New York, covered 1,000 miles over the Brighton Beach race track in 25 hours, 50 minutes and 1 second recently, in an automobile. This beats the record made by Schmidt near Detroit last year by 4 hours, 3 minutes and 56 seconds. During the night the track was partly illuminated with calcium lights, and Mr. Wridgway reduced the speed of his machine, to avoid possible accident, but after daylight he went at top racing speed, only slowly down occasionally to refill the gasoline tanks.

WOMAN'S WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE

AN EVENTFUL TRIP THROUGH STORM TO CATCH TRAIN.

IS ASSISTED BY RANCHERS

Successive Relays of Horses Enable Wife of Wyoming Lawmaker to Reach Bedside of Her Sick Husband.

Denver.—Mrs. A. H. Allen recently reached the bedside of her husband, Representative Allen, of Wyoming, whose life for a time was in the balance. After a ride that Mrs. Allen will never forget, for it was through fierce storms, and the winds of bleaks, barren, windswept Wyoming—an all-night drive through the mountains, every ranchman along the route of 65 miles from Baggs to Rawlins aiding in the effort to catch the morning train on the Union Pacific to whirl her half way across two states to the bedside of her husband, whose life was in danger in St. Joseph's hospital.

Mrs. Allen said: "I received word that Mr. Allen was very ill after the operation for appendicitis. I had been receiving bulletins over the telephone from Rawlins. That is 67 miles from Baggs, and there is no stage out of the place on Mondays. It runs every other day in the week. About two o'clock Sunday afternoon I was informed that I had better come to Denver at once. Dr. McGee, of Rawlins, had sent Mr. Allen on here and had advised an operation. I was naturally fearful about that and knew I must get here in time for the operation. There was a train out of Rawlins Monday morning at eight o'clock and I decided to get it.

"I mapped out a sort of Sheridan's ride programme. We are well known to the ranchmen all along the line. I got busy with the telephone at once, and had a dozen fresh horses waiting for me at intervals of from 20 to 25 miles between Baggs and Rawlins.

"THEY CARRIED US SAILING THROUGH THE MUD."

Then I had the liveryman give me a driver and two of the best horses, and I started. The roads were in bad condition from the rains.

"The first stop for change of horses was at Muddy bridge, 22 miles away. We got in there about nine o'clock at night, changed the relays on the fly, and were off without a break. Then the roads began to get worse, and wheels sank to the hubs. It was tough on the broncos, but they were game—they must have felt how important it was to go right on through it all, because they pulled their little hearts out for me.

"At Sulphur a friend, Mr. Davis, had a pair of fresh horses for us. They had not been worked in a month. They carried us sailing through the mud. About two o'clock in the morning we ran into a blizzard. It was blinding. We could not see two feet in front of us. Another of the ranchmen who had been watching for us along the route, after changing horses again, went ahead of us with a lantern to look out for pitfalls in the mud and warn us against slides.

"When we got within 16 miles of Rawlins another relay which had been sent out to meet us was encountered. We could not swap teams in the mud so we went right on.

"When we were within a mile of Rawlins I heard the whistle of the approaching train. We urged our horses on and came up to the station at a fearful pace. I had been cramped for more than 12 hours, and was lifted into the train. The train was on the move as I stepped on the first step. Then I breathed a sigh of relief.

Seashell Bath the Latest.

Newport.—A seashell bath is the latest innovation in household luxuries that Mrs. John R. Drexel is introducing in her Ochre Point home. Always original and noted for it when she was Miss Alice Troth, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Drexel conceived the idea, which she terms as a happy medium between the lavish silver baths and the prosaic tile. It was while she was on a trip in her steam yacht the Suitana to the Bahamas recently that she made a collection of shells, exceeding in diversity and beauty anything ever obtained on the islands. These shells she will now turn to use in constructing the novel bath. Stripped of their outer layers and clipped to fineness, the shells are being cemented edge to edge with a waterproof compound resembling white coral, as a lining of the bath. A transparent glaze will cover them, and salt water, piped from the ocean, will sparkle with the luster of the sea's own jewels.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

The game between the Y. M. C. A. and Clinton Avenue teams scheduled for Saturday afternoon was cancelled.

The newly-organized Tiger A. C. opened their season Saturday morning by defeating the Woodside A. C. in a closely contested game. The score was 13 to 10. The battery for the Tigers was Knowlton, Bohan and Moran; for the Woodsides R. Vail, VanDoren and Gray.

Manager Frank Burke, of the Elizabeth Stars, has completed arrangements whereby the old Bayside, including "Red" Waller, Stallings, Curley, Flynn and Bertwhistle and other leaguers, will play for him at Elizabethport on Sundays for the rest of the season. Burke lost five or six players from the Connecticut State League through a ruling of the league which will not permit those players to engage in games on Sundays.

The event at the Westfield Golf club Saturday was the third qualifying round for the June handicap. These contestants qualified: Class A-A. D. Tuttle, 89, 5 84, F. P. Condit, 89, 5-84; E. B. Lyons. 124, 10-114 The fourth and last qualifying round will be played on Saturday and there will also be a team match with the Westchester Golf Club.

OBITUARY.

Henry Nelson.

Henry Nelson, colored, of 67 Spring street, Westfield, died on Saturday last in the eighty-first year of his age. He was a highly respected citizen and had lived in Westfield for fifty years, being familiarly known as "Uncle Henry." Prior to going to Westfield he resided in this city. The funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and from the First M. E. church at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Wright officiated, assisted by Revs. A. L. Hughes, of the A. M. E. Zion church, and P. W. Ross, of the colored Baptist church. The floral offerings were numerous. The pall-bearers were nephews of Mr. Nelson, including Frank Williams, Theodore Williams, Thomas Williams, of Westfield; Charles W. Mulford, Albert F. Williams, of Bayonne and his grandson, Frank Nelson, of Plainfield. Mr. Nelson leaves two sister-in-laws, a daughter-in-law, a granddaughter, and son and many nieces and nephews. The interment was in the old Presbyterian cemetery.

AMUSEMENTS.

While the summer season is prolific in the growth of dramatic stock companies in the smaller cities, it is worthy of note that in Greater New York Mr. Proctor's stock theatres alone are able profitably to remain with open doors during the heated months. Mr. Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, for instance, has never closed its doors, summer or winter, week days or Sundays, since he first assumed control of that historic playhouse five years ago. The summer campaign will, if possible, be even more brilliant than any of its recent predecessors, for the dramatic stock company is to be increased in strength by the engagement of half dozen players famous for artistic work. The repertoire will naturally tend somewhat more to light comedies than during the winter months, but the works will all be from the pens of noted play-wrights, so that, all in all, there is every assurance of an interesting and prosperous summer term.

AILINISTS ON THE STAND

shammed insanity under the tests by which he was examined. It was Dr. Parker's opinion that a person could commit a crime and not be conscious of it at the time or afterward.

Epileptic Insanity.

"I diagnosed his case as epileptic insanity. I ascertained that from his eleventh year there was a history of sub-consciousness. This man Wolfe I look at as the 'aura' of Wood's epileptic attack. It is a remarkable 'aura'—a scientific 'aura.'"

Q. Could this defendant, in a subconscious state of mind have committed the crime charged in this indictment and not know he did it? A. He could.

Cross-examined by the Prosecutor.

Q. If it were found that Wolfe really exists, wouldn't your theory he swept away? A. No, sir. The fact that there is a material Wolfe does not dispel the fact that there is a hallucinatory Wolfe.

Q. Who wrote the letter of Sunday, January 29—Wood or Wolfe? A. Wood, I suppose.

Q. Now how can that be when under those attacks he thought himself well? A. You misunderstand me. I have not said that Wood, in his attacks, changed to Wolfe. I have only said that Wolfe always appeared to him before and during an attack.

Head Lunacy Comm. Testifies.

Dr. Peter M. Wise, for eighteen years superintendent of the Willard State Hospital for the Insane, and five years head of the New York State Lunacy Commission, said that from one day's observation he thought Wood showed signs of being a degenerate.

Lunacy Examiner's Opinion.

Dr. Sidney E. Wilgus, of New York, formerly an examiner in Lunacy in Kings County and Bellevue Hospitals, who examined Wood, said he considered him an epileptic.

When Dr. Wilgus was withdrawn, court adjourned for the day.

Meeting With Evil Genius.

Wood told the jury yesterday how he had first met Henry Wolfe, and of a second meeting a few days later at Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, New York.

"Who is Henry Wolfe, George? I wish you would tell the jury so they may know him," said Lawyer Swackhamer to his client who was on the witness stand.

Wood turned until he faced the jury and without an instant's hesitation began.

"I was in the dining-room of my father's house and stepped out of the room to get a handkerchief. When I returned a man was there with my father who was introduced as Henry Wolfe.

Wolfe, His Counterpart.

"I was struck by his remarkable resemblance to my father and myself. In fact, he was almost a counterpart of me. Shortly afterward I met him on the street corner. He said he was an illegitimate son of my father, and that he would get square with him. I was with him this time for about half an hour. I saw him a few nights later as I left the house. We just passed the time of day. I have seen him several times since then. On the third occasion we had quite a talk and I asked him what he intended to do. I told him that he must not alarm my mother because she was then ill.

"Other times he called on me were at No. 2343 Old Broadway, one evening in June, 1901, at Long Branch and at White Plains. I left a job at White Plains to get away from him. We had had little business together and he had not done the right thing. He threatened to get even with my father."

"What was the business you had with Henry Wolfe?"

Wood at Scotch Plains.

"He proposed in 1901 that we buy a machine shop in Scotch Plains, and this we eventually did. He promised to furnish part of the money, but did not meet the first payments. Later he sent a check for $500, which I took to a Plainfield bank and found that it was worthless. He wrote me a letter at the same time, but I destroyed it because I was afraid my wife would find it. I didn't want her to know about Henry Wolfe, because I was ashamed of the affair in the family. He never went to my home, although I think I asked him. Wolfe said he was thirty-two or thirty-three; I am twenty-seven.

Describes "Mack."

Wood described Mack as about 5 feet 10 inches in height, with heavy dark mustache and dark hair parted low on the right side. Wood stepped down from the witness chair with no indication that the ordeal through which he had passed had tired him. His cross-examination concluded the morning session.

Wolfe a Psychic Aura.

The medical expert who provided the plausible key to this psychological problem, Dr. George M. Parker, a New York psychologist.

"Wolfe is a psychic aura of Wood's attacks of epilepsy. An aura is the illusion which results from a premonitory condition preceding an epileptic seizure. Wood says he first saw Wolfe about five years ago. The occasion was when Wood, Sr., was in the dining-room of their home, and the son entered. There was a mirror in the room, and when young Wood advanced he caught a glimpse of his own reflection. He was at that instant undoubtedly in a premonitory condition of epilepsy. One flash of this sensatory reflection in the mirror, and Wolfe was born in the brain of Wood. Wolfe is a counterpart of Wood."

WOMEN'S WORK.

Holy Cross Guild Has Done Much for Missions.

Mrs. Samuel Townsend, as treasurer of the Women's Guild, of the Church of the Holy Cross, has just presented the annual statement of finances for the year ending April 4, 1905. The receipts, including the balance from last year, amount to $657.33. There were expenditures amounting to $542 45, leaving a balance of $114.88.

Miss Florence A. Stevens, as secretary, presents an interesting report of the past year, showing that the guild has done a noble work. While the charity began at home it by no means ended there and the barrels sent out by the missionary committee and the funds contributed to missions in different fields have reached nearly one thousand dollars. The poor whites of the South, the Indians at the North, Bishop Brown, of the West, missionaries' families, schools and hospitals in every direction have shared in the guild's generous bounty and thousands have been cheered by the unpretentious messages in books and cards and magazines that have been sown broadcast from this single quarter.

WOOD PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE; COURT SENTENCES HIM TO THIRTY YEARS IMPRISONMENT

Counsel for Defense Accepts Prosecution's Offer and Case is Abruptly Closed.

PRISONER IS UNMOVED

Swackhamer Pleads for Clemency—Clark Points Out Duty Law Owes to Society to Impose Severe Punishment.

Accepting a proposition made him by the county prosecutor, Counsellor Samuel S. Swackhamer in the Somerset County Court this morning allowed his client, George H. Wood, to retract his plea of not guilty to the murder of Grocer George Williams and in its stead substitute one of "guilty in the second degree."

Less than twenty minutes afterward it had been accepted by Justice Abram Q Garretson, who pronounced sentence, giving the defendant the full penalty prescribed by law, thirty years at hard labor in the State prison, thus ending one of the most remarkable homicide trials that has ever come before the New Jersey bar.

Wood Unmoved.

The stolid, indifferent Wood gave no sign of emotion as the words fell upon his ears, but the brave, little wife who has been constantly at his side during the ordeal, sat as if stunned until kind hands removed her from the gaze of the gaping crowd that filled the room.

With her was their pretty, three-year-old child, who looked wonderingly about at the stern, gray-bearded judge, the stern lawyers and then at three-year-old Alice Williams, the daughter of the man her father murdered.

Wood kissed the wife and child and then with head erect and firm step, moved to the corridor and the cell from where he will next go to the penal institution at Trenton.

State Sees Its Weak Case.

The first hint that the prosecution would accept the plea of murder in the second degree came at the close of yesterday afternoon's session when the last of the evidence had been presented. To the mind of the laymen as well as those versed in legal affairs it could be seen that the State had failed to make out a vital point—that Wood had deliberately and wilfully taken the life of the Watchung merchant. Under these circumstances, the court in its charge, could not instruct the jurymen to bring in a verdict in the first degree and the overtures were made to the defendant counsel.

Wood and Wife Agree.

Mr. Swackhamer held a consultation with the prisoner and also with the family and they expressed the wish that it be accepted. The presentation of this plea, therefore, involved the abandonment of the strong defense which had been made for Wood, but the theory of those defending him was that, even though acquitted, his mental condition is such that he could not be permitted to go free.

A Sound Jury.

On the other hand, it was not thought that this was a case that could properly be submitted on its merits to a jury of matter-of-fact farmers, who would be apt to consider only the fact that Wood undoubtedly shot and killed George Williams, and disregard all the amazing testimony as to dual personality, sub-conscious influence, the "little black man" and adolescent insanity.

Spectators' Expectancy.

This was the state of affairs who court convened this morning. The great crowd of spectators knew that something was to happen as counsel on both sides, Judge Garretson and Judge Schenck, had remained in an ante-room in consultation from 9 o'clock until 9:20. As they took their accustomed places there was an audible murmur until Prosecutor Reger

JUDGE GARRETSON.

THE JURY.

arose and addressed the bench. He spoke of a conference having been held and the said in part:

Prosecutor's Statement to Court.

"The evidence that has been gone over in this case has furnished no proof of premeditation or wilfulness that would warrant or justify a verdict in the first degree. Counsel for the defense declares the burden of insanity to have caused the prisoner to fire the fatal shot and accordingly in the absence of a motive, we ask that he be allowed to plead to murder in the second degree."

Mr. Swackhamer followed with a brief address to the court in which he declared that he and his associate counsels were convinced that Wood is not morally responsible for this act, yet that the defense of insanity had to be made out to the satisfaction of the jury.

Swackhamer Substitutes Plea.

"Wilfull murder has not been made out," said Mr. Swackhamer, "yet we don't want a man of his description let loose on the public. I have conferred with the prisoner and in the face of the testimony from thirty-two witnesses he has told me that he doesn't want to go home, but that he does want to go to State prison that some day his story may be proven true. Under these conditions we withdraw the original plea and enter one of guilty of murder in the second degree."

Wood Enters New Plea.

As he finished, Judge Garretson commanded the prisoner to stand up and he did so with a quick bound.

"Wood," said the court, "do you retract your plea of not guilty?"

"Yes, sir," came the response, with just a suspicion of a quaver.

"Very well, then, what is your plea?"

"I plead guilty to murder in the second degree."

Jury is Excused.

As Wood resumed his seat, Judge Garretson spoke of having given the entire matter full consideration and that as deliberate murder had not been proven, it was proper to accept the plea. He then excused the jury from further duty and Mr. Reger moved for immediate judgment.

Court Refuses Delay.

To this Mr. Swackhamer responded by asking for time in which to give the change of plans fuller consideration but the court refused and instructed him to make whatever plea he had prepared.

Without further argument the tall counsellor arose and those who know him best settled back in expectation of a long address. They were mistaken as his entreaty for clemency was brief and to the point. He reiterated his belief in Wood's irresponsibility and then said with an earnestness that held the rapt attention of his hearers:

Swackhamer Asks for Clemency.

"If anyone heard this man's story as I have heard it and would not believe him innocent, would believe that no one would rise from the dead. I ask the court for clemency, I plead with your honor to narrow the sentence to the smallest compass of justice. I believe if he is sent to State prison and watched, it will not be long before he will have to go to an asylum as proof that he was a maniac. It is hardly necessary for me to rehearse the convincing proofs before the court—the tell-tale evidence he left in Plainfield, throwing his card about everywhere, asking the distance to the grandmother's home that he had visited hundreds of times, offering a job to his father-in-law when his business was insolvent and he needed a receiver more than a bookkeeper, his not knowing Williams, the committment of the act on a public road at high noon in full view of two houses, no malice or jealousy existing and then go directly to his home in New York, tell his family that he had been out in the country—and laugh idiotically as he informs her that her father had left the theatre because he was fired out—it isn't within human experience that a man in his rational mind would act in such a manner.

Wood Not a Brute, He Declares.

"This man with a wife and three children is not a brute. The wife told you on the stand how in their dire poverty George went without food that she and the babies might have it—would a man like that kill his brother? I know the public must be protected and he agrees with me that he must not be at large. I sympathize with those bereaved but any sentence beyond that necessary, would work no good to the living or bring no joy to the dead."

Mr. Clark in his address declared the State had no desire to be vindictive, and looking with a compassionate eye at the bent-over, weeping figure of Mrs. Williams and her little daughter Alice, in front of him, he said:

Law Must Protect Society.

"The picture which the counsel has just drawn is pathetic but the picture before me is a sadder one. Society must be protected—if sympathy controlled us, we'd all feel sorry for Mrs. Wood, but it should not stop us from doing our duty. If Wood is insane and recovers his reason, there is a court of pardons; if a mistake has been made there is a method of relief, and I ask your honor to deal with the case as the law requires, bereft of all sympathy."

Court Pronounces Sentence.

Judge Garretson, with Judge Schenck, withdrew as Mr. Clark sat down, but returned almost immediately. Wood was told to stand up and with he and the court facing each other unflinchingly, the sentence was pronounced.

State Rests Its Case.

The State declared it rested at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and for the next five minutes the lawyers on both sides were in consultation as to the method of procedure. At its close Mr. Reger arose to make the preliminary summing up for the prosecution, doing so in a remarkably short space of time. He began by informing the jury that there were two facts that must be taken into consideration above all others: first, that George Williams was shot dead on a lonely road; second, that George H. Wood is the man whose hand and pistol directed the shot. Around these, he said, must be grouped all the other evidence.

"Wood was not insane," declared Prosecutor Reger. "He was devilish. Devilishness is not insanity.

Wood's Desperation.

"Wood left New York desperately hard up for money. He bought a revolver. He bought a hat and a sweater. Wood does not remember the things that happened on that ride when Williams received a bullet in his heart. Did you ever hear of such a case existing as a man whose acts are normal up to the time he commits a fiendish murder and whose acts afterward are all of a crafty game—a guilty man seeking to throw off pursuit and hide the evidence of the crime. The evidence seeking to prove the man is innocent is almost wholly based on his testimony that he does not remember the crime.

Insanity Defined.

"Why should he? A murderer's memory is likely to fail him under the circumstances. Insanity is a disease and not a temporary condition of the mind which can be put on as the defense would have you believe before the commission of the crime and shuffled off afterward. If the defendant by simply swearing that his mind was a blank during the commission of this crime, can escape punishment, what protection can the citizens of this county have against such creatures.

"There is no reason why Wood should remember any of the facts in connection with this crime—Williams' lips are sealed in death. But, do you think that a man who has been perfectly sane all his life and up to the time of the act, should be acquitted because he doesn't remember?"

Williams' Haunts Wood.

Here Mr. Reger's voice rose to a high pitch and pointing his finger at the stolid prisoner he exclaimed dramatically:

"I'll wager George Williams' limp figure will linger in that man's memory until his dying day. This story of forgetfullness is an impossibility and if he was capable of distinguishing between right and wrong, then he is guilty of murder.

"No feelings of sympathy for the wife of the defendant should sway your judgment, although the one entitled to sympathy is the lonely widow, who has sat so patiently during this trial, and her innocent child. The evidence alone is what you must take. The State insists that Wood wilfully killed George Williams and we ask a verdict of murder in the first degree."

Mrs. Williams Breaks Down.

Two dramatic incidents interrupted the prosecutor's address. Mrs. Williams, widow of the murdered merchant, broke down and wept convulsively.

Friends led her to an ante-room. While she was weeping in court Wood looked at her, seemingly one half interested and without any show of emotion.

Later the prisoner's devoted young wife broke down and sobbed with her

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS

Vets to Hold Exercises in Reform Hall in the Afternoon.

PARADE ARRANGED

Co. K to Take Part—Chorus of Children at the Memorial Services.

The members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., have practically completed most of the details for the observance of Decoration Day, and there will be a meeting of the Memorial Detail tomorrow night to consider and arrange for the minor details. It has been decided to hold the exercises in Reform Hall in the afternoon of May 30, and the Raritan Brass Band has been engaged to furnish the music. Mr. Berg, as chairman of the music committee, has also arranged a programme of vocal music. The name of the speaker for the day has not yet been announced, but a prominent man will be secured.

During the early morning hours the graves of the departed soldiers in the local cemeteries as well as those at Scotch Plains, Westfield, Dunellen, New Market, South Plainfield, will be decorated with flowers by numerous details from the Post. Later in the morning the veterans and Co. K will assemble for the customary short parade in the city and borough. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the veterans will reassemble and proceed to Reform Hall for the usual exercises.

There will be a large chorus of children to sing patriotic songs, the members of the Women's Relief Corps being in charge of the training of these children for this part of the programme. After the exercises the children will be entertained, according to previous custom, and refreshments will be served. I. L. McVoy, as commander of the Post, has full charge of the programme for the day and will be assisted by other veterans.

HER IDEA OF VALUE.

Woman Gives $60 for $10 Worth of Carnival Tickets at Headquarters Yesterday Afternoon.

A woman entered the headquarters tent at the Carnival grounds yesterday afternoon and asked for ten coupon books, which sell for $1 apiece. She handed Chairman Fisk $60.

"I think these books are worth $6 apiece," she said quietly, and left the tent without further comment.

Nobody at the headquarters knew her.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of Miss Ethel V. Benson, of Duer street, to William Harding, of Grove street. The wedding will take place in June.

TEMPLARS RUN CARNIVAL

In Knightly Uniform the Commandery is Escorted by Band.

ATTENDANCE, 12,000

In the Afternoon 400 Poor Children Were the Guests at the Show—They Enjoyed a Huge Time.

Attendance and receipts at the Carnival reached their highest point so far yesterday. The crowds that thronged the midway last night didn't fall far short of 9,000 in numbers. With the attendance in the afternoon, when the third matinee was held, the figure for the day is put by the management in the neighborhood of 12,000.

Four hundred charity children were entertained by the Carnival committee in the afternoon. All the inmates of the Children's Home from five years of age up, twenty-seven in number, were there, and about 375 youngsters gathered together by the Organized Aid Society. The Organized Aid army was mobilized in Hope chapel and marched down to the grounds in a long line that sizzled with excitement. The Home youngsters were brought down direct.

Miss Holly, and Drs. Ard, Long, Probasco and B. VanD. Hedges took charge of the Organized Aid wards and gave them a personally conducted tour to the circus, the merry-go-round, Punch and Judy and the laughing gallery. Each of the "kids" had three rides on the flying horses, but at that the overworked guides had a hard job prying them loose from the tent of delight. The tour of the glasses in the Laughing Gallery was a succession of screeches and giggles that shook the grounds from the headquarters tent to the Indian "village."

The Children's Home youngsters were taken around by City Judge William N. Runyon and H. L. Hall. Their first stop was the Laughing Gallery; then they trekked to the lemonade stand, and from there to the Punch and Judy show. After that exhausting strain refreshment became a necessity, and the ice cream tent called the children to it. What happened to the ice cream is a matter of awe and wonderment to the Carnival people. Three rides on the merry-go-round wound up the kids' picnic. A plethoric bag of peanuts was placed in each youngster's hand, and the troop marched home.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, took charge of the ticket selling and barking at night, fully fifty of the knights, commanded by George MacIntyre, all clad in fatigue coats and caps—the eminent commander was bespangled with glittering badges and orders and things—marched into the grounds shortly after 7 o'clock, behind a brass band. They were promptly assigned to the games and shows, and the band started on a concert tour.

The knightly band detailed for shout duty included Edward Sebring, Thomas Hanna, Robert A. Meeker, Robert Rushmore, Charles Sturtevant, Otto Mueck, Henry Woodland, W. H. Sebring, J. Hervey Doane, G. T. Conkling, S. H. Craig, Edward Nelson, Augustus Hetfield, B. F. Coriell, A. D. Findlay, W. H. Rogers, F. J. Pope, Ralph Willis, P. B. MacIntyre, H. W. Marshall, J. E. Smith and J. E. McClintock.

C. E. ANNIVERSARY.

Warren Chapel Organization Celebrate its Seventeenth Birthday.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of Warren chapel, celebrated its seventeenth anniversary last tonight. Members and friends attended the observance in goodly numbers.

Rev. C. W. Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, delivered an address on "Keep to the Right and Keep Moving." There were vocal tries by Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, Miss Sheppard and Miss Schenck; piano trios by Miss Baily, Miss Coddington and Miss Schenck; recitations by Miss Lambert; vocal solos by Miss Hilda Bennett; and cornet solos by J. C. Anderson.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the pastor, delivered the Scripture reading and opening prayer. C. F. Windham, the president of the society, made the address of welcome.

Reports by the secretary and treasurer were read. Both covered the work of a busy and encouraging year. The society is in good shape financially and spiritually for a twelve-month of increased activity.

The Episcopal Convention.

Some of the Episcopalian brethren of the New Jersey diocese seem to have the curious notion that a ticket prepared by one faction in the diocese should receive the votes of the members of the convention without question, and that no new candidates should be considered. In politics, that would be called "machine" or "ring" rule. At the convention at Plainfield on Wednesday, there were nominated for places on one of the committees four clerical candidates who had served for a number of years. The younger element thought there should be a change, and voted ballots that contained the names of two clerical candidates of their choice, one of whom was the Rev. Hamilton Schuyler, of this city. A point of order was raised as to the regularity of the anti-machine ballot, and there were some very foolish statements made, which were withdrawn, however, when it was found that the "organization" ticket had won. One of the representatives of the antis stated the case quite aptly when he said: "It's a pity if there are only four men in this diocese who can do this work." The only way to secure new blood on the committee, is to put up a fight. Next year there may be a different result.—Trenton Times.

LITERARY.

The old Chateau Langeais in France is the subject of the leading article in the May Architectural Record Magazine. Frederic Lees makes a charming descriptive story of the old castle, which has recently been restored and given to the French Institute. Upon a background of fifteenth century life in old Touraine, Mr. Lees draws word pictures of every interesting feature of this ancient pile, valuable and informing because thoroughly intelligible.

Thomas Hamill, of the West End, who was kicked by a mule on Saturday, is still at the hospital. His condition is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClane, of Grant avenue, have been entertaining the latter's mother, Mrs. Sarah Kline, of West New Brighton, S. I.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Willie Keeler, of the New York Americans, made his first error for the season on Tuesday.

The Philadelphia Professionals, scheduled to play here a week from Saturday, have defeated several of the best major and minor league teams in the country.

Owing to wet grounds the Leal-Cranford game scheduled for yesterday afternoon was called off. The game was to have been played on Crescent Oval.

"Happy" Kiernan, who holds down the short-stop position for the local team, recently lost his wife by death and has been obliged to place his children in a home.

The All Americans, who play two games here on Decoration Day, are considered one of the strongest teams in the country. No doubt the fans will have the opportunity of seeing "Willie" Deegan pitch in one of the contests.

Ernest Linderman, who is prohibited from playing on the local team on account of the National agreement, the New York Nationals claiming his services, will undoubtedly continue to pitch for Perth Amboy on Sundays

Beck, who accompanied the players to the oval on Saturday, is a pitcher fully as strong as Linderman, according to Dave Driscoll, although he does not possess the former Hoboken player's reputation. He may be given a chance on Saturday against the Philadephia Giants.

GOLF.

Among the local players destined to find a place at the top this season is W. L. Glenney, of the Plainfield Country Club. He plays a consistent game and he gives promise of making a record this year.

Another promising player at the Plainfield Country Club is Robert Abbott. His work last year was surprising both at home and abroad and even better things are expected of him during the summer.

Within a few days a permanent clerk will be established at the Plainfield Country Club and he will have general supervision of the correspondence and other details about the club. Mrs. Lena Hellstrom has been engaged for another year, as steward, thus assuring satisfaction to the members in this department of club life.

BASKET BALL.

The Business Men defeated a pick-up basketball team from the cops' gymnasium class at the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday, 21 to 7. The cops don't pretend to know anything about the game.

RIOT OVER GAS VOTE

Enraged Philadelphians Hiss and Cry "Thieves!"

SEVENTY-FIVE YEAR CONTRACT GRAB

City Council Last Night Agreed to Lease Gas Works to United Gas Improvement Company For Twenty-five Millions.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Amid scenes of disorder unprecedented in the annals of Philadelphia's legislative body city councils last night voted to lease the city's gas works to the United Gas Improvement company for a term of seventy-five years for the total sum of $25,000,000, the money to be paid in various amounts before the end of 1907. Councils chambers and committee rooms were crowded with excited citizens protesting against the lease to the United Gas Improvement company from 1 p. m., when the proceedings opened in the finance committee room, until after the select council passed the bill and sent it to the mayor.

The climax was reached when the vote in common council was announced after three hours of debate. The moment President George McCurdy of common council announced the vote a great uproar was started in the gallery, which was crowded to the door. From all over the gallery came hisses and cries of "Thieves!" The outburst was somewhat startling to the presiding officer, who made a vain effort to quell it.

Finally he sent for a squad of police to clear the gallery, which started the disorder anew. The crowd continued to hiss and call the councilmen thieves and other names until the police arrived and started to clear the gallery. As the people moved out they sang uncomplimentary songs. In clearing the gallery there were several clashes between the police and some of the spectators, but no one was hurt.

All through the session of the common council there was disorder. In select council there were so many policemen on duty that no one dared to interrupt the proceedings. There was neither a cheer nor a hiss when the bill passed that body.

The agitation against the passage of the bill resulted in common council amending the measure so as to provide for a slight reduction in the price of gas. The amendment as adopted provides that the price of gas from the date of the lease until Jan. 1, 1911, shall be a dollar a thousand cubic feet, the same as the present price; from 1911 to 1921, 95 cents; from 1921 to 1936, 90 cents; from 1936 to 1956, 85 cents, and thereafter until the expiration of the lease in 1980, 80 cents.

Mayor Weaver has announced himself as unalterably opposed to the lease and in favor of a postponement of the whole question until 1907, when the first ten years of the present thirty years' lease to the United Gas Improvement company will expire. The vote in common council was 74 to 9 and in select council 37 to 4. There is some talk among citizens who fought the lease of taking the matter to the courts.

The committee of nine last night issued the following statement "to the citizens of Philadelphia":

"You have received the most insolent affront from your councilmen ever given to the people of any great American city when, despite reason and respect for the rights of the people, the city councils voted to confer upon a corporation the unhampered control of your gas works."

STEIN DAMAGE CASE ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY

WIDOW DEMANDS $20,000 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

A suit for $20,000 damages against the Jersey Central Railroad, which began in the Union County Court at Elizabeth yesterday, has adjourned until Monday. The plaintiff is Mrs. Mary E. Stein, of this city, and she wants that amount for the killing of her husband, John Stein, at Dunellen station Christmas morning, 1903. He took a train to that place to make a Christmas call on his mother, who lives near Dunellen.

Mr. Stein was thirty-two years of age and a mechanical engineer. On the morning of his death he left his home in this city at 9:20 o'clock to visit his mother, who resides near Dunellen. As the train drew into the Dunellen station Mr. Stein alighted and was struck by a west-bound express train which at that instant dashed by at a high rate of speed.

The contention of the plaintiff, who is represented by Lawyer George W. V. Moy, is that the railroad company is wholly responsible for Mr. Stein's death, because the railroad company had not maintained proper safeguards at the station to prevent such accidents.

BOSSES' DECIDE NOT TO COMPROMISE

MASTER MASONS ISSUE ULTIMATUM TO STRIKERS.

The Master Mason's Association will not grant the increase of three cents an hour, or twenty-five cents a day, demanded by the Hod-Carriers' Union. This was definitely decided at a meeting of the bosses held last night. There was only one exception to the stand taken by the bosses and that was in the case of Seaman Williams, who had previously met his men on a compromise proposition, that is he agreed to give an increase of fourteen cents a day.

The bosses decided that under the conditions Mr. Williams could pay the increase of fourteen cents if his men desired to return to work for that amount, but as for the rest of them, they would concede nothing whatever and if the hod-carriers do not want to work for $2.50 a day, the old scale, they could remain on strike.

It is the unanimous opinion of the bosses that $15 a week is good fair wages for a hod-carrier, especially as he is classed as an unskilled laborer and they do not think it is right or fair that they should receive $1.50 more a week.

There was a report circulated yesterday that the bosses had given the increase, that the strikers had won their point and all had returned to work. This is emphatically denied by the bosses. Tallamy Brothers have enough men on the new High School job and their work has not been interfered with at all. While some of the other bosses have had little trouble, it is not serious enough to hold up building operations entirely and they do not anticipate this. If the Union hod-carriers want to return to work they will have to accept the old scale of $2.50 per day, eight hours.

Central to Own Bronx Terminal.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey, which has been using the large freight terminal at 135th street and Mott Haven Canal, New York, owned by the Erie Railroad, has bought the block bounded by the Southern Boulevard and Third and Lincoln avenues, The Bronx, and will build a terminal for its own use. The ground was sold by S. Trimmer & Sons, who have used it as a coal yard. It is also reported that the Erie company has bought two blocks on the east side of Park avenue, between 153th and 137th streets.

—Of all the fruits of late spring none is so fine as the fancy Maryland strawberry handled by Neuman Brothers.

—Owing to the steady increase in business, Manager C. W. Runyon will soon add another section to the already large switch board at the local exchange of the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company.

DAAB ASKS COMMISSION TO DECIDE THE DISPUTE

FORMALLY LAYS PLAINFIELD - WESTFIELD MATTER BEFORE AUTHORITIES.

For the purpose of settling definitely the dispute relative to the playing of the series of baseball games between Plainfield and Westfield, Philip Daab, of the local management, has written a full statement of facts and forwarded them to Garry Herrmann, at Cincinnati, to be considered by the National Baseball Commission, for the purpose of getting a ruling on the questions involved in the controversy.

Mr. Daab says that if there is any ruling of the National Commission that will permit the Plainfield team to play Westfield under present conditions he is willing to play the series, but in any event he is willing to stand by the decision of the commission.

Charles H. Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association, has been acquainted with Mr. Daab's action and will await the decision with interest, it being his contention that there is nothing to prevent the two teams meeting in the series.

Mr. Daab expects an answer to his communication this week and as soon as it arrives he will furnish same for publication so that the fans will be fully acquainted with the ruling of the commission.

FAVOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Few Dissenters Propose Plan of Purchasing the Water Works.

Though there were a few dissenting voices, chiefly those who questioned the financial practicability of the proposition, the general sentiment of the public meeting, held last week under the auspices of the Elizabeth Board of Trade to consider municipal ownership of the water supply, was in favor of the purchase by that city of the water works there, providing it could be done and the plant subsequently managed with economy. The object of the meeting was not to have any definite action, but rather to obtain a public expression of opinion.

The ultimate action of the board was to pass a resolution offered by H. H. Isbem, and afterward so amended by him as to read as follows: "Resolved, that a committee of the Board of Trade be appointed to urge upon the investigating committee of the Common Council the municipal ownership of the water supply, provided it can be accomplished under circumstances and conditions which shall be economically favorable."

This resolution, after much discussion, was unanimously carried.

Russians Order Foreign Agents to Quit Siberian Port.

JAPANESE EXPECTED TO INVEST TOWN

Rojestvensky Sailing North, With Supply Junks Waiting at Kwangchau Bay—May Slip Past Togo at Formosa.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Richard S. Greener, American commercial agent at Vladivostok, has cabled the state department that all the foreign commercial agents there have been asked to leave Vladivostok fortress and are given permission to reside in the cities of the maritime provinces. Mr. Greener himself has left Vladivostok for Haborowsk. It is recalled here that a similar measure was adopted by the Russian authorities at Port Arthur at the beginning of the investment of that place by the Japanese land and sea forces, and hence it is assumed that Vladivostok is expected to become a center of the seat of war very soon.

A special report from Singapore, Straits Settlement, says that the Russian fleet has been seen 120 miles northeast of Cape Varella, coast of Anam, by the captain and crew of the British steamer Hong Wan I.

The German steamer Segovia has reported sighting forty-two Russian ships forty miles from Varella, steaming slowly north.

It was about 500 miles from the southern part of the island of Formosa, where it has been asserted Admiral Togo may give battle. It is doubtful if the fleet can make more than about 200 miles a day.

A report from Tokyo says that the departure of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky from Honkohe bay northward renews the popular expectation of a naval action in the near future.

It is the opinion of some that Rojestvensky may make a demonstration in the vicinity of the islands of Formosa and the Pescadores and then enter the Pacific en route for Vladivostok.

Everything depends upon Admiral Rojestvensky's plans, which may include an extended stay in southern waters.

From General Oku's headquarters a special report comes that at noon yesterday a Russian force consisting of three or four companies of infantry, seven or eight squadrons of cavalry and three or four guns appeared north of Changtu from the direction of Fenghua. After firing several rounds from the battery of guns they retreated in a northerly direction.

At Kwangchau bay provision junks are said to be waiting for the Russian fleet. The bay is the most northward of French possessions on the Chinese sea and the last port which Rojestvensky can select for his final departure to meet the Japanese. It has a fine anchorage and a sheltered channel where a large fleet may ride in safety.

WON'T CALL TAFT OFF.

President Convinced That Canal Orders Will Stir Up Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—In regard to the purchase of material for the Panama canal work President Roosevelt, it is said, takes the position that had France continued to construct the Panama canal, American manufacturers would have been glad to accord to that country their full foreign discount. Were Great Britain conducting the enterprise the same would be true. Even now, when Great Britain undertakes the construction of a railroad in any of her possessions, American manufacturers scramble over each other in their efforts to give her their most generous discounts. Now that the United States has undertaken a great and costly enterprise, manufacturers who are loyal and patriotic will gladly grant to their own country the "most favored nation" treatment, and others will have to do so.

Several members of the cabinet have gone to the president and begged him to "call Taft off," but the foregoing is a sample of the consolation they receive. Secretaries Shaw, Wilson and Metcalf deplore the decision of the president and the secretary of war. Every other member of the cabinet who is in Washington heartily approves the stand taken by the president.

The president, the Tribune says, is determined to carry the war into the stronghold of the trusts and compel the apostles of high prices to come to a realization of their obligations to "the folks at home." The president insists on the "most favored nation clause" for the United States, and the manufacturers of the country will have to accord that treatment to the government in so far as purchases made for the Panama canal are concerned—at least until congress can pass a law compelling the commission to pay domestic prices for supplies.

A report from Sioux City, Ia., says that President Roosevelt and the United States house of representatives were heartily commended for their efforts to curb the trusts and corporations by the sixth annual session of Iowa Congregational churches and its members, but the United States senate was intentionally omitted from the resolution.

Taft to Speak on Railroad Rates.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Secretary Taft has made engagements to deliver two speeches in Cincinnati on May 26 after he has addressed the Ohio Republican convention on the 24th. These will be delivered before the Commercial club and the Cincinnati Law school, and in the former the secretary will, it is expected, treat of the subject of adjustment of railroad rates.

PEACE HOVERS OVER CHICAGO.

Parents Formed a Procession and Forced Children Back to School.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Peace in the teamsters' strike is still hanging in the balance, and although it is generally expected that a settlement will soon be reached it seemed last night further away than it did twenty-four hours ago.

It is confidently asserted by the team owners' association that the teamsters have consented to arbitrate the trouble.

"Strike" conditions in the public schools took on a new color when 150 parents of the children of the D. S. Wentworth school district formed a procession and marched their "strike fever" sons and daughters back to the school. The parents stayed near the building for some time to make sure that the children remained in school.

More warrants were sworn out by Superintendent Bodine for schoolboys who have not returned to school after warning notices had been served.

For the first time in several days riots broke out and there were numerous fights between nonunion men and teamsters.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who has been in Chicago for two days negotiating for peace in the present trouble, last night left for Dayton, O.

President Shea of the Teamsters' union was the chief witness in the hearing before Master In Chancery Sherman. He refused to answer most of the questions put to him, declaring that his answers would tend to incriminate him.

Greeted by Two Hundred Priests.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The Hamburg-American liner Deutschland, which arrived last night from Cherbourg, was met at quarantine by the steamboat Isabel with about 200 Polish priests on board. They came to greet the Polish archbishop, Francis Albino Symon, who is attached to the Vatican at Rome and who comes to investigate several questions affecting the interests of Polish Catholics in this country.

Charles H. Rowe Not Guilty.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 19.—The jury in the case of former District Attorney Charles H. Rowe of Livingston county, on trial in the county court at Geneseo charged with grand larceny, last night brought in a verdict of not guilty. It was alleged that the defendant collected $490 on a mortgage for a client and refused to pay over the money.

Fatal Yellow Fever at Colon.

CAIRNGORM WON.

Pocantico Stakes at Belmont Park Won by Favorite.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Cairngorm, the heavily played 9 to 10 favorite, won the Pocantico stakes for three-year-olds at Belmont park. Cederstrome, a long shot, made the pace to the stretch, where Davis moved out with the favorite and won ridden out by one and a half lengths from Right Royal, who was a head in front of Cederstrome.

The races were run over a very slow track, and Cairngorm was the only successful favorite, the other events going to long shots and well played second choices. The weather was cloudy, but a fair crowd was in attendance. Summaries:

First Race.—Gold Sifter, first; Timber, second; Moonshine, third.

Second Race.—St. Estephe, first; Merry Boy, second; Clark Griffith, third.

Third Race.—Gamara, first; Merry Lark, second; Pasadena, third.

Fourth Race.—Cairngorm, first; Right Royal, second; Cederstrome, third.

Fifth Race.—Carrie Jones, first; Whorler, second; Consideration, third.

Sixth Race.—Go Between, first; Adbell, second; Nine Spot, third.

Wagered a Thousand on Atlantic.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 19.—A sharp lookout is being kept for the racing yachts at the Nantucket lightship. In and about Newport unusual interest in the race is evidenced, many wagers on the result having already been laid. The largest bet made public is one of $1,000 even money made by Chester Paulman of this city that the Atlantic would be the first to reach the Lizard. Captain B. H. Hardy of Gloucester covered the bet.

Yale Defeated Syracuse.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 19.—Yale easily defeated Syracuse university in a long drawn out game of ball here, the score being 8 to 3. Inability to hit Bell and Jackson was the principal factor in the defeat of the visiting players. Bell was wild and was taken out in the fourth inning. Wilson's long three bagger was the batting feature, while in the field the work of Syracuse was clean.

Harvard Man Won at Golf.

BROOKLINE, Mass., May 19.—Percival Gilbert, a Harvard freshman, took the honors in the qualifying round at the Country club golf tournament here, making as fine an exhibition as has been seen on the links. His score, 78, was two strokes lower than A. G. Lockwood and W. C. Chick, both of Boston.

Baikal Was Never Headed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 19.—Baikal, backed from 7 to 1 to 7 to 2, got away with a running start in the third race at Elmridge and was never headed, winning easily from Ada N. and Helgerson. Squid, at 7 to 1, won the fourth race after a hard drive from Marco, the favorite.

Michigan Western Champions.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 19.—The University of Michigan earned the western collegiate baseball championship here by defeating Illinois 2 to 1.

Cornell Lacrosse Team Won.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—The Cornell lacrosse team here defeated the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field by a score of 4 to 0.

John L. to Fight Mitchell.

TACOMA, Wash., May 19.—Charles Mitchell and John L. Sullivan have signed articles for a fifteen round fight here on Sept. 19 next.

GOLF ATTRACTIONS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

EVENTS AT COUNTRY CLUB AND THE PARK GOLF CLUB.

The list of attractions at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow include a match with a Princeton class team, and the weekly play for the Golf Committee cup in the afternoon. In the latter event there is sure to be a large entry list. The opening play for this cup indicates a close rivalry among club members for a much larger percentage has already taken part in this weekly competition. Another attraction will be the dance in the evening at the clubhouse and no doubt many will remain over for this. The house committee has arranged to have music at the clubhouse every Saturday night through the summer and this promises to be a decided social feature. There will also be the final round in tennis, between F. W. Goddard and Owen Flemington and T. M. Day, Jr., and H. J. Cochran.

At the Park Golf Club there will be the weekly competition for the President's and club cups, which started off the season under such favorable auspices.

The final qualifying round for the June handicap cup at the Westfield Golf Club will be an event of interest tomorrow, and in addition there will be a match with the Westchester Golf Club team, the first of the season. The home club will entertain the visitors at dinner after the game and there will be a dance at the clubhouse and other social festivities.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Carrie M. Kellogg and John G. McLaughlin, both of the borough.

—At the last communion service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, four new members were received on confession, and nine by letter.

Train Robbers' Work.

Train robbers committed a daring robbery on the Royal Blue Line flyer on the Reading road, which arrived in New York early this morning from Philadelphia. They set fire to the train and imperilled the lives of hundreds of passengers. The train was running fast when fire was discovered on the third car from the engine. One end of the car had been battered in and the car looted of all its valuables. At Bethayres station the burning car was sidetracked. It was entirely consumed. The car was from Washington and belonged to the U. S. Express Company.

Plainfielders in Golf Play.

Roger F. Murray, of the Plainfield Country Club, won the Class A section of the semi-annual handicap tournament yesterday at the Knollwood Country Club, under the auspices of the Produce Exchange, with a net score of 76. Other members of the Plainfield Country Club who played were Thomas R. VanBoskerck, C. E. Halsted, A. E. Barclay, all in Class A.

Arm Dislocated in Runaway.

Charles Lahy, of South avenue, was injured in a runaway yesterday afternoon. He was driving along South avenue near his home when a dog scared the horse into bolting. Lahy was pulled to his knees in trying to check the runaway's speed and his left arm was dislocated. Roundsman Flynn stopped the horse a block further on and drove Lahy home.

Mrs. E. D. Barrett, of East Fifth street, chaperoned a party of seven young ladies at the annual review of the cadet corps of Rutgers College on Wednesday.

WOOD GETS THIRTY YEARS

head on his shoulder. Even this did not arouse any feeling in Wood. He hardly regarded her, but kept his wavering eyes on the prosecutor.

Wood Was Sane.

Previous to this address the State put on the last of the witnesses in the trial. They were George Doodlesmohs, Eugene Wood, Ferdinand Linnertz, George K. Whitten, Edward Martins, William Demler, O. C. Heed and August Mudler. They were examined briefly merely for the purpose of bringing out strongly the fact that Wood acted like a sane person during his stay at Blimm's hotel and his trips over the mountains on January 31 and February 1.

Mudler is the head of the Eagle Iron Works in New York, and when he testified, Mr. Clark again produced the letter than Wood had written to him on the day that his sub-conscious state is supposed to have started. He offered it as evidence on the previous occasions but it was ruled font each time, yet the court allowed it to be entered yesterday after Mudler left the stand.

Remarkable Interest.

The remarkable aspect of this case as a physical mystery has attracted such wide attention that alienists form New York, Boston, Phiadelphia and other cities have travelled all the way to Somerville to see the prisoner. In court, hundreds of eyes watch his every movement and to the young women of the town who slip past the constables at the doors he is an object of wondering sympathy.

Wolfe Is Found.

Persistent search for "Wolfe, the small, dark man," has resulted in the discovery that there is a Wolfe, John Wolfe, who is an iron worker, who was formerly associated with Wood.

Sheriff Totten went to New York three weeks ago and began a systematic search for Wolfe among Wood's friend. His investigation took him to Albert Bigelow, janitor and agent of several building in Hancock place, Brooklyn, and residing at No. 29, that street, who was formerly an ironworker and associate of Wood.

Bigelow readily recalled one Wolfe, a small, thin, much tanned individual, who at one time was associated in some manner with Wood in the iron construction business in Harlem. Bigelow and the Sheriff searched diligently for Wolfe, locating his former residence in Wyckoff street, Brooklyn, but being unable at that time to find him, Wolfe having moved.

A Real Mack?

It is theory of the sheriff and prosecutor that Wood selected Mack, the civil engineer, and Wolfe, the ironworker, most cunningly, feeling sure that they would not step forward and volunteer evidence, and being equally certain that they would not be found; being prepared, however, to fall back upon the pretence that his disordered brain had distorted real persons into fanciful creatures, if their identity should be established. It is believed that the New Jersey authorities have discovered the present residence of Wolfe, but that he declines to mix in the case.

Wolfe Described.

"I know a John Wolfe, an ironworker, very well indeed," said Mr. Bigelow yesterday. "He is a good, hardworking man. He is married, about thirty-two years old, and has two children. Altogether Wolfe is superior in every way to Wood. It is said that Wolfe is an enemy of Wood's, but this I can't believe. The only ill feeling between them grew out of Wolfe's objection to Wood's methods and his refusal to let Wood get the better of him. Wolfe would not do Wood, or any one else, an injury. That is the reason, I imagine, why Wolfe declined to go over to New Jersey and testify against the prisoner."

Did Swackhamer Err?

With the close of the Wood trial at Somerville today, the impression prevailed generally that it was a compromise without apparent gain to the defendant, as the evidence had led up to the almost certain fact that the court would direct against a verdict of first degree murder. The defense built up by Counseller Swackhamer was little short of marvellous and he had much the better of the fight when the testimony was declared closed. If he had gone on and fought the case out, it is reasonable that Wood would have escaped with ten years for manslaughter or recognition of present insanity.

REAL ESTATE ITEMS.

The Union Building & Loan Association has sold its property on Church street to Mrs. Rosa Frucht, who will improve same to occupy it when completed.

Miss Fanny Loizeaux Weds.

Miss Fanny Elizabeth Loizeaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O. Loizeaux, of Putnam avenue, and Gerald A. Lough, of New York, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents by City Judge Wm. N. Runyon. Mr. and Mrs. Lough expect to reside here.

MAGNIFICANT HOME FOR TRUST COMPANY

Stately Structure to Grace Park Avenue and West Second Street.

WELL APPOINTED

Limestone Exterior—Marble, Copper and Mahogany Furnishings—Steel Frame Work—Fire Proof.

The contractors who are to erect the new bank building for The Plainfield Trust Company are preparing to start the work and everything will be in readiness as soon as the side and building lines are fixed by the final adoption of an ordinance now before the Common Council. The cellar has been practically excavated and the next move will be to start the work of laying the foundation. The structure will be erected on magnificent lines.

When this building is completed it will be one of the finest of its kind in the State. In planning the building the directors have taken the future as well as the present into consideration, and the building when erected will be one that will not only be equal to the concern's immediate needs, but one that it may be proud of in the years to come.

It is to be built entirely of Indiana lime stone; the frame work is to be of steel, and it will be as fireproof as modern construction methods can make it. Steel vaults of the latest type will be installed, and the safe deposit accommodations that it will offer to the public will be equal to any thing that may today be found in the largest cities of the country. The interior fixtures will be of marble and copper, and furnishings of mahogany. The company numbers many women among its patrons, and their comfort and convenience has been carefully provided for.

After the contemplated improvements on Park avenue have been completed the widening of the street to sixty feet; the construction of the Trust Company building and the erection of the office buildings by Charles W. McCutchen this section will be the finest business section of the city, and the real estate values in this neighborhood must increase very materially as a result.

The Plainfield Trust Company began business in June 1902; so successful has it been, that today, less than three years from the day of its inception, its deposits amount to more than one million three hundred thousand ($1,300,000) dollars. The continuation of this splendid growth will place the Company, at no distant date, in first rank among the financial institutions of the State.

The directors of the company are: Ernest R. Ackerman, New York, president Lawrence Cement Company; J. Herbert Case, Plainfield, secretary and treasurer; Frederick Geller, New York, attorney and counsellor-at-law; Augustus V. Heely, New York, the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company; Francis DeL. Hyde, Plainfield, president Union County Investment Company; James W. Jackson, New York, executor Jesse Hoyt estate; Edward H. Ladd, Jr, New York, Ladd, Wood & Co., bankers; Charles W. McCutchen, New York, Holt & Company, commission merchants; Henry A. McGee, New York, Standard Oil Company; George P. Mellick, New York, Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., bankers; Isaac W. Rushmore, Brooklyn, N. Y., dairy products; Samuel Townsend, New York, formerly Townsend & Yale; Lewis E. Waring, New York, Harvey Fisk & Sons, bankers; Orville T. Waring, New York, Standard Oil Company.

The officers are: O. T. Waring, president; A. V. Heely, vice president; H. A. McGee, vice president; J. Herbert Case, secretary-treasurer; Edward F. Fetckert, assistant secretary and treasurer.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED ON MOTORMAN STITES

HIS EXPLANATION OF HOSE CUTTING ACCEPTED BY RECORDER DOUD.

Before Recorder Doud in the borough court, last night, Theodore Stites, motorman on the local street railway, had sentence suspended on the charge of neglectfully running his car over a line of hose on Somerset street, at the Bodenheimer fire, Wednesday night. He was arrested at the instigation of Chief Woolston but his explanation of the affair was accepted. The Public Service Corporation in addition has offered to pay for the damage done.

Stites said that his car was at Monroe avenue and Seventh street when the alarm for the fire was given and he knew nothing about it. At the Watchung avenue terminus he was simply given instruction to pass over the Somerset street switch and meet the return car near Mountain avenue. This he did and was bowling along at a good speed when the hose loomed in front of him, too late to shut off the power.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS IN CHURCH ORDERS

REV. FATHER EGAN'S ANNIVERSARY OF ORDINATION TO PRIESTHOOD.

Rev. Andrew M. Egan, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church, Bayonne, and formerly pastor of St. Mary's church, here, will celebrate on Monday the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. The event will be observed in an elaborate manner, and nearly 100 priests from various parts of New Jersey and New York will take part. At 10:30 in the morning Father Egan will celebrate solemn high mass, after which he will entertain the visiting clergy at dinner.

Father Egan is one of the best known priests in the diocese and is beloved by his flock. He was born in Newark August 21, 1855, and prepared himself for the priesthood at St. Charles's College, Maryland, and the College of Three Rivers, Quebec. He was graduated from Seton Hall College in the class of '76 and was ordained at St. Patrick's Cathedral May 22, 1880. He began his missionary career at St. Mary's church, Bayonne.

After serving nine months there he was sent to St. Michael's church, Jersey City, and two years later returned to the Bayonne church. In 1892 he was appointed rector of St. Virgilius's, at Morris Plains. When he left in 1902 to assume charge of St. Mary's church, this city, his departure was generally regretted by the community.

Last March 10 he was appointed by Bishop O'Connor as rector of St. Mary's church, Bayonne, to succeed Rev. Father Isaac P. Whelan, who was appointed rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral in Newark and Rev. B. M. Bogan was appointed to the local parish.

The original of this sketch, bearing Mr. Wharton's own signature, was secured by T. W. T. Maxwell. This picture netted the Carnival $10.

CARNIVAL'S GREAT NIGHT

B.P.O.E., K. of C. and I. O.R.M. Draw 8,000 People to Show.

SOME FINE PRIZES

Much Enthusiasm in the Popularity Contests—Closing Scenes Scheduled for Tonight.

Indians, Elks and Knights worked together last night to keep the Carnival treasury swelling. With Redmen, and members of the B. P. O. E. and of Watchung Council, K. of C., urging them into wild extravagance, something like 8,000 people filled the show grounds. While the crowd was not quite as large as on the night before, it wasn't much smaller and spending stayed at about the same scale. All the show tents did big business, and the different games piled up money.

The turnout of the Redmen made a killing for the Indian show. The imitation braves, a bunch of whom were out in costume, took the show under their wing and boomed it all over the grounds. The real redmen performed to packed tents all night.

Among the Improved O. R. M. members who came out in costume were William Newcorn, Henry Windham, M. Leichtentritt, Charles L. Holstein, A. E. Willard, William Mills, H. C. Hobby, Peter Sheridan, F. E. Weber, Michael Sheridan, C. Berry, William Neal, Mr. Schemerhorn, Joseph Meyer, Benjamin Farbman, Edward Eskesen, Mr. Mehl, Harold Cook, R. D. Scott, Jacob Fass.

The bark, above and ticket-selling corps included George Tobin, Joseph Noonan, William Townley, Frank McInerney, F. H. Smith, W. L. Hetfield, Jr., J. T. MacMurray, Andrew McArdell, Edward Harding, Samuel P. T. Wilbur (one man), Dr. Frank French, L. A. Bellis, John Cose, B. Collamore Firstbrook, Charles Wilson, J. E. Erickson, A. E. Kenney, T. F. Gough, John McNally, W. J. O'Keefe, Philip Jahn, Thomas Carty, Sr., Joseph Robinson, John Fritts, C. F. McCann, H. C. VanEmburgh, Herbert Buxton.

Mayor Buckle and Mayor Smalley were there booming the Carnival for all it was worth.

William Jeffery's illuminated coons attract a lot of attention to the real estate man's tent. One is very tall and the other is very short. Both are dressed in flaming red-and-white costumes, and electric bulbs dot their outlines. Their purpose is to advertise Jeffery, the real estate expert. The searchlight gets dim every time it hits them.

Tonight, of course, will see the close of all contests. If you have any favorite among conductors, motormen, cops, letter-carriers, baseball players, nurses or lodges you will have to strike your blow for them tonight or forever hold your peace. Higgins looks like a cinch for the cops' ton of coal. Kiely, his next competitor, is a very weak second. Oregan and Brit Martin are tied for the dress suit case for the ball tosser—tied at two votes apiece. If Pete Oregan makes a hero of himself in today's game he may jump into the winner's place. The same encouragement is offered to the whole team. The contest for the self-playing piano, offered to the lodges, seems to have settled down to a grim, determined have-at-you between the Elks and the Knights of Columbus. It is either one's so far. The clock appears to be cinched by Hose Company No. 3 There are sixty-three votes registered for No. 3 and not a vote for any other company. "And we have more up our sleeve if they're needed," remarked Howard Manning, of No. 3, last night.

MURDERER'S PLEA PRE-SUPPOSED SANITY

But Wood Stuck to His Story After Being Sentenced.

TO PRISON MONDAY

Prisoner May Only Have to Serve Twenty Years — Lawyer George W. Bird's Statement.

The termination of the George H. Wood murder trial at Somerville, yesterday, is said by New Jersey lawyers to be unprecedented in criminal jurisprudence in this country. The process by which the result was reached presupposed the admission by Court, prosecution and defense that the prisoner was insane, and that Henry Wolfe, the Mr. Hyde of Wood's dual personality, impelled him to do murder. Yet by accepting Wood's plea, all parties to the remarkable trial admitted his statement that he was sane, because the plea of a insane man is not accepted by the courts. Only by blazing these new trails into the legal highway could full justice to Wood be insured.

Wood himself said the word which insured the success of the proceedings. His conviction that Henry Wolfe, and Mack, and "the little black man," actually exist was unshaken. He still believes that Henry Wolfe killed George Williams on Mount Horeb on February 2. He denounces the cowardice of Henry Wolfe in not "coming forward like a man" and admitting the crime. But that degree of insanity which is spared him led him to plead guilty for the sake of his wife and three little children.

Mrs. E. L. Pollock, of New York, who married an uncle of Wood, reached the jail after sentence was imposed, taking with her Wood's four-year-old girl. She was weeping when she drew Wood aside from his grandmother and his wife, and said, pointing her finger at his face:

"Now, George, all is over and I want you to tell me the truth. Did you kill George Williams?"

"As I live," he replied, "I have no memory of that week. Oh, I wish I knew all that happened. The testimony that I was near where he was killed stunned me, but so many have said so that I am convinced it is true, but I don't know how I could have been there. I don't remember at all."

Mrs. George Williams, widow of the slain man, wept during the court proceedings yesterday. Her flaxen haired daughter approached her and gently pulled her arm, saying, "Are you crying, mamma?" Mrs. Williams has said repeatedly during the trial that she believed Wood was perfectly sane and that he should be convicted and hanged.

Mrs. Wood, in her deepest misery, had a word of sympathy for the widow. While her eyes were still streaming she said, "I can't help being miserable as I am, losing my husband, but I am awfully sorry for Mrs. Williams, as she, poor woman, can never see her husband again, whereas I may. I am satisfied with the result, as I did not wish to have the case go to the jury. The jurors did not look kind; they were not educated men, like those who have been kind to me, but farmers. What do they know about a queer disease like that afflicting George? I know that he is insane, and he realizes it, too. He told me that if he got out he would not return to live with me, for fear that in sudden insanity he might kill me."

Mrs. Wood, who has three children, is working in a New York cracker factory for $4.50 a week. She had to quit work this week, on account of the trial, but she expects to resume on Monday. She has received a little aid from the Central Baptist church, of which she is a member.

One unusual feature of the case was that while the defense depended wholly upon expert evidence, there was no money to be spent to save the accused. Mr. Swackhamer, who was assigned as counsel, may receive an allowance from the court, but there is little probability that a New Jersey court is will allow him as much as he necessarily had to spend.

The alienists who went forward did so wholly for the purpose of trying to save a man whom they believed to be insane and with no possibility of getting any fees. Dr. William Steinach, P. M. Wise and George M. Parker, of New York, attended the court sessions day after day merely to protect a man whom they deemed unable to discriminate between right and wrong.

Canal Commissioners to Await Action of Congress.

TWO TESTIFY IN BOWEN-LOOMIS CASE

Caracas Asphalt Agent Sent to White House as Witness—Bean's Statement Favored Loomis In $10,000 Check Episode.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The isthmian canal commission will buy no ships abroad, according to a decision reached by the department, but will charter the vessels necessary for the needs of transportation until congress has an opportunity to take action and give the commission a definite policy on which to act.

If congress at the next session fails to stipulate that the commission buy American material and ships only, then the commission will go ahead and buy wherever it can secure the necessary ships and materials cheapest.

In explanation of this decision it is announced further that the canal commission, Secretary Taft and the president have no desire to take advantage of congress by the existing circumstances and that the commission is perfectly willing to suspend action relative to the purchase of ships until congress has a chance.

The canal commission has had in view two 8,000 ton vessels which could be purchased abroad immediately. The necessity of having these ships and the impossibility of securing American bottoms caused the decision of a few days ago to buy foreign steamers. This plan has now been changed, and vessels will only be chartered. Whether the chartered vessels will be foreign or American bottoms depends upon the prices asked.

Francis B. Loomis, assistant secretary of state, has filed with Secretary Taft an answer to allegations contained in certain papers Mr. Bowen has offered as evidence and which Mr. Bowen sent to Secretary Hay in February. With the presentation of Mr. Loomis' statement the case will be closed unless Mr. Bowen desires to make some answer to Mr. Loomis' latest communication. Mr. Loomis' statement will be sent to Mr. Bowen immediately. Every document in the case is to be copied, and when this has been done Secretary Taft will review the case and make his decision to the president.

It is probable that all the papers in the case will be made public when the investigation is closed and a final decision reached.

Two witnesses have been examined. Senor Pastor y Mora, for some years local agent for the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company at Caracas, appeared before the president a few days ago. He was sent to the White House by Mr. Bowen.

Henry Willard Bean of New York, at one time general manager for the asphalt company in Caracas, has made a long statement to Secretary Taft. Mr. Bean was in Caracas in his capacity as manager during the time when the $10,000 check episode occurred. It is understood that his evidence is decidedly in favor of Mr. Loomis, although the latter did not request to have him summoned.

Merchant Marine League Protests.

CLEVELAND, O., May 20.—The Merchant Marine League of the United States, through its executive officers, has sent to its members in different parts of the country a statement claiming that the machinery, tools, equipment and supplies of every sort required in the construction of the Panama canal should be carried in American bottoms.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 20.—The several well known owners of stock theatrical companies and playhouses in a circuit of the larger eastern cities have formed a combination under the name of the Association of Theatrical Stock Company Managers, which has been incorporated with the secretary of state. Fighting the Gas Grab.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—The opponents to the leasing of the City Gas works to the United Gas Improvement company for seventy-five years continue their efforts here to defeat the consummation of the deal. HOCH SENTENCED TO DEATH.

'Bluebeard's" Trial at Chicago Ends In His Condemnation.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Johann Hoch, who wedded more than a score of women, many of whom met strange and sudden deaths, was found guilty here of the murder of Mrs. Marie Welcker-Hoch, his last "wife," and sentenced to death.

The jury was out but a short time, and after the verdict Hoch, called "Bluebeard," was sentenced to death.

"Well, I guess it's all off with John," groaned Hoch as the verdict was read in court. He was greatly affected. He had sat in a stooping position, but when the word "death" was read he turned pale, stared hopelessly at the jurors and then sank limp in his chair.

"I wish they would hang me tonight, now that I have been found guilty," declared Hoch. "I am not afraid to die, and the sooner it is over with the better."

In his closing speech Assistant State Attorney Olsen said:

"Gentlemen, this is an artistic assassination. We are dealing with no common murderer; dealing with a person—not a man in all the fullness of that term—who was skillful in all that he did. The truth stands out clear as to who Johann Hoch is and what he did."

Olsen demanded that the law be satisfied by the execution of the man he called "one of the most monstrous criminals known in Chicago since the days of Holmes."

Hoch has become known as the modern "Bluebeard." He is accused of having had forty different wives, of whom at least three died suddenly under suspicious circumstances. Of these women seven were reported at Chicago as having been fully identified as married to him. In different parts of the country he was reported to have married the others.

HAGUE PEACE PALACE.

Holland Made Grant to Purchase a Suitable Site.

THE HAGUE, May 20.—The second chamber of the states general decided by a vote of 56 to 5 to grant 700,000 florins ($280,000) for the purchase by the Carnegie trust of a tract of about twelve and one-half acres in Zorgvliet park, near the old Scheveningen road, for the erection on it of the Carnegie palace of peace.

The Opposition declared that Holland was not obliged to grant the sum without the co-operation of other powers and that the interest accruing from the Carnegie capital would be sufficient for the purchase.

The ministers replied that the Netherlands in honor and as a mark of gratitude to Mr. Carnegie and for the privilege of providing a seat for a court of arbitration which would guarantee Dutch independence were bound to vote the grant.

CLEVELAND, O., May 20.—Secretary Shaw, accompanied by his secretary, J. H. Edwards, was present here today at the ceremonies incident to the laying of the cornerstone of the new federal building. On the 24th the secretary will be the guest of the Commercial club at Ardmore, I. T. On his return the secretary will spend two days in Des Moines, Ia., and one in Chicago, reaching Washington on May 28.

Bryan Summoned to New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 20.—Judge Stoddard, attorney for Mrs. Philo S. Bennett, made a motion in the superior court here asking that William J. Bryan, executor of the estate of the late Mr. Bennett, be summoned here immediately to explain his administration of certain features of the estate. After talking to the presiding judge a few minutes Judge Stoddard had his motion passed, and a telegram was sent to Mr. Bryan summoning him from his home in Nebraska. Judge Stoddard would not make public the points on which he demanded an explanation.

Moros Now Good Pirates.

MANILA, May 20.—General Leonard Wood has returned to Zamboanga, Mindanao, and has withdrawn the military expedition from Jolo island. He reports that all the Moros who recently have been raiding in the islands near Borneo have been killed, together with their supporters. The outbreak was chiefly one of pirates operating among the islands between Borneo and the Sulu group.

Korean Emperor to Be Removed?

A Wonderful Saving.

The largest Methodist church in Georgia, used 32 gallons of L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil, thus making paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. They calculated to use 100 gallons of other paint. Saved about $80.00, and also got a big donation of L. & M. Dealers gladly sell L. & M., because their customers call for it, and say they used it 12, 14 and even 30 years ago.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint.

Buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon, and mix it with L. & M. Paint.

It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. Sold by

LUCKY MAXIMOVITCH

Bomb Intended For Warsaw's Governor Killed Assassin.

THREE DEAD, TWENTY-THREE HURT

Dobrowolski, a Socialist, Waiting to Slay Russian General, Exploded Bomb With Fatal Consequence to Himself and Police.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 20.—A special dispatch from Warsaw, Russian Poland, says that a workman who was trying to avoid the observation of two detectives in Miodowa street there stumbled on the curb of the sidewalk and a bomb which he was carrying in his pocket exploded, killing the workman, both the detectives and, as at first reported, some persons who were passing.

The bomb was intended for Governor General Maximovitch, who was expected to pass the spot on his way to the cathedral to attend the service in honor of the czar's birthday.

The bodies of the victims were literally blown to pieces. A cafe near the scene of the explosion was entirely demolished, all the windows in the neighborhood were smashed, and a lamppost was torn out of the ground.

The man who was carrying the bomb has now been identified as a Polish shoemaker named Dobrowolski, a member of the violent section of the Socialists. The detectives were in the act of arresting Dobrowolski when the bomb exploded, and all three were killed. A revolver and a bundle of papers were found in Dobrowolski's pocket.

The number injured by the explosion is twenty-three, including three women, one student and two schoolboys. One of the latter is detained at the police station, having been noticed warning people against going into Miodowa street. Many reports are in circulation of strangers having stopped poorly dressed persons going in that direction.

The outrage is the sixth of similar character in Warsaw since the January disturbances. The editors of Polish papers here have decided to publish today if the censor will permit it strong articles denouncing such attacks.

It developed later that the governor general was attending the services at the cathedral, which is situated at the corner of Dluga and Miodowa streets, a few yards from the scene of the explosion. All the high officials and members of Russian society here were also present. The governor general had recently been threatened with a bomb attack, particularly since the May day disturbances.

The police accordingly exercise the greatest vigilance whenever he leaves the castle. After the officials had entered the cathedral detectives observed a poorly dressed man loitering in Miodowa street. When the man saw the detectives he ran toward the entrance of a confectioner's store, when he either tripped or threw the bomb backward at the detectives. The explosion occurred only a minute before the people commenced to pour out of the cathedral. Three minutes later the governor general would have passed the spot. Cossacks who were hastily summoned soon cleared the streets, and the governor general drove by another route to the castle.

Maximovitch was appointed governor of Warsaw March 5. He is a former hetman (or chief) of the Don Cossacks, and his appointment was reported to have created a good impression. On March 30 an imperial rescript was issued urging General Maximovitch to elaborate Polish reforms.

The governor general then summoned the editors of the Warsaw papers to the castle, received each of them separately and talked to them freely and in the most friendly manner, especially on the question of the censorship, inviting them to come to him in case of any difficulty.

The next day the governor general prohibited the sale of revolvers, pistols and cartridges throughout the whole territory under his administration.

A plot to assassinate General Maximovitch was discovered in the middle of April, and soon afterward it was reported that he had tendered his resignation, but had been prevailed upon to retain office.

The disturbances at Warsaw May 1 were of the most serious character. Nearly 200 persons are said to have been killed or wounded by the troops in various quarters of Warsaw, the victims including many women and children, although General Maximovitch the day previous was reported to have ordered the military commanders to use the utmost moderation should the services of the soldiers be required. He also asked the consuls at Warsaw to recommend that all foreigners remain within doors May 1. Some of the shootings are said to have been quite unprovoked, and the troops are alleged to have fired volley after volley at the fleeing people.

This aroused the most intense indignation among all classes in Warsaw.

Many arrests have been made since the explosion, and the police are now busy making domiciliary searches.

It is stated that Governor General Maximovitch recently received an anonymous letter threatening that, as he had allowed men, women and children to be shot down on May day, so he would be killed, with his wife and children, the writer adding that even remaining within the castle would not save them from that fate.

General Maximovitch sent his adjutant to the hospital with a message of sympathy for the wounded men and an offer to take care of the injured.

Plainfield, N. J., May 20, 1905.

When you are at the Carnival tonight don't fail to get the show's official souvenir postal card. It has a picture of the midway drawn specially for The Daily Press by George Wharton Edwards, of this city, one of America's gifted artists and a member of the staff of Collier's Weekly. The original drawing was disposed of last night at the show for $10 which will go to Muhlenberg Hospital. It was reproduced on 2,000 postal cards which were donated by this paper.

Public opinion appears to be much divided on the question whether Counsellor Swackhamer used good judgment in accepting the offer of the prosecution and allowing his client, George H. Wood, to plead guilty of murder in the second degree. Some members of the bar who have expressed themselves say that under similar conditions they would have refused the offer and gone to the jury on the plea of "not guilty" as charged. But it is very easy for a man to say what he would do under certain conditions which do not confront him at the time. If placed in Mr. Swackhamer's position and bearing the grave responsibility that he did at the moment, we are inclined to believe that one would follow the same course identically. The offer was laid before the client and the latter's wife, and their decision was final and should be under such a serious situation. Swackhamer represented Wood in fighting against conviction of the crime charged. In other words he was his spokesman and, under the circumstances presented, his advice to accept the offer was good, although it seemed hardly possible that the murderer could have been convicted. The weakness of the prosecution's case as the trial went on became apparent. Swackhamer had built up and maintained a defense that was truly marvelious. He showed masterly legal qualities in the way he conducted the defense. Some may say, and many of his fellow members of the bar do say, that he lost a great opportunity for making a name as a criminal lawyer in permitting his client to enter the plea of murder in the second degree. But therein did he truly display his good judgment and prove his worth as a lawyer for he sacrified self-glory for the best interests of his client.

on the cup and umbrella offered for the best scores at the rifle range by the Log-Cabin Gun Club will be held. The sextette includes A. I. Littell, F. S. McCarthy, Dr. C. W. Leonard, Robert Husnmore, A. E. Galloway, H. P. Vosseler. They are all good shots, and every one of them shot around 240 out of a possible 250. They will shoot thirty shots at six targets. In case of a tie the best in ten shots at two targets will take first prize. The winner will have is choice between a handsome silver cup and a silver mounted umbrella. The remaining prize will be second guerdon.

The carnival committee hopes to see record-breaking crowds out this afternoon and night. The members want tonight's crowd to spend entirely without restraint. They have been disappointed in the receipts so far. The average figure they counted upon has not been met, and they want Muhlenberg's friends to come out strong this afternoon and night and scatter their money all over the grounds regardless of inclination or the measure of amusement. It will be the last chance for what Secretary Lovell calls a "superspendiferous debauch."

The afternoon show will be manned by High School boys; Oshkosh will run the grounds at night.

Mrs. Vannaman, of Elm place, is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Randolph, of West Front street, who has been ill for some time, is much improved, although she is not able to leave the house yet.

Mrs. Chamblise, wife of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chamblise, who has been South for a number of weeks, returned to her home at 927 Central avenue, Thursday.

COMMON COUNCIL TO ACT ON LUMBER YARDS

ORDINANCE COMES UP AT JUNE MEETING OF BODY.

It is expected that the June meeting of the Common Council, Chairman Bullock, of the fire and buildings committee, will present a report on the question of lumber yards in the fire limits. The owners of the yard formerly conducted by DeWitt C. Ivins, have asked for the privilege of allowing the yard to remain as it is, and it is expected that a report will be made on this matter.

According to the ordinance introduced a few weeks ago, this lumber yard would be affected by its provisions if at any time it was desired to again continue the lumber business at the Ivins yard. This being one of the oldest in the city, it is thought that provision will be made to permit such a business being conducted there at any time in the future.

Another matter for the Common Council to consider will be that in reference to a proposed request of Boice, Runyon & Co., to erect additional shed in the vicinity of the Second street entrance on the yards. It is believed that there will be some opposition to this in view of the tendency of the fire and buildings committee to reduce the fire risks in this direction. For the purpose of meeting several of these complications sure to arise as a result of the ordinance, its final adoption has been delayed, but Mr. Bullock hopes to secure its passage within a short time.

MURDERER'S SANITY

Wood will be taken to Trenton Prison on Monday. His sentence will be reduced by commutation to about 20 years and 2 months. It is the present plan of his counsel to have Wood examined later by a commission in lunacy, and the Board of Pardons will be asked to act.

In an interview this morning, in reference to the Wood case, George W. Bird, junior counsel for the prisoner, made the following statement:

"We are all highly pleased with the result, as we could have done no better if we had secured an acquittal on the ground of insanity, as Wood should be taken care of in any event.

"When first called into the case we took the precaution to have Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, Plainfield's city physician, to accompany us to the city prison in New York and there thoroughly examine Wood, mentally and physically, to see if there was anything in his condition that might explain his actions. After a careful examination, Dr. Lufburrow pronounced Wood's case one of insanity, but of an unusual type. After Dr. Lufburrow's opinion was given us, we knew we had a most novel and unique defense to establish in order to save Wood from the gallows, and at once started to build up a defense along the lines shown at the trial. In this we were most fortunate in having the evidence of Theodore Murray, a New York reporter, who took Wood to Dr. Ball and also the evidence of Dr. Ball, given as a consequence of his examination of Wood, February 3, the day after the shooting. His evidence was of vital importance.

"The alienists, Doctors Steinach, Wilgus, Parker and Wise, who assisted us were men of eminence, integrity and remarkable ability, and they proved to us that we had made no mistake in the theory we had adopted for our defense. Dr. Wise, alone, having had over fifty thousand insane patients under his personal supervision during his thirty-five years of practice.

"From the beginning we were convinced that the State could prove no motive, as the men were total strangers and no robbery committed, as appeared from the evidence adduced at the coroner's inquest.

"At the trial we had our case well in hand and when the offer to plead to murder in the second degree was made to us by the State, we told the Prosecutor that we would submit the question to our client and his family, which was done in the evening and they were given until morning to consider it. Wood still protested his innocence and his utter inability to recall anything during the week in which the tragedy occurred, although he had heard the testimony of all the witnesses, including his grandmother, in whom he has implicit confidence. With tears in his eyes he stated to us that he would leave to his wife to determine whether he should swing from the gallows or make the plea offered and suffer the penalty. It was explained to him that such a plea would not be confessing that he was morally guilty but only a form which would satisfy the law."

Case Postponed.

The case of James Trimmer against George Conover, on contract, in Justice Hand's court, has been postponed until June 2. L. A. Clement is the plaintiff's lawyer and Codington & Swackhamer are the defendant's counsel.

WASHINGTON LETTER

EX-SENATOR CHANDLER A WAGGISH STATESMAN.

ROOSEVELTS LIVE IN OPEN

Late Senator Hanna Originated the Al Fresco Breakfast—McKinley Fond of Taking Morning Meal on Veranda.

WASHINGTON.—There are few public men who get more fun out of life as they go along than does ex-Senator "Bill" Chandler of New Hampshire, for some years past the head of the Spanish Claims Commission. No public question of any kind arises that does not interest Chandler, and on which he does not have his say in one form or another, and to which he does not usually contribute illuminating thoughts and good advice. On the other hand, there is hardly a popular subject which does not afford Chandler a vehicle for his well known wit and satire.

The ex-Senator has been having a lot of fun recently with candidates for the presidential nomination in 1908. He first sat down and wrote a letter to Vice President Fairbanks in which he praised the latter's ability as a statesman, expressed admiration for his conservatism, predicted great popularity for him as a candidate, and wound up by saying that he, Fairbanks, was the ideal candidate for the presidency in 1908. In a minute hand Chandler added a postscript to the effect that he had written a similar letter to Secretary Taft, Secretary Shaw, Postmaster-General Cortelyou and Senator Foraker. Mr. Fairbanks did not at first notice this postcript, and he sat down and wrote a very appreciative reply to Mr. Chandler, thanking him for the expressions of confidence he had uttered, and saying that there was no warrant for the public use of his name in connection with the presidential nomination, but he was very grateful to Mr. Chandler for the latter's proferred support.

The waggish statesman did write similar letters to all the other candidates, but attached the qualifying postscript, and they all appreciated the humor, as did Mr. Fairbanks when his attention was called to the little joker. Secretary Shaw cut the postscript off his letter and sent word to Chandler he was going to use the latter in his campaign, and exploit the New Hampshire man as the original Shaw man.

Senator Chandler Kept Things Lively.

IT is said there is a prospect that Mr. Chandler may again be senator from New Hampshire. He would be welcomed back in the senate, where he was one of the liveliest members of that rather sombre body. He was a good deal like a wasp, stinging this one and that, and raising a commotion generally. Mr. Chandler wearied sometimes of the dullness of the senate, and he would purposely start a turmoil, in order to liven things up. On a particularly dull day, Chandler would nervously twist about in his chair, glance up at the press gallery, and, if he noticed some of his newspaper friends there, would give them a glance, as much as to say, "look out for some fun."

Then the Senator would inject himself into the debate, no matter what it was, and he was invariably able to stir up the opposition and precipitate a vitriolic controversy. It did not matter what subject was under discussion, Chandler could always use it as an excuse for saying something that would stir up the democrats. When Senator "Ben" Tillman first came to the senate he was Chandler's particular victim. Tillman did not understand Chandler, and looked upon the latter as possessing all the narrowness and partisanship that the southerners had been led to believe characterized New Englanders. It was the rule, therefore, when Chandler prodded the democrats that Tillman would respond and get quite excited. The South Carolinian would get red in the face, and denounce various policies that Chandler and northerners stood for, and before the excitement was over half a dozen senators would be mixed up, and some pretty tart repartee would be indulged.

After getting things moving along to his satisfaction and having set a number of his colleagues by the ears, Chandler would quietly slip from the chamber, chuckling over the row he had precipitated.

Out Door Breakfasts at White House.

NOW that the warm, balmy spring weather has set in, the president and his family are enjoying their meals al fresco. As a rule, they take their breakfast in the open air, and unless entertaining a large number of friends, their other meals are partaken of in the same manner. The large, commodious portico on the south side of the white house is admirably adapted for these open air meals. Awnings protect the table from the glare of the sun, but the breezes blow across the portico while the songs of the birds in the trees that shade the mansion and the scent of the flowers from the white house lawn add to the pleasure of the repast.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt often have a number of friends to breakfast on the south portico of the white house. Occasionally luncheon is served completely out of doors, but that is purely a family affair, and is largely in the nature of a picnic on the green lawn. The president is also very fond, after a tiresome day's work in the executive offices, and a vigorous ride or walk through the suburbs, of sitting down to dinner on this broad porch, where the breezes, sweeping up the Potomac, make the atmosphere delicious and cool, while the picture stretches of the white house grounds before him, framed by the green hills of Maryland and Virginia, with the placid Potomac and the green and the Mall immediately in front of him, affords him the deepest pleasure. These out-of-door dinners are lingered over with great satisfaction, and the guests often sit there smoking and chatting until the twilight fades into the night.

Mrs. Roosevelt often has 5 o'clock tea served on this veranda, a custom that has come down from the time of Dolly Madison.

Informality at the Capital.

THE late Senator Hanna, of Ohio, was the originator of the al fresco breakfast. During the latter days of the McKinley regime, the Ohio senator occupied the Don Cameron house, diagonally across Lafayette square from the white house, attached to which is a spacious garden filled with flowers and shade trees. It was Senator Hanna's custom to have his breakfast table set on a veranda just off this garden, a spot embowered with wisteria, honeysuckles and climbing roses. President McKinley and a number of Senator Hanna's friends in the cabinet and in the senate had standing invitations to come over to his house and take breakfast. The senator had an old colored cook in his employ who was a veritable queen of the kitchen. She made a corn beef hash that became famous throughout official and diplomatic circles. Nothing like this toothsome dish had ever appeared on a Washington table. Its fame spread far and wide, and Senator Hanna never lacked for guests.

Two or three times a week President McKinley would walk over to Hanna's house, and in the bracing spring air, amid the flowers, listening to the music of the birds and reveling in the celebrated hash, the late president would throw off the cares of office and thoroughly enjoy himself. President Roosevelt also tasted this celebrated dish, and insisted on obtaining the recipe from Senator Hanna, and since then cornbeef hash, a la Hanna, has been a standard breakfast dish at the white house. Mr. Roosevelt is a hearty eater, and desires plain, substantial food. In the spring of the year he wants fresh garden vegetables, and is very fond of the fresh Potomac shad, which he has broiled with a little of the roe. With the fish he eats a salad of water cress, fresh picked, which he dresses himself with a sprinkling of white pepper, a touch of salt and some oil and vinegar. At breakfast he drinks a generous cup of coffee, which the white house chef makes to perfection.

To Extend American Trade.

FROM the number of reports written upon the subject, one would suppose that American exporters long ere this had learned the lesson of how to extend their trade, and how best to show off their goods in a foreign market. For years past American consuls abroad have written reports and given advice upon this subject, and warned American shippers to foreign ports that they must conform to the business methods of the countries where they expect to sell their goods. All this agitation, however, has not made the American shipper as wise as he should be.

In a recent report from United States Consul McNally, in Belgium, some very appropriate hints are given as to how to increase American foreign trade. He says that American manufacturers contemplating an entrance into foreign markets must show their products possess the merit claimed for them, and must meet the traditional trade customs, especially in the all important matter of credit. Buyers abroad desire to see the goods before paying for them, and as this right is freely accorded them by the manufacturers of other countries, they cannot understand why American manufacturers do not follow the same policy. In many cities of Europe the retail dealer extends to his customers a credit of six months or a year, and manufacturers of the larger European countries sell goods on any terms to suit the retail buyer. The consul expresses the opinion that when American manufacturers meet those of other countries in open competition, both in the quality of the goods and in the terms of credit, the markets will be theirs.

FICKLE DAME FASHION.

"Everything Goes" Appears to Be the Present Modistic Watchword.

It would be a wise fashion writer who could say with authority that this or that will be the vogue for the season now so close at hand, for everything worn from the days of the fig leaf to this hour is seen, modified, of course, to meet the cultivated taste of the woman of today, who is nothing if not eclectic. "Everything goes," and we see things properly belonging to widely different epochs mingled into one harmonious whole and that whole looking as if it had borrowed nothing from the brave days of old.

The full circular skirt is seen on the figures in the best stores side by side with the skirt which fits as closely by means of its tucks and shirrings as the habit skirt of a few seasons ago. Some look best in one kind and some in the other, and it is a wise woman who knows her own shortcomings and skillfully hides them by the skirt she wears.

All the lovely soft stuffs are in strong evidence, from the filmy silk chiffon to the flexible and beautiful voiles of all wool, of half wool and half silk. The liberty silks and satins make up into exceedingly pretty gowns for all sorts of occasions. The quantities of lace put upon them passes belief, and the flounces and ruffles are legion and fully as graceful and dainty as they are numerous. I saw some very beautiful dresses destined for summer wear. They were of the softest and most elegant light pastel shades—green, pale and frosty; champagne, drab, beige, cadet blue, and others where there were two colors so interwoven that the fabric became iridescent, one in particular, a dove color shading from purple to metallic blue. These gowns are all made with drop skirts, and the underskirt always is arranged with a view to carrying out the general color scheme.

Shirring Galore.

Much shirring and many yards of lace are put on these dresses, nearly all of which have elbow sleeves. The edges are finished off with several lace ruffles. With these sleeves are worn the long gloves, which are now coming forward after a long period of obscurity. A few have the sleeves of the material short, but have long, snug forearm pieces which reach quite to the back of the hand, and these are always of lace, generally the heavy Irish crochet, which has obtained a new lease of life. The majority of sleeves on the newest costumes, even those of cloth, are very ornamental and very clumsy, especially those intended for street wear. They are full and have deep cuffs, very much shirred and trimmed with fancy braids, in addition to which there is some lace.

The cloth suits nearly all now have some form of a vest front. This is handsomely garnished with all the fine and rich material one can get on. Most of the lighter materials are made up with much drapery across the front, sometimes in surplice style and again in cross gathers and folds. While the drooping blouse effect has not entirely gone from our gaze like an unpleasant dream, the waists of that style do not hang down so far and often are drawn quite close to the figure. The girdles and fancy belts help to give the pointed effect without the shapeless fullness.

Heavily raised embroidery is considered the height of style for wash waists, though many are made with the old fashioned eyelet embroidery. Among the accessories shown me recently were yoke capes and berthas of silk, mull, batiste and fine linen all with eyelet work. Incidentally I might mention some beautiful small capes of black net entirely covered with black spangles and some with black and steel ones. These are to wear over the pretty thin gowns and are certainly beautiful. Parasols are things of delicate beauty, of soft silks and chiffons, dainty and light, and trimmed with bows of ribbon and in some cases flowers and ruffles.

Silks will be the great rage for outdoor dresses and suits, generally in a fine and close quality of taffeta, sometimes slightly changeable. They are overwhelmed with lace and flounces. Coats long, short and half length will be worn to match.

Coats of every kind of pongee are already seen. A very stylish one had the skirt made circular and reaching just below the knees, while the waist was bloused in slightly. The sleeves had plaited caps about halfway to the elbows and below a monstrously full bishop shape with deep stitched cuffs. The coat itself was neat and comfortable, but the clumsy sleeves destroyed its beauty. Still all the women admired it greatly. It was unlined.

Notable Women

Plucky Explorers and Travelers of the Feminine Sex

Miss Martha Craig, a brilliant and brave young woman, has made remarkable explorations in lands of which little is known. Two years ago she returned from a journey of 500 miles in a canoe in Canada. She made the journey alone with two Indian guides, whom she trusted perfectly and who, perhaps for that reason, were as faithful as two guardian angels.

Miss Craig penetrated far into the Canadian wilderness, where few white persons ever venture. She was rewarded by a series of thrilling adventures and intensely interesting information in regard to Indians yet uncontaminated by the influence of the white man. She declares she found these "savages" in some respects better real Christians than the average civilized man is. Investigations among the Ojibways show that they, too, have traditions of a great deliverer and redeemer who descended from heaven as a man to save the earth's people from being destroyed by their own wickedness. The Indian savior had, however, a wife, the divine woman, who came from heaven with him. His name was Mitchiwabun.

Last summer Miss Craig went to Labrador, obtaining many photographs and taking notes of the wild scenery and sparse life there. Returning, she came near going down in a shipwreck. This plucky and gifted woman has some original ideas. For one thing, she says the masculine sex is stupefying itself with tobacco and meat.

Jessie Ackerman.

The champion woman traveler of the world is Miss Jessie Ackerman, missionary, explorer and lecturer. She has been all around the globe six times, has lived among cannibals and visited the king of the Ainos, the aborigines of Japan.

The little Ainos interested the woman traveler as much as any people she saw. Specimens of this strange race were on exhibition at the St. Louis fair. Their bodies are covered with a growth of hair like that on an animal, which gives the small people an uncanny look. The women have blue mustaches tattooed upon their upper lips. When an Aino girl is married a bar is tattooed across her forehead and another around her wrist, perhaps so she can never pass herself off for single.

Fifty Years a Teacher.

There lately retired from public school No. 21, Brooklyn, its principal, Miss Kate E. McWilliams, after fifty years' active service as a teacher. She had been a principal forty-eight years, which is said to be the lengthiest record of any American at least in such capacity.

Miss McWilliams has a rare, sweet face which bears little mark of age. A teacher who has been acquainted with her many years says of her: "She was the loveliest woman I have ever known. Miss McWilliams had a remarkable power of discipline and maintaining order in a school, that, too, by her simple word and presence."

She retires on a pension of $1,250 a year, half her salary as principal.

Miss Gill's Opinion.

Miss Laura Drake Gill, A. M., is dean of Barnard college, the woman's branch of Columbia university. Besides being an American college graduate she also studied at the universities of Leipsic and Geneva and at the Sorbonne, Paris. Dean Gill in a recent address declared it is not college women who seek divorce from their husbands. Thoroughly disciplined mentally, the college bred girl looks on marriage as a "serious chance for service." At the same time college women demand a high standard in man. "The world needs a propaganda of work," says Dean Gill.

Mrs. Ella Hamilton Durley.

The editor in chief of the Chicago woman's daily, the Review, has had ample newspaper training and has, besides, ideas original with herself. For one thing Mrs. Ella Hamilton Durley declares herself unalterably opposed to making a newspaper a criminal calendar. She is for printing "all the news that is good news." Mrs. Durley went from Iowa to Chicago. She was formerly editor of a department on a Des Moines paper.

OCEAN YACHT RACE

VARIOUS CRAFT ENGAGED IN CONTEST FOR KAISER'S CUP.

COTHAM'S MANY INTERESTS

Polish Artists in America—New York an All-Night City—Gas Trust Lies Heavy Upon Tammany's Shoulders.

NEW YORK.—The German emperor's yacht race rushes the season, which for such sports usually begins on Decoration day. The kaiser is never caught napping behind the procession.

There has been intense interest in the yachts that are to compete—almost as much as in the question whether Nan Patterson did or did not kill Caesar Young. All the sharps agree that the kaiser has devised a contest of real interest, free from flummery and red tape. Free, too, from the exclusive management of the New York Yacht club, which has to some extent "queered" recent contests for the America's cup.

It is an ocean race; that lets out the mug-hunting racing machines. Nothing is likely to cross the water that is not fairly fit to cross. The six yachts upon which interest has centered are cruisers, "wholesome" boats. The fact that most of them are auxiliaries is significant of the rapid advance of the age of machinery. Any schooner may compete. All that is required is that an auxiliary shall leave her screw ashore. She can carry coal and make steam on the voyage, if she will; but the steam must be used only for setting sail; for winches, not propulsion. Without mechanical aid it would take a crew of perhaps 60 crack sailors to handle the enormous sails of the racers. Even then a storm might be very dangerous, with a mass of canvas to be brought in. Winches make lighter labor. Compare that with the cup-racing craft. Years ago it was required that the challenger for the America's cup should come over under her own sail. Of late both contestants have been mere shells, vast and cavernous within their unfinished hulls. They were not boats at all. The contesting schooners are ships of speed, but of comfort, also.

A long race is perhaps a less valuable test of speed than of seamanlike qualities. The schooners may be out of sight of each other most of the way and meet quite different weather conditions. But it is one task of a good captain to hunt his own weather.

The "German" Visitor.

THE race is not so very "international." The one German craft contesting, the "Hamburg," was built in Glasgow, and is entered by the Hamburgischer Verein Seefahrt of 200 members. The "Verein" is a hastily formed body of men, each of whom puts up a small subscription in the interest of sport and patriotism. The earl of Crawford enters the "Valhalla." He has the asthma a good deal and gets relief by cruising. You might think it odd to go to the damp sea to shake off asthma; but it works, if you sleep on deck. There is no dust. The Valhalla is a beautiful yacht, stiff and storm-loving. The earl has 60 sailors who have sailed five years with him. Then there is the "Sunbeam," the most famous name an English yacht can bear. Lord and Lady Brassey have always had a Sunbeam, though it has not always been the same boat; and Lady Brassey has written the "Log of the Sunbeam" to the glory of yachting and the pleasure of lovers of the sea.

When the first race for the America's cup took place 50 years ago off the Isle of Wight there was every sort of craft, including tiny sloops and one three-master schooner. There is a three-master in this race, too, the "America," of this city. Now it has not generally been supposed that multiplying masts increases speed. A sloop is faster than a schooner of her inches. What the extra masts do is to make setting sail easier. An eight-masted schooner need carry a crew of only 14 men to handle 5,000 tons of coal from Baltimore to Boston. There is much curiosity as to the performance of the America. Will her three masts advantage or handicap her? She is a huge craft, 189 feet long. I do not suppose that a sloop of such dimensions is workable. Her sail would have to be half an inch thick and almost beyond human power to stretch. The Thistle is another creditable American production.

The Modjeska Benefit.

THE witchery of the Polish character shines in Modjeska, who was the recipient of a rarely equaled benefit performance of stage people. I well remember her first appearances in this country, the irresistible titter that went around the audience when she said, passionately: 'You haf taught me how to loaf." Eugene Field wrote for her "Modjeska as Cameel." Admiring her acting, he also printed in the Denver Tribune that beautiful poem of the shell upon the mountain height singing of the sea—a poem fit to be named with Dr. Holmes "Chambered Nautilus"—with Modjeska's signature. That was his modest conception of a joke, to sign another's name to verses Keats would have been glad to write. Modjeska's Rosalind was captivating. That with her never perfect English accent she could so impersonate the heroines of the great English dramatist was proof enough of the fervor of her art.

The farm experiments in California of M. Bozenta Chlapowski, her husband, turned out badly. There they hoped to found a kind of Brook Farm for Polish exiles. Sienkewicz, author of "Quo Vadis," worked there for a little time just as Paderewski played for the Modjeska's when he was an unknown lad and was by them encouraged to persevere. Paderewski was to have played his soul out at the benefit, and was sorrow-smitten that his tour was interrupted. They say that what wrecked his nerves was a performance in Kansas City, when the piano was interrupted by a chimney falling down just outside, by a baby crying in the upper gallery, by a mother spanking her boy near by, and a few other ontoward interruptions.

Mme. Januaschek was ten years Modjeska's predecessor. They were very different. Modjeska is charm; Janauschek was power.

The "All-Night Bank."

THE "All-Night bank" is not a joke or an invention of out-of-town correspondents. There is to be such a bank, the first in the world, I imagine. The plans for the building have been drawn and filed with the building department, and it is to cost $350,000. The official title is to be "The First Day and Night State Bank" of New York.

The bank will stand at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street. A rather notable neighborhood it is to one who knows the local geography. Across the avenue to the west is Sherry's fashionable restaurant. Across the street, north, is Delmonico's ditto. Diagonally across is a new hotel. A little farther up is the St. Regis. Just east of Delmonico's is Canfield's gaming house of fame, now closed. Opposite Sherry's are the New York Yacht club and a half dozen other famous clubs. Forty-fourth is the most notable of all the cross streets.

But what does it need of an all-night bank? Curiously, the need is mainly one of legitimate business. A man whose check is not good next morning can hardly get into the gambling games thereabouts, either in the "hells" or in the "private parlors" of some of the hotels. But a vast amount of money is taken after three o'clock in the hotels, theaters and restaurants within two minutes' walk of the corner; and it will be a convenience to be able to put that money in the bank at once. Small tradesmen, also, will make use of it. That is not to say that it will not meet a "long felt want" among gamesters, also. But not among them alone.

The Gas Situation.

THERE is big politics in the gas fight. Until now the Standard Oil combination that controls gas and electricity in this city has been the chief standby of Tammany Hall. The "Hall" has protected it, profited by it and taken stock market tips from it, not always successfully. When Tammany and republican legislators passed in Albany last winter an immensely valuable bill for the gas trust, Tammany men freely bought gas stock in the market on the "tip" that both the mayor and the governor would sign the bill. The mayor did; the governor did not, and some of the stock gamblers got their fingers pinched.

This year the republicans followed up their advantage by mercilessly exposing through an investigation the stock watering sins of the trust and the fact that most of the franchises under which it works have expired. As the trust's capital is about six times the value of its works, and as the stock has to be "supported" at about 200, that is rather disquieting. But there is a considerable republican element that favors the gas people. It may be put roughly that the Platt republicans side with the Tammany democrats in favor of the gas trust, which is making 60 per cent. a year profit upon the actual investment and "soaking" customers in the familiar fashion. The Odell republicans oppose the trust, Gov. Higgins' acting with them. Their plan was to pass a bill reducing the price of gas to 75 cents and name a state gas commission, like the excellent one in Massachusetts. The trustees' first line of defense is the legislature; the second is the lobby; the third is the courts, where they can tie up matters for some years by litigation. The magnitude of the problem may be imagined from the fact that the market valuation of the gas securities is greater than the entire public debt of the city.

In many other respects Tammany just now occupies rather a favorable political position. Its mayor is personally clean, able and popular. But the gas trust is an old-man-of-the-sea upon its shoulders.

"BRACE UP," SAID SCHWAB.

Shipbuilder Gives Young Rockefeller a Greeting in Europe.

NEW YORK, May 20.—"You want to brace up, John. Have a good time. Let other people save their own souls for a time."

This greeting, accompanied by a hearty slap on the back, was made by Charles M. Schwab upon meeting John D. Rockefeller, Jr., while abroad, according to friends of the former who met him upon his arrival on the big White Star steamship Baltic. The pale face of the son of America's wealthiest man caused Mr. Schwab to advise him to abandon his hard work for a time and seek more recreation.

It was said that Mr. Schwab had been greatly shocked by young Mr. Rockefeller's changed appearance. The latter returned from abroad recently and looked thinner and paler than he did when he first went away. It was this that caused Mr. Schwab to proffer the young millionaire the advice to "brace up," which, while made in a jovial manner, was really full of meaning from Mr. Schwab's point of view.

The rumor that Mr. Schwab had failed to get the order from the Russian government to rehabilitate their navy would not be discussed by him.

END OF STRIKE IN VIEW.

President Shea Trying to Secure Good Terms For Teamsters.

CHICAGO, May 20.—All the indications point to the end of the teamsters' strike within a short time, it being so predicted by both employers and labor leaders. President Shea of the Teamsters' union last night met Attorney Mayer, who has full authority to settle the strike for the Employers' association, at the Auditorium annex.

Shea and Mayer refused to state what matters were under consideration, but from other sources it was learned that President Shea was making an effort to secure the best terms possible for his men before consenting to recommend that the strike be called off. After the meeting Shea reported directly to the teamsters' joint council, which met at the union headquarters.

The sole power of calling off the strike rests with this body, and it was freely predicted on all sides during the early part of the night that it would at some time today announce that the end had come.

SPORTING NEWS

DIAMOND DUST.

The Lindaman that pitched for Jersey City on Wednesday against Montreal is not Ernest Linderman, formerly of Hoboken.

If Ernest Linderman had used half the energy to clear himself and make it possible for him to pitch here, that Manager Daab did, he would probably be pitching for Philadelphia today.

In the first of a series of five games arranged for the season, and played Wednesday at Trenton, the Westfield team was defeated by the Trenton Y. M. C. A. nine, by a score of 4 to 3.

Don't fail to see the Philadelphia Giants play today. Monroe, the funny man, with his fast team-mates, will be on hand in full force, and will do all that is possible to win. Every fan that goes to the oval today is assured of seeing a first-class article of ball.

These baseball games of local interest are scheduled for today:

Plainfield vs. Philadelphia Giants, Crescent Oval, 3:30.

Leal's vs. Somerville High School.

New Market vs. Clinton Avenue, at New Market.

Westfield vs. Cranford at Westfield.

Manager Daab was in town Thursday looking over matters of interest to the Plainfield Baseball Association. He found no change in the opinion regarding the Westfield controversy, the local fans still supporting the local management in its position. Mr. Daab says that he will give fandom an opportunity soon to see "Willie" Deegan pitch. He expects to use Beck today and believes that he will make good.

BASKET BALL.

Encouraged by their good showing against the Business Men in the first game they ever played, the cops have taken steps to organize a permanent basketball team. Jack Kelly is getting the combination together. He doesn't expect to do much this season, but will make strong effort to put a fast team in the game next fall.

TENNIS.

An event of unusual interest in tennis will be the three-days' tournament to be held at the Plainfield Country Club on May 27, 29 and 30, under the auspices of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association. The entry list is sure to be quite large and the play is sure to attract a large gallery of spectators. The play on Saturday and Monday will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and on Decoration Day it will start at 10 o'clock in the morning. It is understood that already there are indications that a number of the best tennis players in the association will compete and this is the first tournament this season under the direction of the association it is sure to be one of importance to all tennis players. Cups will be offered as prizes by the association.

ON THE TRACK.

The Plainfield Driving and Riding will hold a matinee race meet at the driving park on Fourth of July afternoon.

P. H. S.'S EASY VICTORY.

Rutgers Preps No Match in Baseball.

Although the Rutgers Prep. boys played much better than in the last game with Plainfield High School, they came far from making the score interesting in the contest with the local High School yesterday. The Plainfielders won the game mainly through Smith's masterly pitching, sixteen Prep. boys failing to connect with his curves. With men on base the Plainfielders hit hard and safe, Craig showing especial skill in the bunting game.

The P. H. S. team line up: Smith, p; Davis, c; Doane, 1b; Thompson, 2b; Conway, 3b; Craig, ss; S. Freeman, lf; Brakeley, cf; Rugen and H. Freeman, rf.

THRONGS AT THE CARNIVAL

Biggest of All the Crowds Jammed the Midway.

LOTS OF SPENDING

Pleasure-Seekers Try Hard to Get Rid of All Their Money—Cheers and Speeches Ends the Affair.

The biggest crowd that has ever assembled at any one event in Plainfield gathered for the close of the carnival Saturday night. The attendance was so near 15,000 that the management was justified in putting it at that figure. From 8:30 o'clock until after 11 the crowd on the midway was so thick that a stroll around the grounds involved a series of bumps from elbow to elbow.

But the marked feature of the crowd was not its size. Its one prominent feature was a spirit of eagerness in spending. Everybody seemed to be in a hurry to get all over at once, and leave as much money behind as possible. The barkers and ticket sellers caught the reflex of the spirit and played on it with an enthusiasm that was actually feverish.

Prominent among the workers were G. O. Stevens, C. T. Elliott, Robert A. Meeker, Jr., J. B. Dumont, Jr., F. W. Butler, S. P. T. Wilbar, Andrew McCardell, A. A. Cannon, A. E. Kenney, H. C. VanEmburgh, Ralph Willis, Edward Hobbie, John Fritts, T. M. Muir, John H. Cose, G. B. Cose, Henry Barlow, Walter Morton, Councilman William Starr Bullock, M. J. Dumont, Carroll Runyon, Dudley Ferguson, Harold Millar.

A few minute after 11 o'clock City Judge Runyon announced the names of those who had secured the various things offered for the benefit of the hospital. The announcements were made from the center of "Midway Circle."

Howard Freeman, fifteen years old, son of Walter Freeman, of South avenue, got the $1,000 automobile. G. F. Opdyke and T. Smith, both of this city, secured the two bicycles.

Freeman is a high school boy and as soon as the judge has finished the announcements someone suggested that he might be found at the Casino where the senior class was holding a dance, after a dramatic performance. George Macintyre hitched the gasolene up and with Judge Runyon in the back seat whizzed down to the Casino, where Howard was found. The auto and its dazed young owner made a trumphal tour of the grounds, followed by a "Well, what do you think of that!" crowd all the way. Somebody asked Howard if he was going to take the bubble to school with him.

"Yes sir, I think I will," he answered politely. Then he came to himself for a brief interval. "Gee!" he said confidentially to Macintyre, "I don't know what I'll do with the darn thing." He looked as scared as if a short-tempered teacher had caught him putting a tack on his seat.

The rivalry of the Elks and the Knights of Columbus over the piano and piano-player offered for the most popular lodge developed into a whirlwind of ballots. The tally went into a full-fledged fit in the last few minutes before 11, when W. F. Williams dumped 340, W. A. Coddington 428 and Edward Van Buren 100 ballots for the Elks. They took the music machine 1,881 to 768. The winners cast over 1,400 votes between 9 o'clock and 11. It was figured that the little contest resulted in a gain of something like $700 for the hospital.

In the other contests the only warmth of rivalry that showed was between Hose Companies No. 3 and 1 for the clock, and the former won.

John Hines captured the barrel of flour offered to the postman. Partick McGuire got the motormen's five-dollar gold piece, and the half-eagle for the conductors went to J. Lindaburg. Maurice Higgins got the ton of coal offered to the cops. Centerfielder Cosgrove will get the dress suit case as the most popular ball tosser.

Sergeant A. I. Littell, Company K's crack shot, won in the shoot-off of the rifle range contestants. He shot 725 out of a possible 750. C. W. Leonard shot second with a score of 709. Mc Carthy scored 705 and Rushmore 695. Littell made the best individual score all through, making 247 out of a possible 250 in the preliminary shooting. He chose the silver vase for first prize. Dr. Leonard got an umbrella.

High School boys were in charge of the attractions at the last matinee, Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance, in spite the sporting event. The workers on duty included the following students:

CHURCH A LIGHTHOUSE

So Says Bishop Vincent to Local Methodists.

AT THE FIRST M. E.

Overflowing Congregation Listens to Eloquent Prelate of Methodism—Tells of Future Church.

Bishop John H. Vincent, LL. D., occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church, yesterday, and preached an eloquent sermon on the future of the church. The edifice was thronged with friends of the bishop, who listened attentively to his discourse.

Bishop Vincent began by saying that the church is not Christ, neither is it a substitute for Him. It is a lighthouse to guide and help men to seek Christ. He predicted that the church of the future would be more enthusiastic, its members would not only devote their time to special seasons of prayer, but the entire year and everything else will be secondary. He believed that the church would be taken more seriously and that attendance would practically be compulsory.

The bishop also said that the church of the future would develope individual character, it would always be open and would be a school of the Word, there will be classes in Bible study and there will be a great deal of biographical study. Furthermore he believed that the church will reach after world conquest and will cultivate reverence for the Sabbath, the Bible, Sunday-school and sacred hymns. He urged all to love the church, the Bible, to study it and teach its truths to the children who are growing up. He believed it to be the duty of every Christian to make his or her church just as attractive as possible.

HOD-CARRIERS OBJECT TO NON-UNION MEN

AGREE TO OLD SCALE, BUT ASK DISCHARGE OF NEW MEN.

The Master Mason's Association met Saturday to consider the proposition of taking the striking hod-carriers back to work, they having agreed to return at the old scale of $2.50 per day. As a result of this concession the bosses now have another proposition before them, that is the disposition of the non-Union men who stood by them during the strike. They do not think it will be right to discharge these men, and it is a question whether the Hod-Carriers' Union will be willing to elect the non-Union members of its organization.

On the other hand it is not known yet whether the non-Union men want to join the Union. There will be a meeting of the Hod-Carriers' Union tonight when it is hoped that these questions will be amicably adjusted. It is the belief that the non-Union men will be taken into the Union and that there will be no further trouble.

PIZARRO PASSES CIDER TO A BOROUGH PRISONER

NOW HE IS IN THE TOILS AWAITING RECORDER DOUD'S DISPENSATION.

Caught red-handed in the act of passing a bottle of hard cider through the barred window of the borough jail to Gus Anderson, a prisoner, Anton Pizzaro, a Somerset street shoemaker, was arrested yesterday.

Whether he was passing the refreshment through out of the mere goodness of his heart or for its equivalent in cash makes no difference in the eyes of the law and Recorder Doud will pass judgment on Pizarro tonight.

Anderson has been rounding out a seven-day sentence in the cell and he was in a position where he could attract Pizzaro's attention, his shop being next door. The shoemaker had to get a box to stand on in order to reach the window and he was seen doing it by several boys. Special Marshal Peter Dooley was notified and he bounced around the corner just as Anderson clutched the precious bottle with a chortle of joy.

Day and Cochran Won.

The finals in men's doubles, at tennis, on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, resulted in T. M. Day, Jr., and H. J. Cochran, defeating F. W. Goddard and Owen H. Fleming, 6—2, 6—0, 6—2.

PRINCETON'S TEAM LOST

Plainfield Country Club Golfers Won on the Links.

SCORE WAS 15 TO 12

Result of Play for Cups on the Local Courses Saturday.

The Plainfield Country Club team won its second match of the season on Saturday by defeating a team from Princeton University by a score of 15 to 12. The match was very close throughout and at one time it looked as though the local players would lose. It was an ideal day for the game, with the exception of a heavy wind which swept the course during the early part of the day. Notwithstanding this there was a large field of golfers out to take part in the various events, and many remained in the evening for the dance at the clubhouse. This was the first of the series of dances to be held Saturday nights and they are sure to be popular among the members.

This was the result of the team match:

Plainfield Country Club—W. L. Glenney, 4; J. Whitney Baker, 5; Morris J. Dumont, 0; Henry D. Hibbard, 0; S. D. Lounsbery, 0; H. R. Stockton, 6. Total, 15.

Princeton—Dudley H. Barrows, 0; W. T. West, 0; Dumont, 3; Howard Gee, 3; Ralph Peters, 6; L. L. Tweedy, 0. Total, 12.

While there was a large entry list for the Golf Committee cup, weekly competition, very few posted their scores. Stuart H. Patterson and C. B. Morgan were tie for first place with a net score of 78, while Julius E. Erickson won the remaining point. The best scores posted were as follows:

Stuart H. Patterson, 98, 20—78; C. B. Morgan, 84, 6—78; Julius E. Erickson, 89, 10—79; Marvin D. Rae, 92, 11—81.

An unusual feature of the women's clock golf competition was that five contestants returned a score of 23 and each one will receive 1 1-5 point. The result of the play is as follows:

Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., 23; Miss Adelaide G. Ball, 23; Mrs. E. E. Ironmonger, 23; Miss Sarah Schuyler, 23; Miss Margaret Goddard, 23; Miss Harriet Goddard, 24; Miss Susan Wharton, 25; Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, 26; Miss Uhler, 29.

Owing to many other attractions the attendance at the Park Golf Club on Saturday was limited and only five contestants posted scores for the President's and Park Golf Club cups. John L. Watson, J. B. Betts and Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll won the points for the President's cup, while Charles A. Reed, J. L. Watson and Dr. Carroll on the points for the scratch trophy. These scores were posted:

John L. Watson, 117, 27—83; J. B. Betts, 119, 3—89; Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 118, 19—94; Charles A. Reed, 108, 12—96; Samuel Townsend, 121, 19—102.

The chief events at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday were a team match with the Westchester Golf Club and the final play, qualifying round for the June handicap, which begins on Saturday. Westfield lost the team match by a score of 16 to 6, Nassau system.

HUSBAND MISSING.

George Rowley May Have Been Killed in Railroad Wreck.

Mrs. E. Rowley, of Watchung avenue, was in Harrisburg on Saturday searching for information regarding her husband, George Rowley, who was on the express train which was wrecked on the Pennsylvania Railroad near that city, and who has not been heard of since he left New York.

One woman, a Swede, in the Harrisburg Hospital, recognized a photograph which Mrs. Rowley had. The woman said that the man was sitting in the seat opposite her in a Pullman car when the crash occurred.

After Delinquents.

After repeated promises on the part of a number of North Plainfield property owners for the last two months, Borough Delinquent Tax Collector W. W. Rowley gave them until Saturday to pay up. He will make a levy on personal property of all who are unpaid today.

The Woodside A. C. defeated the Jackson A. C. by the score of 16 to 6 on Saturday.

WORK ON THEATRE STARTS NEXT MONDAY

TITLE TO WASHINGTON HALL NOW HELD BY THE ELKS.

The deed for the Washington Hall property in West Second street, was passed on Saturday from the Rice Estate to Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., the conderation being $16,500. George F. Brown, real estate dealer, negotiated the deal as the representative of the Rice Estate.

W. J. Counihan, proprietor and manager for Plainfield's new theatre, was in town today and with his manager, Mr. Genett, held a conference with the contractors, relative to starting the work of alterations at Washington Hall next Monday. The building is to be remodelled at an expense of $15,000 and a handsome theatre will be installed on the first floor.

WOOD STARTS HIS THIRTY YEARS' TERM

MURDERER'S PARTING WITH WIFE AN AFFECTING SCENE.

George H. Wood, the murderer of George Williams, the Watchung grocer, who was taken to the New Jersey State prison this morning to serve a thirty-year sentence, was visited by his wife in the jail in Somerville, yesterday. Their parting was very affecting.

Wood says he is satisfied to be confined for the rest of his life if he is in danger of killing people when at large.

Wood says he is now convined that he killed Williams.

BOROUGH TAX DEPUTY ADOPTS RIGID MEASURES

LEVIES ON HOUSEEOLD GOODS FOR PERSONAL CLAIM.

Determined to enforce the payment of personal taxes, Deputy Collector W. W. Rowley, of the borough, has commenced drastic actions against borough delinquents. He took the initiative Saturday by levying on household furniture belonging to Peter Hansen, of Lincoln place, to satisfy a claim against him for $9.60, payment of which had been refused at the usual solicitations.

Deputy Rowley says he will proceed similarly against a large number of boroughites who allow their personal tax to drift along.

PLAINFIELDER'S SISTER DIES FROM A DRUG

CORONER INVESTIGATING MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF MISS SELTER.

After suffering eight days from the effects of some drug, Miss Amelia Selter, supposed to be wealthy and a sister of Andrew N. Selter, of this city, died in Roosevelt Hospital, New York, yesterday, according to an article published in this morning's New York World.

Miss Selter is said to have staggered into a drug store at Forty-second street and Eighth avenue, New York, on May 13, and dropped weakly into a chair.

"I have taken a drug in mistake for cough medicine," she said, according to the report. She was taken from the store to the hospital, where the doctors tried in vain to arouse her from the state of stupor into which she rapidly sank. They have not been able to discover what caused her death and the coroner will investigate it.

At a boarding house on West Fifty-seventh street a World reporter was told that Miss Selter had lived there for several years. She was said to be wealthy and knew many wealthy New Yorkers. It was added that she had a brother in Plainfield.

Andrew N. Selter, a cotton broker, lives at Truell Inn. He could not be found this morning by a reporter for The Daily Press.

GIANTS COULDN'T SLUG

P. B. A.'s New Pitcher Puts Kibosh on Colored Athletes.

SCORE, FOUR TO TWO

Daubsters Make a Killing in the Seventh and Clinch the Game—Chill and Silence.

Winter lingering in the lap of the baseball season handed out a chill and cheerless deal to the handworking brunette Giants from Philadelphia Saturday afternoon; it was ashivery weather to begin with, and the demeanor of Hon. William Beck, of Weehawken, who made his local debut as a flinger, was so cool and comfortless that Schlichter's Sluggers nearly froze to death at the plate. Thus: Plainfield, 4; Giants, 2.

Daub's leather-chasers were slightly affected by the drop in the mercury, but they restored their waning circulation in the seventh. They warmed up against some of Mosiah Foster's slants and continued the cultivation of caloric along the alleys. When the inning ended they were in a warm glow that lasted for the rest of the game.

Munny had Slick's bunch of bumpsters wondering all the time, and four measley biffs was the best they could do with the problem. He is said at once: he has the goods. He displayed a sizzling assortment of curves and twists, fast foolers and slow unsolveables. All under perfect control; he hit one man, but not a batsman was passed up.

Foster, the Giants' star boxman, held up his end with grace and aplomb for six anxious innings. Until the lucky seventh careened onto the stage only one Plainfielder reached first base. That was Rube Oldring. Rube took it quite as a matter of course when he punched one of the Foster whizzers far into left field in the first inning, after Cosgrove had flied out. Rube reached third strictly on his merits, and Monroe, charmed by his debonair demeanor, courteously allowed the relay to glide through him and the light-haired disciple of grace carromed in. Connoly and Oregan died easy.

In the second McClellan started things for his piyamates with a smash into left for two bases. He went on a peg when White flied out and landed at headquarters on Thompson's two-bagger. Thompson met death at second on Kiernan's quick handling of Bowman's grounder, Bowman roosting on first. Bowman was nailed by a peach throw from Pete Oregan in trying to stretch from second to third on Foster's single.

The luck of the seventh began with a quick delivery that buried itself in Oldring's appendicitis patch. He was the first man up and and the unctuous things that promised came quickly to pass. Connolly made a quick bunt at a drop as Rube started for second. He missed his shot, but Thompson couldn't connect with the ball and Rube went around to third. There was a howl from the whole brunette team because Merity gave symptoms of calling the shots a ball, and the game became a buzzfes for a few minutes. When hostilities were resumed Connolly slashed a two-lapper just to show that bunting was not the only graceful art he cultivated, and Rube registered. Oregan rapped a pretty one to right garden, shoving Connolly around a peg. He swiped second, and both of them hit the rubber on Leo-

JOHN VALIANT STRICKEN

Representative Borough Citizen Dies From Heart Failure.

FOUND BY HIS WIFE

Had Been Prominent in Local Religious Work for Many Years—Funeral Tomorrow.

Stricken suddenly with heart failure that had been sounding a warning for several days, John Valiant, one of North Plainfield's representative citizens, died suddenly at his home on Myrtle avenue early yesterday morning. His lifeless body was found on the floor of his bedroom at 6 o'clock by his wife, who chanced in. It was clad in a robe and from appearances he was about to go to the bath room when the end came.

Mr. Valiant had not been feeling well all last week and Saturday Mrs. Valiant induced him to remain away from business. He staid at the house all day and though he was troubled with pains about the heart, he was able to go about as usual. His ailment was not thought to be anything serious and the family was totally unprepared for its sudden termination.

Mr. Valiant was born at Baltimore, January 17, 1854, and came to Plainfield eighteen years ago, making his home in the borough. From the outset he showed himself to be a man with progressive ideas and he devoted the greater part of his spare time to the interests of the community. He was twice elected a member of the Common Council and for the past three years had been one of the most valued members of the Board of Education.

As an organizer and member of Grace M. E. church, its upbuilding was his constant thought and its growth in no small sense has been due to his efforts. Previous to the establishment of the church, he started a Sunday-school and conducted it regularly, afterward assuming the superintendency of this department when the church was fully organized. He retained it until two years ago.

He was interested in religious work otherwise and served on various committees at the Y. M. C. A. At the time of his death he was president of the Board of Trustees of Grace church.

Mr. Valiant had been in the grain commission business for many years, being connected with the firm of Mill, Mine, Bodman & Co. He was also a member of the Produce Exchange and was widely known in New York brokerage circles.

Surviving him are a widow and three children, Mrs. Charles Corning, of Baltimore; Miss Mary E. Valiant and John Valiant, of the borough. His mother and one brother, Joseph Valiant, are residents of Baltimore.

Funeral services will be held from his late home at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon with interment at Hillside cemetery. They will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Charles Wesley Parsons, of Grace church; Rev. Dr. W. C. Snedgrass, of Perth Amboy, former pastor of the First M. E. church, and Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll. The Borough Council and delegations from the Produce Exchange will be in attendance. The pall bearers are to be James F. Parker, of Grove street, representing the exchange; James R. Joy, from the Board of Education; Joseph W. Gavett, from the Y. M. C. A.; William H. Kemp, a business partner; James W. Jackson, of the First M. E. church and Elmer Winckler, from Grace church.

HUNT CLUB'S BIG RACES

Held at the Driving Park With 1,500 People Present.

THE VARIOUS EVENTS

Several Riders Thrown in Hurdle Jumping, But No Serious Accidents—Officials at the Meet.

Viewed by 1,500 people from this city and other places, the first annual race meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club, at the Driving Park, Saturday afternoon, was one of the most successful affairs of its kind yet taking place locally. The entry list was good, the races, clean cut and exciting and the sport was keenly enjoyed. There were seven events on the card, four steeplechase and three flat, the summary being as follows:

Farmers' race, for horses other than thoroughbreds working on farms and the bona fide property of farmers; purse $50—First, "Boy," Lester Tingley, Plainfield; second, "Baby," D. L. Darby, Fanwood; third, "Bailey," S. A. Sabacher, Rahway road; fourth, "Prince," F. A. Stever, Oak Tree.

Second race, for the Watchung cup, for hunters that have been hunted with the Watchung Hunt and to be ridden by members of that club, steeplechase over two miles; winner, "Red Light," H. A. Bourne, Westfield; all others disqualified for not going the course. In this race, Dr. M. O'M. Knott and W. Webster were thrown from their mounts but neither was hurt, although Webster had a very narrow escape.

Third race, hack or hunters, for three year olds or upwards, three quarters of a mile on the flat; purse $100—First, "Swamplands," Charles Pfizer, Gladstone; second, "Red Girl," W. deLa. R. Anderson, Plainfield; third, "Kildare," W. M. Dongan DePeyster, Gladstone. This was probably the most exciting race of the lot, "Swamplands" and "Red Girl" going a dead heat almost the entire distance and with the former only a few inches in the lead under the wire.

Fourth race, for the Middlesex cup, for thoroughbred hunters, two and a half miles over steeplechase course; first, "Cricket," Leonce Fuller, Gladstone; second, "Ninnette," Charles Pfizer, Gladstone; third, "Flick," Eads E. Schmidt, Morrisown; fourth, Rosebank," Louis Bathjer, Elizabeth.

Fifth race, for the Hillside cup, for hunters four years old, two miles over steeplechase course; first, "Silent Bliss," Charles Pfizer Gladstone; second, "Wild Geranium," Earl Milliken, Orange; third, "Adjuter," Singleton VanSchaick, Westchester. "Adjuter" lead in this race until the last stretch when his rider lost his balance and fell but fell, causing the horse to drop behind.

Sixth race, the Netherwood cup, for ponies 14 3 or under, half mile on the flat; first, "Red Flash," L. T. Martin, Cedarhurst; second, "Simper," Singleton VanSchaick, Westchester; third, "The Flea," Rockaway syndicate; fourth, "Lady Bess," Charles D. Freeman, Rahway. Charles W. McCutcheon's Arabian pony, "Massood" was a favorite but came in fifth.

Seventh race, the Oak Tree selling hurdle, for three year olds and upwards, one and a half miles; first, "Silver Twist," William H. Wildey, New York; second, "Sir Ellerslie," W. M. D. DePeyster, Gladstone; third, "Swamplands," Charles Pfizer, Gladstone; fourth, "Lorna Doone," Peter Hauck, Jr., Newark. Singleton VanSchaick, mounted on "Simper" was thrown in taking one of the hurdles and the horse fell on him. He was unable to rise from the track for a short time but afterward recovered sufficiently to walk unaided. He was examined by physicians who found him severely bruised but otherwise unhurt.

Following the races, the farmers over whose grounds the hunts of the Watchung Club have been conducted, were entertained at dinner served beneath the grandstand. It was largely attended and the guests were highly pleased with the treatment accorded them. There will be no further meet of the organization until September.

The officers of the club and the officials of the meet are as follows: Lewis E. Waring, president; Charles D. Freeman, vice president; Simeon A. Cruikshank, secretary; George E. Ring, treasurer; Dr. Middleton O'M. Knott, M. F. H.; George P. Mellick, steward; Harry A. Bourne, steward; stewards of the meeting, Charles J. Fisk, J. Wesley Johnson, George A. Beaton, Charles McCutcheon, Dr. E. VanD. Hedges, Frank DeL. Hyde, J. W. Peale; executive committee, Paul Taylor Brown, chairman; C. E. S. Bellows, A. R. Fisk, E. A. Shebbeare, Dr. M. O'M. Knott; judges, H. A. Fairbairn, Rene LaMontagne, S. Taber Willets; starter, F. M. Ware; clerk of the course, W. S. Bliss.

LITERARY.

The Popular Science Monthly for May includes the following articles: "Present Problems in Radioactivity," by Professor Ernest Rutherford; "The Harvard Medical School," by Dr. Frank Waldo; "Alpheus Spring Packard," by Professor A. D. Mead; "Organization in Scientific Research," by Professor William E. Ritter; "The Origin of Species Through Selection Contrasted With Their Origin Through the Appearance of Definite Variations," by Professor T. H. Morgan.

AMUSEMENTS.

Though the theatrical season is on the wane, "The Rollicking Girl" shows forth at the Herald Square to amazingly large audiences. Sam Bernard, who added to his great reputation, with Hattie Williams, in the "Girl From Kay's," is even better, if such a thing is possible, in this laughable production. The chorus is by far the best and prettiest that has been presented in the Metropolis this season. The one best show—"The Rollicking Girl" at the Herald Square, Thirty-fifth and Broadway. Evenings at 8:15. Matinee Saturdays.

Luna Park, Coney Island, is open and is doing its usual big business. In addition to the principal shows last season there are a number of marvellous productions that astonish and bewilder the crowds. Port Arthur is substituted for the Durbar and many other new attractions are offered. The esplanade has been widened and there is ample room for the masses which throng that walk by day and night. Don't neglect to patronize the restaurant. It's the finest on the Island.

Silk Flags for School.

The pupils of the Irving School have contributed money enough, each giving a small amount, to purchase two beautiful silk American flags. They are placed in front of the Assembly Hall of the building about the statute of William McKinley. The flags were purchased from Woodhull & Martin's, and are greatly admired.

In Justice Hand's Court.

ANOTHER MANIFESTO

Marquis Oyama Is Advancing His Whole Battle Line.

LINEVITCH READY AT GUNSHU PASS

St. Petersburg Explains Advance by Saying That Japanese Position Might Become Critical if Russia Could Rule on Sea.

LONDON, May 22. — Official dispatches from St. Petersburg say that the first step toward the institution of the long contemplated council of national defense to co-ordinate the activities of the military and naval administrations has been taken in an imperial manifesto creating a special preliminary commission under the presidency of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch.

The manifesto is preceded by a rescript which Emperor Nicholas has addressed to the grand duke, in which his majesty says:

"I have deemed it necessary to establish a permanent state defense council. I charge the special commission, consisting of members appointed by me, under the presidency of your imperial highness, to draw up according to my direct suggestion a law relating to this institution."

The existing council of war, which has proved unsatisfactory, will be superseded by the new body. The step is an extremely important one, for which the events of the war in the far east have shown the necessity. If Admiral Rojestvensky succeeds in reaching Vladivostok and shaking the Japanese mastery of the sea the council will play a very weighty role.

It is understood the formation of the new council means the definite abandonment of the plan of sending Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch to the far east to assume supreme command on land and sea. General Linevitch and Vice Admiral Birileff will be left unhampered except as to the grand outlines of strategy.

The commission investigating the surrender of Port Arthur has finished the first half of its labors. The investigation of the documentary evidence presented by General Stoessel in his own defense tended to show that the fortress at the outbreak of the war was nearly defenseless, without supplies or cash.

Special dispatches from Gunshu pass say that a general engagement is imminent. Field Marshal Oyama is deploying heavy forces against General Linevitch's left and is contracting his troops along the center, but his base is opposite the Russian right. It is not yet clear which wing is making a demonstration and which will deliver the main blow.

It is evident from General Linevitch's preparations that he intends to accept a decisive battle near this point.

St. Petersburg reports say that Field Marshal Oyama is on the eve of taking the offensive along his whole line, and no doubt is entertained here that General Linevitch will accept battle in his present positions. The general staff believes Oyama's advance was precipitated by the doubt regarding the issue of the coming naval battle. With an unbeaten army in front of him, Oyama's position might be critical if his communications with Japan were interrupted even temporarily.

A Saigon correspondent says that the entire Russian fleet after leaving Port Dayot made for the island of Hainan, where it anchored, taking on coal, and that on the night of May 19-20 a portion of the Russian fleet, comprising eleven ships, returned to the Anam coast, anchoring at Port Dayot, but outside territorial waters.

Will Not Kidnap His Majesty.

TOKYO, May 22.—It is officially announced that "the press report circulated in Europe about the removal by Japan of the Korean emperor to Japan has absolutely no foundation, such an idea having never occurred to the Japanese government. The report must be taken to be a malicious fabrication calculated to do mischief to Japan."

Japan will, it is said, establish a consulate at the Shangtung treaty port of Weihsien and push Japanese trade in the province of Shangtung.

Meyer Does Not Trust Them.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 22.—Ambassador Meyer's institution of a special messenger service to carry embassy dispatches to Berlin evokes sarcastic comment by the press of St. Petersburg. The Novosti says the new ambassador evidently puts slight faith in the government's postal service.

Russian Women Ask For Peace.

MOSCOW, May 22. — The national congress of women, in session here, adopted a resolution in favor of peace and the political enfranchisement of Russia.

Train Broke, Killing Two.

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 22.—Of three men who were stealing a ride on an Erie freight train two were instantly killed. The third, John Baily, aged fifty-five of Erie, Pa., is badly cut up and may die. The men were sitting together between two oil tank cars, and the train broke in two at that point, dropping them on the track. The dead are unidentified.

Was a Native of Booneville, N. Y.

MANKATO, Minn., May 22.—Judge Daniel Buck, formerly justice of the Minnesota supreme court, died here yesterday after a long illness. Judge Buck was born in Booneville, N. Y., in 1829 and came to Minnesota in 1857. He served several terms in the state legislature and was elected to the supreme bench in 1892.

WORLD RECORDS HIT

Louis Chevrolet Lowers Barney Oldfield's Colors.

MORRIS PARK AUTO TRACK OPENED

New Automobile Course First of Its Kind In America and Best of Its Kind In the World, as Speed of First Day Shows.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The new automobile track of the Morris Park Racing club at Morris park, the first of its kind in America and the best of its kind in the world, was opened with ten fast contests run on it without an accident, and, better still, two world's records were broken during the contests.

Barney Oldfield's mile track record of 53 seconds was broken in a splendid burst of speed by the French driver, Louis Chevrolet, who covered the distance in 52 4-5 seconds, driving a ninety horsepower machine. The steam car record of 57 seconds, made in Providence in 1904 by Louis S. Ross, was broken by Webb Jay in his 15-20 White car by four seconds.

At the start five determined drivers sent their machines flying away in the race against time. They were Barney Oldfield, Charles Basle, Louis Chevrolet, Webb Jay and Walter Christie. A murmur of applause arose as the daring drivers passed the grand stand. It grew into a note of alarm as they reached the far turn and went skidding around it at a sixty mile gait, emerging a moment later from the clouds of yellow dust to straighten out for a long stretch to the finish.

Until that turn was made not even the judges realized that two world's records were being broken. With a roar that could be heard a quarter of a mile away the machines, with Chevrolet's big F. I. A. T. in the lead, came tearing through the yellow lane and across the finish line. Webb Jay was a close second and Charles Basle third. The throng in the grand stand and field were too astonished to stir until Peter Prouty announced the time and the fact that two world's records had been broken, and then they broke loose in an old time cheer. Chevrolet had beaten the record by one and one-fifth seconds, his time being 52 4-5 seconds. Jay beat the steam record by four seconds.

DECISION IN CASTRO'S COURT.

Higher Tribunal at Caracas Annuls Hamilton Asphalt Contract.

CARACAS, May 22.—The president of the federal court of cassation, sitting as a tribunal of first instance in the case of the government of Venezuela against the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company re the Hamilton contract, dissolved the contract and ordered the company to pay damages.

William W. Niles, counsel for the Venezuelan government in the asphalt cases, said that the Hamilton contract evidently referred to a concession granted by Venezuela about twenty years ago to a man named Hamilton to mine asphalt and other minerals in Bermudez. Hamilton under the terms of the concession was to dredge certain streams. This part of the agreement, it was alleged, was not carried out.

Hamilton had turned over the concession to the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company. Mr. Niles said he supposed that damages had to be paid because Hamilton's agreement was not fulfilled.

Sensitive Boy Killed Himself.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 22.—George Walker, fifteen years old, committed suicide here because he was suspended from school and was afraid to have his father know it. His body has been found near Mountain Grove. A two ounce bottle partly filled with carbolic acid was lying near the body and also a note signed by the boy stating that he killed himself because if his parents had found out that he was suspended from school he would "get such a whipping that he never would forget."

KANSAS CITY, May 22. — W. F. The Whiting (Ind.) pipe line will be completed in a few days, and then we can handle all the oil produced west of the Mississippi river."

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 22.—Roumania insists upon reparation for the act of the vali of Yanina in arresting several Roumanian school inspectors in spite of the privileges conferred upon them by the porte. The Roumanian government declares that unless the demand for reparation is complied with relations with Turkey will be broken off.

PIRATE JUNK WENT DOWN.

New York Giants Too Many For Captain Clarke's Crew.

NEW YORK, May 22.—That pirate junk of Captain Fred Clarke's that has been tacking about at the Polo grounds of late went to the bottom with all its swarthy crew, but not until the Pirates had made a mettlesome and desperate fight against the boarding party led by John J. McGraw.

All hands got out their spare cutlasses, some of which they carried in their teeth, and everybody's pockets bulged with firearms like a small boy's jeans in the pippin season.

Between personal encounters and attacks en masse the Giants and the Pirates played a red hot baseball game, from which the champions finally emerged victorious by the score of 5 to 4—this after a hair raising battle.

Fully 20,000 rabid rooters, in whose breasts the baseball passions have been smoldering throughout the series of games with the Fauntleroy teams, awoke to the scrappy possibilities of the occasion and harried the umpire and lashed the visitors, especially Fred Clarke, with their tongues to their hearts' content.

New York Americans Shut Out.

DETROIT, Mich., May 22.—The crippled New York Baseball club was easily beaten by the locals. The batting, in which Cooley was the headliner, with Crawford and Chase as almost equal stars, was the feature of the game, with two marvelous stops by Coughlin and Chase. New York was shut out by a score of 6 to 0. There never was an instant when the visitors had a look in at the game, as only one New York player reached third, and that was Chase, who opened the second inning with a two base swat to left, which would have been an easy out had not McIntyre misjudged the ball.

Pigeon Shooting Doomed In England

LONDON, May 22. — The sport of pigeon shooting appears to be doomed in England. At its annual meeting on Saturday the Hurlingham club, which, although mainly concerned with polo, was originally started as a pigeon shooting club, by an overwhelming majority carried a resolution proposed by the president, Earl Ancaster, to henceforth abolish pigeon shooting at the club. Parliament attempted to deal with the question in 1883, but the house of lords vetoed the bill adopted by the house of commons prohibiting trap shooting on the ground of brutality.

Played All Around Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, May 22.—At Washington park the Chicago Nationals played all around the Brooklyns, who by getting in two runs in the ninth inning avoided a shutout, the final score being 11 to 2. Jones was batted out of the box in the first inning, and McIntyre, who replaced him, more than held his own until the seventh inning, when two hits and three errors gave the visitors four more runs. The fielding of the home team was very disjointed, while that of the visitors was just the opposite.

Chicago's Pitcher Did It.

CHICAGO, May 22.—Washington American's inability to hit Smith, who held them safe throughout the game, lost the second of the series to Chicago by the score of 2 to 1. A base on balls, a sacrifice hit and a single in the opening session gave Washington their only score. A one hand catch by Cassidy, a running catch by Hill and the good all round work of the Chicago team were features.

American Jockey Rode Winner.

PARIS, May 22.—The Prix de Diane (the French Oaks), for three-year-old fillies, purse $10,000, ranking next to the Grand Prix de Paris, was decided yesterday at Chantilly, Veil Picard's Clyde, ridden by the American jockey Cormack, winning by a head. The betting was 5 to 1 on Clyde. Edmund Blanc's Muckerry was the favorite, but was unplaced.

Boston Hit Sudhoff Hard.

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—Boston Americans won the second game of the series from St. Louis by hitting Sudhoff hard in the ninth inning. Score 3 to 2.

Newark Defeated at Home.

NEWARK, N. J., May 22. — New York's National league baseball champions defeated the Newark Eastern league team here by a score of 5 to 3.

Whitewashed Hoboken.

NEW YORK, May 22.—In an exhibition game at Hoboken the Pittsburg Nationals defeated the Hoboken team by a score of 7 to 0.

SHAW IN CLEVELAND

Secretary of Treasury Gives His Views on Tariff.

EXPECT NO FOREIGN DISCRIMINATION

The United States May Be Forced to Favor Those Countries That Favor Her and War on Those That Would Hinder Her Trade.

CLEVELAND, O., May 22.—At the chamber of commerce banquet following the ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the new federal building in Cleveland Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw spoke as follows:

"I cannot believe that any country seriously considers putting in operation a revision of tariffs imposing new and severe discriminations against the people of the United States. Such action would be most unfortunate from every point of view to both countries. Certain it is the United States has done nothing and will do nothing to invite such a course. If, however, at any time any country should do this—and I wish expressly to say that I refer to no particular country, for some countries already do it—then there remain for the people of the United States four possible policies. Without expressing an opinion as to their relative merits, I will state them as concisely as possible. The responsibility of determination rests alone with congress.

"First.—The United States could continue her present policy of reserving to her own people some advantages in her own markets and making no discriminations against others. There are those who advocate this course.

"Second.—We could yield to the demand of those countries which threaten adverse tariff legislation and give to their people material advantages over those which make no such discriminations.

"Third.—We could materially reduce all our tariff schedules, leaving it to the magnanimity of others to emulate our generosity. There are those—I am told there are many—who advocate this policy.

"Fourth.—The only remaining course possible to be pursued is for the United States to make discriminations against the countries which discriminate against us. I have heard it intimated that an amendment to our present tariff laws is likely to be proposed at the next session (but with what prospect of passage I cannot say), substantially as follows:

" 'Be it enacted that whenever any country grants to the people of any other country privileges within its markets which are withholden from the people of the United States, then and in all such instances the tariff duties on all merchandise coming from those countries showing such preferences shall be — per cent higher than provided in the schedules of existing tariff laws.'

"This would constitute a maximum and minimum tariff, the maximum to be enforced only against such countries as exact a maximum rate against us.

"I understand that those who advocate this course meet the charge that it means tariff war, with the suggestion that the United States will not first declare such a war. Being forced to follow the example of other countries is not the equivalent of a declaration of war, while yielding to the demand that the United States shall discriminate against those who do not discriminate against her might involve neutral powers in a universal tariff war. Such a war would necessarily harm us, but it would harm more seriously still those who drove us into it. The United States prefers to treat all alike and fully appreciates like treatment by others."

Cuban Liberal Congress.

HAVANA, May 22.—The national convention of the Liberal party adopted a few additions to the platform, including propositions for establishing a national militia and changing the provisions covering the functions of cabinet officers. A secret session will be held today to consider campaign plans. It is expected that a presidential candidate will be nominated tonight.

B'nai B'rith Convention.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 22.—The thirty-seventh annual convention of the district grand lodge No. 6, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, embracing eight states, has opened a two days' session here. Officers were elected as follows: President, Isaac Goldberg, Kalamazoo, Mich.; secretary, A. B. Seelenfreund, Chicago; treasurer, David Fisch, Chicago.

Plainfield, N. J., May 22, 1905.

The death of John Valiant is a distinct loss to the borough in which he lived. His civic virtues were as pronounced as his domestic and business and he will be remembered as a resident who had the deepest interest of the community at heart. As a member of the Council and of the Board of Education he never swerved from performing his full duty and it did not remain until his death for the taxpayers and citizens generally to appreciate his worth. To be brief, he was the type of man to be emulated.

It is now quite certain that Muhlenberg Hospital will be benefitted to the extent of $5,000, at least, as a result of the ten days' carnival. The enthusiastic support given Charles J. Fisk's public spirited enterprise surpassed all expectations and it taught a lesson of what can be accomplished in a community for public good when all work together in the cause. Notwithstanding the fact that there were several rainy nights it is conservatively estimated that the attendance was not short of 70,000. The size of the receipts astonished even Manager Miller, who has been engaged in the show business for eighteen consecutive years, going far beyond those of any similar undertaking with which he has been identified. Of course the $5,000, or thereabouts, that will go to the hospital represents but a percentage of the total receipts, but we believe it is vastly more than any other community of the size has made by any show of the kind. We congratulate Mr. Fisk and all who assisted him, which is saying that we congratulate all the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

It cost "Shorty" Alberts $3 more than he calculated upon to visit the carnival in Plainfield Saturday night. The money was in one bill in "Shorty's" cash pocket when he started for the Indian show. At the entrance to the tent he paused on the edge of the crowd to listen to Chief Longfeather explain the Pawnee language. A dapper little man bumped into him, immediately apologized, and disappeared in the crowd. A minute later when "Shorty" reached for the bill it was gone. That was all Shorty wanted of the Carnival; he took the next car home.

The trustees of the Seventh-Day Baptist church began active preparations for the convention and celebration to be held here next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, yesterday. THRONGS AT THE CARNIVAL

Emil Jahn, Joseph Gavett, Bert Leggett, L. E. Palmer, P. R. Collier, Joseph Osgood, Walter Coldwell, William Flanders, Fred Reid, Leslie Leland, Stanley Warner, Samuel Bogart, William Doane, Fred Smith, William Klein, Phil Leichtentritt, Weston Gavett, Stuart Freeman, Howard Freeman, Edgar Freeman, Philip Smith, J. H. Jones, Malcolm Davis, Newell Kirkner, Moses Rubinstein, R. A. Morris, Arthur Bingaman, Arthur S. Whitney.

W. S. Miller, pleased and regretful, pulled up his stakes and carnival equipment yesterday and started the confederated shows for Hackensack, where they will open on Wednesday. The carnival grounds were bare and forlorn-looking by 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Miller was pleased because the crowds and the spending exceeded his brightest hopes, and he was regretful because the Carnival committee had not accepted his early suggestion to run the affair a week longer than was planned.

"I am delighted with the measure of success that has attended us," said Mr. Miller Saturday night. "I want to thank the people and the organizations of Plainfield for the way they turned out, and turned to, to help the carnival on."

The order to shut down was not given until 12 o'clock, and it was considerably later before the grounds were deserted. A crowd of lusty-voiced Elks and Knights of Columbus, under the leadership of Andrew McCardell and a big megaphone, gathered at the entrance to the headquarters tent for an impromptu wake on the dead carnival, and cheered for everybody and everything connected with it.

In the course of his varied remarks Mr. McCardell spoke in favor of annexation, urged the nomination of C. J. Fisk for State Senator and called Mayor Buckle "the best man that came up the pike."

Mr. Fisk and Judge Runyon were compelled to respond to demands for speeches. The former seized the opportunity to express his deep appreciation of the support accorded his benefit project by the general public, the lodges, and the workers who gave time and money to help make the carnival a success.

"I brought up the idea," said Mr. Fisk earnestly, "but you carried it out. The thanks we owe you cannot be expressed."

"I know I speak for the Carnival committee when I thank you everyone for the help you have given to this project," said Judge Runyon. "I feel that, great as is the good to Muhlenberg Hospital that come out of this thing, the benefit will be that of the whole city in a greater measure. This has brought high and low, rich and poor, together, working in one common cause. The different elements of the city have come to know one another better, and because of it our city will be more progressive, stronger, and better in every way.

"It is with the voice of the Carnival Committee, I am sure, when I say to all of you who have helped in this: "God bless you!"

Chairman Fisk, of the Carnival committee, is more pleased than Bossshowman Miller.

"The Carnival closed up very satisfactorily indeed," he said this morning. "A statement is now being made up as to the receipts and as soon as it is completed it will be made public through the newspapers. The management owes the great results obtained to the interest taken by the people, and thanks everyone individually, as well as all organizations, for the aid contributed.

"We have scored the greatest success that has ever visited a nine-days' carnival, and, naturally, we are delighted."

While none of those connected with the management would venture to estimate the profit to be turned over to the hospital this morning, it is said without fear of correction that the sum will amount to more than $5,000. From the Women's Auxiliary tent alone something like $2,500 actual, net profit has come in. The automobile tent netted over $600.

The P. S. C. got the surprise of its existence Saturday night at the Carnival grounds. The crowd at the headquarters tent during the impromptu closing exercises actually cheered for the corporation.

Superintendent Maguire was so upset he could hardly talk for an hour.

The company deserved it. It contributed to the enterprise in many ways and the special trolley service to and from the grounds for the nine days was remarkably good. Not a knock was heard from either the travelling public or the management, which indicated a continued state of absolute perfection in traffic conditions.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies of Trinity Reformed church will have a union service tonight, and the Junior superintendent will lead the meeting.

Rev. P. J. Melhelm, of Grandview avenue, will leave in a few days for Brooklyn, where he will take up his residence. Mr. Melhelm was pastor of the German Lutheran church at this place.

The seventh annual reception in honor of Rev. M. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and a social greeting to the colored graduates, will be held at the church on Thursday night, June 29, at 8 o'clock. Dr. William A. Credit, a champion of the race, and an orator, will make an address. Dr. M. W. Gilbert, of New York, will also speak. Music will be furnished by the Baptist Young People's Union chorus, under the direction of Horatio Randolph. There will also be essays and vocal and instrumental solos.

Miss Anna Broadnax, a student at Oberlin College, and a graduate of the Plainfield High School, Class '04, and Harry Kingslow, graduate in pharmacy from Howard University, together with other students, will speak. The Faithful Workers, under the presidency of Mrs. Lulu Dempsey, will have charge of the banquet, assisted by the King's Daughters, Mrs. S. M. Fields, president, and the Missionary Society, Mrs. M. Cobbs, president.

HURT AT CARNIVAL.

Mrs. James Blair, of Duer Street, Injured on Merry-Go-Round—Says Attendant Was Drunk.

Mrs. James R. Blair, riding with her two children Saturday afternoon, was injured in a fall from the merry-go-round. A rib was fractured.

Mrs. Blair was standing at the side of one of the horses, near her child, just before the accident occured. She claims that one of the attendants, in attempting to pass around her, pushed her from the moving step. She alleges that he was under the influence of liquor. The attendant himself fell with her, and sprained his ankle severely.

Mrs. Blair was taken home in a hack summoned by Chairman Fisk, of the Carnival committee.

Resurfacing Bellview Avenue.

In preparation for the work of resurfacing the roadway from Park to Woodland avenues, the street force is deepening the gutters and levelling Bellevieww avenue. The trouble with the roadway hitherto has been its flatness, which allowed the surface water to collect in the center instead of running it to the sides. Half the expense of the improvement will be paid by the Hillside Cemetery Association.

John P. VanHorn, of West Fourth street, has resigned his position at Scott's and taken a more lucrative one with the Potter Company.

PARIS ENJOYS DEATH-DEFYING THRILLER.

Gale's Daring Cycle Feat, "Looping the Gyroscope," Stirs Her Excitement-Loving Blood.

Paris.—Paris has a new thriller.

"Looping the Loop," "The Circle of Death," "The Human Arrow" no longer stirs its blood, wearied by so many excitements.

So, in one of the music halls, Yale, the world's champion trick bicyclist, is "Looping the Gyroscope," riding within a great wheel, which, as he circles it, itself revolves and bodily moves around and up and down. This "danger" sensation evokes much applause, none louder than from expectant undertakers in the audience.

The ingenious device consists, essentially, of a metal wheel about 13 feet in diameter, which has spokes like a bicycle wheel, and which is supported by ball bearings on a firm, solid, iron column. A counterweight of about 550 pounds balances the wheel, which, thanks to the ball bearings, easily turns at the same time in both a horizontal and a vertical plane. A slatted track is firmly fixed around the felloes of the big wheel.

The death-defying Yale, who uses a small bicycle, heavier than the ordinary machines, takes position at the bottom and inside the big wheel, which is then motionless. As he pedals more and more rapidly he imparts opposite motion to the gyroscope, just as a captive squirrel turns its cage. So by suddenly checking his bicycle Yale is carried toward the top of the big wheel. At a certain height the force that carries him up becomes nil. Then he begins to pedal faster and faster, and so imparts increased speed to the track wheel.

By repeating this several times a speed so tremendous is attained at last that the rider can completely circle the track wheel some seven or eight times.

The feat requires a sure eye, great nerve and skill, nice balancing, else Yale would surely be shot off into space.

CHILD'S SPIRIT PLAYMATE.

Little Boy Often Holds Conversation and Frolics with His Unseen Friend.

McKenzie, Tenn.—McKenzie has a strange psychic phenomenon in the person of Willis Miller, six-year-old son of Capt. W. B. Miller. Willis has a spirit playmate with whom he converses and "plays," as he calls it, every day.

Willis calls his spirit friend Raymond, and can be heard often saying, "All right, Raymond, I will be there directly," and immediately he will go out of the family room into the hall or the yard under some large shade trees, where he will converse with Raymond sometimes for an hour. The conversation does not resemble childish prattle, but rather that of persons of mature years, and to those who do not see the spirit talker it sounds like talk over a telephone.

Willis was very much distressed Christmas morning because Raymond did not get any presents, and carried some of his into the hall for him, and there they talked and played for some time.

Raymond has never entered the family room, but Willis says he will come to see them all some day. He says Raymond told him not to let any of the other members of the family go with him to their meeting place at present.

The family noticed the conduct of Willis about a year ago, but thought it only child's play.

The child is a favorite in the town, and of a very precocious nature. He is very nervous. He never forgets a name or face, and while walking around with his father he is asking questions far beyond his years.

Recovers Lost Eyesight.

Appleton, Wis.—Miss Sadie Clark, a high-school student, of Neenah, Wis., has recovered her sight quite as suddenly and mysteriously as she lost it two weeks ago. She had never had any trouble with her eyes until she awoke on the morning of February 6 stone blind. The other day while on a train en route to Milwaukee to undergo an operation her sight returned, unimpaired.

Coughs Up Prussian Bullet.

Paris.—In the Franco-Prussian war M. Barbier of Hericourt received a bullet in the shoulder, and the surgeons were unable to extract it. Recently he suffered from violent pains in his head, which puzzled the doctors. A few days later he spat out the bullet, after a coughing fit.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

Selecting Furniture, Cleaning Floors and Renovating Carpets.

Sunlight, ventilation and cheerfulness are the first points to be considered in thinking out the furnishings of a home, and whatever interferes with these is always avoided by the wise homemaker. Dust destroys the purity of air, therefore an overamount of draping and trivial bric-a-brac must be ruled out.

Heavy, cumbersome furniture and uncomfortable chairs are also to be rigidly ruled out. In America especially "nothing is permanent but change." We move about so much, usually for business reasons, that it is not worth while to count on remaining in any one house. Consequently it is best to purchase the lightweight, pretty furniture that can easily be taken from place to place. Such furniture of course includes metal beds, brass and enameled iron. These have the additional recommendation of affording less of a harbor for vermin.

Then there are the attractive, artistic chairs, settees and couches of bamboo, rush, prairie grass and split reed. They are so light in weight that a child may move them, yet strong enough to hold the very fat man. They can be made as soft and luxurious with cushions as one desires. The cushions can be taken into the sun and beaten and thoroughly cleansed, as stuffed and padded chairs never can be. Perhaps almost the only heavy articles in a house should be the piano and dining table. Wooden furniture is now often so badly made and of such badly seasoned wood that it is to be avoided.

Linen and Drapery.

The heavy white hand embroidered linen now used for best bedspreads and tablecloths is a delight to the artistic sense. Women who can embroider can decorate their own spreads and tablecloths.

It is to be hoped the present floral patterns of wall paper, curtains and chair and cushion covers will long remain in vogue. The light background, with designs of roses and other blossoms stamped over it, is a perpetual incentive to cheerfulness.

Cleansing and Staining Floors.

After a floor has been scrubbed if a little turpentine is added to the rinsing water it will leave a delightfully fresh and fragrant odor in the room. Floor stains may be made at home. For oak mix together a pint of boiled linseed oil, a gill and a half of turpentine, three tablespoonfuls of raw umber and three tablespoonfuls of whitening. For mahogany mix together one pint of boiled oil, a gill and a half of turpentine, three tablespoonfuls of burned sienna, three tablespoonfuls of whitening, half a tablespoonful of yellow ocher, half a tablespoonful of Bismarck brown and half a tablespoonful of aniline black. It is advisable to try the stain on a little piece of board before staining the floor. The color may be deepened or lessened by increasing or diminishing the coloring matter. The stain should be rubbed into the floor with a brush, and after a day or two, when it is quite dry, the floor should be rubbed hard with a soft cloth. When washing waxed or polished floors a little petroleum added to the water will greatly improve the appearance. An excellent polish is made by well mixing together equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine, vinegar and spirits of wine. Apply the polish thinly with a piece of flannel and finally rub with a soft cloth. When washing polished floors the cloth should be wrung out as dry as possible, the floor being then rubbed with a dry cloth.

DINING TABLE WITH EMBROIDERED CLOTH.

Renovating Carpets.

After a carpet has been well shaken and beaten it may be washed with carpet soap, its improved appearance well repaying the trouble. A faded carpet can be brightened after it has been shaken by rubbing it with a cloth wrung out of ammonia and water in the proportion of a teaspoonful of ammonia to a gallon of water, turning and rinsing the cloth as it gets soiled. The water will need frequent changing. To remove blacklead stains cover them with a paste made of fuller's earth and water to which a little ammonia has been added. Leave till dry and then brush off. If necessary make a second application. Grease may be removed from the carpet by spreading thick brown paper over the spot and ironing with a hot iron.

DORA BELLE DENNISON.

A Girl Librettist.

A very young lady, Miss Doris Francklyn of New York city, has written an operetta of fairies. Its successful first performance was a flattering tribute to the talent of a girl scarcely past sixteen. The young author is yet near enough to the age when we believe in fairies to represent them in a living, real way, and perhaps that is why her operetta was so successful. Will Miss Francklyn later be the American woman who is to write a great opera, and is this a beginning?

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Ribbon Suspenders Smarten Up Simple Summer Gowns—Pongee Coats.

Nothing is prettier to freshen up a young girl's white tub frock than bretelle suspenders made of dainty pompadour ribbon. The suspenders cross back and front and fasten with smart bows to a girdle of the same ribbon.

Suspender frocks are decidedly youthful, but this summer are worn by maid and matron alike in voile, cloth and taffeta silk. These gowns are not exclusive style, but in some instances are very pretty when the suspender idea is a little hidden with shirrings and indented bretelle-like pieces. Worn over soft lingerie waists the effect is very good. The gown itself is made in princess lines—that is, the skirt and girdle are cut in one. With these frocks goes a tiny bolero jacket, which is put on for appearance more than protection.

A nice present for the girl who is graduating this June is a three-quarter length pongee coat to wear over the organdie frock. The plain character of this coat is completely changed with a bit of embroidery about the collar and cuffs. Some of the smartest of these pongee coats have trimmings of bright red silk braided in black and silver. This ornamentation gives an oriental effect at slight expense.

Skirts on gowns not designed for dressy occasions are much shorter than they started out to be at the beginning of the season. Indeed, some women are wearing walking skirts as short as the average schoolgirls.

The frock pictured is of finest pale blue batiste. The skirt is trimmed with lace, ruched top and bottom with frills of ribbon. This lace runs up the skirt in graduated points trimmed with bows of velvet ribbon. The bodice has a deep pointed yoke and a bolero effect of batiste edged with lace.

CHIC STYLES.

Matinee Jackets of Crape and Silk. Point d'Esprit Net the Vogue.

Very attractive is a matinee jacket of crepon or liberty silk elaborately tucked. These jackets are worn over lawn skirts trimmed with deep lace ruffles headed with beading run with colored ribbon.

Point d'esprit net and dotted swiss dresses will be very much worn this summer. There is a simple way of making these gowns quite distinguished by working around the dots daisy petals in mercerized cotton or forming designs with the dot as a central motif in catstitches. This embroidery is used for yokes and insertions.

Linen frocks are made up in all sorts of ways, severely tailored with short skirt and long half tight fitting coats or with plaited skirts and Eton jackets.

A smart walking hat is of fine green braid turned up in colonial style and simply trimmed with a green quill.

The blouse illustrated is of china silk. The yoke is formed of lozenge shaped pieces of broderie anglaise arranged with motifs of filet lace. Below the yoke the blouse is laid in double box plaits back and front. Deep cuffs of the mingled lace and broderie meet the full sleeve puff of silk.

WATER CAUSED SECOND BLAZE.

Disastrous Fire at Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Loss, $300,000.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 22.—One of the most disastrous fires that has occurred in this city in some years started at an early hour in the morning, and not until afternoon were the firemen able to control the flames. The loss entailed will reach fully $300,000.

The fire originated in the millinery department on the second floor of the Isaac Long dry goods house, in the Welles building, on the west side of the public square, one of the handsomest and costliest structures in this city. When first discovered the flames were promptly controlled by the firemen in less than one hour.

A second fire broke out in the basement of the building about an hour after the first one had been subdued. A careful investigation was made by experts, who declare the fire was first caused by the crossing of two electric wires. The water used in the quenching of the first flames followed some of the wires into the basement of the building, where a short circuit was formed, causing a flash from a large dynamo, which started the second fire among some inflammable dry goods stored there, which spread with great rapidity, and before the general alarm could be sounded the entire building was a mass of flames.

Of the Isaac Long store there was nothing left. The building was a five story brick and stone structure supposed to have been fireproof.

The principal losses are: Edward Welles, on building, $75,000; the Isaac Long dry goods house, $155,000; Christian Walter shoe house, $20,000, and Herman Engel, jeweler, $15,000.

TWO BULLETS IN HIS BRAIN.

Baltimore Brewery Employee a Medical Puzzle.

BALTIMORE, May 22.—On May 3 George Horst, thirty-two years old, an employee in a brewery here, attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself twice in the head. The bullets have not been removed, but to the amazement of physicians who have interested themselves in his case he is not only still living, but, according to present indications, will soon be well enough to be out of the house.

Of the bullets with which Horst attempted to end his life one entered just above the right ear, while the other entered just below the right temple. Ordinarily either bullet would have been sufficient to cause death, but in Horst's case they apparently resulted in nothing more serious than paralysis of the left and part of the right side, which paralysis is now disappearing.

At first it was decided to probe for the bullets, but this plan was abandoned, the physicians in attendance saying they can be removed at any time in the future. Horst's mind began to clear rapidly after the second day, and five days after the shooting he smoked a cigar. His memory is perfectly good, and he understands everything going on about him.

FOUND IN DARBY CREEK.

Philadelphia Driver Disappeared While Delivering Goods.

CHESTER, Pa., May 22.—The body of James Leedom of Philadelphia was found yesterday in Darby creek, near Sharon Hill, under circumstances that have caused the police authorities of Delaware county to begin a thorough investigation. Leedom was a driver for a Philadelphia department store. On Saturday he, with a helper, was delivering goods in Sharon Hill. They delivered in different directions, and later the helper found the horse and wagon in the road, but was unable to get any trace of Leedom. The helper then returned to Philadelphia with the team.

Leedom's body was found about a quarter of a mile from where the horse and wagon were discovered. There were no marks on the body. Leedom was about twenty-five years of age.

Burglars Missed Half a Million.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—An attempt to rob the stamp safe at the San Francisco postoffice was frustrated by Watchman William O'Connell, who spied one of the burglars drilling the safe. The burglars took alarm and escaped with only $1,400 worth of stamps found outside the safe. The safe contained $14,000 in stamps and much money, while in the cashier's room, adjoining the stamp department, was a large safe which contained $500,000.

Duel Challenge Brought Police.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 22.—Charged with sending a challenge to fight a duel, M. D. Blanton, a well known young man, was indicted by the grand jury and arrested here. It is said that young Blanton recently sent a letter to Dr. C. A. Cobleigh, in which he challenged him to fight a duel. The matter was put into the hands of the police, and the indictment and arrest followed.

Crisis In Mrs. Livermore's Illness.

MELROSE, Mass., May 22. — Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, who is ill at her home here, was in a semiconscious state at 10:45 o'clock last night. Her physician said that the turning point of the disease will be reached tomorrow, and if the heart action, which is now being stimulated, remains strong until that period shall have passed there is some hope of her recovery.

Unknown Is Given Up by Sea.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The body of an unknown man, apparently a sailor, was picked up in the lower bay and taken to quarantine by the harbor boat Lamont.

Weather Probabilities.

HOPE OF PEACE WRECKED.

Chicago Strike to Spread—Call For Troops Imperative.

CHICAGO, May 22.—The strike of the teamsters instead of being declared off will be spread to greater proportions. This was decided by the members of the teamsters' joint council, which held a lengthy session.

The council met to hear the report of the negotiations that had been in progress with the employers throughout the day. They agreed to all the stipulations of the employers with the exception of that which declared that the drivers of the express companies should not be taken back. This was the rock upon which the peace programme was wrecked, and after a very lengthy debate it was decided that the Teamsters' union could not leave the express drivers to make a lone fight, but must stand by them. It was decided to call off all the negotiations and prepare for a further fight.

The sense of the meeting was expressed in the following resolution, which was passed and given out as defining the position of the teamsters:

"We believe that the railway express companies are not justified in their refusal to reinstate any of their former employees and believe that the best interests of all would be served had they agreed to the same proposition or a somewhat similar one to that which the Employers' association suggested. Under these conditions it is incumbent upon the members of the teamsters' organization to continue the strike until such time as the express companies will agree to the same conditions as those offered by the Employers' association."

Sheriff Barrett said after being informed of the action of the teamsters' joint council:

"It simply means that the troops will have to be called. We have found it difficult to maintain the peace with the force of police and deputies we have, and now that there is a prospect of so much greater a body of men going out protection by the troops will become imperative."

Alonzo Wygant, general agent of the United States Express company, said last night that so far as a settlement of the strike was concerned the only way that it could be ended would be for the teamsters to surrender.

"Our men were told before they struck," said Mr. Wygant, "that if they went out in sympathy with others they could not hope for reinstatement, and I cannot now see any contingency that would change our decision in the matter."

A long conference was held in the mayor's office, President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor being present. Mayor Dunne afterward said:

"Should there be an extension of the strike, with a resumption of the rioting of two weeks ago, there is a probability that troops will be called to maintain order."

In a riot last night between white residents and a crowd of negroes in the neighborhood where Enoch Carlson, a boy, was killed by a negro last week one white man and a negro were killed.

A TEXAS TORNADO.

Fort Worth Suffers From Heavy Windstorm.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 22.—A heavy windstorm, blowing at the rate of seventy miles an hour, struck this city from the southwest at 6:30 o'clock last night. Part of the west wall of the Texas and Pacific passenger station was blown in and John Young, a train dispatcher, killed.

The storm was most severe west of the city, and all telephone and telegraph wires in that direction are down. A passenger on a Texas and Pacific train from the west reports that the town of Mineral Wells was partly blown away. One church belonging to the African M. E. church here was demolished. Many business buildings lost their roofs, including the First National bank building, a seven story structure.

Further reports say that the Ninth ward of Dallas, until recently a suburb called Oak Cliff, has been damaged by a tornado, two churches being destroyed and several persons killed.

Spanish Cruiser Serves Uncle Sam.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 22.—The cruiser Reina Mercedes, which was captured at Santiago during the war with Spain, sailed from this port yesterday remodeled as a receiving ship for Newport, R. I. The cruiser has been undergoing repairs in the local navy yard for nearly five years and is said now to be one of the best equipped receiving ships in the United States navy.

Held For Shooting His Father.

BELLPORT, N. Y., May 22.—While defending his mother from the attack of his father, who is said to have been frenzied with drink, Joseph Connell, a youth of eighteen, shot and instantly killed his father, John T. Connell. Connell assailed his son with an ax, when Joseph drew a revolver and fired, the bullet passing through his father's heart. Joseph was arrested.

Japanese Coolies on Strike.

HONOLULU, May 22.—Over 1,000 Japanese laborers on the Pioneer plantation on the island of Maui have gone on strike for increased wages. There are indications that the strike will spread. The militia, consisting of one company, has been called out.

Before an audience which filled the Casino to its capacity, members of the senior class of the city High School presented Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," Saturday night. The work of Miss Ada Westphal as "Mrs. Malaprop" was one of the cleverest bits of amateur acting ever seen on the Casino stage. Other "hits" were made by Theodore G. Gavett, Howard H. Craig, Martin B. Stutsman, George L. Bentley and Miss Anna L. Runyon.

Others in the cast were: Chester H. Briggs, Harry G. Thompson, Harold Brownell, Hazel du M. Grant, Ines M. Telles, Aimee J. Conant, Zella L. Kelley.

Informal dancing followed the play.

nard's smash, which came after Kiernan toddled. Driscoll's grounder to third developed into a double that killed him and Kiernan. Lamar plunked a cinch to White.

They had a great chance to lengthen the lead in the eighth with a pass and a single coming in quick succession right off the reel but stupid base running killed it. The Giants scored one in the ninth on Kiernan's fumble of Moore's grounder and Thompson's long single, but the Weehawken Wonder had them in check. Not even the storied Home-Run Johnson, who came in to punch out Bowman's try, could do better than hang one on Kiernan's trusty hook.

TO START JUNE 1

Headquarters to be in Lawyer Newcorn's Office—Provisions of the Law—List of Enumerators.

The census enumerators will begin their work on Thursday, June 1, and according to the provisions of the law it must be completed by Thursday, June 15. Thomas Hanna will have charge of the work in this city and the following have been appointed as enumerators for Plainfield:

First ward—David S. Dunavan, Harry Smalley; Second ward—W. R. Townsend, Robert Guttridge; Third ward—John Nagle, Henry Pierce; Fourth ward—J. B. Martin, Abram Angleman and Jacob Krimey.

Mr. Hanna will establish his headquarters at the offices of William Newcorn, Esq., on West Front street, and the enumerators will make their reports to him there. The census will show the number of persons in Plainfield on the first day of June, no matter if the names are taken on any other day up to June 15. If a birth or death occurs after June 1, it is not to be recorded on the enumerator's book.

According to law the enumerators are not permitted to tell the result of their work, under a penalty of a maximum fine of $800. EFFORT TO LEARN IF WOOD IS INSANE

PLACED IN SEPARATE CELL IN PRISON TO BE WATCHED.

George H. Wood was received yesterday at the State prison at Trenton from Somerville. The opening of the long term of confinement for Wood was a routine affair. He answered the usual questions for identification, after which he received a bath and his prison outfit.

Wood gave no trouble whatever to Sheriff Cooper, who escorted him to Trenton. He spent the ride in silence except when he would comment on the beauty of the country through which his train passed.

The prison record of his reception simply sets forth that he is thirty years old and was convicted of murder in the second degree. Under the head of personal property his record shows that the only article of value on his person when he entered the prison was an open-face silver watch.

The prisoner is not at all disheartened because of the thirty years of confinement which confronts him. He has little to say of himself and the only statement made by him yesterday morning to Principal Keeper George O. Osborne was: "If the circumstances which they have about my case are true, then I should be shut up. If I killed Williams it was done when I was not in my right mind."

He expressed his gratitude to his counsel, S. S. Swackhamer and Geo. Bird, both of whom he says did all they could for him.

Wood had nothing to say of the "little brack imp" who caused such a sensation in his trial when a dual personality was set up in the defense as responsible for the crime. Wood is confined in a separate cell and this departure is made by Mr. Osborne for the purpose of ascertaining the truth of the young man's insanity.

Fourth Editorial Excursion.

The management of the New Jersey Central has issued invitations for its fourth annual editorial excursion which has been set for Wednesday, June 7. Lake Hopatcong will again be the destination and the editors and proprietors of newspapers in cities along the line of the railroad to the number of several hundred will be the guests. The trip to and from the lake will be made by special trains.

King's Daughters' Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the City Union, King's Daughters, will be held Thursday afternoon in Vincent chapel, when in addition to the election of officers, the final adoption of the new constitution, there will be an address by Dr. Maximilian P. Grossmann. The pledges from the various Circles will also be received at this time.

Three Sports Refused to Answer Grand Jury's Queries.

WERE SENT TO JAIL

Technicality Saves 'Em for the Time Being, But They Must Answer or be Jugged.

Unwillingness to tell all they know about the illegal pastimes of the local sports nearly landed three Plainfielders in jail at Elizabeth yesterday. They were among the second batch of the witnesses subpoenaed by the grand jury to go down before the inquisitors.

They refused point blank to answer certain questions. Threats and coaxings failed to move them, and the foreman of the jury ordered the constables to take the trio to jail. The jury has the right to have any witness who refuses to answer its queries locked up until he consents to talk.

When the constables brought the trio to jail Sheriff Coriell refused to receive them. He said an order from the court was necessary, and none of the constables had an order. The sheriff's contention was found to be correct and the constable took the men back to the grand jury room. The foreman could have secured the necessary order from either Judge Vail or Judge Fort, but did not do so. The men, it was said this morning, would be put back on the rack today. Failure to answer will be followed by commitment.

Sheriff Coriell has refused to make the names of the three men public. Another bunch of witnesses went down the line this morning. It is understood that the jury issued fifty-four subpoenas for Plainfielders, and practically all of them have been served. More are expected, and the wise ones who escaped the first cast of the dragnet are still worried. The crowd this morning was not called into the grand jury room.

WOMEN TO STUDY CONSTITUTION AND LAW

DAVID PRESCOTT HALL CONSENTS TO BE THE LECTURER.

The feature of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, held yesterday afternoon at Truell Inn, was the report of the programme committee with relation to the work of the Political Study Class for next winter. Mrs. Stephen Haff, chairman of the committee, reported that several plans had been proposed for the study of political economy, or of various subjects relating to law and government.

It was also proposed that David Prescott Hall should give his course of lectures on elementary law, prepared expressly for women's clubs, before the new study club. Mr. Hall gave a lecture on the origin and nature of the United States constitution before the suffrage league, last month, and this address was pronounced very interesting by the members.

The final decision yesterday was to continue the programme committee in office until the first meeting in October. The members are: Chairman, Mrs. Stephen Haff; secretary, Miss Harriet French; Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Mrs. Madeline Durar and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall.

Mrs. Hall announced that there would be an interesting meeting of the State Suffrage Society at Ocean Grove, July 24 and 25. Mrs. Hall expects to go to Ocean Grove to assist the State president, Mrs. Sexton, in the conduct of the meetings.

Graduation of Nurses.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' church, will make the address at the nurses' graduation to be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Thursday night. Charles J. Fisk, as president of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, will have charge of the exercises and present the diplomas to the three graduates. There will also be a short programme of music and after the exercises a reception will be held. The public is cordially invited to attend.

In the Borough Court.

In the borough court, last night, a $5 fine was imposed on Frank DeCamp, arrested Saturday for disorderly conduct. Sentence was suspended on Anton Pizarro who was caught in the act of passing a bottle of hard cider through a window of the jail to August Anderson, a prisoner. He declared that he had done it at the solicitation of another man and Recorder Dend believed him.

MRS. NELSON LEFT ONLY $37,448.93

Riches of Mrs. Fair's Mother Was Grossly Over-Estimated.

INVENTORY IS FILLED

The Six Children Will Get About $5,000 Apiece — Estate Largely in Mortgages.

The reputed riches of the late Mrs. Hannah Nelson, mother of Mrs. Charles L. Fair, was only a dream, and a "pipe dream" at that, for according to the inventory filed in the surrogate's office of Middlesex County, at New Brunswick, at noon today, she died possessed of but $37,448 93. General report had credited her with being worth half a million.

There are six children and some children of a deceased child to come in for shares of the estate and so each of the six children will only receive approximately $5,349 apiece. The estate was appraised on Thursday, May 11, by Frank Davis and H. Lewis Benedict and the executors are John B. Bennell, of Union, and Abram G. Nelson and William B. Smith, both of New Market.

Among the assets are two bonds of the Detroit United Railway, valued at $1,888 and seventy shares of Keystone foundry stock valued at $7,000. Bonds and mortgages owned by Mrs. Nelson aggregated $25,000 and she had $2,997.93 in cash in the Orange bank. In addition to these items a lot of household goods and furniture are enumerated in the inventory.

ROGER F. MURRAY IN A BIG TOURNEY

LONE REPRESENTATIVE OF LOCAL CLUB IN METROPOLITAN CONTEST.

Out of the eighty-two names comprising the entry list announced yesterday for the annual Metropolitan golf championship which begins tomorrow at the Fox Hills links, Roger F. Murray is the only representative from the Plainfield Country Club. This is the largest number ever received, and twelve more than that of last season, which then broke all previous records.

An innovation this year is that players will be paired as they appear at the tee and not previously. The contest is scheduled to start at 9 o'clock in the morning. Wilcox, the present champion, is entered, and so is Travis, but Findlay Douglas is an absentee, owing to an injury to his hand.

STEIN JURY OUT.

Still Deliberating on Widow's Suit for $20,000 Damages.

The $20,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Mary E. Stein, of this city, against the New Jersey Central, which began in the Supreme Court on Thursday morning, was concluded this morning, the case going to the jury at 10:30 o'clock. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the jury was still out. Lawyer G. W. V. Moy represented Mrs. Stein, who sued to recover for the death of her husband, John Stein, who was killed by a Philadelphia and Reading express on Christmas morning, 1903.

Continental War Statue.

State Commissioners on Monuments Charles H. K. Halsey, C. Symes Kiggins and Rev. William H. Hoppaugh on Saturday visited the art rooms of the sculptor in New York who is making the statue of the Continental soldier which is to be unveiled at Springfield, Union County, June 23, in honor of the 125th anniversary of the battle of Springfield and Union. They have been assured that the statue will be ready for unveiling at that date.

CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF PLAY

East Jersey Tournament Begins Here on Saturday.

PRIZES OFFERED

T. M. Day, Jr., Chairman of Committee—Contests on Country Club Courts.

The championship tournament of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association for mixed doubles will be held on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, May 27, 29 and 30. Entries accompanied by the entrance fee should be received by T. M. Day, Jr., at 740 Carlton avenue, Plainfield, on or before 8 o'clock Friday night, at which time and place the drawing will be made.

Play will commence on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be continued on Monday, beginning at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and on Tuesday, both morning and afternoon, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. All matches will be the best two sets out of three. Individual prizes will be awarded to the winning team and to the runners-up. The Plainfield Country Club extends to all the members of the clubs composing the association the privileges of the club during the tournament.

It has been arranged by the home club to serve luncheon to contestants on Tuesday. On Saturday and Monday, luncheon and dinner may be obtained from the steward. There will be music and dancing in the evening on each day.

In connection with the tennis tournament, another attraction will be the second of the series of golf tournaments under the auspices of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association. This will be held on Monday, and is sure to attract a large number of prominent women golfers from the Metropolitan district. The first of these one-day tournaments was held last week and the contestants from the Plainfield Country Club made an excellent showing. On their own course it is expected that they will do much better.

For the benefit of those unacquainted with the way to reach the courts, it may be said that the Arlington avenue trolley cars run to a point close to the golf course and a short walk across the links will bring one to the clubhouse and courts. The committee in charge of the tennis tournament has arranged to have a stage run between these two points while the play is in progress. Gardner H. Miller has been secured as referee of the play and this committee will be in charge:

T. M. Day, Jr., chairman; Roger N. Black, F. E. Ferris, Frederick W. Goddard and Owen H. Fleming. Mr. Black is the secretary for the committee.

MEMORIAL DAY.

G. A. R. Arranges for Observance of Day.

The Memorial day detail of Winfield Scott Post, No. 75, G. A. R., met Saturday night and about completed arrangements for the annual observance of Decoration Day. It was decided to have the Post meet on Decoration Day morning at 7:30 and accompanied by the Raritan Band will go to Scotch Plains, where exercises will be held at the cemetery.

The Post will re-assemble at headquarters at 8:45 for the parade, which will be shorter than usual. The line will form on East Front street, right resting on Watchung avenue, and will proceed to Chatham street and the North Plainfield Cemetery, to Somerset street, to Seventh street, where the veterans, women and children will go to Hillside Cemetery in stages. Exercises will be held there and the urn which has been placed in the soldiers' plot will be presented. No exercises will be held in the Plainfield Avenue Cemetery.

It has been arranged to have details decorate the graves on the Sunday preceding Decoration Day, to save time. The public school children are requested to bring flowers to Reform Hall on Saturday, where the Women's Relief Corps will be to receive them.

The Post will meet at 2:30 in the afternoon of Decoration Day and go to Reform Hall where exercises will be held at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Hubbell, of Central avenue, will be the speaker of the occasion.

E. C. Stokes, LL. D.

Governor Edward Casper Stokes, of New Jersey, is to be honored with the degree of doctor of laws by Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., at its commencement next month. The board of trustees has just voted this decoration to the Jersey executive.

DR. FRITTS GETS $8,000

Erie Railroad Settles Suit for Damages Out of Court.

DENIED LIABILITY

Corporation Made Preparation for a Determined Contest, and Settlement is a Complete Backdown.

The Erie Railroad Company, last night, settled the suit brought by Dr. J. T. Fritts for injuries sustained on a train in Pennsylvania last July. The road agreed to allow him $8,000, and the Court this morning instructed the jury to bring in a verdict in accordance with the agreement.

The case was without a precedent. Dr. Fritts was severely injured by falling over a step box left in the aisle of a car, while on a journey from Dunmore to East Hawley, Pa. The railroad denied liability when he filed a claim, contending that a passenger had pushed the box into the aisle and that the fall occurred before the brakeman had had time to see the box and put it back where it belonged.

Dr. Fritts retained Craig A. Marsh, and the lawyer advised him that the company was liable. The corporation employed eminent counsel and prepared, apparently, for a long and stubborn contest. The settlement is a complete surrender on the company's part.

DISSATISFIED WITH CARNIVAL RIFLE SHOOT

ONE OF CONTESTANTS THREATENS PROTEST—WINNER'S OFFER.

One of the contestants in the rifle range contest conducted by the Log Cabin Club at the carnival for the benefit of the hospital is said to be dissatisfied with the way the event was decided, and has declared his intention of protesting the award of the first and second prizes to A. I. Littell and Dr. C. W. Leonard respectively.

This man, one of the six who were told by the committee on Saturday that they had qualified for the shoot-off, contends that the announced rules of the contest were to the effect that the prizes would go to the contestants who made the highest score up to Friday night; that the shoot closed then and the committee had no right to arrange a shoot-off.

It is not clear how or to whom the disgruntled shot will make his "protest." The shoot was not governed by any National, State or county organization, and the coterie of gunning enthusiasts who offered the prizes had the right to make any conditions regarding them.

Littell, the winner of the first prize, a silver cup, is the crack shot of Company K and regarded as the best rifle shot in Plainfield. If the dissatisfied contestant is very anxious to have a try at the cup—he refused to attend the shoot-off Saturday—he can have a chance at it.

"If any man is sore over the way I won the shoot and wants a chance for the cup he can meet me any night or afternoon at Company K's armory range," said Littel yesterday.

Celebration of Quarter Century in Orders of the Church.

DIGNITARIES PRESENT

Solemn High Mass—Miss Anna Daly as Soloist—Gifts for Father Egan—Plainfielders There.

In the presence of about seventy priest and a congregation that filled the edifice, Rev. Father Andrew M. Egan, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church, Bayonne, and formerly of St. Mary's church, this city, celebrated yesterday the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination.

Among the visiting clergy were Vicar-Generals Sheppard, of Jersey City, and Fox, of Trenton; Mgrs. O'Grady, of New Brunswick, and Flynn, of Morristown, and Rt. Rev. John Stafford, president of Seton Hall College. Father Egan celebrated solemn high mass. Rev. James Delehanty, of this city, was deacon; Rev. Father William Miller, of North Plainfield, sub-deacon, and Rev. Father J. J. Preston, of Jersey City, master of ceremonies.

An eloquent sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father Cornelius Clifford, of Bloomfield. The mass was sung by the parochial school children, and Miss Anna Daly, of this city, sang "O, Salutaris" at the offertory. After the mass the rector entertained the visiting priests.

Last evening the congregation presented Father Egan with a purse and the school children gave him a obalice. Many Plainfielders, former parishioners of the beloved priest, attended the celebration.

ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE OF SALAAM TEMPLE

MYSTIC SHRINERS TO GO TO INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL AT NIAGARA FALLS.

The thirty-first annual session of the Imperial Council of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine will be held at Niagara Falls next month and Salaam Temple, of Newark, to which many Plainfielders belong, has selected for the pilgrimage to this Mecca of the Shriner, the picturesque Lehigh Valley Railroad, although the country traversed by this scenic line is very remote from being "hot and sandy trail" in reality, except as grains of fraternal sand may pervade the atmosphere of that portion of the New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York desert over which the fleet, surefooted camel-(back) locomotive with its gorgeous caravan of Regal Pullmans will wend its way.

Leaving Jersey City (Penna. R. R. station), at 7:45 a. m.; Newark, Market street, at 7:55, a. m., Monday, June 19, the pilgrimage will begin, the route leading through the fertile fields and green hills of New Jersey. At South Plainfield a stop will be made to pick up pilgrims from this city, and again at Bound Brook for delegations from that place and New Brunswick. After a short stop at Easton where Shriners from surrounding towns will join, the journey will be resumed through the beautiful valley of the Lehigh, and thence on to Wilkesbarre. From Wilkesbarre the journey will be along the serpentine course of the Susquehanna and the Sheres of Seneca Lake to Niagara Falls.

At Niagara Falls, the headquarters will be at Cataract Hotel. The party will leave for home Thursday, June 22. The rate for this tour will be $35 and will include railroad and Pullman transportation for the round trip, hotel accommodations at the Falls and luncheon at Wilkesbarre.

BURSTS FORTH AGAIN

One Hundred Thousand Chicago Workers May Strike.

TO TIE UP ALL BUILDING INDUSTRY

Threat Made to Withdraw From Public Schools All Children of Union Men if Recent Action Is Not Reversed.

CHICAGO, May 23.—With renewed fury the great teamsters' strike has burst forth again here, spreading rapidly to the drivers for big lumber concerns on whose labor indirectly 100,000 workmen depend and threatening the immediate paralysis of the entire building industry of the city. Even more alarming was the prospect that the great packing plants might be involved and the delivery of meat stopped by inability to get lumber for packing.

The threat has been made to withdraw from public schools children of union men if the action of the authorities in arresting children who went on "strike" when coal was delivered by nonunion men at the schools is not immediately reversed.

The initiative has been taken by the employers. Members of the Teamsters' union were discharged for refusing to deliver to boycotted firms. Orders by the union for others to quit where discharges had been made followed quickly. As an immediate result the yards of the two big companies were completely tied up. Edward Hines, president of the Lumbermen's association, declared that every lumber yard in the city would before long be without drivers.

When the spreading of the teamsters' strike began here thirty-six men employed by the Rittenhouse & Embree company, lumber dealers, and four by the Edward Hines Lumber company were the first to be forced into the struggle following the refusal of the teamsters' joint council to indorse the settlement provisionally arranged with the employers by President C. P. Shea of the Teamsters' union.

Through the threatened spread of the strike to all lumber dealers every branch of the building industry in Chicago is apparently facing paralysis. So close are the relations between the lumber teamsters and several other unions of men engaged in hauling building materials that the walkout of the lumber teamsters, it was said, would doubtless lead to strikes in nearly every department of the building industry.

Indirectly dependent upon the building material teamsters, it was estimated, hung the employment of nearly 100,000 men in yards, mills, factories and on construction work. It was not believed the drivers' strike would affect the wood industries or building construction work generally at first.

If, however, the walkout should go all along the line as is threatened all the lumber yards of Chicago would be tied up.

E. E. Hooper, secretary of the Sash, Door and Blind association, said:

"We do not propose to permit a part of the Teamsters' union to work and support the other part of the strike. It is a case of fight now with us. Everything points to a complete tie-up of every branch of building in Chicago until we can get nonunion drivers to do the work. This will mean police protection for drivers and if that is not sufficient the necessity for troops is inevitable."

A PASTORS' PARADE

Methodist Episcopal Divines Protest Gas Grab.

MAYOR HAS REMEDY UP HIS SLEEVE

Earnest Ministers at Philadelphia Marched to City Hall—Asked That "City Be Delivered From Designs of Evil Men."

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Thousands of citizens here witnessed an unusual spectacle when more than 100 ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church solemnly marched to the city hall to express to Mayor Weaver their protest against the pending gas lease and to congratulate him on the stand he has taken upon the question.

The decision to call on the mayor was made at the session of the Methodist Episcopal Ministers' association after resolutions commending the mayor and the councilmen who had voted against the lease had been adopted.

The ministers assembled at the Methodist book room and prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Garbett Reed, president of the association, in which he asked that the "city might be delivered from harm and injury and from evil designs of evil men." The march to the city hall was then begun.

The mayor met the clergymen in his large reception room. The resolutions were delivered to him by Dr. Reed in a brief speech, and remarks were also made by several other clergymen, all in protest of the pending lease.

The mayor in replying, among other things, said:

"You have already seen what I think of the gas lease. Within twenty-four hours after the passage of that bill by the two branches of the council I made up my mind what I would do. No living soul knows what I propose to do except myself, and I might say to you now that I shall carry out my purpose to the end. Your meeting has not changed my views. I had but one view and that was if I could help it the gas lease as proposed should never be foisted on the city of Philadelphia. As to the methods that I have myself worked out to prevent this, that is something that will develop within the next few days. But I say to you, as I said before, that I will use the utmost of my power to prevent what I believe is the greatest iniquity upon the city of Philadelphia.

"The present lease is infinitely better than the other two, and why should I be asked to consent to the city giving away a contract that we now have by which we must receive in annual revenues at least $25,000,000 in the next twenty-four years and with the increase in the consumption of gas probably $40,000,000, and then at the end of twenty-two years we would get back without any charge against it the great gas plant, with all its franchises and with all the money expended upon it by the United Gas Improvement company? That plant, I believe, would be worth to the city from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000, so that by the proposed lease we should be practically giving away without any return the present gas plant, which will be worth at the expiration of twenty-two years from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000."

The committee of seventy has planned a mass meeting to be held in the Bourse tonight, and other mass meetings against the lease will be held during the week.

NELSON WAS EASY.

California Boxer Too Much For the Fighting Dane.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Battling Nelson made his first appearance in the prize ring in this city last night and proved a rather easy proposition for Abe Attell of California. It was the old story of the finished boxer against a fighter. Attell's cleverness proved too much for Nelson, and in the first four of the six rounds of the bout the Californian jabbed Nelson at will. In the fifth round Attell's strength began to wane, but he was able to hold Nelson easily.

It was a good, fast bout from start to finish. The way Attell started in it looked as though Nelson would not last the six rounds, but what he lacked in cleverness he made up in gameness and ability to take punishment.

All through the first four rounds Attell jabbed Nelson in the face and in the stomach and got away without receiving a blow. In the second and third rounds, however, when Nelson led he caught Attell several times hard on the jaw without doing any damage. In the latter part of the fourth Nelson sent Attell to the floor, but he was on his feet in an instant.

The fifth round was slightly in favor of Nelson, as was also part of the sixth. In the latter part of the sixth round, however, Attell recovered himself and was hammering Nelson with rights and lefts when the bell sounded.

WAITS FOR RUSSELL

Bowen-Loomis Case Postponed For Witness.

WAS OUR SECRETARY AT CARACAS

President's Decision Put Off—J. C. Dater, a Witness, Was Taxed by Bowen With Bad Faith, but Later Was Exonerated.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The further investigation of the Bowen-Loomis matter has been postponed pending the arrival in this city of William W. Russell, late minister to Colombia, whom Mr. Bowen wants to have examined before any decision on the case is reached. Mr. Russell was secretary of legation under Mr. Loomis when the latter was minister at Caracas.

When Mr. Bowen after talking with Secretary Taft about the testimony of John C. Dater, a New York newspaper correspondent, asked to have Mr. Russell called as a witness Secretary Taft secured the president's permission to delay further investigation until Mr. Russell reached here.

John G. Dater, the reputed author of the newspaper publication containing the charge against Assistant Secretary Loomis, which forms the basis for the case, had a talk with Secretary Taft. He was called with special reference to Mr. Loomis' countercharge that Mr. Bowen had supplied to the press information upon which the publications were based. Mr. Dater declined to say what took place between himself and Secretary Taft.

After he left the secretary's office he was taxed by Mr. Bowen with a betrayal of confidence in connection with the publication of the charges, an imputation which he denied. Subsequently Mr. Bowen after talking further with Mr. Dater admitted that he had done an injustice in making such a charge.

Casper Whitney of New York, another witness summoned to Washington, has been examined by the president, but it is stated he had no material evidence to contribute to the issue.

Minister Russell was cabled a week ago at Bogota to come to Washington, not in connection with the Bowen-Loomis matter, but to discuss with the authorities here his treatment of affairs at Caracas, with special reference to the asphalt controversy. It is not intended to take any action in this matter probably until congress meets next fall, provided nothing happens in Venezuela to force an issue.

The press advices from Caracas indicating that the resources of the law have not been exhausted and that an appeal has been granted to a higher court makes it the easier for the government here to proceed in this leisurely fashion, it was explained at the war department.

The president has decided to postpone his decision in the Bowen-Loomis controversy until after Mr. Russell's arrival and examination. Mr. Russell is on his way from Bogota and probably will not reach Washington for two weeks. Mr. Bowen has been advised that he may go to his home and need not return to Washington until Mr. Russell reaches this country.

Plainfield, N. J., May 23, 1905.

Father Egan was in the priesthood of the Catholic church just a quarter of a century yesterday. May he live many more years to pursue his sacred calling!

When Mr. McCardell launched the boom for Mr. Fisk for State senator at the Carnival he voiced the sentiment of the Republicans in Plainfield at least. No finer selection could be made in filling the nomination and the dominent party in Union will lose a great opportunity to name a worthy successor to Judge Cross if it fails to offer the office to Plainfield's foremost citizen.

It is estimated that there will be an increase of at least $10,000,000 in the realty valuation in this city when the assessors make their official report. This will be a remarkable showing for one year and will demonstrate a healthy growth that is bound to continue. The high figures at which property in the central part of the city has sold in recent months surely indicated a great advance in the assessed valuation but that it would be so big was not generally expected.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Dunellenites who set out for home on the last connecting car from the carnival Saturday night had a combination of troubles in reaching the end of their destination. To begin with, they had to wait an hour for the Dunellen car at the Watchung avenue depot, and didn't start on the second stretch homeward until 12:30 a. m. That made them feel bad enough, and their feelings slopped over completely when the conductor put them out at Grant avenue. There was some varied language along the way as the eighty-two weary pleasure seekers trudged toward home afoot. The talk and indignation had not died down very much yesterday.

George Reinhart was in Elizabeth yesterday to testify in the suit for $30,000 brought by the widow of John Stein against the Central railroad. All the evidence was handed in by the time court adjourned and the case will probably be decided by the jury today.

Love's Young Dream.

"Wouldn't it be lovely, George, dear," murmured the romantic maid, as the sleigh started off after he had tucked the robes carefully about her, "if we could only go through life to the end in this blissful manner?"

"I'm not so sure about that," replied the practical, matter-of-fact George. "It would not cost us much for fuel, but think of the livery bill."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Identity Assured.

Tourist.—Yes, while attending a bull fight in Seville I met a wealthy Chicago butcher.

Friend.—How did you know he was a butcher?

Tourist.—Because he was more interested in what the bull brought when killed than he was in the fight.—Chicago News.

The Exception.

"Well," said Mr. Titewad, putting down his paper, "that woman who got all that money from those bankers certainly was shrewd. Seems like a woman can always get money from a man, no matter how cautious he is."

"She can," remarked Mrs. Titewad, "so long as she isn't married to him."—Judge.

WISE.

Jessie—Still single! Why, the last time I saw you you were seriously contemplating matrimony.

Jack—Yes, I contemplated it so seriously that I decided never to marry.—Chicago Journal.

Her Safeguard.

So very prudish is fair May
That, when in gown decollete,
She always holds a big black fan
Beneath her chin, lest she may scan
What would offend her modest eyes.
I own, I think her very wise.
—The Chaperon.

Striking an Average.

"Their pay is shockingly small for some of our public officials," said the broad-minded man.

"Yes," answered the cynic; "but it averages up. Some of the public officials are shockingly small for their pay."—Washington Star.

Just Like a Man.

At last she was ready for church.

"What do you think of my new dress, dear?" she asked her husband.

"I haven't given it a thought," he replied. "I've been too busy thinking about the bill."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

He Didn't Do It.

"She said she'd be angry last night if I kissed her."

"Well?"

"Well, I might just as well have done it, for she seemed to be angry about something, anyhow."—Houston Post.

His Way.

Benks.—They say it isn't easy to keep a servant nowadays, but I've had the same cook for 20 years.

Jones.—That is a great record. How did you manage it?

Benks.—I married her.—Cassell's.

Getting Rid of the Bill Collector.

Short.—If Long calls with that little bill, tell him I'm out.

Mrs. Short.—But that would be telling a falsehood.

Short.—Nothing of the kind. I'm out of cash.—Tit-Bits.

A WEARY EXILE. FOR FORTY YEARS

SAD FATE OF VIRGINIAN WHO FOUGHT FOR THE UNION.

OSTRACIZED BY RELATIVES

Driven from Home at Close of Struggle by Jibes and Jeers of Former Friends—Dies a Hermit in California.

San Francisco.—Disowned and driven from home by a wife and children because he, a Virginian born, dared espouse the cause of the union, in the war of the rebellion, N. L. Blackman, a veteran of the civil war, a few days ago died the death of a hermit in the mountains near Cloverdale, in Sonoma county, Cal., with no comforting hand to soothe the last hours of mortal agony.

His unswerving devotion to the stars and stripes not only cost Blackman his family and loved ones, but his friends as well. Shunning the society of men, he plunged into the woods and sought in the friendly solitude of the forest relief from the cruel wrong inflicted upon him by unrelenting kin. There, in a rude cabin, with no conveniences save those fashioned by his own hands, he ran the course of his exile, dying, as he had lived, a hermit.

When the war broke out in 1861, old Virginia, the border land between north and south, was aflame with a fierce hatred for the north. Blackman, then a young man about 25, cast his lot with those who favored the union. His family importuned him to recede from his attitude, arguing that their good name would be forever smirched, but Blackman was obdurate. They beseeched him to take up arms and enlist, but to all entreaties he turned a deaf ear.

Finally he was drafted and compelled to serve in the confederate army. He absolutely refused to shoulder a rifle, however, and under compulsion only served as a roustabout carpenter and laborer.

Sullenly Blackman kept at his work and stood the jibes and jeers of his old friends as best he could. One day, however, it became unbearable, and he slipped away, making his escape into the union lines, where he took up arms in the regular army. His escape was discovered and a close watch kept upon all prisoners in the hope that he might be recaptured and punished.

There came a day, not long afterward, when the watchfulness of his confederate acquaintances was rewarded, and Blackman was brought back into camp, this time not only a deserter, but a union prisoner. Instead of shooting him, as would have been the fate of any other prisoner similarly captured, he was permitted to resume his former occupation of camp roustabout. He served thus for a time, plotting all the while to make his escape, for the jibes and jeers were worse than ever.

The fortunate day at last came, and Blackman not only escaped, but made his way to a union ship, where he was least likely to be caught again by his confederate enemies. Men were not plentiful aboard ship in those days, and Blackman's services were welcomed. He was put in charge of a crew of powder monkeys and superintended the passing of ammunition from the vessel's hold to the gunners on deck. In this capacity he served until the war's close, and had the satisfaction of seeing the stars and stripes triumph and his traducers beaten into submission.

Return home he dared not, for fear of abuse and possible bodily harm, so he stayed away, not knowing what had become of his young wife. There came a day, though, when the home hunger tugged at the heart strings so strongly that he turned toward old Virginia again, and after a lapse of years ventured back to the town of his boyhood, trusting that his relatives would be willing to forgive and forget and allow him to resume his place again in their midst.

But there was no home for him. His wife had a heart as hard as adamant. He might just as easily have forced water from a stone as pity from her, and forth he went, an exile, to wander the earth, doomed to be friendless all his days.

That was over two-score years ago, California beckoned him. It was so far away, the last of land, and would hide him forever from the cruel people who knew not the meaning of pity or forgiveness. Into the mountains he went, selecting a rough, timbered bit of land, miles away from the habitations, out in the very heart of nature's wildest depths. Here he built him a shack for shelter and eked out a bare existence by cutting and selling the wood which abounded on his property. He split pickets and hauled them to town, pausing only long enough to make his trade, secure a few supplies and slip away again into solitude.

When old age pressed its gathering infirmities upon his frame he began to think about a pension. He, who had given so much for his country, surely was entitled to that scant relief offered by a generous government to those who had served their flag and bared their breasts to the fire of the enemy. He made his application and was told that he had no standing—that he was a deserter from the union ranks, not because he had been captured, but because he had served subsequently in the confederate ranks.

Months and months went by. The department conceded his point that he had not borne arms, but set up the claim that he had not reported for final discharge. There was red tape and a long investigation by cranky officials, who a year ago finally gave sanction to a pension.

Five hundred dollars was sent the soldier-sailor who had lived a hermit, who had suffered ostracism for his convictions, the money representing the sum he would have received from the date of his original application. Having no immediate need for so much money, Blackman put it in a bank in Cloverdale, and there it lies to-day—the lawful property of those who spurned him in life and drove him into exile.

Once more his old heart softened. He sent $100 to a daughter in Virginia, believing that she could use it. But the money was returned. He was apparently still unforgiven.

But he had a soldier's funeral, did this poor old man. He had, during his last few years, mixed a bit now and then with a few of his kind in the town where he had come to procure supplies, and the grizzled, bent grand army veterans saw to it that he was buried with proper honors. They draped Old Glory over his plain deal coffin and he was laid away to wait the judgment day when the wrongs of men are made right by the Almighty.

SHE SLEEPS STANDING UP AGAINST A WALL.

Aged Woman Has Done This for Twenty Years to Keep from Having Bad Dreams.

Cleveland.—For 20 years Mary Dickerson, a servant in the family of Mrs. B. H. Smoot, has slept at night leaning against a wall while standing on her feet. Her case has just come to the knowledge of the local physicians, and has created much interest.

Mrs. Dickerson is 78 years of age, a small woman, but exceedingly strong and wiry for one of her years.

SHE SLEEPS STANDING AGAINST THE WALL.

She informed the physicians that for more than 50 years she was addicted to the use of morphine, but has cured herself of the habit through becoming converted at a religious revival.

"It's this way," she said. "When I took the dope I had the most terrible dreams. The more morphine I took the worse the dreams got. I found that when I took the dope and went to bed I would dream of falling into hell's fire or going through the worst tortures. I just couldn't stand it, and I'd have to get up and take more dope. I couldn't afford that. I had just money enough to buy a little of the stuff at a time, and couldn't afford to take it day and night. So I started to sleep in a chair. That was better, but the dreams still came, and so I started to sleep standing up. Then I had no bad dreams, and I've kept it up ever since. I couldn't sleep in bed now if I wanted to."

Eagle Tries to Steal Girl.

Long Prairie, Minn.—While school children were on their way home after school the other day a huge eagle swooped down and seized the five-year-old daughter of Loy Reamer and attempted to carry her away. The bird fastened its talons to the child's shoulder and her skirt, and lifted her several feet from the ground, when her frantic appeals for help were answered by several boys, who went to her assistance. They grasped her clothing, and their combined weight was more than the eagle could lift. It released the girl and sailed away. When young Blair seized the girl the bird struck him on the head with its wing, knocking him to the ground. The boys and girls had been watching the eagle sailing to and fro about 50 feet above the ground, when suddenly just as he was directly above them he closed his wings and dropped to the ground. The children attempted to flee, but as soon as they saw the bird seize their schoolmate, the boys turned back to rescue her.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

A Support For Lace Collars—China Silk Frocks For Children.

There is a simple little device for holding up thin unlined collars which is little known. It consists of several thin slides of real or rolled gold, which fasten inside the collar and clamp at the top with screws held in place by jeweled heads. In gold these collar supports are expensive, but in imitation quite inexpensive.

The collars this summer have reached amazing heights, whether they be made of linen, lace, jewels or velvet ribbon. Where they are going to end one does not know, as a depth of three and a half inches is considered by no means too high. The best cut collars are not uncomfortable, for they are scooped out under the chin and are set low down on the waist neck.

To take the place of endless gingham and cotton frocks for small girls over five are the thin, dark dresses made of china silk or soft pongee. They are made up without lining, and a variety of white cuffs and collars gives a bright and becoming touch to the dark frock. These silk dresses are especially good and serviceable for traveling wear.

Awfully pretty is the dressing jacket illustrated. It is made of flowered china silk. The shape follows the lines of the kimono with the exception of the capelike sleeves and the attractive curving of the neck. For trimming is chosen a border of plain china silk in the deepest shade of the prevailing tone in the flowered silk. Bows of ribbon to match find their hiding place at throat and arms.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

Pretty and Inexpensive Cotton Materials For Shirt Waists.

There are so many different inexpensive and pretty cotton materials for shirt waists that it is difficult to make a selection. Perhaps mercerized ginghams are the most satisfactory among the cheaper stuffs. This material comes in all colors and combinations of colors, especially pretty, though, are the jacquard or shot effects, the figures being in contrasting colors or of the ground tone.

Dotted effects seem to have taken the place of stripes in popular favor for shirt waist materials. Dainty pink and white ginghams are to be had in cross line checks dotted with self or other colors.

The plain tone ginghams, madras and batiste in light blue, tan and green are smarter than the figured effects, with white as first choice.

There is an expensive cotton voile that is being made up into shirt waist dresses marked at $1 a yard. The effects in this fabric are generally checks sprigged over with tiny rosebuds.

The Frenchy little shirt waist illustrated is of china silk. The front fullness, which crosses in fichu fashion, gets its start from an embroidered rever just above the bust line. The remaining parts of the fronts are plain except for a little fullness at the waist. The chemisette is of tucked mull and is ornamented down the front with two swiss embroidered motifs, one of which is finished with a jabot of mull. The sleeves are leg of mutton of three-quarter length and finished with four frills of mull. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MILLINERY MODES.

Ribbons and Roses on Summer Hats. The Polo Shape Is Chic.

Ribbons and roses seem to be the trimmings for hats this summer, but other flowers are also in favor. Particularly smart are hats trimmed with greenish white water lilies, flowers, egg shaped buds and leaves. On a green crin chapeau these lilies are charming mingled with a touch of dull pink velvet.

The polo toques are becoming more and more popular. They are charming when carried out in soft fancy straws with two prettily toned wings placed downward at one side of the little "pill box." Some of the latest shapes are quite square or else the front is straight and gives an appearance of squareness even when the hat is rounded at the back.

A charming example of this effect is a deep yellow fancy straw resembling somewhat a palm leaf fan in weave and shape. A bandeau lifts the hat off the face and is covered with soft folds of pale yellow tulle toward the face. Inside the wide brim, near the edge, is a two inch band of black velvet. Covering what would be a crown, but in this instance is more like a plateau, are large shaded Dijon roses and their foliage. Massed at the back, where the hat rounds up abruptly, are more roses and loops of black velvet ribbon. This model is very girlish and becoming.

The picture shows one of the newest small matinee toques from Paris. It is of black neapolitan straw with a brim composed of tea roses placed as close together as possible. The osprey is white and stands gracefully upright at one side of the front. Many of these toques have bunches of valley lilies instead of the osprey.

FASHION'S FLOTSAM.

Skirt Trimming About the Knees. Scalloped Louis XVI. Rings.

The new skirts have all their trimming arranged about the knees. A favorite style is that of a five inch band of the material put into five vertical tucks and edged with two broad tucks top and bottom. In other instances the tucked band is edged with braid or lace insertion.

The Louis XVI. ring, scalloped around the edges, is much worn, and diamond rings of this description are set in silver.

A useful hat of crinoline is in what is called burnt straw color. Around the crown of the small saucer shape are closely set rosettes of dull pink ribbon. The brim of the hat tapers off and comes into a band at the center of the crown, where it is caught in place by a straw medallion. The trimming at the back is also of ribbon rosettes.

Many of the belts worn with tailor mades are heavily braided. These braided belts are very smart worn with shirts of white linen, batiste or embroidered lawn.

Another belt is made of strands of black velvet ribbon boned and fitted with the point coming upward.

A charming novelty belt is of soft taffeta, gathered and boned with an entre deux of Irish crochet.

The child's summer dress illustrated is of blue and white striped French percale. This material makes up into the most useful morning frocks. The skirt is gathered very full about the waist. The bodice has something of a sailor effect and is finished with a collar of English embroidery. It laces up the front with fine white cord over small white pearl buttons.

BLEW SHERIFF'S HEAD OFF.

Negro, Supposedly Insane, Stands Off Police Near Waltman, Ky.

OWENSBORO, Ky., May 23.—Robert Shaw, a negro, supposedly insane, has killed Deputy Sheriff W. C. Brown and wounded seven other men near Waltman. The body of the dead man lies in front of Shaw's house, and the negro continues to defy officers who are seeking to arrest him.

It is probable the house will be burned in an effort to arrest the negro.

Shaw was terrorizing the community around Waltman when an appeal was sent to this city for help. A posse was at once formed, but as soon as they approached Shaw's house he opened fire.

Marshal Watson was shot in the face and Deputy Marshal John Jackson was shot in the back. Others wounded at that time were Dr. G. H. Plitt, who was shot in the hand; a boy named Howard and a boy named Pelly, both of whom were shot in the legs.

Later a posse, headed by Sheriff Kelly, went from Lewisport to Waltman and found Shaw sitting on his front porch. Shaw quickly barricaded himself in his house. The posse tried to storm the house, but the negro opened fire, wounding James Ford and John Robinson. He apparently had only small shot, which saved the lives of those he shot at. Shaw was shot at twice. He had two revolvers, but announced that he would save them for work at close range.

A great crowd gathered, but kept at a safe distance. Will C. Brown, a deputy sheriff of Hancock county, volunteered to go to the house and take Shaw. When within fifteen feet of the place Shaw fired, blowing Brown's head completely off.

No Pay For Lost Scalp.

BOSTON, May 23.—Mary Daniels, a fourteen-year-old operative at the New England Cotton Yarn company's mill at New Bedford, cannot recover for an injury received at the mill, according to a decision handed down by the Massachusetts supreme court. The girl's scalp was torn off as a result of the end of her hair braid becoming wound about one of the spool bearing shafts. It appeared that the company posted notices cautioning employees, among other things, against wearing hair which hung in braids.

Servian Cabinet Resigns.

BELGRADE, Servia, May 23.—The Servian cabinet has resigned. The resignation of the ministry was due to a crisis brought about by the failure of the government candidate for the presidency of the house to secure a majority when the skupshtina was summoned to sanction a proposed loan. The members of the cabinet told the king that they would remain in office if he sanctioned a dissolution of the skupshtina and the holding of a general election.

Wreck on New York Elevated.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Twelve women and eight men were injured, one woman so seriously that her life is despaired of, in a rear end collision on the Third avenue elevated road at One Hundred and Thirty-third street and Alexander avenue here. The accident occurred on the high curved track near the Harlem river. The motorman of the rear train declared he did not see the train ahead.

Duke of Sutherland at White House.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Duke of Sutherland was presented to President Roosevelt by Hugh O'Beirne, charge d'affaires of the British embassy. Later the Duke of Sutherland was the guest of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at luncheon.

Beautiful Women

realize that luxuriant hair of rich, youthful color always adds to their charms. The hair may be golden, black or brown, but when it becomes gray or faded there is an appearance of age, though she may feel as young as ever. Under these circumstances gray hair is a drawback to men and women.

Hay's HAIRHEALTH Keeps You Looking Young.

Always brings back the color and beauty of youth to gray or faded hair. Positively removes dandruff, kills the germ and stops hair falling. Does not soil skin or linen. Aided by HARFINA SOAP it soothes and heals the scalp, stops itching and promotes fine hair growth. Large 50c. bottles. Take nothing without Philo Hay Co. signature.

OLD FORGERS OUT OF BUSINESS

Annual Convention of Chiefs of Police at Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The annual address and report of Major Richard Sylvester of Washington, the president, and papers by William A. Pinkerton and Chief Alonzo W. Corey of Brookline, Mass., were the features of the first day's meeting of the twelfth annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Mr. Pinkerton's paper was on the subject of "Forgers and Their Fate." He said that until recent years there were many bands of professional forgers operating throughout the United States, realizing thousands of dollars yearly, whose leaders were practically immune from arrest because of the insufficiency of the evidence necessary to convict them.

"By the support of the Bankers' association, aided by the police officials," he added, "we have practically put the old time professional forger out of business until today there are only occasional forgeries, mostly by amateurs and for small amounts. In the past twenty-five years we have had to do with the conviction of possibly 500 forgers, and today I do not know of a single one of them out of prison who has any money. Like a great many other professional criminals, had they directed their talents in other directions, the majority might be successful business men."

Scenes of Wildest Disorder In British Parliament Last Night.

LONDON, May 23.—The sitting of the house of commons last night was marked by scenes of the wildest disorder, growing out of a motion by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman to adjourn the house in order that he might discuss the charge against Premier Balfour of having violated his pledge not to deal with the subject of colonial preference without first appealing to the country. Alfred Lyttleton, secretary of state for the colonies, was put up to reply to the Liberal leader, but the members of the Opposition shouted down his every attempt to speak, even after the premier had demanded a hearing for the secretary. Finally the speaker after he had exhausted every effort to quell the turbulence put into force for the first time a new rule empowering him to adjourn the house in cases of grave disorder.

Mr. Lyttleton showed the greatest self possession in his difficult position. Standing at the treasury table, flushed but immobile, times out of number he essayed to speak, beginning, "The prime minister," and always being shouted down with cries of "Balfour, Balfour! Let him defend his own honor! Let him fight his own battles!" etc.

Father Accidentally Shot His Son.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., May 23.—John Yarras, eighteen years old, of Summit Hill, was shot and killed there by his father, Jacob Yarras, a miner. In an ante mortem statement before Justice Breslin and the Rev. Joseph Kasparek the boy exonerated his father. He said they were shooting at a mark near their home. The revolver missed fire, and the boy handed it to his father for examination, when it was discharged. The bullet entered the left breast below the heart and passed through the lungs.

Threat to Kill W. G. Rockefeller.

MALONE, N. Y., May 23.—Great interest is being manifested here over a clandestine threat to assassinate William G. Rockefeller the moment he attempts to set foot on his princely Adirondack preserves at Bay Pond, which is something like 150 miles square in area. Mr. Rockefeller's perseverance in hunting down the assassin of Orlando P. Dexter, a New York millionaire who was shot while visiting the Rockefeller estate in February, 1903, is said to be one of the causes of dislike.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Brooklyn in a few months will have a twenty story tenement house, the largest in this city, and it will occupy a whole block. FAREWELL RECEPTION TO INTENDING VOYAGERS

GESANG AND TURN VEREIN HONORS PRESIDENT AND TWO OTHERS.

Members of the Gesang and Turn Verein and a large gathering of friends, filled Saengerbund Hall, last night, at the reception given the society's president, William Gartner, and also Louis Moraller and Max Mothes, who are to sail for Germany tomorrow on the steamer "Potsdam."

A committee had prepared an entertainment, the feature of which was a German farce, "Under the Doctor's Care," given by amateurs. The cast of characters was made up of Rudolph Bleyer, Walter Koeppel, Frank Neidig, Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. M. Mennenbach and Miss Clara Weber. The parts were well balanced and the laughable situations and mix-ups in a doctor's office kept the gathering in laughter for an hour.

Other numbers on the programme were songs by the singing section, solos by Charles Dressell; recitations by Otto Keller, August Wolf, Frank Neidig, Miss Josie Murphy and Miss Clara Weber and an address by Walter Koeppel. The guests of honor responded to the frequent expressions of good will extended for a safe and pleasant voyage.

They will spend the summer at former homes in the Fatherland and will return to America in September.

HOW TOWNSHIP PEOPLE WILL REGULATE SHOWS

PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCE INTENDED FOR GALVIN'S PARK.

The Fanwood Township Committee has passed to its second reading the proposed ordinance to regulate traveling and other shows, circuses, theatrical performances, plays, exhibitions, skating rinks and all other kinds of public amusements, the place or places in or at which same can be conducted or carried on in the township. The ordinance, when passed, will be sweeping in its scope as it allows the Township Committee to control everything in the way of public amusements, the attractions offered as well as the hours in which same can be conducted.

No public show or exhibition can be given without first obtaining a license from the Township Committee, the ordinance naming a fee of not less than $5 nor more than $200. The owners of lands or buildings must not allow any exhibition to be given upon their premises before first procuring the necessary permit; failing to do so they are liable to a fine to be named by the committee at its next meeting, which will be held Friday night, the ordinance at that time be moved to its third reading and after being advertised as required by law, will become an ordinance, going into effect at once.

That the license fee will be for Galvin's Park has not been disclosed but the committee will no doubt name a price fair to both management and township, as the ordinance has not been passed to abolish the park as many believe, but the committee from its experience in the past found it necessary to put a curbing rein upon the management so that the wishes of all fair-minded amusement lovers will be satisfied or the committee will have the power to revoke the license.

School Board Wants $70,000.

The local Board of School Estimate held a meeting last night at which $70,000 was fixed as the amount for the city to raise this year for school purposes. In all probability this will reduce the tax rate two cents, the new school rate being seventy instead of seventy-two as at present. The reduction has been made possible owing to the increase in property valuations.

SCENERY PAINTER'S WORK

Max Peterson, Theatre Artist in Denmark, a Painter Here.

WHAT HE HAS DONE

Taking Up His Old Occupation Temporarily to Prepare a Scene for Park Club Play.

Among the artists and illustraters who make their home here one who has led a most interesting career is the least known. He is Max Petersen, a Dane, who has lived here for several years.

Mr. Petersen is known to a good many people here, but to most of them he is merely a house painter. That they know him as a painter of boards and shingles is the result of Mr. Petersen's philosophical view of life and the bubble reputation.

Mr. Petersen is a skilful artist, portrait painter and scene painter, thoroughly schooled in the technique of his art. He studied in Denmark, and before he came to this country was one of the chief scene painters in the royal opera house—the state theatre—of Copenhagen, the Danish capital.

He grew tired of the old world and set sail to see what the new was like. He found it interesting enough and settled down in New York. There he became one of the scene painters at the Herald Square theatre, and thousands looked on his work and called it good. He tired of that in time, and came to Plainfield. His ideas on artistic reputation and remuneration had taken an unusual form in the course of years and he put them into effect.

"House painting is the easiest way to keep one's self going with brush and colors," he held, and holds today. "You have nothing to think about, no responsibilities, no gnawing at your own vitals. And no disappointments. You just put the paint on."

Which explains why Mr. Petersen became a painter of shingles and boards in the employ of James C. Hansen, of East Front street. It may be that Mr. Petersen will not always hold that the easy placing of tints and colors is good enough for one who can make fairy effects with them. Artists are not unapt to changing their views of things, and Mr. Petersen has continued to paint on canvas even while making money easily painting houses.

Yesterday morning Mr. Petersen started his first bit of scenery painting in three years. The Park Club has commissioned him to "do" a room in the style of the Empire, for the amateur theatricals to be given at the club next Friday night.

For that work Mr. Petersen's studio is a vacant store on Park avenue. His easel is the store floor. Seven huge sheets of canvas, each as wide as the store, are tacked to the floor and on these the artist will paint the walls and ceilings of the mimic room. Yesterday he was busy sketching in the outlines of the scene with a piece of charcoal on the end of a long stick. This manner of scene painting—with the canvas stretched on the floor—is the European method of procedure. On this side they stretch the canvas up-and-down and put on most of the colors from ladders and scaffolds, which Europeans painters regard as a cumbersome and unhandy method.

Mr. Petersen will have the elaborate Empire room finished by next Wednesday.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH TO HAVE A MEN'S CLUB

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

The young men of St. Stephen's church met last night at the home of the rector and discussed informally plans for the organization of a men's club in the parish. It was stated that use of the tennis courts at Hotel Netherwood had been secured for the summer and they will be in charge of the young men. The objects of the club will be to promote sociability and legitimate sports, and it is not at all unlikely that a baseball team will be organized within a short time.

Considerable enthusiasm was shown at last night's meeting. It was decided to postpone the election of officers until Wednesday night, at a meeting to be held at the home of the rector.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE WILL OPEN AUGUST 24 WITH HENRY W. SAVAGE'S "COUNTY CHAIRMAN"

OWNER W. J. COUNIHAM AND MANAGER W. H. GELATT BUSILY ENGAGED PREPARING FOR $15,000 IMPROVEMENTS TO THE PLAYHOUSE.

With the assured certainty that the alterations to the present Washington Hall building on West Second street will have been completed in time, W. H. Gelatt, who is to be business manager of the new Plainfield theatre, announced today that the opening would positively take place on August 24. For the initial attraction he has secured Henry W. Savage's original production of George Ade's political satire, "The County Chairman," perhaps the most successful comedy of recent years. The cast will be headed by Maclyn Arbuckle, who created the title role at Wallack's New York theatre, and George Thatcher, Plainfield's well-known minstrel man, will be seen as "Sassafrass Livingston," a part which has added still further laurels to his fame as a versatile actor.

OWNER COUNIHAN.

George Primrose's mammoth minstrel company will be the second attraction and for the third on Labor Dys, Manager Gelatt has booked "Running for Office," the musical comedy that aided the Four Cohans in their leap to fame. During September and October some of the Broadway successes to be seen are "Buster Brown," with Master Gabriel in the title role; the reigning Lyric Theatre hit, "Fantana," with Jefferson De-Angelis and winsome Katie Barry; "Little Johnny Jones," the musical comedy that has set the whole country to whistling, with George Cohan, Jerry Cohan and Ethel Levey heading the cast; "San Toy" and James T. Powers; Weber & Fields' original "Hoity Toity;" Nat M. Wills in "A Son of Rest;" Pete Baker in "The Legend of the Catskills;" Gus Hill's big company in "The Smart Set;" "The Seminary Girl" and the greater part of Al. H. Wood's popular priced attractions, mainly big scenic and melodramatic productions.

Owing to the magnitude of the majority of the plays to be seen the management will have to charge the New York prices, that is $1.50 for the best seats and dropping down to twenty-five cents for the others. This will not be the established rate as it is proposed to have popular prices prevail once or twice through the week, especially on Saturday night. This is the same system maintained at Jacob's Theatre at Elizabeth and has been found to be the most satisfactory where the grade of plays alternates.

W. H. Gelatt, who has charge of the present bookings, is a theatrical man in every sense of the word. For many years he was with Klaw & Erlanger, the greatest producers in the country, and what he learned from them has aided him in his recent ventures. Personally, he is the height of geniality and during his few visits to Plainfield in connection with the purchase of the building that is soon to be a theatre, he has made a host of acquaintances, all of whom acknowledge him to be a "fine fellow." W. J. Counihan, with whom he is associated, has been in the theatrical and show business all his life. At various times he has been with the Buffalo Bill forces, Barnum & Bailey, Shelby's Chicago Academy of Amusement, with John Haviland at St. Louis and for two years as business manager with Gus Hill's shows. He will make his home in Plainfield and will assume the personal management of the playhouse.

MANAGER GELATT.

A conference was held this morning between the theatre people and the Elks, who own the building at the present time. Former Mayor Fisk, Mayor Buckle, President of the Board of Trade Woolston and former Senator Reed, represented the Elks. Owner Counihan and Manager Gelatt as well as Architect Marsh and Building Inspector Deane were also present. The plans were approved as submitted after a few minor changes were made by the theatre people and work will be commenced next week.

Ben Totten, a former sheriff of Somerset county. Totten was precentor at the church.

Vice Chancellor Bergen at Trenton yesterday heard testimony and final argument in the case.

Alvah Clark, counsel for the defendant, in his summing up, called John VanDoren, the main witness for the petitioner, a liar and a sneaking tool. He charged him with concocting a scheme to have the Tottens separated.

From the testimony it appears that VanDoren, when "down and out," asked Totten for a job on a farm. He was to work for his board. He secured the position and claimed that he thus worked into the confidences of Totten. He produced incriminating letters against Totten.

Mrs. Totten sues for alimony pending the settlement of the suit and counsel fees. Allan H. Strong represents the petitioner and Alvah Clark, of Somerville, the defendant.

FINE BAND CONCERTS

Leader LaVere Now Arranging for the Summer Series.

FIRST ONE JUNE 9

Many New Features to be Introduced, Among Them Moving Pictures for Illustrating Songs.

Having completed his plans for this year's series of summer band concerts, Leader Ben LaVere yesterday had workmen begin the construction of a new stand at Concert Park on Chatham street east of Watchung avenue. They will be completed and the grounds in shape by next week, though the first concert is not to be given until Friday evening, June 9.

The grand stand will accommodate 1,000 people, a much larger number than was provided for last year, and will be twenty-five feet nearer the musicians. The seats are to be decidedly more comfortable and roomy aisles will allow moving about without disturbing anyone.

The stand for the band is also to be much larger and will have a gradual rise from the front to the rear. A circular roof is to cover the top in order to hold in the sound better, and other improvements are to be added that will greatly facilitate Mr. LaVere's work.

As for the concerts themselves, it is the aim of the promoter to have them eclipse anything of the kind yet furnished local people. Every member of the band, and there will be half as many again as in other seasons, will be a soloist with his own particular instrument. Mr. LaVere has already perfected arrangements for the opening night and through close friendship has secured W. S. Mygrants, one of the best known cornetists in the Metropolitan district. He is the only player in the country who can hold a note two and a half minutes and will do it at the first concert.

Besides the band there are to be other features each night, among them being two vocalists, moving pictures and illustrated songs. Before the first instrumental number, one of the singers will give a popular song and moving pictures will illustrate the chorus. This feature that was introduced in New York last fall and which proved highly acceptable. During the band intermission, the usual two songs wil be given with colored slides. An experienced electrician has been secured to arrange for them and they will be so placed that they can be seen from any part of the grandstand.

While Mr. LaVere has funds enough in hand from the recent fair to conduct the concerts for part of the season, their continuance will depend upon the patronage accorded the stands. A small admission fee will be charged and the aggregate will be placed in the general fund, of which M. C. VanArsdale is treasurer. The crowds that have attended the series in other years always appreciated the music and with the added attractions there should be no hesitancy on the part of the public to aid the project by occupying the stands.

MURRAY'S SHOWING IN BIG GOLF CONTEST

HE WAS AMONG THE THIRD SIXTEEN TO QUALIFY.

Roger F. Murray, of the Plainfield Country Club, was among the third sixteen to qualify in the championship play started yesterday under the auspices of the Metropolitan Golf Association. His score for the thirty-six holes was as follows: 90, 91—181. In the draw among those in the third sixteen he is paired with H. E. Armstrong, of Fox Hills, who made an 86, 95—181.

Eben M. Byers, of St. Andrews, won the score medal in the qualifying round with a score of 153. Archie Graham and Walter J. Travis were tied at 157. There were twelve more under 170, Arden M. Robbins heading the bunch with 162, while sixty-seven finished. This was eight more than finished last year, but it was the opinion of many that the liberal programme, splendid course and enterprise of the Fox Hills Golf Club deserved a much better entry.

Robinson-Taylor.

Miss Alice Taylor, of Richmond, Va., and James Robinson, of East Sixth street, were married Tuesday night by Rev. E. E. Jackson, at his home in Liberty street. Rev. Scott Wallace, of the Calvary Baptist church, was a witness. The couple will reside at the home of the groom.

RECITAL PLEASES PUPILS' FRIENDS

MISS MINNIE S. MARSH ENTERTAINS APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE.

Before a large and appreciative audience the pupils of Miss Minnie Scudder Marsh gave a delightful piano recital at her home on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. The programme, a most excellent one, was of double interest by reason of the fact that Mrs. George Stuart Ring, alto, and Miss Sarah Mae Howell, a former pupil of Miss Marsh, assisted and both were well received. Miss Marsh's pupils performed creditably and showed marked improvement in their work. The selections, all very difficult, were rendered with ease and expression, reflecting much credit upon the thoroughness of the method taught by Miss Marsh.

This was part first of the programme:

"Air de Danse," the Misses Katherine H. McCutcheon and Gladys Peck; "On the Meadow," Miss Ellen Hovey; "By the Spring," Miss Dorothy H. McCutcheon; "Start Up Waltz," Miss Emily Martin; "Curious Story" and "Dance of the Gnomes," Miss Anna Scott Yerkes; songs, "Since We Parted," "To My First Love," "You'd Better Ask Me," Mrs. George Stuart Ring; "Venetian Boat Song," and "Norwegian Dance," Miss A. Elizabeth McGee.

The Misses Howell, McCutcheon, Kaufman and Fisk opened part second of the programme with "Kris's March Der Priester," by Mendelssohn, which was followed with "Berceuse," by Miss Katherine McCutcheon, and "Idillio," by Miss Gladys Peck. Mrs. George S. Ring then favored the audience with "I Know a Lovely Garden," and Rose songs, "Because She Kissed It," and "In My Garden."

A feature of this part was the playing by Miss Howell. Her first selection was "Poeme Erotique," by Grieg, and the second, "The Wedding Day," by the same composer. In this could be distinguished the bridal party approaching the church, marked by the rythmic sound of the horses' feet; the quiet ceremony; the wedding bells, and the return home, making this quaint tone picture. This selection was received with great appreciation.

The recital closed with a quartette selection—"Schwanenlied und Mien's Jubelgesang," Wagner, by the Misses McCutcheon, Howell, Kaufman and Fisk.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS IN SESSION

GOV. STOKES SIGNS THE NEW AUTO BILL

ITS MOST IMPORTAAT PROVISION IS THAT INTENDED TO STOP RACING.

Gov. Stokes has signed the Automobile bill which passed the last Legislature. It will go into effect June 1.

All motor cars must be registered. A fee of $1 is charged. Every license must be preceded by the filing of a proper application. A license granted a machine when owned by one person shall not hold good if the machine is sold.

Every machine must be registered, except in the case of manufacturers, for whom a special provision is made. The machines when in use must have the license number on the front and back of the machine in figures not less than four inches high and one-half inch wide. Side lights must also show the number.

Speed is limited to a mile in three minutes, and such speed may be maintained, but not so as to endanger life, limb or property. Judgments are obtainable by suit at law for damages caused by negligent, careless or reckless handling of a motor car.

The racing or running of cars on bets or wager or in an effort to make a speed record are prohibited on the streets, roads and highways.

Fines for various offenses range from $15 to $100, doubling on second offense and in some cases involving at discretion, a ten days' jail term. Some arrests may be made without warrant, but usually the name and residence of the owner of the machine and the registered number of the license are to be taken. Any failure to give needed information justifies an immediate arrest.

NEWSPAPER VENDER BUCKS R. R. COMPANY

TOM CARTY DETERMINED TO SELL PAPERS AT THE STATION.

As a result of an action taken by the Union News Company against Thomas Carty, newsdealer, the latter has been compelled to remove his newsstand from Park avenue at the entrance to the eastbound station, but he still sells newspapers there, carrying them under his arm and being careful not to trespass on the railroad property.

This fight between the news company and Mr. Carty has been on for some time, the company doing all in its power to protect its interests for which it pays a large sum to the railroad company. The police department informed Mr. Carty this week that he would not be permitted to maintain a stand at the point in question as a license is required by law.

Moore-Hall.

Miss Mary Hall, formerly of Daytonville, Va., and Edward Moore, formerly of Petersburg, Va., were married last night by Rev. E. E. Jackson, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, at the home of the bride's parents in West Third street. They were attended by Waverly Carter and James Hartway, as groomsmen, and Miss Fanny Orite and Miss Rebecca Hamlin, as bridesmaids. A reception was held afterward at the home of Mrs. Abby Holmes, in West Third street, where a large number of relatives and friends gathered. The couple will reside in this city.

Rev. L. E. Livermore Chosen Moderator at Annual Conference of Eastern Assn.

AT NEW MARKET

Standing Committees Are Announced—Delegates Are Entertained at Dinner in Friendship Hall.

With nearly one hundred delegates in attendance the Seventh-Day Baptist Eastern Association conference began at 10 o'clock this morning in the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church, which on Sunday will celebrate its two hundredth anniversary. The association comprises all Seventh-Day Baptist churches east and south of the Hudson river, and includes Berlin, N. Y., Rockville, R. I., Ashaway, R. I., Hopkinton, R. I., Westerly, R. I., Waterford, Conn., New York City, Plainfield, New Market, Shiloh and Marlboro. The church at Cumberland, N. C., is represented by letter, all the other churches being represented by delegates.

New Market Seventh-day Baptist Church.

Miss Gertrude Stillman, of Ashaway, R. I., corresponding secretary, called the conference to order and Rev. L. E. Livermore, three times pastor of the New Market church, was chosen moderator. The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. S. R. Wheeler, of Marlboro, who made a short address on the presence and power of the Holy Spirit, applying his words especially to the work of the conference.

Rev. Henry N. Jordan, the present pastor of the church, delivered the address of welcome, extending general good will and welcome to all the delegates.

The morning sermon was preached by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, of Westerly, R. I., pastor of Gov. Utter, of Rhode Island. His theme was an expression of true Christian Spirit and urged the need of self-abandonment at this time, especially on the part of Seventh-Day Baptists. "When the Spirit takes hold of a man it makes a man of him," continued Mr. Burdick.

The preacher referred to Paul as a shining example of a man changed by the Spirit and said that all Christians should practice self-abandonment for the sake of the truth, at least. "What we need now," said Mr. Burdick, "is a persistence of purpose and strength of conscience."

Dr. Livermore then announced the standing committees as follows:

Nomination—L. D. Titsworth, Dunellen, D. H. Seowell, Berlin, N. Y., James Clawson, Plainfield; petitions—W. L. Burdick, Ashaway, R. I., Rev. S. R. Wheeler, Shiloh, Nathan Randolph, Plainfield; finance—W. L. Clark, Rhode Island, J. D. Spicer, Plainfield, and Rev. E. F. Loofboro, New York City.

The delegates were entertained at dinner in Friendship Hall by the women of the New Market church. The afternoon session began at 2 o'clock, with the regular order of the programme.

The various committees of the New Market church in charge of the convention and celebration arrangements are made up as follows: Entertainment committee, J. R. Dunham, chairman; J. G. Burdick, C. E. Rogers.

A baseball team composed entirely of Japanese is now touring this country.

CAPT. HASIDO.

The team is made up of students of the Waseda university of Tokio and they expect to play many of the leading college nines in this country before their return. From all accounts the little subjects of the mikado have mastered the intricacies of our national sport, and play a good game. "The departure of the Waseda team for America marked the beginning of a new era in the athletics of Japan," says Fred Merrifield, ex-captain of the Chicago university baseball team, who is at present coaching the Waseda nine. "Hitherto the Japanese players have measured themselves with the pick-up teams of the ports from the foreign warships, or at best by themselves. Of late years the local players have usually been easy victors over their American and English opponents, who have had little or no opportunity for practice. There seems to be nothing that these people cannot do if they set their minds to it. The Japanese students ordinarily wear white uniforms in their play, with blue socks or 'tabi' for footwear. No doubt such dress is much cooler in the hot weather, with no stockings or stiff shoes, but there is a corresponding loss of speed and quickness of start which spikes would at once make possible. Nor does the player feel at all backward about exposing his shins and calves to the sun and crowd, for it is the custom in this stockingless land to leave a brief space between the tabi and the loose robes. The native baseballs are a trifle smaller than our own, and do not keep their shape and hardness as well. The American balls, bats, etc., are not strangers, however, to these children of progress. All this apparatus may not be understood at once, but it is here and is used until it is mastered. Perhaps the breast protector will not hold air and is considered worthless. But when once that little screw at the side is understood no further questions are asked, and the rubber is always in good order. One day I was coaching a new pitcher on 'drops,' 'placing,' etc., and was acting as batter to help his eye. At a suitable stage in the process I turned to instruct the catcher on some point or other. The point was understood, and we were about to resume our positions, when zip! came the ball past my ear, and caught the unfortunate catcher square on the cheekbone. Two more points are illustrated; the catcher scarcely moved a muscle and never a sound came from his lips; he quietly walked away to bathe his swollen face. That is a bit of Japanese stoicism, for we all know how a straight ball stings. Again, the pitcher had been working so hard to master that new finger movement and 'locate' his batter that he all but did the opposite to his fellow player. That is Japanese persistence and eagerness, just a bit of it. There is another good point in the Japanese style of playing. They may not be good hitters yet and may not know much about curves, but they listen to the umpire and know how to accept decisions without a question, and the financial question has nothing to do with the matter, either. I have seen ball after ball skim the batter's eyes and 'Strike!' from the umpire would not affect his temperament in the least. The pitcher might put several telling drops over the outer corner, and if the slow-eyed umpire said 'Ball!' it remained without a murmur, although one acquainted with the situation knew of the disappointment suppressed because the game was in the balance, and these drops should have saved it. Give the Japanese a little more training in the fine points of the game, and I prophesy he will hit your curves, field, and slide with the zest, and make his share of the fun. And then, after bowing politely to the umpire, he will go home and teach his younger brother to do still better at the great game of baseball." Hasido is captain of the Wasedo team.

The University of Michigan has recently developed the best freshman distance runner that ever came to that school. His name is Rowe, and the other day he defeated his team mate, Coe, in a mile race, going the distance in 4:31 4-5. Rowe is the understudy of Kellogg, the fastest distance runner in the west up to his graduation from Michigan last June. Rowe to-day is every bit as good while still a freshman as Kellogg was at the height of his powers, and is running ten seconds faster than Kellogg ever did his freshman year. Like Kellogg, Rowe's best event is the two-mile run, and Michigan is counting on taking this event again at the conference, just as in the past four consecutive years. Rowe began his running very young, and in consequence he has no waist lineat all. His upper running muscles, especially above the hips and abdomen, are so enormously developed as to completely fill the space ordinarily allotted to graceful curves in men trained down as hard as Rowe. In his 4:31 4-5 mile run, made on a cold day not particularly conducive to speed, Rowe finished apparently good for better than 4:30 if he had been pushed. No western runner has yet done better than 4:30 in an outdoor collegiate contest. Rowe ran the entire last quarter of his fast race with one shoe so far off that he had to use a skating motion to keep from losing it.

CHICAGO'S BIG STRIKE.

Union Teamsters' Demands Finally Rejected—No Settlement In Sight.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Final rejection of union teamsters' demands, especially those of the express drivers, was officially announced here by the employers, thus annulling any present settlement of the teamsters' strike. The employers demand unconditional surrender. Neither side in the strike made a direct step toward peace, and each was apparently waiting the next move of the other. The employers sent their goods all over the city under police protection without encountering violence.

Extra fire protection for the lumber district has been provided by Fire Marshal Campion. J. M. Embree of the Rittenhouse & Embree Lumber company requested Marshal Campion to station extra steamers in the district and promptly met with a favorable reply. Other employers united with Mr. Embree in stating apprehension as to fires in the lumber district.

"Ninety-eight per cent of the lumber business in the city is now crippled," declared Secretary Hooper of the Lumbermen's association. "It is only a matter of a short time when that per cent of the building operations of the city will cease. We are now calling on the Employers' association for teamsters, and until we get them the building business will necessarily suffer."

Reports to Governor Deneen indicated the situation to be so serious that the governor abandoned a trip to Thebes, Ill., where he was to have been present today at the opening of the new bridge across the Mississippi river.

President C. P. Shea of the Teamsters' union, James B. Barry, business agent of the Express Drivers' union; Bernard Mulligan, president of the Express Drivers' union, and John H. Donahue, a member of the Express Drivers' union, will appear before Judge Kohlsaat in the United States court this morning. Attorney Mayer, acting for the Employers' association, will ask that the men be sent to jail on a charge of contempt of court in refusing to answer questions before Master In Chancery Sherman, which questions they had previously been ordered to answer by the court.

ASK ROOSEVELT'S AID.

Clarence Whitman Would Have President Intervene.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—An effort has been made to induce President Roosevelt to take an active interest in the complications which have arisen in the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance society. Clarence Whitman, president of the Merchants' association of New York, had a conference with the president on the subject. It is known that Mr. Whitney urged the president to take up the subject with a view either to ordering a government investigation or to making recommendations to congress on the subject of insurance legislation.

Mr. Whitman's suggestion was not the first of its kind the president has received. In a letter from a prominent New York man, whose name is not disclosed, the president recently was urged strongly to institute an investigation into the Equitable's affairs by government officials.

It can be said that up to this time the president has not seen his way clear to the taking of any action in the case of the Equitable company specifically.

Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporationus is engaged now in an effort to determine whether the government has authority to make an investigation of a specific character into the insurance question without action on the matter by congress.

CUTE GAME FOILED.

Cruel Attempt to Defraud Colonel Roebling by Fake Telegram.

TRENTON, N. J., May 25.—No trace as yet has been found of Siegfried Roebling, the fourteen-year-old grandson of Colonel Washington A. Roebling of this city, who recently ran away from Asheville, N. C., leaving behind a note saying that he was going to tramp about the country and would return in June. An attempt was made to defraud Colonel Roebling in connection with the boy's disappearance. Colonel Roebling received from New York this telegram purporting to be from his grandson:

"Grandfather—Please telegraph me $50 at once. Expected to but did not go south. Will come over and explain."

The telegram was signed Siegfried and came from 1257 Broadway, New York.

Colonel Roebling did not send the money, but instead sent one of his employees, Victor Norman, who succeeded in having the sender of the telegram arrested, who was not the grandson. Colonel Roebling has left for New York to appear against the arrested person, who will be charged with fraud.

Decision Favors Westchester Road.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 25.—Attorney General Mayer last night announced his decision denying the application of Anthony Stump, a stockholder in the New York and Portchester Railroad company, for the bringing of an action in the name of the people with the object of obtaining a judgment declaring invalid the charter of the New York, Westchester and Boston railroad. The decision is the culmination of a long battle between the two corporations.

Mrs. J. M. Palmer Very Ill.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 25.—Mrs. John M. Palmer is critically ill at her home in this city with heart trouble. She is the widow of General John M. Palmer, former governor of Illinois, United States senator and Gold Democrat candidate for president of the United States in 1896.

COURT HITS WEAVER

Injunction Replaces Dismissed Philadelphia Officials.

MAYOR MEETS ROOT IN NEW YORK

Interviewed on Arrival, Said He Wished to Consult With His Counsel on Entire Situation in Gas Grab War.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—The political situation assumed a new phase here when Director of Public Safety Smyth and Director of Public Works Costello, who were removed from office by Mayor Weaver, obtained a temporary injunction from Judge Ralston in the common pleas court restraining the mayor from removing them from office and also an injunction against Colonel Sheldon Potter and A. Lincoln Acker, their successors, from performing the duties of their respective offices. Argument on the injunction will be heard next Monday.

Application for the injunctions was based on the words "until our successor has qualified," which were a part of the letter of resignation of Smyth and Costello forwarded to the mayor.

The deposed directors claim that their successors cannot qualify until they have been confirmed by the city councils and their bond has been accepted.

The leaders in opposition to Mayor Weaver announce that their lines remain unbroken, that the gas lease will be passed over the mayor's veto next week and that the lease will be put into operation.

As soon as the mayor's advisers had learned of the action of the county court they prepared to take the case to the state supreme court. An appeal against the action of the lower court was filed at a late hour.

The new directors were in office about two hours. Their short incumbence had its humorous side. All morning a stream of visitors had been calling on the new directors to congratulate them. After the new directors went out and the old officials went in visitors were still arriving. One citizen not acquainted with the new or old directors came to the office of the director of public safety to congratulate Mr. Potter. He was about to shake hands with Mr. Smith when he was told of the quick change that had taken place.

Mayor Weaver on arrival in New York for the purpose of consulting with Elihu Root on the situation in the Quaker City regarding the lease of the gas works was interviewed as he stepped from the train.

"I am in the fight to the finish," he said, "and believe that I will win out.

"I do not expect that my opponents will take the matter to the legislature, but I am not anticipating any moves my enemies may make until they make them."

"What is your object in seeing Mr. Root?" he was asked.

"I want to consult with him as to the legality of my position and on the entire situation as it exists now in Philadelphia."

When asked if there was any change in the situation in Philadelphia the mayor replied that there was no material change.

"You can say this for me," he remarked emphatically:

"Politics will never govern and can never govern the will of the people. Politicians must obey their constituents and not command them. The people of Philadelphia are tired of 'graft.' The gas franchise was the final straw."

When asked if his fight against the Republican organization would prevent his getting into office again he said:

"Well, I don't know about that. However, I am ready to sacrifice any political ambition that I may entertain in order that the interests of the people might be subserved.

"My critics probably realize now that there is some backbone after all and some good left in 'Sinful Weaver.'"

Mayor Weaver took exception to Dr. Parkhurst's remark before sailing for Europe that Philadelphia was the "rottenest city in the world."

"We'll wait and see who wins out," said the mayor, with a prophetic shake of his head.

The mayor refused to discuss his future course in the gas steal war, but intimated that there would be further developments before long if he was convinced that his position was tenable.

Mr. Weaver had a telegram from Dr. Lyman Abbott, which read:

"Congratulations on your grand fight in the interests of good goverment. It is what the American people need."

Mr. Root was waiting at his office for the mayor, and immediately after he arrived both entered a carriage and were driven rapidly away. No one at the office would say where they had gone, but it is believed they went to a club to hold their consultation.

The city is in gala attire. In all windows on Chestnut street, North and South Broad street, Market street and even in residential portions of the city the stars and stripes are fluttering defiance to the organization. Mayor Weaver came to his office in his automobile, and his route from his Overbrooke home to the city hall was one long ovation.

At times he could hardly work his way through the crowds that gathered in the streets to shake his hand.

BOMB KILLS PRINCE

Governor of Baku, an Officer and Citizen Assassinated.

COACHMAN WAS FATALLY WOUNDED

Siedlce's Chief of Police Severely Injured by Dynamite Missile. Cossack Raiders Penetrate Japanese Line.

LONDON, May 25.—A special dispatch from Baku, Caucasia, says that the governor of Baku, Prince Nakachidze, has been assassinated by a bomb which was thrown at his carriage.

A lieutenant who was accompanying the governor and a bystander were also killed by the explosion, and the coachman is believed to have been fatally wounded.

At Warsaw, Russian Poland, the chief of police of Siedlce (capital of the government of that name) was severely injured by the explosion of a bomb at midnight. He was sitting on the veranda of a club when an unknown man approached and hurled a bomb at him.

The missile, however, fell short, but exploded near enough to the chief of police for fragments to injure him seriously. Three other persons were also injured. The man who threw the bomb escaped.

Four persons were killed and thirty wounded in a fight at Warsaw last night between Jewish workmen and the Jewish keepers of disorderly houses. Both sides used knives. The dead and wounded were terribly mutilated.

The news from the front continues to point to the proximity of fighting on a large scale. Lieutenant General Linevitch sent Lieutenant General Rennenkampf's Cossacks on a daring expedition around Field Marshal Oyama's left. Rennenkampf succeeded in penetrating to the rear of the Japanese, but paid dearly, his Cossacks, to the number of 300, being killed and the brigade badly cut up.

Many believe that General Linevitch is trying to take the offensive out of Field Marshal Oyama's hands. The latter has made all preparations against the possible interruption of his communications and the cessation of the transport service from Japanese ports. All re-enforcements available and immense quantities of provisions and munitions of war have been landed at Yinkow and Dalny since Vice Admiral Rojestvensky appeared in the straits of Malacca.

In naval circles it is now generally assumed that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadrons are in the Pacific steaming northward and giving the Pescadores, Formosa and the Luchu islands a wide berth in order to minimize the danger of a concentrated torpedo attack under cover of these islands and to force Vice Admiral Togo should he elect to accept battle to meet him in the open.

All idea that the Russian admiral will attempt to force a passage of the Korean straits has been abandoned.

BRYAN EXPLAINS.

Bennett-Bryan Will Case Hearing at New Haven, Conn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 25.—At the Bennett-Bryan hearing here Judge Stoddard took up the item of $2,500 for Mr. Bryan's own services. Said he, "Mr. Bryan, what did you charge $2,500 for?"

"For usual and extraordinary services as executor," replied Mr. Bryan.

"What were the usual and what were the extraordinary services?"

"The usual services were those performed as executor, and the extraordinary services were those in contesting the attempt to remove the executor and in defense against the attacks upon the will itself."

"I ask you what have you done in settlement of this estate?"

"I have discharged the duties of executor to the best of my ability, and while I have allowed the attorneys to put into the account what they thought to be a fair charge for my services I intend to use a part of that money to carry out the desire of Mr. Bennett for which he set apart certain trust funds. The inheritance taxes have reduced the trust funds, and I shall use about $1,300 to make up the deficiency.

"The wish of Mr. Bennett was that prizes be given in about forty colleges for excellence in essays on the topic 'Free Principles of Government,' and the money for the prizes was provided for in the will."

Afterward Mr. Bryan was questioned as to the items included in his own fee for services of $2,500. He was asked whether it included pay for any trips from his home in Nebraska to New York or New Haven in connection with the bequest of $50,000 for himself and family contained in the sealed letter left by Mr. Bennett. He replied that it did not include those trips. After the close of the session Mr. Bryan paid a call on Mrs. Bennett, the widow of Philo Bennett.

WILL DEPORT OFFICIALS.

Pere Marquette Road Men Ordered Away From St. Thomas, Ont.

DETROIT, Mich., May 25.—Railroad circles here were deeply stirred by news from St. Thomas, Ont., that Judge Winchester had ordered the deportation of some of the officials of the Pere Marquette railroad in Canada. The decision came as the result of an investigation into charges that the railroad had been following a policy of replacing residents of Canada and men of unquestioned competency with officials brought from the United States.

The men ordered deported are Superintendent J. S. Pyeatt, Trainmaster E. Cain, Chief Dispatcher J. R. Gilhula, Assistant Master Mechanic J. McMany, General Foreman Geoning, Assistant General Foreman Shoemaker, Assistant Engineer O. C. Laseur, Foreman Osborne of the interlocking plants and signals, Private Secretary O'Laughlin of the superintendent's office and Storekeeper Hunter, all of St. Thomas, and Edgar Britton, district passenger agent at London, Ont.

The officials affected are allowed time to arrange their affairs and for the railroad to carry an appeal to the government authorities at Ottawa.

It is understood that steps already have been taken toward an appeal, General Counsel Frederick W. Stevens of the Pere Marquette road holding that the alien contract labor law of Canada does not apply in this case or in any case involving such skilled labor as is required of the officials in question.

TANYA WON BELMONT STAKES.

Harry Payne Whitney's Filly Beat Blandy and Hot Shot.

NEW YORK, May 25.—More than 20,000 persons saw Harry Payne Whitney's three-year-old filly Tanya, by Meddler-Handspun and ridden by Hildebrand, win the rich Belmont stakes at Belmont park, defeating the best three-year-old colts and fillies in the east. August Belmont's Blandy, winner of the Withers stakes, was second and J. E. Madden's Hot Shot third. Tanya was a heavily played favorite, closing at 11 to 5, having been backed down from 3 to 1.

The start was good, and Hildebrand at once sent Tanya to the front, followed by Wild Mint. These two raced away from the field and at the end of the first quarter had a lead of eight lengths. They ran head and head for one-half a mile, where Wild Mint quit. Meanwhile Hot Shot, Blandy and Merry Lark were alternating in third position. In the run through the stretch Tanya began to tire, and Blandy, closing very strong under Davis' hard ride, forced Hildebrand to ride the filly out to win by one-half a length. Blandy was three lengths in front of Hot Shot. The others were strung out.

F. R. Hitchcock's Vendor won the Eclipse stakes, beating Sidney Paget's Jacobite by three-fourths of a length. Battleax, from the Whitney stable, the favorite, was third. Mackey Dwyer won the Grand National steeplechase. Summaries:

First Race.—Tommy Waddell, first; Champlain, second; Whorler, third.

TAFT AT COLUMBUS

Attends Ohio Convention as Temporary Chairman.

DISCUSSES REVENUES AND TARIFFS

"Must Be Permanent Remedy For Government Deficit"—"Interstate Commerce Law Has Accomplished Much."

COLUMBUS, O., May 25.—The Republicans of Ohio were represented by more than 1,100 delegates when the state convention to nominate a governor and other state officers was called to order, while the big auditorium was well filled with others who had been attracted by the fact that Secretary of War Taft, as temporary chairman, was to deliver the opening speech in this year's political campaign.

Secretary Taft discussed the deficit in the revenues and said the Republicans must provide a suitable means of avoiding a real and permanent shortage of cash if next year witnesses a repetition of the deficit. He said he doubted that appropriations can be cut sufficiently to wipe out the deficit and continued:

"There remain two alternatives, either to impose additional internal taxes or to readjust and revise the tariff. We have repealed the war taxes which afforded a large revenue, and the eight years of the present Dingley tariff have seen in this country a prosperity never before witnessed in the civilized world. If the deficit continues in serious amount, then in one way or the other either our taxation on imports or our internal revenue system must be changed to meet the shortage, with every effort to cause the minimum of business disturbance.

"A congress of the United States has been elected which will meet regularly the 1st of December, possibly earlier by the call of the president, before which the issue of regulation of railroad rates and the method of meeting the deficit must come for decision."

Discussing railroad rate legislation, the secretary said that the interstate commerce law had accomplished much, but that inequality and injustice remained. Of the proposed remedial bill as it passed the house of representatives the secretary said:

"It attempts to give more power to the railroad commission, so that its orders when made shall be effective until set aside by judicial hearing. It does not as yet provide for a general fixing of a table of rates by the commission, but only calls for a fixing of a maximum rate upon complaint with respect to a specific instance of injustice. It seems a moderate measure, calculated to give the added power to the commission necessary to effectiveness to remedying an all powerful tribunal which shall in advance take away from railways the power of rate making and of elastically responding to varying conditions. It will not thus paralyze individual effort in meeting the changing demands of trade."

Want It on "Peggy Stewart Day."

Platt of New York, called on the president to suggest to him that the remains of John Paul Jones be deposited in the crypt at the Annapolis Naval academy Oct. 19 next, known throughout Maryland as "Peggy Stewart day." The president informed the delegation that no definite decision yet had been reached in the matter.

Plainfield, N. J., May 25, 1905.

When its city fathers start looting the city by handing over its gas works to a syndicate in defiance of the people, even the Liberty Bell is unsafe in the much pillaged Philadelphia.

The New York World today refers editorially to John Moody as "the eminent authority on corporation statistics," which is a deserved recognition of one of Union county's honored citizens.

While the people in Elizabeth, New Brunswick and other nearby places gave up their hard earned "dough" to see a traveling circus, the people here "coughed up" liberally to have just as much fun at the carnival. The only difference was that the receipts in other cities was taken away, while a good bulk of the thousands taken in at the carnival will remain right here in Plainfield and will be spent for the public good.

Midgley, of Elizabeth, will present the claims of the mission field of the denomination.

Rev. H. K. Carroll, LL.D., will describe his recent trip to South America at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday at 4 p. m. Miss Grace J. Carroll, contralto soloist of the choir of the Crescent Avenue church, will sing.

Rev. Dr. Willson, of New York, will speak at the Alliance meeting in the W. C. T. U. room. The afternoon meeting begins at 2:45 and the evening meeting at 7:45.

Rev. L. E. Livermore, formerly of the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church, is visiting friends in Plainfield and New Market.

The members of St. Mary's Guild of St. Stephen's church will hold a social at the home of the rector, Rev. A. S. Peck, tonight.

NEWSPAPERS ON TRENTON TROLLEYS

NEXT IT IS EXPECTED MAGAZINES WILL COME AND THEN PERHAPS LIBRARIES.

The Public Service Corporation has began to run cars hourly to Trenton and on these cars, on Monday and, according to an order that has just gone forth, will be files of the principal metropolitan and New Jersey newspapers.

The length of the Trenton run is the reason for the order. Pretty scenery, say the Public Service Corporation officials, may make a road seem short, but a newspaper will make the occupant of a car forget that he is traveling.

Following the advent of the newspaper it is only a matter of time when magazines will go into the cars. On the line that runs between Boston and New York even books are used, which may be had by application to the conductor.

Should the idea go further there is no knowing where it might stop. A trolley commuters' library might be formed. Every person buying a Trenton ticket would be entitled to a coupon and so many coupons would give him the right of a ticket. A locker library could be installed in the cars, and, upon presentation of the card, the commuter could get any book in the library.

John's skates are roller skates.

AN INDIAN HEROINE

SHOSHONE WOMAN RECEIVES TARDY RECOGNITION.

Faithful and Intelligent Guide and Interpreter of the Lewis and Clark Expedition—Bronze Statue in Her Honor.

The Lewis and Clark exposition pays honor to a brave woman, an Indian squaw, whose untiring aid was of greatest benefit to the intrepid explorers that made the famous journey across the wide continent a century ago.

The woman's name is Sacajawea, pronounced Sak-ah-ja-we-ah, the accent on the fourth syllable. Concerning the importance of the part played by her in the expedition, a writer declares: "Sacajawea, or Tsakakawea, as some authorities write her name, was the bird woman who guided Lewis and Clark across the mountains and who, on several occasions, aided the explorers when all hope of ever seeing the ocean seemed lost. Next to Jefferson, who sent them, it is Sacajawea who guided them, who the exposition managers think deserves to be eulogized with Lewis and Clark."

It is a rather tardy recognition this country is bestowing on this woman, but a graceful recognition; though late, a noble tribute. An heroic bronze statue of the heroine is to stand in the center of Columbia court, which is the central plaza of the exposition. The statute, which cost $7,000, was executed by a woman, Miss Alice Cooper, of Denver.

And speaking of this monument to a member of the red race, reminds there is evidence that far and wide artists and sculptors are making haste to preserve the intensely interesting fragments of history of the Indians, are living the half-primitive life with them that they may catch the spirit of this strange people, now fast fading away. Miss Cooper had for her model a Shoshone girl, for a member of this tribe was Sacajawea.

The way she happened to be a member of the Lewis and Clark expedition is as follows: Captured as a girl by the enemies of the Shoshones, the Mintares or Blackfeet, she was sold by the captors to Charbonneau, a French-Canadian voyageur, and became one of his three slave wives. Charbonneau became attached to the expedition as interpreter, and Sacajawea accompanied her master.

From Fort Mandar, where Charbonneau joined Lewis and Clark in the toilsome journey up the Missouri, Sacajawea not only drudged patiently, but early rendered the party valuable services. At one time, with her husband and child traveling in a canoe that held the scientific instruments, valuable papers and medicines, the canoe was caught in the rapids and began to fill with water. The Indian woman, who saw the papers floating out on the water, rescued them before she turned attention to her child. This was the first notable instance of the courage and presence of mind that distinguished her long period of service with the explorers.

The fact that she was a Shoshone helped the party immensely when they came into the country of these Indians. Sacajawea immediately made friends with the squaws and recognized the chief as her brother. There was mutual recognition and joy, and the strangers were treated most hospitably by the Shoshones. They were given horses, directed as to routes, shown every courtesy. From this time on Sacajawea was looked upon as something more than a slave woman. She became the most important of the interpreters.

In a time of lack of food, she gave Lewis a piece of bread she had saved for her baby. "The annals of white man's history presents no more vivid story of sacrifice of heroine for hero. May the Indian woman henceforth share with the sturdy captains the glory of their exploit, as she shared with them the dangers and the toils of the journey and the piece of bread she had saved for her babe."

On the return journey Sacajawea twice directed the party when everyone else was lost; she showed Capt. Clark the way out of the Ross hole on July 6, 1806, and piloted him over the Bozeman pass to the Yellowstone.

At the close of the expedition the captains gave Charbonneau $500 for his services; Sacajawea received nothing. "Sacajawea lived on with her husband the old life that she had been accustomed to. From having been the moving spirit of an expedition which made its leaders famous all over the world, and which resulted in a vast acquisition for the country they served, she became once more the slave wife."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 28.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Missions in Roman Catholic countries.—Ps. lxvii, 1-7.

Christianity was introduced into many countries of the world by the Roman Catholic church, and in many nations of the world the only conception of Christianity which the people have is that which they have received from the teachers of the Catholic church, and in many instances when Protestant missionaries enter into these fields they find "the people living in darkness, degradation and sin." In such countries as South America and Mexico conditions of ignorance and of superstition exist, and many of the inhabitants of the islands of the sea need the simple gospel of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

These being the conditions, there certainly rests a duty upon those who believe in the pure and simple gospel as a means of dispelling the darkness of ignorance and of superstition to do all in their power to spread the light of this gospel abroad. The people that sit in darkness need the light, and God has promised that they shall see it, and this promise is to be fulfilled by the work of his people. Christ is the light, and if all nations are to be saved those who know Christ must give that knowledge to the whole world.

Knowledge is the principal need in Roman Catholic countries today. The Catholic church has never stood for the education of the masses. The Bible has been a closed book to the people, and very often those who have been their instructors in religious things have been in gross ignorance concerning spiritual truth. They need the truth, and the truth will make them free—free from ignorance, from error, from superstition and from sin. All that thousands of those who are in ignorance today need is knowledge of the truth, and they stand ready to do the truth. Many do not live up to their light; but, on the other hand, there are millions of people who would gladly live up to it if they only had it. It is our duty to give Christ and the Bible to them.

Shall we whose souls are lighted
With wisdom from on high,
Shall we to men benighted
The lamp of life deny?
Salvation, oh, salvation!
The joyful sound proclaim
Till earth's remotest nation
Has learned Messiah's name.

Prayer should be made most prominent in this phase of mission work. The psalmist prayed, "God be merciful to us and bless us and cause His face to shine upon us, that Thy way may be known upon earth and Thy saving health among all nations." Let us earnestly pray that God will bless us and that we may become a blessing to others, especially in spreading the knowledge of Him and of salvation through His Son Jesus Christ unto the world.

A Worldwide Fellowship.

The following is a list of countries represented in the worldwide fellowship of Christian Endeavor. In each of these the society has a firm footing and is doing a successful work: Australia, Austria, Barbados, Belgium, Bermudas, Brazil, British Guiana, Bulgaria, Burma, Canada, Caroline islands, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Egypt, Ellice islands, Finland, Formosa, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Gilbert islands, Great Britain, Ireland, Grenada (West Indies), Guatemala, Hawaiian Islands, Holland, Hungary, India, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Korea, Labrador, Laos, Lapland, Loyalty islands, Madagascar, Madeira islands, Marshall islands, Mauritius, Mexico, Norway, New Zealand, Palestine, Panama, Philippine Islands, Persia, Porto Rico, Portugal, Russia, Samao, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Syria, Tasmania, Tokelau islands, Trinidad, Turkey, United States.

Going, Not Standing.

We have been long enough considering what Christian Endeavor stands for. Let us now give more attention to what Christian Endeavor goes for.—Rev. J. D. Lamont.

In Paragraphs.

The American board mission in Fukien, China, has seventy-six Christian Endeavor societies, and the Anglican mission has forty-eight. Christian Endeavor is rapidly approving itself to all the missionaries in the Flowery Kingdom.

Spain now has Christian Endeavor societies in almost every Protestant place—forty-seven in all. There are more Junior societies (twenty) than Young People's (nineteen), but there is one senior society, and there are seven mothers' societies of Christian Endeavor. In the last point Spain leads the world.

Arriving in a Maine town with the thermometer 16 degrees below zero, Field Secretary Crane found the church cold and dark, the date of his coming having been misunderstood. Going into the grocery store to thaw out and "finding as many men gathered about the stove as perhaps we should have had if the church service had been held," he sowed the gospel seed then and there.

The First Presbyterian Juniors of Birmingham, Ala., have increased 425 per cent since last May. Other societies in the union have made gains almost as large, and the lowest gain was 25 per cent.

One of the items in a recent budget of the Japanese Christian Endeavor union is for "newspapers sent to Christian Endeavor soldiers, yen .81."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

May 28: "Missions Among Latin Peoples"—I Tim. ii, 5; Heb. x, 19-22.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

The story of our missions to these lands is one of absorbing interest. Some of our leagues are making a study of this work in the form of a tour, visiting each one in turn, as would be done if one was to make a trip to them.

So much material is available at the present time that this can be worked up by almost any chapter and be a means of interesting the members almost more than any other work that is possible.

It is well to begin with Mexico, as she is our "next door neighbor." If a stereopticon can be used it will be pleasant to take a steamer for Vera Cruz from New York. From the gulf port the trip is continued over the really remarkable railway to the capital city of Mexico. From here side excursions are made to the different points of our mission work. The history of the country should be briefly reviewed. More particular attention can be given the story of the founding of the mission of our church by Dr. William Butler and its subsequent development up to the present time. Pictures will make this most interesting and can easily be had by a little care and calculation.

It would be advisable to next take a glance at our work in Porto Rico. The account of the manner in which we acquired the island can be told, and all the needed material for the history of our church work can be had from the mission rooms or from the league headquarters.

Glance at the Panama canal and show its effect on our work in opening up the western coast of South America. A study of magazine literature for the past two or three years will reveal a wealth of material to assist in this work that will astonish any one who has not kept in close touch with it.

The beginning of our work on the west coast of South America was due to the personal efforts of William Taylor, afterward missionary bishop of Africa. He opened school work in Chile on the idea of a self supporting basis. Considerable progress was made under his management. All is now under the control of the Missionary society and is superintended by our bishops, who visit it in turn, so that it has annually the personal supervision needed to keep the whole church in touch with it.

Over the Andes passes the route of travel which we take, and before long it will be possible to make the trip wholly by rail. The railroad has been built from east and west and needs but the connecting link over the mountains to join the two sides of the continent.

Our mission to Buenos Ayres was among the first founded by our church. For many years it grew but slowly. In recent times it has assumed larger proportions and is in a healthy condition now.

Closely connected with this is the work in the capital of Uruguay, Montevideo. Great popular misunderstanding exists regarding the condition of affairs in that part of the world. Our absorption in our own affairs has been so great that we have not realized that a great people of a different type of civilization was growing up in the southern continent. Here are large cities and immense trade and progress only inferior to our own phenomenal advancement. It is a new world that is there emerging, and it is a great world. We would do well to learn more of its conditions and our religious connections with it. Our church literature in the histories of missions and the magazine articles will give all that will be needed to make a fine presentation of this subject.

Our work in Brazil is smaller, but will repay study. The story of that land ought to be better known to us than it is. This is a good opportunity to look it up more fully.

Across the sea, and we take a view of the Italian work. Rome is the center of activity. This was long a debatable ground, and much occurred in the early years to retard the progress. Now there seems to be a clear course. Dr. William Burt was the providential man for the place, and under his skillful management prosperity was secured. His ability so signally shown in this work led to his election as bishop at the last general conference, and he returns to Europe with an enlarged field and increased powers to carry forward the work in which he has so long and so well builded.

There is scarcely any limit to the material which can be had for the representation of this work in Italy. It is a good plan to connect it with the founding of the church in the great center of the Roman empire in the days of Paul. It would be also a good thing to hunt up the history of the early Christian community to which that matchless Epistle of Paul to the Romans was written and see how now there is need in the same city to have those who are not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Destroying Hope.

Hope, then, essentially is an element of man's spiritual life. It is a function of health. It has to do with the health of the body. But as man grows on the side of his manhood hope has its deeper roots in the moral life. It feeds on the infinite. Cut the infinite out of man's life, shut away the sky, mark a border to the possibilities of the universe, and you would kill hope.—Christian Register.

Heaven Will Show Us.

When faith and hope fail, as they do sometimes, we must try charity, which is love in action. We must speculate no more on our duty, but simply do it. When we have done it, however blindly, perhaps heaven will show us why. —Dinah Muloch Craik.

SARTORIAL NEWS.

Chemisettes Are the Correct Neck Finish For Dressy Frocks.

Chemisettes are to be seen on all the smart summer waists. The U shaped ones are the most fashionable. They are made of the finest handkerchief linen daintily embroidered and put together as carefully as the finest baby clothes with tiny beadings, laces and insertions. The collars are carefully shaped, and the whole chemisette fastens with French loops and lace buttons.

Tiny buds made of brussels net is a new trimming for blouse waists. Outlining a yoke trimmed with valenciennes lace these buds are most attractive.

The almost impossible task of getting more fullness into the skirt about the feet is accomplished with an embroidered ruffle shaped and gathered into half circles which join at the tips. Under this ruffle is another one with all the material plaited into it that can possibly be managed. This plaiting only shows in between the sections of the ruffle, but fluffs it out in the airiest fashion.

The girl's frock illustrated is of white india silk. About the bottom of the skirt are rows of tiny tucks above a band of white silk braid. The waist falls from an all over lace yoke in two double box plaits, flanked by several side ones. Outlining the yoke are bands of the braid trimmed with silk passementerie. The elbow sleeves finish with a ruffle of the silk and lace.

UP TO DATE LINGERIE.

Gowns Are Made In Chemise Style. Dainty Yoke and Sleeve Effects.

Charming sets of handmade lingerie are at hand in the shops ready for the early summer bride to add to her trousseau. Handmade underwear is always the daintiest, therefore the most expensive to buy, but many charming pieces of lingerie may be added if the bride elect is clever with her needle. Regulation bridal sets contain three pieces, and an extra short petticoat is often added.

The new gowns are made in chemise style, to be drawn over the head, and with very short or elbow length sleeves. The new feature is broderie anglaise trimming applied as a yoke. Many of the chemise gowns have V shaped yokes in front which round in the back, whence the fullness falls. Entire sleeves cut bell shaped to the elbow are made of the broderie. Both the sleeves and yoke are run with wash ribbon. The yoke is attached to the nainsook skirt with narrow beading, which also holds the shirt seams together.

Another pretty yoke is made with strips of fine sheer nainsook crisscrossed with half inch wide val lace insertion. The yoke and sleeves are edged with val beading. Ribbon is run through the beading on the sleeves and finished at the elbow with bows. The yoke has the same ribbon finish tied in a bow in the center. Yoke and sleeves can be cut first and crisscrossed with the lace afterward, but the material must be cut from under the lace after it is sewed on.

The corset cover shown in the cut is designed to wear under the new tight fitting bodices. It fastens in the back and is trimmed with insertion and medallions of lace. The material is fine nainsook. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR NEW ORLEANS

GREAT FUTURE PROPHESIED WHEN CANAL IS IN USE.

MAY OUTRIVAL NEW YORK

Strides Taken by City in Recent Years —Tourists Complain It Is Losing Picturesqueness—Old Town and New.

NEW ORLEANS.—Prophets there be that make prognostication of the wonderful growth of this far southern city when once the Panama canal draws traffic through its short route from ocean to ocean. These prophets bid New York look well to her place as metropolis, warn that short and sure will be the contest in which the Louisiana town makes strife for supremacy.

Which, of course, is food for laughter in Manhattan, what has she to fear of that portion of the country lying west her island? The rest of the country, equally of course sees the exaggeration and boasting of the prophecy, but, unlike New York, is willing to concede that New Orleans is fast advancing in importance, and that her prospects for growth are of the finest.

Her residents are awake to these possibilities, and her board of trade, Progressive union, and other commercial bodies are exploiting their town to the best of their ability. At present activity is at a high pitch. A correspondent of the New York World thus describes the place as it is presented to an observer: "New Orleans is buzzing like a hive of bees. The Panama canal is looked upon as the alchemist that will make the gold. Some of the business men say that all they expect is to turn from New York the bulk of the trade with the isthmus; that, they say, naturally belongs here.

There is some reason for their dreams. When the canal is opened the port of New Orleans without doubt will profit greatly. Men within and men without are showing by their interest to obtain real estate holdings, that they have faith in a coming great prosperity. Property is being sold at enormous prices, money that for years has been lying idle is now being invested. And this boom is looked upon as substantial; no Mississippi bubble.

Past and Present.

IN DAYS gone by, "befo' the wa'," the clearings of the banks of New Orleans exceeded the clearings of the banks of New York. The war set the place back; but now she is fresh and lusty again, eager to regain and add to her old prestige.

Two centuries and more she can count as her age, this town so favorably situated as a depot of trade. The plantations send down their wealth from above, cargoes from the outer world bring riches to the city by way of the gulf. Though frequently menaced by the yellow waters of the great river, it has learned to control their fury. New Orleans is the metropolis of the south, the second largest city in this country. If, as she thinks, the canal is to confer upon her more benefit than upon any other of our ports, no wonder the New Orleanists dream of a wonderful future.

To-day the city is a strange compound of the old and the new. Here stand business houses a couple of hundred years old, and near them modern office structures; a modern quarter, with residences of modern date and appearance, looks strangely out of place in a city that for so long has retained the traditions of the low-storied dwellings, much galleried, vine-wreathed.

Most incongruous of all is the trolley car, jangling down the magnolia bordered avenues, as unconcernedly as though it were traversing stony, verdureless streets in a northern town given over entirely to trade and business, unmindful of flowers and beauty. The northern visitor never tires of the novelty of the semitropic growths that refresh eye and spirit along the anything but commonplace way the street car follows. On one side may be the smoothest of carriage drives, on the other a delightful bridle path, in the center velvety grass with an inner avenue of beautiful trees. The historic French quarter, though resisting with the might and main of prejudice, is being affected by innovations of trolley, railway terminals, modern structures and modern people. All over the town one sees the resistance is not equal to the invasion.

The Old Part.

WRITERS innumerable have attempted to picture the quaint charm, the tropical beauty of this lovely town, but one to realize the charm and beauty must see for himself. The bright tiled roofs, the narrow streets bordered by homes whose life is lived out on the galleries, the Spanish architecture, the wealth of bloom and vine, all these appeal to the onlooker as distinctly foreign, un-United States-y. He feels sure he has been dropped down in a foreign land, and a foreign land that he wants to linger in.

There are, I believe, but two cellars in the town, for the river being higher than the land, cellars are not popular. The houses are built up high above the morass-like soil. There is no place so humble that it lacks a carefully tended hedge, concealing the house's foundations, giving seclusion and adornment. No house so humble but that it has a veranda (or gallery, as it is called here), and few indeed are the verandas that lack climbing rose and nearby blossoming shrubs. One small negro cabin along the path of the street car was so luxuriously draped in roses, an interested northerner took the pains to count them; they numbered two hundred-odd.

The gallery may be a cheap affair, built of wood, small in size; or it may be of generous dimensions, run around the entire structure, with splendid pillars and capitals. Sometimes it is of ironwork, of finest workmanship. Rich and poor live on the galleries, a house seems a place to retire to only for sleep. Another institution particularly sacred in this town is the banquette, where the people promenade back and forth for the evening gossip, the sidewalk much more given over to sociability than with us of the north.

In speaking of the old part of the town one must certainly make mention of the cemeteries, shrines and churches so marked with the religion that dominated Louisiana; must at least speak of the markets, surely worth visiting and revisiting. A short newspaper article cannot pretend to do them even scant justice.

About Town.

WE WANDER here and there and take keen pleasure in the natural beauties, in the grace and good looks of the southern women, in the glimpses of aristocrat vouchsafed, in the infinite humor of the darky population, in the French half of the town, in all the tide of outdoor life. Some one speaks of New Orleans as the city that lives out doors, and so it may well be characterized. We go to the parks and it seems the whole town is disporting there; placidly enjoying the moss-draped great live oaks, lazily watching the movements of the alligators in the water, or simply basking with their companions in the warmth and light.

In the garden district we find outdoor life in its most aristocratic form, if one may so speak of what is supposed to be a return to the primitive. This was once a far-famed faubourg. Here are numbers of fine old places typical of that elegant, gracious hospitality indulged in by the old families of wealth and high station.

An avenue of magnolias in itself is worth a pilgrimage to from a far distance; the huge white blossoms of intoxicating beauty, the polished green of the leaves shining far down the street. The rose and wistaria draped brick walls one does not soon forget, nor the palms growing out of doors, nor glassed over but rioting in the open air under the blue sky.

Just north of the city are the pine woods, health-giving and of much beauty; the palm and the pine not far separated in this land of contrasts. The people are always on the way to some garden spot, park or woods or fields; and we understand the reason for calling New Orleans the city that lives outdoors.

Reforms and Special Virtues.

THOUGH sentimentally we may regret modernizations, yet we confess that not a little of the old was deplorable. Take, for instance, the dirt and rubbish of the French quarter, the garbage cans and smells of that region. And one cannot but acknowledge that the city is badly in need of sewers, that it is badly in need of proper cleaning; cannot but approve that it is now spending millions on the installation of a sewerage system. The principal business thoroughfare, Canal street, is dreadfully dirty, and surely those that rail at modernization will allow new methods of street cleaning.

But New Orleans is ahead of many a town that reproaches her for these two just-mentioned civic crimes. She offers the hungry the best of food at moderate prices. Residents say here people eat better and cheaper than anywhere else in this country. While we are not ready to make this positive statement, we do not hesitate to praise both the cooking and the bills of the numberless restaurants and cafes.

New Orleans has delightful weather nine months of the year, a great virtue. New Orleans has the sweetest-faced, sweetest-voiced shop girls; a decided virtue. New Orleans has a fine street car system; a virtue, is it not, Chicago? And how full of interest are her curiosity and antique shops where are to be seen (and bought, if one have the purse) rare pieces from the homes of the early French settlers, many of the first families of France. As one looks over the treasures kept under the jealous eye of the collector, one thinks back on those early days of New Orleans, the French, Spanish and creole people. And one wonders how soon the leaven of industrialism shall have banished all trace of these.

EXPERIENCE OF A HOMESICK BOY

CROSSES SNOW-COVERED MOUNTAINS IN STOCKING FEET.

LYNX FOLLOWS IN HIS TRAIL

Fifteen-Year-Old Lad Almost Overcome by Cold and Exposure in Desperate Effort to Reach His Parents.

Cambridge, Vt.—A fit of homesickness nearly cost Verne Casey, a 15-year-old boy, of this village, his life recently. As it is he will be confined to a bed for a month or more.

Young Casey went to work about three weeks ago for a farmer in Cambridge, 18 miles distant, and on the other side of the Green mountain range, and seemed contented until one day, when he was attacked by homesickness, and declared his intention of returning here. He had little money, and started to walk.

He was told that he could shorten the distance by cutting through Smugglers' Notch, and set out in that direction, carrying his 50 pounds of effects in a grip. For several miles he followed the lumber roads, and struck into the forest at a point where the Notch begins. Immediately the snow deepened, and when he had gone two miles further it was up to his thighs. Still he kept on, but soon found himself in an exhausted condition. As he was half-way through, he decided to push ahead, rather than return, and he sat down to rest.

The day was warm, and while this prevented his freezing it softened the snow and made progress all the more difficult. A little lunch the boy had brought was soon disposed of, and he again took up the trail. At nightfall he was still in the deep forests and getting weaker and weaker, and when he finally fell in a swollen brook and his rubber boot was filled with water, he threw the boots away and continued in his stocking feet.

When the moon came up he was so tired that he could hardly move, and, scooping out a place in the snow, he lay down and was soon fast asleep. He says that he never expected to awaken, but at daybreak next morning he came to his senses, and, though numb with cold and weak from his exertions and lack of food, he felt rested. He still had ten miles to tramp, and he started out, desperately clinging to the grip.

In the night he had heard the baying of a Canadian lynx, and he had not proceeded far before he found fresh tracks. The animal had circled close to him in the darkness, but had evidently kept at a respectful distance. At the end of eight miles the boy again lost strength, and, leaving the grip, he wrapped his overalls about his feet and crawled to the mouth of the gulch. Here he found a hollow stump, and, crawling into it, took a short nap. It was about noon when he awakened, and continued crawling toward a log-ger's shanty, from the chimney of which he saw smoke ascending. On his arrival he was so weak that he could scarcely speak. His condition was more eloquent than words, and he was put to bed, rubbed with stimulants and fed. During the rest of the day he was in a stupor, and it was night before the lumbermen were able to find out the name of the visitor and get an account of his adventure.

They then went back up the gulch and recovered the grip. On the way they discovered that the lynx had trailed the boy to the edge of the forest, and that near the spot where he had crawled into the hollow log the lynx had been joined by two other animals of the same species. The grip was ripped open and its contents strewn over the snow.

The following morning young Casey was able to be moved, and he was dragged to the village on an ox sled, where he was turned over to his parents and a local physician. The physician said that the lad's great vitality alone saved him from succumbing to exposure.

Feathered Fury.

A more vicious enemy than an angry ostrich cock would be hard to find, for that 400 pounds of sinew and temper backs a kick that can split an inch board with one blow of the powerful toe, tipped with a nail like the end of a steer's horn. The keepers now and then get a sharp blow for all their care, and a Mexican who thought to take a short cut across the farm through the breeding yards had to go to the hospital for repairs.

BUREAU OF MANUFACTURES IS PREPARING FOR WORK.

To Perfect Our Product and Further Trade — Head Is J. Hampton Moore, President of National Republican League.

The cabinet is branching out, not restricted to the narrow lines of the days prior to the important and long-neglected department of agriculture. This last-named department, which has in its short period of service worked such wonders, is not yet 20 years old. A correspondent of the Brooklyn Eagle says concerning its work: "Although it was only 17 years ago when agriculture got this recognition (place in the cabinet), how has the importance of that recognition to the farmer been demonstrated? The scientific farmer has taken the place of the old-time plodder, and almost his every interest, from the protection of the roots of his plants against bugs to the utilization of the autumn leaves that fall from his trees, has been taken care of by specialists in government employ."

With the value of the agricultural department the country is becoming acquainted; the new undertaking we would consider here is the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor. The head of this bureau is a young Philadelphian, Mr. J. Hampton Moore, who has been newspaper man and student of industrial problems, although best known as president of the National Republican league. Concerning the bureau, which he is to direct, Mr. Moore remarks: "The bureau will be the Yankee salesman, with gripsack in hand, showing his goods to the world and encouraging good feeling among the foreign customers. It will be the promoter and boomer of American manufactures. It is the first government bureau whose business it has been to stand at the entrance of the American store and invite people to come in. In other words, our function is to foster, promote and develop, not only the manufacturing interests of the United States, but the markets for them. We shall be promoting editors, and people that want information that is appropriate shall get it from us. Assimilated with the information which we shall gather will be data obtainable from the other bureaus of this department—from the census bureau, the bureau of labor, the bureau of statistics, the bureau of fisheries, the bureau of standards, the bureau of navigation, the bureau of immigration, and so on. We will utilize the information which the statisticians and scientists of the government have gathered and will work upon the foundation which they have laid."

But the work is to be aggressive as well as educational. Mr. Moore refers to various ways of presenting American goods abroad; to the establishment of stations where these goods shall be on display, and also suggests that there may be inaugurated great floating sample houses. This last is not such an improbable thing; not long ago an association of British manufacturers chartered a steamer to make a trip around the world with an exhibition of British manufactures. American consuls have declared that some such means of making our goods known would be valuable, is necessary; but we have neglected their advice, and allowed much valuable trade to slip through our fingers.

Mr. Moore deplores the fact that we have let Europeans monopolize the valuable South American trade. We quote from his words: "South America and Asia especially are the foreign markets which our manufacturers are most neglecting. In South America there are 50,000,000 people who need our manufactures and should have them. While all the riches of many countries in Europe have been made in South America for centuries, we are still standing by and letting this great market get out of our hands. Asia, of course, is attracting the attention of the whole commercial world now, and so is Africa to a growing degree. Germany recently completed a commercial arrangement with King Menelik of Abyssinia and France with Madagascar."

Mr. Moore is well acquainted with German methods of commercial invasion, believes we should follow after in the fostering of trade and industrial schools. The German schools not only teach how to make a good product, but the commercial schools train the young men how to introduce the products into the "most distant markets of the globe."

And our new bureau promises to concern itself strenuously with the advancement of the product and the advancement of the sales of the product.

3 NURSES GRADUATED

Annual Exercises of the Hospital's Training School.

MR. NICKERSON'S TALK

American and Canadian Flags Formed Decorations, the Graduates Being From the Dominion.

Completing their three years' course of instruction in the care of the sick, three young women members of the Muhlenberg Hospital training school for nurses, graduated with full honors, last night. The exercises took place in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church and were witnessed by a large gathering of city and borough people interested in hospital affairs. The graduates were the Misses Florence and Maude Sibbald, of Toronto, and Miss Margaret Carson, of Barrie, Ont. As they are natives of Canada, the American and Canadian flags were intertwined above their heads over the platform.

President Charles J. Fisk, of the Board of Governors, was in charge of the exercises. They were opened by a piano duett by Mrs. Albert H. Atterbury and Mrs. J. P. Stevens, followed by prayer from Rev. E. V. Stevenson. In making his annual address, Mr. Fisk spoke of the high standard maintained by the Muhlenberg training school and asserted that those who graduated from it were in constant demand and that it is seldom that one can be found who is not engaged. The course of study, he said, is very hard and he congratulated the three young women on their successful completion.

Continuing his remarks, Mr. Fisk gave some statistics in connection with the work at Muhlenberg, stating that in the past year over 500 people were treated at the institution, only half of whom paid for the service.

The expenses aggregated $30,000, of which $6,000 came from the city and county, another $6,000 from patients and a similar amount from private subscription. The deficit of $2,000 was what led to the recent carnival being planned and which more than met the amount.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, who also spoke words of commendation to the class and dwelt at some length on the nobleness of the profession. He "said a good word" for the old-fashioned nurse, who had her own ideas as to what should be done in the sick room, devoid of all technical training, but declared their notions were fast disappearing and that today the nurse's calling stands next to that of the doctor. The parting words from the medical staff at Muhlenberg were spoken by Dr. W. H. Murray. The presentation of diplomas and the class pins by Mr. Fisk and Charles E. Brooks brought the exercises to a close.

During the evening a vocal solo was rendered by Willard Wadsworth and another by Mrs. Joseph Shellabarger, accompanied by Miss Sarah Mae Howell and Miss Hyatt with piano and violin. Before adjournment was made, refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Dropped Out of Tourney.

After qualifying with a good score for the Metropolitan Golf Association championship, Roger F. Murray, of the Plainfield Country Club, failed to appear yesterday at the Fox Hills links' and his opponent won the round by default.

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO ORDER OUT TROOPS

COL. COLLINS MAKES APPLICATION FOR REGIMENTAL PARADE.

Governor Stokes has refused to allow the Second Regiment, of which Co. K, of this city, belongs, to parade in the celebration at Elizabeth on June 8, at the State's expense. He has sent a final answer to the general committee refusing its request that the State pay the guardsmen for their services on that day.

Colonel Collins said yesterday afternoon that he had received no notification of the Governor's refusal to order the parade of the regiment, and added that he would immediately make out his application to the Adjutant-General through Major General P. Farmer Wauser, of Jersey City, for permission to have the regiment parade.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS CONTINUE CONFERENCE

Reports Are Given by Delegates From Sister Associations.

SEVERAL ADDRESSES

Miss Ethel Haven and Rev. George B. Shaw Active at This Morning's Session—Sermon's and Talks.

Reports from all the Seventh-Day Baptist associations of the country were read at the afternoon session of the sixty-ninth annual convention of the Seventh-Day Baptist Eastern Association in the historic old Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market yesterday. Words of cheer came from every section. In some associations there is a scarcity of young people and in others there is a dearth of ordained pastors, but on the whole the denomination is holding its own, and promises of healthy growth abound.

The reports were submitted after a brief devotional service, which started at 2:30 o'clock, under the leadership of Rev. E. H. Socwell.

Lucian Lowther, who later made the address of the afternoon, started the reports with a statement from the Southeastern Association. Miss Ethel Haven reported for the Central Association. Miss Haven is a former teacher in the Plainfield schools; her present home is Leonardsville, N. Y. Rev. S. H. Babcock reported for the Western Association; Rev. G. W. Burdick for the Northwestern Association; W. L. Clark, by letter, for the Southwestern Association; and Rev. E. H. Socwell for the Southeastern Association. Through Mrs. W. P. Davis, of California, a former New Market resident who is visiting relatives in her old home, a report for the Pacific Coast Association was received. The far Western Association is not united with the sisterhood of associations, and no regular delegate was sent to the convention. Mrs. Davis' statement of the condition of the association as she knew it was received with much pleasure, and the usual motion to accept the delegates' reports and welcome the delegates to participation in the convention was amended to include her.

Rev. G. B. Shaw, of this city, who represented the Eastern Association at the meeting of the Southwestern Association, reported on his trip. Mr. Shaw informed the convention that he had extended is trip to include missionary and fraternal visits and had assumed a share of the expense because he deemed his journey longer than the association's credentials warranted. Dr. A. H. Lewis and other prominent members of the association spoke in hearty commendation of Mr. Shaw's self-imposed journeyings, and he was urged to allow the association to assume its full share of the expense. Mr. Shaw, however, smilingly refused to consent to that.

"I spent such a delightful time," he said earnestly, "that I feel it a pleasure to help pay for the trip."

On motion of Dr. A. E. Main, former pastor of the church in this city, now dean of the theological seminary at Alfred University, the corresponding secretary was instructed to send a letter of greeting and good cheer to Rev. and Mrs. FitzRandolph, who are doing splendid work in the face of adverse circumstances in the Southwestern Association.

The address of Lucian Lowther, delegate from the Southeastern Association, was an eloquent review on "The Employment Problem; Its Relation to the Church and Individuals." He said in part:

"Combinations of capital are driving out the small businesses, thereby calling young men to the cities and depopulating the country districts. The Seventh-Day Baptist church has yielded to this state of affairs without giving special thought to the crisis in church life brought about by it, and have lost some of its brightest young men and young women.

"It is possible for business men to so control the largest business enterprises, furnishing employment to the young men and young women, as to give them the opportunity to remain within church influence. This great business question must be solved by Christian busines men, for they are the only class who can give the question attention from an unselfish point of view.

"While it is necessary that the young man be furnished employment, yet as much depends on the young man himself as on the employer, for

KING'S DAUGHTERS ELECT

Mrs. C. A. Reed Re-named President of City Union.

MUCH ACCOMPLISHED

Receipts Encouraging—Dr. Grossmann Delivers Address—Trustees Chosen.

Interesting reports of the past year's work from the various circles, as well as the treasurer, Miss Helen Phillips, and the renewal of pledges to the amount of $925, together with an important amendment to the constitution, election of officers, and an able address by Dr. Grossmann, comprised the important features at the annual meeting of the City Union, King's Daughters, held in Vincent chapel, yesterday afternoon. A majority of the circles were represented and the work for the coming year was taken up with renewed energy. Mrs. Charles A. Reed, president of the Union, and Mrs. Frank Whitney French, secretary, were in their positions. Rev. A. C. McUrea conducted the devotional exercises.

Miss Helen Phillips showed by her report as treasurer that the expenses and receipts during the past year amounted to $1,301.86 and there is a good sized balance in the treasury. Mrs. W. L. C. Gleaney, chairman of the nurse committee, reported that 591 visits were made by the city nurse and fifty-seven persons cared for. There is a balance of $3.50 in the treasury. Mrs. Howard A. Runyon, as chairman of the camp committee, presented a verbal report showing that the work is in good condition and that an addition has been built to the camp to be used as a bathroom, something needed for the children.

The various reports from the circles were then presented, and in each case excellent work has been accomplished, the members contributing to the Union work, the Children's Home and other charities, besides assisting families under the direction of the Organized Aid Association and sending aid to numerous poor families.

The amendments to the constitution as presented by Mrs. Charles A. Reed were adopted. These provide for a board of trustees, instead of an executive committee, each circle to be represented by one member, also a camp committee to be chosen in the same way. They also provide that the trustees meet after the May meeting to elect officers and that the trustees meet on the first Thursday in each month to consider such business as may be presented. The Organized Aid Association and the Plainfield Relief Association are permitted and asked to attend the meetings of the trustees for co-operation, but are not entitled to vote.

These trustees were elected:

Benevolent Band, Mrs. F. S. Martin; Charity Circle, Mrs. R. W. Ware; Daughters of the Cross, Mrs. Charles A. Reed; Brightside Circle, Mrs. F. W. Jones; Whatsoever Circle, Park Avenue Baptist church, Mrs. Augustus N. Laggren; Golden Rule Circle, Grace M. E. church, Mrs. Anna Mest; Cup Bearers Circle, Mrs. Harry Hall; Silver Cross Circle, Miss Helen Phillips; Loyal Daughters, Mrs. C. C. Burke, Sr. Those elected to the camp committee, selected from the above circles in the order named, are as follows: Mrs. Joseph M. Shellabarger, Mrs. E. J. Patterson, Mrs. A. R. Faber, Jr., Mrs. C. H. Rugg, Miss Olive DeLany, Mrs. Charles Herman, Miss Alice Titus, Mrs. Frank Whitney French and Mrs. C. C. Burke, Sr.

At the meeting of the board of trustees after the meeting these officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Charles A. Reed; vice president, Mrs. Harry L. Hall; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Anna M. Mest; recording secretary, Mrs. L. A. Laggren; treasurer, Miss H. Helen Phillips. Mrs. Reed has not appointed the chairman of the camp committee, nor any other committees, but will probably do so at the meeting of the trustees on Thursday, June 1.

In accordance with the usual custom the various pledges were received at this time as follows:

Benevolent Band, $250; Charity Circle, $150; Cheerful Workers, no report; Daughters of the Cross, $200; Whatsoever Circle, Trinity Reformed church, $25; Brightside Circle, $15; Whatsoever Circle, Park Avenue Baptist church, $10; Golden Rule Circle, Grace M. E. church, $25; Opportunity Circle, Ms. Olive Baptist church, no report; Cup Bearers Circle, $75; Silver Cross Circle, $75; Loyal Daughters, $100; total, $925.

After a vote of thanks to Mrs. Reed for her earnest efforts during the past year, and a brief talk by Miss Ball re-

THE "LIVING ALBUM" AFFORDED AMUSEMENT

CHURCH SOCIETY RAISES FUNDS FOR A GIRL'S EDUCATION.

An entertainment was given in Vincent chapel last night under the auspices of the M. E. Young Ladies' Mission Circle, the proceeds of which will go toward the support and education of a Porto Rican girl. A part of the programme was devoted to the exhibition of a living album, the various characters being represented by the young people of the church dressed in old-fashioned costume.

There were recitations by Miss Ella Case, a soprano solo by Miss Laura Geiswein, a contralto solo by Mrs. S. H. Tugwel, after which was shown the living album. Miss Millie Spicer represented "Mrs. Elmira Pease," and as she read the quaint and humorous story she would frequently open the huge album which revealed the pictures of the following:

"Mother," Miss Kate Slade; "Father," Edward Shearer; "E," as a little girl, Miss Jubilee Rowley; "Eben," my husband, Philip Smith; "Me," as a bride, Miss Blanche Giles; "The Twins," Miss Anna Robley, Miss Ethel Clarkson; "The Parson," Louis Wilson; "Parson's Wife," Miss Helen Whitney; "Parson's Boy," Lawrence Edgar; Sister Jane Higgs," Miss Martin; "Jane's Husband," Arthur Humble; "Sophila," Jane's eldest daughter, Miss May Wilson; "Anna Eliza," youngest, Miss Georgiana Ruckman; "Village Beauty," Miss Alice Higgins; "Grandpa Hobbs," Elmer D. Cutting.

The programme was concluded with a tenor solo by Elmer D. Cutting and a piano solo by Clifford A. Braider. Miss Alberta Waterbury was the accompanist.

After the entertainment there was a social time and refreshments were served by these young women, who also acted as ushers at the entertainment: Miss Kittie Webster, Miss Clara Slade, Miss Anna Higgins, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Margaret Nash, Miss Nellie Clarkson. Miss Susie Jackson and Miss Minnie Sharp were in charge of the refreshments. Mrs. F. S. Work was chairman of the whole affair and was assisted by Miss Fanny Chandler and Miss Lucy Ruckman. John Nagle assisted in the entertainment by operating a calcium light which was thrown on the living album.

Miss Grace Webster is president of the circle, and Mrs. J. M. McNaughton announced the programme. The sum of $35 was received for the support and education of the Porto Rican girl.

HOSPITAL GETS $5,117.77

Its Share of Net Proceeds of the Ten Days' Carnival.

MR. FISK'S OFFER

Promises to Give $5 for Every $100 Contributed—To Retire From Presidency.

In connection with the graduation ofthree nurses from Muhlenberg Hospital's Training School, at the Crescent Avenue church, last night, President Charles J. Fisk, of the Board of Governors, announced that the net profits from the hospital carnival given last week, were exactly $5,117.77. It was with great pride that Mr. Fisk read off the figures and then with his customary modesty he extended hearty thanks and congratulations to all who had assisted in making the affair such a great success, omitting the mention of his own name though it was he who originated the scheme and devoted days and nights to its perfection.

The account of receipts and expenditures has been prepared by the Women's Auxiliary but the details will not be made known until its meeting to be held this afternoon. The total amount received from all sources during the ten days the carnival progressed was more than twice the net proceeds, but sixty per cent. of the show admissions went to Manager Miller. Just what was made by each attraction and the various contests will be given out by the auxiliary. Mr. Fisk declared that practically everybody in Plainfied had something to do with the gratifying result but he was especially warm in his praise of the Knights of Columbus, the Elks, the Red Men, Trinity Commandery, the young men from the Plainfield High School and Leal's School, Sister Mary Esther and Rev. Father Began, of St. Mary's church.

Afterward he commented upon the power of the "people's pennies" and suggested that in the future the Board of Governors and the Auxiliary could more than meet Muhlenberg's expenses by dividing the city into sections and securing contributions of five or ten cents from every man, woman and child in them.

"My idea," said Mr. Fisk, "is to have each committee secure yearly 10,000 nickels. If they will do this I promise to give $5 for each $100 they gather. Now just see how many $5 bills you can make me hand out."

At the close of his address, Mr. Fisk made a second announcement that was not received with enthusiasm. He stated that the Board of Governors would have its annual meeting next month and he wanted the members to elect another president in place of himself.

"I have been the presiding officer for five years," Mr. Fisk said, "and I think it time some one else had a chance. When you elect another president, I will help him be successful as you have helped me and will do all in my power to aid Muhlenberg. I will be ready to do his bidding at any time and when you want another carnival call on me."

The election of officers will be held at the annual meeting and if Mr. Fisk insists upon retiring his successor will be named at that time.

SNAP SHOTS.

A resident of North Plainfield who has the interest of the community at heart, had occasion to drive over the Mountain avenue road to Scotch Plains a few days ago and passing over the new county line bridge between the borough and Scotch Plains he noticed that the managers of a nearby pleasure resort had pasted some ugly signs on the new concrete work. The attention of Captain J. Frank Hubbard, director of the Union County Board of Freeholders, was called to the matter yesterday, and he placed the matter in the hands of the county attorney, W. H. Coddington, who has notified the guilty parties of the misdemeanor and warned them not to repeat the offense under a heavy penalty.

—In the Courts.

State Agent Smith, of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was the complainant in two cases before Judge Toncey at Westfield, Wednesday. The first case, a civil one against Frank Ragonsky, was adjourned until today, and the second case against Chester M. West, driver for Robert Woodruff, charged with ill-treating one of his employer's horses on May 13, was adjourned to May 31, at 4:30, on the motion of Walter L. Hetfield, Esq., of this city, his counsel. Mr. Hetfield objected to the State agent appearing in court, claiming he had no right to do so unless he was a lawyer. Mr. Hetfield asked for adjournment on the grounds that he had just been engaged to defend West and wanted time to study the case.

DIAMOND DUST.

Mike Retchford has been signed to fill Daly's place at short on Westfield.

On June 3 Westfield will play its second game of the season with Trenton, at Trenton.

The youngsters at Pond's shop have organized a fast little team. They will play the Dunellen juniors Saturday.

A loyal fan will not criticise a few errors if the team is playing winning ball. The best players sometimes make foolish misplays.

The Philadelphia Professions, who play on Crescent Oval Saturday, have the reputation of being a fast fielding and heavy batting team.

The local team is certainly making a record for fewness of errors and heavy hitting. The seventh inning has thus far been the lucky one for Captain Driscoll and his mates.

Westfield will have a busy Decoration Day. In the morning the team will play Summit, at Summit, and the afternoon will be given over to the New York Colored Giants, at Westfield.

The All-Americans, who play two games here on Decoration Day with the locals, met the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team on Monday and lost by a score of 3 to 2. They outplayed the home team in the field, but failed to bunch hits.

Cosgrove, who looks after centrefield for the locals, and who won the dress suit case at the Carnival for being the most popular player on the team, has a brother who is a fast player and is considered by the Plainfielder to be better than himself.

W. D. MURRAY TO SPEAK.

William D. Murray, of the local Y. M. C. A., will be one of the speakers at the conference of the general secretaries and physical directors of North America to be held May 27-31, at Niagara Falls.

Among the other speakers will be Prof. Graham Taylor, head of the Chicago Commons and professor in Chicago Theological Seminary; Luther Halsey Gulick, M. D., of New York; William T. Ellis, religious editor of the Philadelphia Press; President King, of Oberlin College; Dr. G. Stanley Hall, of Clark University; Hon. Carrol D. Wright, president of Clark College; Prof. Starr Cadwallader, secretary of the Detroit Board of Trade, James B. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union; Dr. D. A. Sargent; Dr. James M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate; G. F. C. Houghton, a business expert of Chicago, and C. T. Olmstead, will tell how to advertise the Y. M. C. A.

WEAVER VICTORIOUS

Philadelphia Directors Put Out of Office by Force.

MAYOR'S NOMINEES REINSTATED.

Smyth and Costello Compelled to Withdraw by Aid of Police Officers—Potter and Acker Again Take Charge.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Mayor Weaver, assisted by former Judge Gordon and four detectives, forcibly ejected from their offices former Directors Smyth and Costello, who had come to occupy them on the strength of Judge Ralston's injunction.

Neither Director Smyth nor Director Costello offered serious resistance.

The situation is momentarily becoming more tense and strained, and the police in and about the city hall are exercising the greatest possible vigilance.

Accompanied by his counsel and four detectives, Mayor Weaver went to the office of Director of Public Safety Smyth. He informed that official that he had been dismissed and that his presence in the office was a trespass. Director Smyth withdrew from the office. The mayor placed two detectives in charge and then went to the office of Director of Public Works Costello, where the same ceremony was repeated. Mr. Costello also quit his office, and detectives were placed in charge.

Later Colonel Sheldon Potter and A. Lincoln Acker, the new directors, were notified by the mayor to assume charge of their respective departments. This they did, and the detectives who had been placed in charge of the offices were relieved from duty. The first official act of the new directors was to send for the bureau chiefs and officially notify them of the changes. None of them knew what was in store for them and after cordially greeting their new chiefs departed in a happier frame of mind.

The action of the mayor was the most sensational move that he has yet made. The moment the news flashed through the great city building that the old directors were out and the new men in rumors flew thick and fast that a wholesale dismissal of bureau chiefs and other officials was about to occur. The news created considerable excitement in the city hall and on the "Rialto," and nearly all that were interested assembled in the vicinity of the mayor's office to learn of the next move. This came quickly, but from an unexpected quarter, the state supreme court.

While the mayor was ordering his old directors out of their office his attorneys appeared in the supreme court and obtained a special supersedeas suspending the temporary injunction granted to the old directors by the county court. Another dramatic incident of the day was the great ovation given Mayor Weaver by several thousand persons while on his way from the city hall to the Union League for lunch. It was a sensational demonstration and was looked upon by those opposed to the lease as an indication of the trend of popular sentiment.

In the thick of the fight comes the story that the mayor is to be impeached. For what particular offense was not clearly defined. One rumor had it that he would be brought before the bar of the city councils for his conduct of an election fraud case while he was district attorney, and another rumor had it that he was to be made to answer for some alleged lapse of duty while in his present position. All attempt to confirm the impeachment rumor failed, but at the same time no one could be induced to deny them. The leaders of the organization were closeted all day, either with their small army of attorneys, among whom are numbered some of the most prominent lawyers in the city, or were receiving reports from their ward leaders. All were silent on the impeachment story and on all proposed plans for the future.

The mayor in a talk with newspaper men before going to his home last night said he had received assurances, both directly and indirectly, from councilmen that the vote on his veto will be changed from that of last week when the gas lease ordinance passed the councils.

"Have you the necessary number of votes to sustain your veto?" he was asked.

"I sincerely hope so," he replied.

"Do you think the lease will be defeated?"

"I sincerely hope so. If it is not there will be many persons in Philadelphia who favor it who will live to regret it."

Message Against Lobbying.

MADISON, Wis., May 26. — Governor La Follette has sent to the legislature a message urging legislation that would destroy secret lobbying. He strongly denounces "the impudent railway lobby," which, he says, has cost the state millions of dollars in the last six years and has been a nuisance and disgrace in the legislative halls of the state.

A Letter and Perhaps a Gift.

ROME, May 26.—The report that the pope will send a special mission to the marriage of Crown Prince Frederick William is not correct, such action not being in accordance with the custom of the holy see. His holiness, however, will send an autograph letter of greeting and felicitation, accompanied perhaps by a gift.

Plainfield, N. J., May 26, 1905.

"It will be a long war," reads a headline in the Jersey City Journal. We were misled; nothing about the fight in Philadelphia nor the Lawson battle. Only something about that little trouble in the Far East.

"You've heard of the man who said he drank on two occasions when he was fishing and when he wasn't," remarks The Shoe Trade Journal. "He's like the wise shoe dealer who only advertises on two occasions—when business is good and when it isn't." Good times are better for the regular advertiser than for his competitor who neglects to make hay in the sunshine of publicity, and hard times never make such serious inroads on the business of the former as on that of the latter. In periods of prosperity and adversity alike people must wear shoes, and they buy the kinds that are advertised—Ex.

It is very generous of Mr. Fisk to say that he desires to step out of the presidency of Muhlenberg Hospital's Board of Governors at the expiration of his present term, but the question is can he be spared? In all kindness to his colleagues on the board there is none who is so much in touch with the people and who would probably be able to devote so much time to the institution's interests. Mr. Fisk's popularity with the masses is probably more pronounced than that of any other single individual in the city and borough and despite his reluctance to enter upon a sixth term, every effort should be made to induce him to continue in office.

As "half a loaf is better than no bread," so is the new automobile law superior to what we have had, though it is by no means all that is desired. The chief fault to be found in it is the provision allowing a maximum speed of a mile in three minutes when it does not endanger life, liberty or property. A moment's thought will bring the conviction that no end of trouble will be caused by the condition annexed. When and where will it be dangerous to maintain the highest rate of speed allowed? Who is to judge, the chauffeur, the policeman or the court? We have in mind an automobilist who dashes around corners in the business section of this city in a way that imperils life, and yet his machine is not traveling at the rate of a mile in three minutes by any manner of means. Were he allowed to be the judge, there never would be a conviction. Were the court allowed to judge from hearsay, it is doubtful if the reckless autoist would be found guilty. Were the policemen permitted to be the sole judge, it would be vesting him with too much power. What applies to dashing around corners of a block bears equally to a straight course. The condition contained in the provision renders the entire section ineffectual. Through such violation, the whole bill is spoiled for that is its most material feature. Nothing can be done now, but there's opportunity for the next Legislature to greatly improve the present statute.

PREDICTS UNPLEASANT MONTH.

Weather Prophet Says June Will be Cold and Wet.

Weather Prophet DeVoe, of Hackensack, gives out the following weather prediction for June:

"June will enter very cold, with heavy rains extending over a large portion of the United States, centering over the Ohio Valley the first days. The heaviest rains and severest winds will reach the Atlantic Coast States from June 26 to July 4, with danger of floods. After the fourth it will grow warm. August will be a hot month."

Miss Josephine Teller, of Fredonia, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Herbert W. Burton, of West Front street.

SEVENTH-DAY CONFERENCE

back of every young man's life must be found a desire for more work and a devotion to principal and ideals of character. It is necessary for young men to avoid searching for excuses for not being true to a great principle.

"No man ever reaches higher than he aspires. Give me a young man whose wagon is hitched to a star"

Arthur J. Spicer, of this city, made his report as treasurer of the association. Miss H. Louise Ayers, corresponding secretary, also reported.

An invitation from the Berlin, N. Y., church to hold the 1906 convention there was received. It was filed without action.

At 5 o'clock the convention adjourned to Friendship Hall for supper. The delegates reassembled at the church at 7:45 o'clock for devotions. A. H. Burdick led a praise service and Rev. G. W. Burdick, delegate from the Northwestern Association, preached.

This morning's session began at 10 o'clock and was occupied for the greater part of the time by a discussion in connection with an address given by Rev. G. B. Shaw, president of the Sabbath School Board, on the subject, "The wisdom of sending out a Sabbath-school field secretary." The duty of the field secretary is to go throughout the whole denomination. Walter L. Green, of Alfred, N. Y., one of the ordination class, has been assigned to this division. Remarks on the subject were made by Rev. A. E. Main, of Alfred, N. Y., Rev. Booth Davis, of Alfred University, and Rev. Clarence C. Chipman, of New York. Afterward Dr. Main answered numerous questions on the subject of training Sunday-school and church workers.

A second address on "The Common Problem," was delivered by Miss Ethel Haven, of Leonardsville, N. Y., a delegate from the Central Association. This led up to luncheon which was served in Friendship Hall. One of those in attendance today is Rev. H. H. Baker, of this city, the oldest elder in the denomination now being in his ninety-second year.

This afternoon addresses will be made by Dr. A. H. Lewis and Dr. Shaw.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Children of Mary of St. Mary's church will receive candidates next Sunday.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Plainfield local Christian Endeavor Union, plans were adopted to hold a rally in the Seventh-Day Baptist church on Thursday night, June 1, at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. John Sproull, president of the State C. E., will make an address.

—Neuman Brothers will place on sale tomorrow a consignment of 800 quarts of fancy Maryland strawberries, two quarts for a quarter. These berries are the best in the market.

garding the work of visiting the Industrial Home and asking for cooperation, Dr. Grossmann was introduced and spoke for over a half hour on the subject of nervous and typical children concerning which he has had much experience.

Dr. Grossman related some personal experiences at his school to show the development of children's minds and exhibited remarkable specimens of work performed by children at his school to show what talent they have, even though their minds are not always well developed.

At the close of the address, a vote of thanks was given to the speaker.

Blind Player.

A blind pianist named O'Dwyer, of Yonkers, N. Y., played and lectured at the High School this morning. He spoke on the power of concentration. MEXICO THE SUBJECT AT MEN'S MEETING

TRINITY'S ASSOCIATION HEARS REV. C. E. HERRING'S TRAVELOGUE.

Before the Men's Club, of Trinity Reformed church, Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered a travelogue on Mexico last night. Mr. Herring's talk was impressionistic rather than descriptive. He carried a well-sustained vein of humor through the talk that made it one of the most delightful ones to which the club has listened in the course of an unusually interesting season.

Mr. Herring devoted some time to a description of pulque, the national thirst-killer of Mexico. Mexicans call pulque food, drink, clothes, home and several other things worth living for.

Mexicans consume 75,000 gallons of pulque a day. The liquor is made from the juice of a species of the century plant.

"I didn't see a bullfight," said Mr. Herring. "I wanted to be a little original. You know, most people travelling through Mexico make a rush to the bullfight and then rush to their friends and say: 'I saw a bullfight. It's horrible! Don't you go!' And the friends go, and tell some others not to go, and so on without end. I knew I didn't like bullfights, so I thought I'd be consistent and not see one."

Mr. Herring has a poor opinion of Mexican standard of honesty.

In addition to the lecture, there was a novel musical programme by A. E. Willard and Company. Mr. Willard played the piano and the mouth organ, accompanying himself in his solo on the latter. He and L. C. Schemerhorn played duets on the mouth organ and the humanophone, accompanied by Miss Lavena Culver. Miss Lottie Willard, Mr. Willard and Mr. Schemerhorn played mandolin and guitar trios.

President F. P. Storr presided over the affair.

Thomas F. Flynn to Marry.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. McWilliams, of Raritac, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna Bernadette, to Thomas F. Flynn, of Plainfield avenue. The ceremony will be performed in St. Bernard's church, Raritan, Wednesday afternoon, June 7, at 3 o'clock. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents od Doughty street.

Deprived Invalid of Companion.

An intelligent Shepherd dog that has long been the constant companion of Mrs. Clark Mundy, of West Front street, was run over and killed by an automobile, Monday. The animal was highly prized by the owner because of the fact that she is a helpless invalid and it had learned how to run errands for her.

Arthur Grisley Surprised.

Arthur Grisley, of New street, was tendered a surprise party by twenty of his young friends last night. Music and games were enjoyed until a late hour after which refreshments were served.

HERO OF SANTIAGO WEDS.

Captain Hobson and Miss Hull Married at Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., May 26.—The wedding of Miss Grizelda Houston Hull and Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, formerly of the United States navy, took place here at the cottage of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Huntington Hull, in Tuxedo. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Fitzsimon, rector of St. Mary's, Tuxedo Park.

The presents were numerous and costly. A gift of A. M. Tucker of Canton, O., was the key with which Captain Hobson was locked in the cell of the Morro at Santiago during the Spanish-American war. Other gifts were Captain Hobson's glasses that were sunk with the Merrimac and pieces of wood taken from the same vessel.

The guests were confined to the relatives and intimate friends of the two families and were chiefly from New York, Tuxedo and the south. Among them were the Misses Ann, Margaret and Florence Hobson, sisters of the groom; Rear Admiral Chadwick, U. S. N.; Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A.; Major General Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dickerson and Miss Hubbell of Springfield, Mo.; Mr. Gore and Miss Irene Gore of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price of North Carolina and General and Mrs. F. Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston.

The wedding guests left with Captain and Mrs. Hobson at 6 o'clock on a special train.

Captain and Mrs. Hobson will pass several weeks in the Adirondacks, after which they will go to Greensboro, Ala., where they will reside.

SHEA UPHELD.

Chicago Court Decided In Favor of Strike Leader.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Cornelius P. Shea, president of the International Teamsters' union, was upheld by Judge Kohlsaat of the federal court here in his refusal to answer questions before Master in Chancery Sherman which might tend to incriminate him. Shea is now under indictment in the criminal court, and Judge Kohlsaat declared that answers to some of the questions put to him might prejudice the hearing of his case.

In the same decision which excused Shea the court ruled that Bernard Mulligan, president of the Express Drivers' union, and John Donohue, a member of the same union, had refused to answer questions which could not in any way connect them with any criminal proceedings, and they were, therefore, in contempt of court. He sentenced both men to jail, but allowed them to remain in nominal custody in the hands of United States Marshal Ames for five days in order that their attorneys may perfect a review on habeas corpus proceedings before another federal judge.

The strike did not spread further to any great extent, and there was little disorder. A number of lumber firms made a few deliveries, but did not attempt anything like their normal amount of business.

There is no apparent prospect in any direction of a settlement of the strike.

Holds Out Olive Branch to France.

PARIS, May 26.—Speaking at the banquet of the Franco-Japanese society last night Prince Arisugawa, who came to Europe to represent the mikado at the wedding of Crown Prince Frederick William, said that Japan knew how to appreciate the sympathy which had been shown her. "I am convinced," said the prince, "that the relations existing between Japan and France will not cease, but that they will become more closely knit by the more and more numerous bonds of interest and sentiment."

Boston Bankers' Big Failure.

BOSTON, May 26.—Seventy-one banks and trust companies, most of them in Massachusetts, but several located in various parts of the country, are among the creditors of the banking firm of Burnett, Cummings & Co. of 43 Milk street, this city, which has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court, with liabilities placed at $1,714,368. The assets are stated to be uncertain.

Fastest Train In the World.

CHICAGO, May 26.—The Lake Shore and New York Central railroads announce that the running time of the "Twentieth Century limited" train between Chicago and New York will be reduced one hour, making the time between the two cities nineteen hours. This reduction will make the "Twentieth Century limited" the fastest long distance train in the world.

Bank Failed, Cashier Shot Himself.

STOCKTON, Cal., May 26.—Consequent upon the fact that Cashier Kahn of the Oakdale bank shot himself here the directors of the institution, of which Thomas B. Dorsey is the president, have suspended business indefinitely. The state bank commissioners have been sent for. The condition of the cashier, which is somewhat improved, is still precarious.

Jewish Riots at Warsaw.

WARSAW, May 26.—Rioting continued here all day and was still in progress late last night. Eight persons have already been killed and a hundred wounded, nineteen seriously. The damage to property has been considerable. There has been no pillaging, but the destruction of the furniture in the various houses has been absolute.

King Leopold Visits Hay.

FEMININE FRIBBLES.

Changeable Silk Shirt Waist Suits. Irish Point Sailors Smart.

Some of the prettiest effects in shirt waist suits are to be seen in changeable silk showing red and green. The skirts are very full and tucked at the bottom, and the waist and sleeves are also tucked. These suits are quite inexpensive and wear beautifully throughout an entire season.

Sailor shapes covered with Irish point and trimmed with a ruche of shaded ribbon made full and fluffy about the crown are simple to make and very becoming.

Blouse waists this summer are not the floppy shapeless garments they were last season. To be smart they must fit perfectly. The well fitting waist has no side seams, but the underarm seam is curved to the figure, and the shoulder line curves toward the back. There is, of course, no "droop" at the waist line, and the plaits run from shoulder to belt. The sleeves are rather large all the way down, and the cuff, if cuff there be, is deep or the sleeve is put into a band.

The summer girl will be beribboned to her heart's content. For her dressy white frock she may have several sets of tiny ribbon rose wreaths in empire designs with which to adorn both skirt and waist. She may also wear with the same creation a rose boa made of soft satin ribbon manipulated into roses and sewn thickly on a foundation of plaited chiffon. The boa is about half a yard long and finishes with long ends of plaited chiffon.

The pretty hat shown in the cut is of burnt straw. It turns up abruptly at the back, where it is filled in with loops of black velvet ribbon and Gloire de Dijon roses. These roses, together with two soft wings of pale yellow, form a trimming about the crown. Under the brim near the edge is an inch wide band of black velvet, and toward the face are folds of yellow tulle.

Five Gored Skirts Liked For Tub Frocks—Jackets of Irish Lace.

Sleeves are getting smaller every week and all semblance of droop at the wrist has vanished. The fullness, what there is of it, comes from the elbow.

With all the changes going on in styles skirts remain almost the same. For every day washtub gowns the new five gored pattern is the best to use. It is slightly gathered at the back and sides and has a deep Spanish flounce quite straight, but not very full. This flounce is tucked and has a wide hem at the foot line. It is mounted to the upper part of the skirt with gathers or with a heading of embroidery or heavy insertion.

For thin narrow materials a circular skirt top is preferred. A deep circular flounce is sewed to this foundation, on which are any number of smaller ruffles.

Princess frocks are to be seen on many of the best models of handkerchief linen and batiste. They are tucked to fit into the waist line and trimmed with lace and designs in fine hand embroidery.

The coat pictured is of white linen. The collar and cuffs are appliqued with a bright navy blue linen. The belt coming from either side the back seams defines the figure and disappears beneath the fronts, leaving the latter free for the display of a pretty lingerie shirt waist.

KEENE'S DELHI WINS

Brooklyn Handicap at Gravesend Victory For Favorite.

OSTRICH, SECOND; GRAZIALLO, THIRD

Winner Carried Thousands Upon Thousands of Public's Money—On Start He Rushed to Front and Was Never Headed.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Delhi, last year's champion miler, carried the Keene colors to an easy victory at Gravesend race track in the Brooklyn Handicap. The speedy son of Ben Brush enriched his owner in the sum of $16,000, while Ostrich, from the Boston stable, captured second prize, $2,500, and Graziallo, the Columbia stable's candidate, won third money, amounting to $1,500. About 30,000 persons saw a fine race meeting.

Delhi was favorite in the betting and carried thousands upon thousands of public money. As good as 4 to 1 could be had against his chances for a moment when the books opened, but the flood of wagers forced his price to 2½ in a few minutes. Ostrich and Graziallo were heavily backed for second and third positions, so that the general run of racegoers may be said to have profited as they seldom do in their battles with the layers over the big handicaps.

Meantime the Jennings entry, Dainty and Proper, and Charles Rowe's candidate, Colonial Girl, were played consistently. Just before post time there was another rush, in which Graziallo and Ostrich were the only names heard.

These preliminaries settled, the bugle sounded calling the eleven contestants to the post. Delhi, with Burns up, was cheered as he emerged from the paddock, as were Proper and Dainty.

Colonial Girl drew the rail position and when the barrier went up showed for a brief space in front. Not for long, however, were the Rowe colors to lead, for Delhi rushed to the fore under vigorous urging, and when the racers scurried past the judges' stand he already held a commanding position. Graziallo, nicely handled by Hildebrand, worked into second place before Colonial Girl, while Lord of the Vale was fourth, with the others strung out behind. Proper and Dainty were away badly and did not move up a particle from beginning to end.

The first mile was reeled off in 1:41. None of the others had been able to get near the leader, and Burns cleverly held his place close to the rail, saving ground all the way. Graziallo gained slightly after the mile post was passed, and Colonial Girl tired rapidly. When the leaders straightened out into the stretch it seemed for a moment that Delhi would be overtaken, but no one got near enough to tell whether the brown colt was or was not stronghearted.

Seventy yards from home Ostrich came with a great rush on the outside. He had been running away back in seventh place, but slowly closed in during the drive down the stretch, and in the final great efforts his rider, Willie Knapp, awoke to his opportunity. The leaders evidently were almost exhausted, and under a gruelling from the whip Ostrich ran up to them as though they had stopped. Half a dozen jumps from the finish he flashed between Delhi and Graziallo and snatched from the latter the second section of the purse. Colonial Girl also weakened and Sir Brillar finished stoutly in fourth place.

Delhi's race, made as it was without pace from start to finish, was very creditable, the mile and a quarter in 2:06 2-5, or one-fifth of a second better than The Picket's time in the Brooklyn a year ago.

The other races were good. There was small play on the Bennington crack two-year-old, First Water, which went down to his first defeat before August Belmont's Woolwich in the third. In the fifth race Colonel Ruppert was the cause of much grief to the bookmakers. Summaries:

First Race.—Ivan the Terrible, first; Bohemia, second; Shotgun, third.

Second Race.—Jacquin, first; Jane Holly, second; Conjuror, third.

Third Race.—Woolwich, first; First Water, second; Waterwing, third.

Fourth Race.—Delhi, first; Ostrich, second; Graziallo, third.

Fifth Race.—Colonel Ruppert, first; Little Woods, second; Jetsam, third.

Sixth Race.—Voorhees, first; Don Diego, second; Transmute, third.

Travis Beaten by Young Golfer.

NEW YORK, May 26.—This was a day of unexpected reverses for the most prominent players in the Metropolitan Golf association's annual championship tournament here. In the first round of match play Eben M. Byers of Pittsburg, who won the medal play round, was defeated by James M. Rhett of the Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn. Walter J. Travis, who is rated as probably the best American amateur golfer, was put out by Jerome D. Travers, who is practically a schoolboy, by 7 up and 6 to play.

Hoi Polloi at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 26.—Hoi Polloi, at 10 to 1, won the Juvenile stakes, the feature event at Churchill Downs here, by a nose in a terrific drive from Hermitage. Apple, at 1 to 5, in the last race was defeated by Curate at 20 to 1. Golden Link, favorite in the steeplechase event, fell at the first jump, and Jockey J. Carter's collar bone was broken, his head injured and he was internally hurt, but he probably will recover.

An Uphill Motor Car Contest.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 26.—More than a score of motor vehicles of various descriptions attempted the steep grade of Dead Horse hill at Leicester. The course was a mile in length, with a rise of 325 feet. The best time was made by a ninety horsepower gasoline car owned by Samuel B. Stevens of Rome, N. Y., which rushed up the hill in 1 minute and 9 seconds.

Tillman was driven over an embankment near the campus and painfully injured, sustaining two ugly cuts on the top of his head and was otherwise bruised. It was very dark, and the horses missed the road, precipitating the carriage and occupants down a distance of about fifteen feet. In the carriage were Senator Tillman's daughters, Misses Lona and Mollie May, and Miss Bryant. None of the ladies were injured.

CASTRO'S NIGHT RAID

Caracas Newspaper Men Made Political Prisoners.

IMPRENTA COLON COMPANY HELD UP

President Angered by Editorials and Statement That Roosevelt Is a Great Man Who Correctly Interprets Monroe Doctrine.

CARACAS, May 26.—It is reported here that the police of Caracas recently raided at night the offices of El Pregonero, the oldest and largest newspaper in Venezuela. At the moment of the arrival of the police two of the editorial writers were in the building, attending to the getting up of the paper. They were placed under arrest and are now political prisoners.

On the following morning another of the editorial staff was found and placed under arrest also. The order against El Pregonero included the large printing establishment which prints the paper and which was also closed. This is called Imprenta Colon, and in it are printed eight other newspapers.

This has placed the eight other newspapers in an embarrassing position, as they will now have to look for new quarters where they can have their papers printed. Practically every Caracas newspaper with the exception of El Constitutional, the government organ, was printed by the closed house.

The reason for the order from President Castro is said in Caracas to be an editorial published on the day of the suspension and also the publishing of a letter from a New York correspondent, Senor Antonio Escobar, a Venezuelan resident there. The editorial was written by Senor Eloy Gonzalez, now in jail, and is to the effect that international war is a necessary way of settling disputes between nations, as our civilization is not sufficiently advanced as yet for amicable adjustments. No allusion at all was made to the controversy between the United States and Venezuela, to President Castro, or to Venezuela at all. The editorial treated the subject in a general way.

The other article, which, it is said, was disagreeable to President Castro, was one of a series from the New York correspondent and was to the effect that Theodore Roosevelt is a great man and that the Monroe doctrine as interpreted by him is correctly interpreted and that it is for the interests of the American republics.

El Monitor published a statement to the effect that Mr. Bowen had received from the Venezuelan government a large sum of money (about $33,000) for his services to the government and that the arbitration commissioners at The Hague had received about $80,000 for their services. Mr. Bowen asked President Castro in a personal letter to him that the director of El Monitor be punished.

"Tap Day" at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 26.—The Yale senior society elections were held according to the historic "tap day" custom and as usual there was a great crowd on the campus during the slapping of the forty-five men into the three societies. It would have been an unusual day if there had been no surprises as the result of the election, the name of some prominent man of the university generally being omitted from the list of forty-five. Thomas L. Shevlin of Minneapolis, Minn., captain of the university football team and one of the greatest all around athletes that ever attended Yale, was not tapped.

Druggists Against Liquor Licenses.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 26.—The organized druggists of the state sent a large delegation before Governor Higgins to oppose the Raines bill, which proposes to repeal the law allowing them to sell liquor under a stamp tax without going to the expense of taking out a "storekeeper's" liquor license. W. C. Anderson, president of the New York State Pharmacists' association, and various local representatives declared that many of them could not afford to sell liquor at all if compelled to take out licenses.

Art Prizes Awarded.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Scholarships and prizes aggregating nearly $12,000 were awarded to students at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. The Cresson long term scholarships of $1,000 were awarded to Daniel Garber, Cincinnati, for painting; Victor H. Zoll, Newark, N. J., for sculpture, and William E. Grohen for architecture.

Woodruff-Watson Nuptials.

COLUMBUS, O., May 26.—The wedding of Mrs. Eugenie Gray Watson and John Eastman Woodruff, son of Timothy L. Woodruff, former lieutenant governor of New York, took place at the Hotel Hartman last night, Rev. B. L. McElroy officiating.

Hooker Will Not Go.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 26.—"Justice Hooker not only will not resign, but will make a defense before the legislature which will surprise some people," was the statement made by a friend.

Merry Is the Great Sachem.

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 26.—Ernest L. Merry of Pawtucket was elected great sachem of the great council of Rhode Island Red Men at its eighteenth annual meeting here.

Decided Against "Buffalo Bill."

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 26.—Judge Scott here has overruled the motion for a new trial of Colonel W. F. Cody's divorce suit case. The case will go to the supreme court on appeal.

HIS LOVE SPURNED BY MAIDEN; HE SHOOTS HER AND KILLS HIMSELF

Frank Huber, Alleged Married Man, Commits Suicide Believing He Had Killed Eighteen-Year-Old Louisa Kraemer.

SUNDAY TRAGEDY STIRS 'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Attacks Girl at Her Father's Home—Fires Three Times at Her, One Bullet Shattering Her Jaw Bone—Ends Life in Field.

In a fit of insane jealousy, Frank Huber, forty-one years old, made a desperate attempt, yesterday morning, to kill Louisa Kraemer, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Charles Kraemer, of Midway avenue, Fanwood, and believing he had, fled from her home but committed suicide shortly afterward in a patch of woods near Johnston's drive.

The girl is in Muhlenberg Hospital. The doctors believe her recovery is certain. Out of three shots fired at her from a .38 calibre revolver, two went wild and the other entered her neck just, missing the jugular vein, then taking an upward course, shattered the jaw-bone and passed out the right chek.

Huber came to this city from Cincinnati, O., last fall and secured employment as a moulder at the Scott Press Works. He boarded with the Kraemers and though it was said he had a wife and two children living in the West, he began paying attention to Louisa. The girl did not reciprocate his love. Subsequently father was forced to warn him and they had several stormy interviews. This made him morose and moody and a month or so ago he left Scott's and went to Newark to work.

He returned to the Kraemer home Saturday, and by pleading illness, induced the parents to allow him to remain a few days until he recovered. He consulted Dr. F .W. Westcott and though the physician could find no trace of organic trouble he insisted that there was and added:

"I know there is something wrong with me and I believe something is going to happen."

Louisa was engaged in some household work at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when Huber came down stairs and renewed his protestations of love. She scorned him and he wrought himself into a furious passion. Becoming alarmed she started to leave the room but had taken only a few steps when Huber whipped out the revolver and fired. The first shot lodged in the wall, the second struck her and the third hit a door. He then turned the weapon upon himself but it failed to explode.

He started from the house down Hunter avenue on a fast run. His excited appearance led a party of Italians to stop him but he brushed them aside by shouting that a girl had shot herself and he was hurrying for a doctor. He continued on his run as far as the new bridge over Mountain avenue, where he halted and for some reason started to disrobe, taking off a jersey and a heavy shirt. After this he went on again and disappeared in the woods just off Johnston's drive. His body was found at 9:30 by Edward Johnston. He had shot himself twice, once in the breast and a second time in the head, the bullet passing clear through.

Johnston hurried into Scotch Plains to make known his discovery and Chief Kiely and Detective McCarthy, of this city, were asked to take charge of the case. They went to the scene and had the body removed to Cole's undertaking rooms in this city. The suicide occurred in Somerset County and its authorities were apprised of the case.

The injured girl was first treated by Dr. Westcott and was then taken to the hospital. She retained consciousness and was able to tell all the circumstances in connection with the shooting. The remarkable course taken by the bullet makes the injury exceedingly painful and at one time yesterday the patient declared she preferred death to the agony she was undergoing.

But little is known of Huber as he made few friends at Scott's and he avoided talking about himself when in conversation. The local police believe he carefully planned the shooting as the revolver had been purchased in Newark Saturday. The girl is well known throughout the city, having been employed for a long time at Herzig & Kapp's skirt factory on Watchung avenue. She is attractive in appearance and has a pleasing disposition.

Neuman Brothers' store will be closed all day tomorrow; open later this evening.

MINISTER DENOUNCED GAMES OF CHANCE

Rev. McCrea Scored Card Playing on Trains and a Carnival Scheme.

HIS CONDEMNATION.

Declared That He Would Not Attend Hospital Benefit Because of the Automobile and Like Contests.

The constant practice of commuters in playing cards on the train between here and New York, games of chance conducted at the recent Carnival as well as other times, were the basis of a strong sermon delivered by Rev. A. C. McCrea at the First M. E. church, last night.

Rev. A. C. McCrea.

In no uncertain tones he denounced all games of chance and referred especially to those allowed at the recent Carnival held for the benefit of the hospital, adding that it was for this reason that he would not attend the affair.

He cited the fact that one boy who held a single chance on an automobile, won the machine, while others held as high as fifty chances and received nothing.

Referring to card playing on trains, he said that it was no secret that the play was for money and he mentioned a case where the wife of a commuter, who had won some money and failed to get it, became very indignant over the failure of the loser to pay over the sum.

This and other forms of gambling and games of chance were treated by Mr. McCrea in a vigorous fashion.

AFTER DEBAUCH TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Jerry Foss Strangling When Policeman Cut Him Down.

IS SOON REVIVED.

Despondent Man Had Made a Noose of His Shirt—Bears a Good Reputation.

Weak and despondent after a long debauch, Jerry Foss ,of Duer street, made a desperate attempt to commit suicide in the North Plainfield police headquarters, Saturday night. With a noose made by twisting his shirt and fastening it to the steel grating of a cell, he was slowly strangling to death when discovered by Marshal Fred Emmons.

He was promptly cut down and "first aid" measures were adopted until the arrival of Dr. Dundon. The physican found him in a semi-conscious state but he was soon revived.

Foss, who formerly conducted a seafood market on Park avenue, has always borne an excellent reputation but a few weeks ago he took to drinking and has since been intoxicated the greater part of the time. Eearly last week the borough police locked him up for safe-keeping and after three days' confinement it was thought he had been straightened out.

He was released but immediately started out to drown his sorrows all over again and Saturday afternoon was locked up for the second time. No one was in the jail corridor for some time and early in the evening Marshal Emmons chanced in to get his bicycle. He glanced in the cell and then made the discovery.

Foss is still at headquarters, though not locked up, and he will be closely watched until he recovers his senses fully.

"TOO SLOW," —DAABSTERS

Quakers Register 2 Runs While Locals Knock Out 12.

GIFT FOR COSGROVE.

Center Fielder Gets a Suit Case While He and Manager Daab Get Bouquets of Praise.

Through eight and a half innings nine helpless young men from Philadelphia, called in bitter irony the Professionals, struggled feebly against Daab's lusty crew Saturday afternoon. Thereafter they faded away silently and in gloom, to wit: 12 to 2.

Memories of one-old-cat and the sweet joys of lawn tennis forbid that the show produced by those weary Professionals be called baseball. They plastered themselves with errors so thickly and steadily that the scorer couldn't keep up with them. Only four of the nine men didn't make miscues, and High insisted on making four all by himself. Beck had them frozen stiff at the bat, and only four welts got away from him, two of them punky in nature.

Daab's myrmidons did more to that bunch of weaklings than was good for a tender-hearted person to witness. They belted the ball all over the lot on necessary occasions, and heartlessly seized every chance that the open-work playing of the visiting delegation offered. Driscoll was the only player who didn't get a hit. Pete Cregan got three, and Connolly lammed the leather for a complete circuit. Eleven hits, five earned runs, and four stolen bases—were the Professionals jarred, yes?

Festivities began when Cosgrove stepped up to the bat. Big Chief Daab called him back, and City Judge Runyon, fixing a kindly eye on the blushing athlete, informed him in a voice that shook the scoreboard loose that he had been elected the idol of the baseball world at the Carnival. Daab carried the trophy of popularity, a dress suit case, to the plate, and the idol took his cap off. Cheers from the populace. The Judge added a bunch of verbal posies for Mr. Daab, breathing the heartfelt joy of the populace over the advent of the Hoboken Moses who yanked them out of the baseball wilderness. Wild cheers, and Daab played up a rosy flush that paled Cosgrove's countenance. The Philadelphia athletes regarded the proceedings from their positions with childlike wonderment. Maybe that had something to do with their collapse. It certainly was a tea-party session, and hard businesslike baseball might have seemed out of place after the soft social graces of the first round.

Anyway, the Professionals blew up in the second and stayed very bad

Casino Attraction..

An attraction which is said to be the strongest in its line, comes to the Casino on Monday, 5. This attraction is "Salisbury's Moving Pictures." It is entirely different from the usual run of shows of this character, inasmuch as you not only see the pictures but hear the sounds both vocal and mechanical, and every picture holds the interest of the audience from start to finish. The effects are positively startling, nothing like them having ever been attempted in a production of this kind. This entertainment should be witnessed by every lover of pure, wholesome and moral amusement, as it is far above anything shown heretofroe.

TOGO VICTORIOUS

Six Russian Warships Destroyed In Battle,

BORODINO AND OREL GO UNDER

Rojestvensky's Fleet, Hope of Russia, Dispersed.

AN AMERICAN SHIP DESTROYED.

The Russian Armada, Steaming Up Through Korean Strait, Was Attacked by Japanese With Disastrous Results to the Squadron of the Czar—Reports Indicate Complete Defeat.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The American consul at Nagasaki has cabled the state department that the Japanese have sunk two Russian battleships, said to be the Borodino and Orel, and have destroyed three other warships and a repair ship in the straits of Korea.

Private telegrams from Korea to the Japanese consul at Chefu state that a battle was fought Saturday at the Korean straits between the main portion of the Russian squadron and the Japanese fleet under command of Admiral Togo.

When a large portion of the Russian fleet was sighted approaching the Korean strait and heading for the channel between Tsu island and the Japanese coast Admiral Togo, with his main fleet, steamed out to meet them from Masampho bay.

ADMIRAL TOGO.

The main portion of Admiral Togo's fleet has been almost constantly there for several days.

A Tokyo report says that the Russian fleet has been dispersed, that several Russian ships have been disabled and that the remainder are in flight, with the Japanese pursuing.

Confirmation has been received at Washington from Shanghai of the report that the Russian warships of the Pacific fleet sank an unknown American merchant ship off the Chinese coast. The heavy gun fire from the engagement of the hostile fleets in the Korean strait was plainly heard at Shanghai.

A Shanghai special says that Rojestvensky's fleet has been defeated off Oki island and is fleeing northward and that six Russian ships, including the battleships Borodino and Orel and the fleet repair ship, have been sunk.

There was a running naval engagement between the hostile fleets in the strait of Korea, starting at the island of Oki. It is reported that the whole Russian fleet is not participating, some of the slower vessels having steamed around Japan. The Japanese losses so far are stated to be one cruiser and ten torpedo boats.

It is believed now that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky sent sufficient ships to the vicinity of Shanghai in order to induce the belief that his main fleet was there, while the major portion of it pushed on toward the Korean strait in an endeavor to reach Vladivostok.

A dispatch received at the state department from Tokyo says that the Japanese government has made the announcement that its fleet had engaged the Russians in the straits of Korea and had held them. The reported sinking of the battleship Borodino is mentioned in a dispatch received at the state department from the consul at Nagasaki.

It is said that the Japanese resorted to a free use of their torpedo boats in their attacks on the vessels of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet. The Japanese have a large number of torpedo boats in their fleet, and they have demonstrated their effectiveness in the operations.

The name and destination of the American steamer which Vice Admiral Rojestvensky is reported to have sunk off Formosa is unknown. Details concerning the sinking of the vessel are expected to be made known when the crew of the steamer reaches Japan. Although nothing is known here about the case, it is expected that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky will claim that the vessel was cruising.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says that nothing is known at the admiralty of the reported sinking of an unknown

American steamer off Formosa by Vice Admiral Rojestvensky. It is recognized at the admiralty as quite possible that "Rojestvensky may have been compelled by military necessity to destroy a neutral. If he feared that to allow it to proceed and report the whereabouts and direction of the Russian fleet would endanger his strategic plan he had no other alternative except to take off the crew and sink the ship. Such an incident is unfortunate, but every naval officer must admit that the risk in such a crisis is too great to take any chances. If the ship was unjustifiably sunk from the standpoint of international law Russia of course will have to foot the bill, but any cost is cheap if it furthered Rojestvensky's mission."

BANDIT KNOCKED OUT.

Two Plucky Railroad Men Earned $2,000 by One Blow.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—Express Messenger Laub and Engineer Wilson received $1,000 each for capturing a man who held up the eastbound North Coast limited train at midnight on the Northern Pacific railroad near Bearmouth, Mont. The robber had blown open the safe with charges of dynamite aggregating twenty-five pounds when Laub by the aid of a match struck by Wilson knocked the robber senseless with a piece of iron. The robber was bound and taken into Drummond. He remained unconscious all day. This is the third holdup of the same train near Bearmouth.

General Manager H. J. Horn of the Northern Pacific gives the details of the holdup as follows:

"The train was held up two miles east of Bearmouth by one man. After ordering the express messenger out of the car the robber, who had twenty-five pounds of dynamite, blew the safe open in the express car, shattering the side of the car and blowing the door off the safe.

"After the third explosion the robber forced Engineer Wilson to crawl in the car ahead of him and the messenger to follow Wilson. As soon as they were in the car the bandit forced Engineer Wilson to strike a match, and Engineer Wilson saw Express Messenger Laub ready to hit the robber with a piece of broken car. Wilson immediately blew the match out, and the express messenger struck the robber and knocked him out.

"The robber was bound and taken to Drummond, where he was turned over to the county authorities."

AMERICAN MEATS.

President Will Send a Special Report In His Annual Message.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—For the purpose of enlisting the sympathies of President Roosevelt in a larger export market for American meats F. J. Hagenbarth of Salt Lake City, president of the National Live Stock association, called at the White House. He was introduced to the president by Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporations. So great was the president's interest that he has promised to deal with the subject in his annual message to congress and will take up a number of other matters of vital importance to live stock men.

In addition to calling on the president he has seen officials of the department of agriculture, Director of the Census North, Commissioner Garfield and a number of other government agents. His association has determined to embark upon a campaign of education to demonstrate that there are matters of legislation which it considers more vital to the commercial interests than rate legislation, though Mr. Hagenbarth commended the president highly for the position he has taken on that subject.

Tragedy at Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., May 29.—Because Louise Kraemer, a young woman with whose family he boarded in Scotch Plains, refused to marry him, Frank Huber, a machinist, shot her in the face here, the bullet breaking both her jaws. Believing that he had killed the girl, Huber ran into the woods near by, where his body was found shot through the head. Miss Kraemer will probably recover. Huber was a widower and formerly lived in Altoona, Pa.

Before leaving Mr. Odell in a private conversation spoke in the highest manner of the qualifications of Mr. Hay as a future presidential candidate. Coming from a man of Mr. Odell's political importance, the statement is significant.

Scavengers' Strike Caused Riots.

Municipal Control Makes the Citizens Rich.

SCOTCH COUNCILMAN FOR CHICAGO.

Result of City Management Is Higher Wages For Employees—Penny Car Fares For Citizens and Fifty Cent Gas.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The general manager of the municipal street railroads of Glasgow, Scotland, Mr. James Dalrymple, who is to give the benefit of his experience to Mayor Dunne, now laboring to establish municipal ownership in Chicago, has arrived in New York on the Cunard line steamship Campania.

A delegation from the Municipal Ownership League of New York went down the bay in a tug to meet the Campania and escort Mr. Dalrymple from the pier to the Hoffman House. An automobile tour of New York was then taken.

The visitor is a typical Scot, vigorous and sturdy and with all the glow of youth in spite of his fifty years.

"I look forward with great interest to my visit to Chicago," he said. "I do not see why the street railways of that city should not be owned and managed by the city as successfully as they are in Glasgow, although it is a much larger proposition. There are few people in Glasgow now who are not advocates of municipal ownership.

"The city owns the street railroads, the gas plants and the telephone system. The street car fare is about 2 cents in American money. Gas is furnished at less than 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

"The only trouble has come from the telephone venture, and that is due to a fight made against the city by the National Telephone company and to the natural aversion of the Scot to a telephone. The average Scotchman would rather walk a mile and hold a conversation face to face than use the phone.

"We are constantly improving the street car system, and at the same time the roads yield a profit. Last year the profits were $500,000.

"We pay higher wages than privately owned companies, have fewer hours of labor, work the men six days a week, have no strikes and pension men when they are disabled.

"Every man is entitled to a pension of half pay if disabled after fifteen years of service.

"We pay an accident insurance company $75,000 a year, and the company assumes the city's liabilities for accidents.

"We do not have to worry about dividends, stockholders and the annoyances to which private ownership of roads subjects those who manage them. We have no terminals, where cars can become congested, such as your Brooklyn bridge terminal.

"Our cars keep moving ahead all the time. There is never any congestion. We never run under less than a one minute headway. If more cars are needed we supply them. Our cars are kept clean and in good repair. We simply have to please the public by giving them a good service instead of pleasing stockholders by giving dividends."

Princess Willful Used a Squirt.

BERLIN, May 29.—Princess Victoria Louisa, the kaiser's twelve-year-old daughter, reigns supreme in the imperial palace, where she is known as Princess Willful. Practical joking is her great delight. Recently the kaiser summoned his two youngest sons to inspect them in their new uniforms. Their sister, though, hid behind a screen and squirted water at them during the inspection by the kaiser, who roared with laughter, and after keeping the princes several minutes in this uncomfortable situation released them, telling them their new uniforms had been duly christened.

No Settlement In Sight.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Nothing has developed to indicate a settlement of the teamsters' strike, which has been in progress nearly two months. That the labor unions are of the belief that the fight will be a long one was demonstrated at the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, when arrangements were made for holding a strike demonstration on July 5.

Wanted Gold, Not Medal.

RODIE, Pa., May 29. — Mrs. John Baumann, mother of Louis Baumann, the seventeen-year-old boy who has been voted a medal for bravery by the Carnegie hero commission, expressed regret that her son had not been given money for an education instead of the medal which he has been promised.

Plainfield, N. J., May 29, 1905.

Admiral Togo is doing a Russian business at sea.

It being a holiday, there will be no issue of The Daily Press tomorrow.

Now just watch that galery-player who occupies the district-attorney's office in Gotham distribute the salve for a mayoralty nomination.

We ask the indulgence of our readers for a few days while improvements are being made in the mechanical department of the paper.

If there are any characteristics for which the people of Plainfield are noted it is the way they respond to whatever will help the place and the manner in which they advertise the city when away from home.

Friends of good government in every city in the country can send up a prayer of thanksgiving that the mayor of Philadelphia had the courage to revolt against machine domination and has shown himself to be a true servant of the people. For the first time in the memory of man has a chief executive in that boss riden municipality proved himself a man by daring to do right. The defeat of the "machine" which tried to sell the city to the gas gang will have a far reaching effect. The people in other communities, troubled by the same baneful influences, will realize what they possess when attempts are made by crooked officials to barter away valuable franchises against their will.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

An illustrated lecture on "Korea" was given by Rev. J. O. McKelvey in Warren chapel, Friday night.

Miss Bessie Martin sang a solo during the offertory at Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning. The solo and work of Miss Martin were very acceptable.

The closing exercises of the "Thimble Club" were held in Vincent chapel Friday afternoon. The entertainment opened with a song by the class. Piano solos were rendered by the Misses Marion and Dorothy Lynn and Miss Ethel Clarkson. Songs were sung by the Misses Edith Hartpence, Marguerite Hope, Saidie Lahey, Ruth Seal, Evelyn Buckley and Ruby Taylor. Among others recitations were given by the Misses Lulu and Florence Brown, Ester Patterson, Jennie Giebler, Helen Carson. After the exercises the class went to Mr. Naegle's pharmacy and were treated to ice cream soda.

for the rest of the battle. Forget the game. It was so painfully lopsided that half the beauty and chivalry departed in silent grief after the fifth inning.

Plainfield's fielding was a bright spot in the darkling scene. Cregan did sensational work in his patch, pulling them down with one hand, on the run, and in other storied ways. Oldring made some beautiful stops. What the scorer saw:

Got Even.

Bluffer went to Scotland, and, wishing to let a friend know of his safe arrival, he entered the post office and inquired if he could send a telegram direct to London, and how long it would take.

The attendant, a young lady, cut short his inquiries with:

"I am not paid to answer silly questions."

Imagine her feelings, however, when she found herself compelled to wire the following:

"Arrived safe. Girls here ugly and bad-tempered."—Tit-Bits.

An Irish Sally.

A young Irish lady, traveling in a compartment with two or three Englishmen, was listening to their rather free comments on Irish habits and customs.

At last one of the Englishmen loudly remarked:

"Oh, the Irish even sleep with the pigs."

"Yes," quietly broke in our young friend, "and travel with pigs, too, sometimes.

She heard no more.—Tit-Bits.

A Brave Man.

She.—We are to be married in a fortnight, aren't we, George?

He.—Yes, dear.

"And, George—"

"Yes."

"I am learning to cook! What do you think of that?"

"Well, you know none but the brave deserve the fair!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Advertising Pays.

"You know old Balducats advertised that he would pay a big price for a new head of hair?"

"Yes?"

"Well, he got it."

"The dickens he did!"

"Yes, a new baby arrived at his house yesterday with the thickest head of hair you ever saw."—Houston Post.

Constant Attention.

"Oh, papa, my tooth aches again!"

"H'm! Are you going to continue to eat a box of candy every day after you are married?"

"Yes, indeed! I suppose you think I should marry a candy manufacturer?"

"No; I think you'd better marry a dentist."—Chicago News.

Bagged at Last.

Perdita—Well, Jack and I are to be married at last, and we are so happy.

Penelope—Did you and Jack have much trouble in getting your father's consent?

Perdita—No; but pa and I had an awful lot of trouble getting Jack's consent.—Tit-Bits.

—For best results advertise in The Daily Press.

Her Voice.

"Well," said the cheerful wife, who thought she had a soprano voice, "if the worst comes to the worst I could keep the wolf from the door by singing."

"I don't doubt that would do it," replied her pessimistic husband; "but suppose the wolf should happen to be deaf?"—Tit-Bits.

Seldom.

When the sun was once dark from eclipse
He sought in the gloom for her lipse
And kissed her, he did.
Many times all unchid;
A lover such chance seldom skipse.
—Houston Post.

FILLING THE BREACH.

Miss Smythe (organizing a subscription dance)—I'm in despair about our dance, Mr. Brown. So many people have failed me. You'll come, won't you?

Mr. Brown—Really, Miss Smythe, I'm not a dancing man. I don't dance at all!

Miss S.—Oh, that won't matter in the least. You'd help to fill up, you know!

Mr. B.—Ah—yes—with pleasure. I will look in about supper time.—Punch.

Only Two Classes.

Two men there are who never can
Forget themselves, I wist;
And one's the perfect gentleman,
And one's the egotist.
—Philadelphia Press.

And Rarely a Prize Winner.

Miss Fancier.—A pure blooded terrier like Buttons is about as costly a dog as there is, Jack.

Her Escort.—No, there is one that is much more expensive; the Wall street pointer that a friend gives you.—Puck.

Unfortunate.

First Rabbit.—I hear Bunny has been shot at three times since he lost his foot in that steel trap the other day?

Second Rabbit.—Yes, he's lost his luck.—Houston Post.

Most Important.

Did you take the patient's temperature?

No, I forgot that.

What did you do?

I took a fee of two dollars.—Kansas City Star.

Philadelphia Gas Company Withdraws From Conflict.

SIGNAL VICTORY FOR WEAVER

Threats Had Been Made That the Seventy-five Year Lease Would Be Pushed Through Over Mayor's Veto.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—After a contest lasting five days the gas grab machine has been forced by public opposition and clamor to abandon its effort to extend the lease of the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement company for seventy-five years.

Thomas Dolan, president of the company, has forwarded a formal letter to the presidents of the select and common branches of the city councils withdrawing his proposition to advance the city $25,000,000 in consideration of the extension of the lease which the company now holds. This action was taken after a protracted conference with Commissioner Durham, State Senator McNichol and Select Councilman Charles Seger, who presented the gas lease resolutions in the councils.

The withdrawal of the United Gas Improvement company's offer is a signal victory for Mayor Weaver in his fight with the "organization," though it does not mean the end of the battle. The injunction proceeding brought by David Smyth, former director of public safety, and Peter E. Costello, former director of public works, against Mayor Weaver and their successors, Colonel Sheldon Potter and A. Lincoln Acker, to restrain the mayor's appointees from conducting the affairs of the two departments is still to come up for argument, and the leaders will make a determined effort to have the temporary injunction made permanent.

Since last Tuesday, when the mayor created the first sensation by ousting Smyth and Costello, directors, and appointing their successors great pressure has been brought to bear upon the councilmen by both sides, and the "organization" leaders have steadily maintained confidence in their ability to have the gas lease passed over the mayor's veto.

Popular opposition became so pronounced that one by one members of the councils who originally voted for the lease began to show a disposition to accede to the wishes of their constituents, and many said that they would vote against the measure.

HAY AT PARIS.

Met by Old Friends at French Capital—Is En Route Home.

Secretary Hay has profited greatly by the treatment at Bad Nauheim, but by order of his physician he is observing a very strict regimen, which will compel him to refrain from accepting any invitations or the making of social and official engagements. Corning, throwing away the revolver, belabored his benefactors with the cane. Shirlander finally choked Corning into helplessness. No reason is known for the attempted murder.

HOME CONVENIENCES.

Science Gives Country Folk Furnace Heat and Water Supply.

The uncivilized, insanitary country house of the American pioneer is rapidly vanishing and giving place to a home that is provided with all city conveniences.

Old country houses can be fitted with furnace heat and water supply. New farm and rural homes should be in no case built without them. It is better for awhile to do without a piano and a velvet parlor carpet or a costly carriage than without a bathroom. The furnace, bathroom and abundant water supply in the house constitute the mark that distinguishes civilized man from the savage.

Water Supply In the Home.

Where the household is dependent on rains for water supply the usual method is to dig cisterns. A force pump will convey water from one of these to a tank in the attic. I have the word of a gentleman who has such an arrangement that the labor of pumping the water into the tank is not extremely heavy. The attic tank furnishes fall enough for the water to run into a bathroom upon the first or second floor. The tank may also be filled directly from the roof rainfall by means of troughs or leaders that empty into it from the roof. The better way is undoubtedly to have the tank filled from the rain upon the roof. The tank foundation must be firm.

Some country homes in hilly or mountainous districts are situated near a natural spring or brook, with water flowing downhill toward the house. In this case a home may be made beautiful as well as convenient. The pressure is often sufficient to drive the water through pipes to the second floor of the house or even higher. Besides being utilized for the house supply the spring will feed a fountain in the yard. Frost proof covering is manufactured that will protect the water in both tank and pipes from freezing even in the coldest weather.

The Windmill Pump.

Thousands of well to do farmers have windmills to pump water from streams or from driven wells for their live stock, but many of them never have a thought of supplying water through their dwellings by means of the same pump. It is not difficult to do this.

The windmill makes a picturesque addition to the landscape. It is sometimes placed upon a high tower to secure a water pressure. Again it is affixed to the roof of a house or barn. In this case it must be strongly supported from below. Where the water supply is abundant the windmill may be used to irrigate lawn, garden or field or even to keep a fish pond going. Another use to which this addition to family comfort may be put is affording mechanical power for cutting feed and sawing wood.

A COUNTRY HOME.

The Country House Bathroom.

Where the water flows in pipes through the country dwelling a bathroom may be constructed as easily as in a town house. Thorough drainage may be secured by attention to the laws of mechanics and gravity. It requires thinking on the part of both plumber and house owner, but people who do not use their brains do not deserve to live in civilized houses. I have seen recently an account of how a house owner himself put a bathtub in his home, making the pipe connections and doing all the work with his own hands. The thing complete cost him $75.

The problem of heating water for the bath, so that one can have a hot scrub at any time, is not extremely serious. What is called a "water back" is furnished with kitchen stoves or ranges, so that water can pass through the back of the stove itself, being heated whenever there is fire. A tank holding some thirty gallons is fixed to the wall above and behind the stove, so that the hot water can flow from it to the bathroom.

Another arrangement, which in England is called a geyser (there pronounced "geeser"), will heat water for the bath in a few minutes by being placed under the conducting pipes. A similar device is on the market in this country. Gas, oil or gasoline can be used as a fuel.

The bathroom, of course, will at all times be warmed by hot air pipes from the furnace under the house. The comfort and cleanliness, the saving of labor and fuel, that come from one big fire supplying a whole house cannot be overestimated.

MARY ELIZABETH HART.

China's Women Rulers.

The Chinese nation has had previously four women rulers, each as great and famous as the present Empress Tsi An. A series of large volumes called the "Books of Four Women" gives details of these empresses' lives and lays down the rules which should govern the conduct of the feminine sex.

Feminine Snapshots

Good That the Osler Dictum Has Done

The humorous remark attributed to Professor Osler that man reaches the climax of his powers at forty and at sixty ought to be gently chloroformed off the stage has done a world of good even though, as Dr. Osler claims, he did not really say this. The alleged saying has been printed throughout the United States and Europe. In England it has stirred up an almost exciting discussion. A London paper points out that now men will have a stronger motive even than women to keep young and conceal their age as they approach forty. To woman age means loss of physical attraction. To men, according to the alleged Osler dictum, it will henceforth mean "a serious deprecation in their cash value." The writer says, "If passing forty is to knock a considerable sum off a man's living or perhaps to deprive him altogether of a chance of earning a living, I have not the slightest doubt that a great number of men will deem it wise to remain at thirty-two or some such age until they are too old to summon enough breath to gasp out the lie." Good! Now let the masculine sex as well as the feminine wake up to the disgracefulness of growing old. The notable point of the quotation from the English paper is that the article from which it is taken was written by a man.

In Switzerland a German noblewoman, Princess Gertrude Philippine Alexandra Marie Augustine Louise von Isembourg-Buendingen-Waechtersbach, has failed for $15,000,000 and gone into bankruptcy. No wonder!

The recent antiquated vote on the women taxpayers' bill in the New York state senate shows its members to have reached that age where they might with advantage be Oslerized.

Nice civilized country this! The limb on which a negro was hanged in a lynching some time ago in a certain locality has been cut from the tree and made into "little relics and curios" by an enterprising genius who will sell them as souvenirs to all who wish to buy. Will the fair ladies of that region presently be wearing these precious souvenirs attached to gold chains around their snowy necks?

"The funeral of Mrs. Brown, widow of Peter Filkins Brown, will take place Thursday at 11 o'clock at the residence of her son-in-law, Joseph Jenkins Jones, Esq." Poor "relict!" She was merely Peter Filkins Brown's widow and Joseph Jenkins Jones' mother-in-law. In every stage of life she was only an appendage to some man, not even allowed to have a name of her own! One man's widow, another man's mother-in-law—that was all! Really, is a woman anybody?

Mrs. Charles Warren Fairbanks, wife of the vice president, makes public speeches, and excellent ones, too, thus setting an example which other women of high social and official station will no doubt follow. In a recent address to a woman's club Mrs. Fairbanks said: "I believe women should set an example of loyalty and patriotism in the home. There is no better way of showing your devotion to your country than in helping to purify politics. I am in favor of politics for women."

Lately a millionaire fell in love with a telephone girl and married her. He was attracted to her first by her "sweetly modulated voice" over the phone. This is good news. Now we may hope that the present anative vocalization of some of the other telephone girls will become sweetly modulated.

What a sight for gods and men it must have been—General Linevitch in Manchuria passing along the lines of his army, kissing every soldier in the ranks!

Queer kind of upside down, wrong end foremost ways this feminine world has! At the time a woman needs to brace up and summon all her energy and grit in the supreme effort to keep young and maintain her activities, mental and physical, to the end of her days, at that very time her own children come around her and begin to drive her out of life. She's too old to do this or that, she needs rest, she need not care any more how she looks or what she wears and at her age this or that thing is not proper for her. The pity of it is that many a time the mother lets herself be governed by the crude, selfish inexperience of her children and actually gives up all that makes life worth living at a time when her powers of body and mind are yet in their prime. It is nothing short of a crime for children thus to drive their mothers into dreary and useless old age. It looks as if the children were trying to coddle and "shoo" their mother out of the world instead of trying to keep her young and active. So, mothers, whatever else you do that you shouldn't don't let your children boss you at any age.

I have just seen the advertisement of a fine seaside hotel conducted by "Mrs. J. J. Blank & Son." Good!

OLD DEBTORS' PRISON.

Building at Georgetown Still in Good State of Preservation — Now Used as a Church.

Washington.—South of the canal on Thirty-second street, Georgetown, stands the old debtors' prison, one of the oldest buildings in that historic city.

Years prior to the laying out of the District of Columbia this structure was built, and as far back as the latter part of the seventeenth century was used as a municipal prison, among its first inmates as prisoners being Michael and Matthew Dulaney, charged with setting fire to a tobacco warehouse. The prison was regarded as unsafe and the men were placed in PRISON FOR DEBTORS.

(Ancient Building Still in Good State of Preservation.)

irons and special guards placed over them. This was the only prison in the then lower part of Montgomery county, Maryland, although the county court was held at Rockville, and there it was that all violators of the state laws in the county were carried for trial. Even in those good old days people would get into trouble and into jail. The laws were strict—early to bed and early to rise, and if one failed to meet his financial obligations he was thrown into jail.

The old building has been used for many purposes since then, and now a faithful band of colored people, Baptists, hold religious services there, entrance being through an end door which is reached by a long rickety flight of stone steps. The lower floor is used as a storage house for fertilizer, but this does not interfere with the worshipers. Barring the dilapidated condition of the roof, windows and chimneys, the building, which is of stone and brick, is in a splendid state of preservation, and unless torn down to make room for another building will doubtless remain as a historic spot of interest for many years.

CAPT. HOBSON WEDS.

Hero of the Merrimac and Miss Hull Married—Both Come of Famous Ancestry.

New York.—The marriage of Miss Grizelda Houston Hull and Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, on May 15 was the culmination of an interesting romance and marks an alliance which joins some of the best blood in the country. The marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents in Tuxedo. Only relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Mrs. Hobson is on her father's side related to the Huls, Strongs, Farnhams and Doolittles of New England, and is through her mother, who was a Miss Lucia Houston, daughter of Judge Russell Houston, of Kentucky, related to some of the finest families of the south. She is the grandniece of Gov. Houston, of Alabama, who was recognized as one of the greatest executives who ever presided over the destinies of that sate. She, therefore, has in her veins the blood of the Polks, the famous President Sam Houston, of Texas, the Longs, the Joneses, the Eatons, and other noted families of Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

CAPT. R. P. HOBSON.
(Hero of the Merrimac Has Entered Holy Bonds of Wedlock.)

Capt. Hobson, too, comes of famous ancestry, both south and north. Through his mother, who was Miss Sarah Croom Pearson, daughter of Chief Justice Richmond Pearson, he is related to the Saltenstals and Brewsters, of Massachusetts, and on his father's side is related to the Moreheads, Whites, Williams and others who did much to lay the foundations of the great states in North Carolina.

Catches Prize Codfish.

Capt. Lorenzen, of the schooner E. A. Hooper, of Gloucester, brought in the prize codfish to Boston recently. The fish was a monster in appearance, with a head like that of a good-sized swordfish. It was caught off Halfway rock. The fish weighed 83 pounds dressed, and according to fishermen who saw it must have weighed nearly 100 pounds when caught. The fish measured almost six feet in length. It was bought by one of the wholesale houses and sold immediately to a retail dealer in the Back bay.

WONDERFUL WIRELESS.

Cunard Liner Talks to Two Continents In Midocean.

NEW YORK, May 29.—For three days in midocean the Cunard line steamship Campania, which arrived in port here, through its Marconi wireless telegraph equipment kept in touch with two continents, and its cabin passengers knew everything of importance that happened in Europe and America.

This is the first time this remarkable feat has been accomplished. Hitherto connections by wireless with both countries have been made, but never has the wonderful instrument been able to accomplish such continuous results.

The ship's operator connected with Podhu, England, the European station, and Cape Cod, Mass.

Though a dense fog prevailed for three days, messages were sent and received without a flaw.

Every day the news of the world's doings was supplied the passengers through the Campania's daily bulletin.

The cabin passengers, among whom were many notables, were amazed at the feat of the instrument.

Aloft in his little wooden house, ten feet square, sat the operator in his shirt sleeves at the big key. Now and then he rapped out a call which sounded within the narrow confines of the wireless house with the sputtering noise of a series of pistol shots.

While 1,600 miles east of New York and 1,310 miles west of the Lizard, the operator secured direct communication with Europe and America. After calling for about five minutes he shifted to the receiver and listened.

Flashes of the world's doings were received by the man in the box, and messages were sent to both continents telling of the progress of the ship, the condition of her passengers and the ships she had passed.

NUPTIALS OF CROWN PRINCE.

State Ceremonies at Schwerin Have Opened—Bride's Mother Balks.

SCHWERIN, Germany, May 29.—The series of balls, dinners and receptions which precede the wedding of Crown Prince Frederick William to the Duchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, have opened here. The crown prince on his arrival was received at the railroad station by the Duchess Cecilia, her brother, Grand Duke Frederick, and other members of her family. A court ball and a state dinner are on the programme, and a ceremonial breakfast took place this morning.

During the next few days the young duchess will rest, as the preparations for the wedding have been most fatiguing. About fifty costumes have been fitted and refitted on her during the last six weeks, which has meant standing for hours every day. Recently the duchess has also been obliged to give daily sittings to a portrait painter.

Much interest has been shown in the matter as to whether the Grand Duchess Anastasia will be present on the 6th of June at the marriage of her daughter, the Duchess Cecilia, with the crown prince. It was first said that she would not. Then that was contradicted. Lately the first assertion was repeated with a little more emphasis than the first time, the plea of ill health being again put forward.

The other evening there appeared in most of the papers what reads like an inspired circular. It is as follows: "The question as to whether the mother of the bride of the crown prince will attend the wedding of her daughter is, according to what we hear, not definitely settled."

Young Roebling Found.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 29.—Siegfried Roebling, the Asheville boy who has been missing so many days, was found here and left for Asheville in company with Judge Thomas A. Jones and Edward Holmes, two Asheville men who came to Knoxville on Saturday in search of him. When found young Roebling was seated in a chair in a bowling alley. He said that he could not see why the newspapers were making such a fuss over him, as his parents knew he would return home when school was over.

Trolley Jumped Rails; Eight Hurt.

ATTLEBORO, Mass., May 29.—Eight persons were seriously hurt while many others received minor injuries in an electric car accident on the Attleboro and Pawtucket branch of the Interstate Consolidated Street railway here. The car, which carried forty-two passengers, jumped the track and was brought to a stop by a sand bank and stone wall. All of the injured will recover.

Soldiers' Volley Killed Two Jews.

LODZ, May 29.—During disturbances here in the neighborhood of a synagogue soldiers fired on the crowd, killing two Jews. A workman who was mistaken for a police spy was stabbed to death. The workmen are in an ugly mood. Many troops have arrived here.

Vesuvius Holds Up Railway.

NAPLES, May 29.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius continues, the volcano showing four new openings through which lava flows, while the immediate surrounding country is covered with ashes. The funicular railroad has been compelled to cease running.

CHILDREN'S HOME REMODELED AND IMPROVED TO BE THROWN OPEN TO THE PUBLIC TOMORROW

WORTHY INSTITUTION SUPPORTED BY LOCAL BENEVOLENCES HOUSED AGAIN IN WESTERVELT AVENUE STRUCTURE.

The informal opening of the remodelled Children's Home will take place tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, when the public will be cordially welcomed to inspect the new quarters at Jackson and Westervelt avenues. Flowers will be gratefully received at the Home tomorrow morning from 9 to 11 o'clock. One would not recognize in the remodelled building anything to remind him of the old structure, so complete has been its change. The old part has been removed to the Westervelt avenue side and a handsome addition of the colonial style has taken its place in front, the entire building being well proportioned and an ornament to the neighborhood.

The building is provided with all modern improvements and two large dormitories, one for girls and the other for boys, are the features. The rooms are all large, well ventilated and light, making it possible for the work to becarried on under the best conditions. The improvements were made possible through the benefactions of the late James Clark, who left a generous sum for the work.

The Home will now accommodate nearly forty children. At present there are eighteen being cared for. It was founded thirty years ago in a small house in Grove street by a few friends. Mrs. M. E. Kimball was the first and only president of the institution The Home was started with three children and there has been as high as twenty-five cared for.

A. L. C. Marsh was the architect.

The Children's Home—Opening Day Tomorrow.

TWO MORE VICTORIES TO DAABSTERS' STRING

All-Americans the Victim, and One Contest a Ten Inning two to one game.

A GOOD ARTICLE.

In the Morning Visitors Tie Score in Ninth and Cosgrove Brings in Winning Run in the Tenth—The Tale of Woe.

Plainfield added two more games to the string yesterday, defeating the All-Americans in both games. It took ten innings of fast playing to settle the morning argument; score 2 to 1. The afternoon game was one-sided all the way through; 12 to 2. Fifteen hundred spectators saw the game in the afternoon; about 700 attended the morning contest.

Kelly and Beck indulged in a flingfest in the morning, and from the popular stand point the former came out ahead. Plainfield only got three hits and the All-Americans banged out seven. Beck, however, kept the welts scattered, and his team mates fielded like lightning in tight places. The All-Americans kept pace, and although each team made five errors the game presented the prettiest picture of baseball activity and tricksiness of the season.

Plainfield scored first, in the second. Cregan, first up, got his bag on Christ's error. Christ tried to handle Kiernan's grounder in time to nip Pete at second and failed. After Leonard walked Driscoll drove a long fly to right field and Cregan beat the return from third. Kiernan was nailed at third and Lamar ended the try with an easy one to third.

The All-Americans scored the tie run in the ninth. Hyde singled to right. Christ bumped into the ball after he hit it and died ignominiously, but Hyde continued to second and came in on Oldring's muff of Lamar's throw. Ottmer and Young fanned.

Fitz-Henry hit to right in the opening of the tenth, after two men were down, but Kelly ended the chance with an easy fly to left. Kelly gave his own game away. He passed up Cosgrove, after Beck had flied out, hit Oldring, and put one right where Connolly could reach it for a biff that brought Cosgrove in.

BOROUGH SCHOOL CLOCK MAY HAVE THREE FACES

THE CHANGE CONSIDERED AT MEETING OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Aside from hearing the explanation in the Wightman "criticism" matter, the borough Board of Education transacted but little business at its meeting, Monday evening.

In behalf of the citizens, Councilman James K. Arnold asked that the clock to be placed in the Somerset school tower be three faced instead of one. He explained that it would be of little convenience to have a single dial in the front part as people would have to get directly in front of the building to discern the time, whereas if there were others on the side they could be seen from a long distance up or down Somerset street. President Joy informed him that the matter would be given full consideration and it was afterward discussed with probably favorable action. Chairman Cooley, of the building committee, said he had conferred with the builders and architects and had learned that the changes in the tower to accommodate three clocks could be made easily.

Mr. Joy was appointed a committee of one to draw up fitting resolutions expressing the sorrow of the Board at the death of John Valiant, the same to be engrossed and spread on the minutes. The local postoffice reported that it would place a letter box at Watchung and Mountain avenues and it was voted to secure new text books for the stenography class, the new ones now in use to be given the pupils.

Humor and Magic.

Thomas Dobson, humorist and mimic, together with Hendrickson, the magician and shadowgraphist, will give a free performance for men under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in association hall, tomorrow night. These entertainers are considered among the best and are sure to furnish an enjoyable evening for all who attend.

Speakers at Epworth League.

Rev. Dr. William W. Youngson, of St. James M. E. church, Elizabeth, and Rev George Mooney, of the Monroe Avenue M. E church, will make addresses at a meeting of the Elizabeth District Epworth League, to be held in the Monroe Avenue church Thursday night, at 8 o'clock.

HORSE SHOW NEXT WEEK

Plainfield Riding and Driving Club Ready for Exhibition.

PRIZES AMOUNT TO $2,000

Entry List, Larger Than Last Season, Closes Tomorrow—Programme of Events.

The plan for the second annual horse show to be held at the Driving Park, on Friday and Saturday of next week under the auspices of the Painfield Riding and Driving Club, are rapidly shaping themselves in a most satisfactory manner and there is every indication that the show will be one of the best held in this part of the country. The entries for the open events are being received from some of the most prominent people in the Metropolitan district, as well as from Philadelphia and other points. The committee in charge of the affair, of which Lewis E. Waring, is the chairman, is quite anxious that the local classes fill up. Every inducement is offered local owners to enter their horses, open to amateur owners residing in Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties.

The aggrgate in prizes, cups and cash, is $2,000 . There are four classes for harness horses, two ponies in harness and two saddle horses, with cups for the winners of each, except the first class in the last event, for which a saddle is offered as a prize.

All of the twenty-eight boxes are sold for both days of the show, and many of the parking spaces have been sold. The judges for the show will be Dr. F. C. Grenside and James B. Marshall, Esq., of New York; George Willing, of Philadelphia, and Percy Evans, of Virginia.

In nearly every case all of those who entered horses last year, will again have their horses in the show this year, and additional interest is attached by reason of the fact that several other prominent persons will show their horses, including Mrs. Gerkem, Mrs. VanHausen and Miss Vera Morris, of New York; Miss Maxwell, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Alfred Dietrick, of New York.

The entries will close tomorrow and announcement of them will be made early next week. They include roadsters, pacers ,tandems, combination harness and saddle horses, ponies under sadde, polo ponies, hunters and jumpers and those mentioned in the local classes, making in all thirty-five classes.

The principal officers of the show committee comprise Lewis E. Waring,chairman; Dr. M. O'Malley Knott, secretary; J. Herbert Case, treasurer, and W. S. Blitz, assistant secretary. These officers together with the general committee , have made every arrangement for the comfort and convenience of those who expect to attend the show as well as those who will exhibit their horses. Exhibitors' horses and vehicles will be transported free from Jersey City to Plainfield and return by special shipment. Many of the horses that will appear are at the Philadelphia horse show this week.

HE DROPPED DEAD AT FRIEND'S HOME.

PATRICK O'KEEFE A VICTIM OF APOPLEXY.

Patriok O'Keefe, for many years engaged as bartender in local saloons, dropped dead this morning while visiting at the home of James Kiniery on South Second street, near Plainfield avenue. He entered the place in apparent good health when he suddenly reeled and fell lifeless. Apoplexy is assigned as the cause.

O'Keefe was thirty-five years old and was a native of Plainfield. His only surviving relatives are a brother, John O'Keefe, of South Plainfield, and two aunts in this city. The body was taken to Cole's undertaking rooms.

TWENTY-FOUR MEETS IS THE SEASON'S RECORD FOR THE FLOURISHING WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB

SEVERAL MEADOWBROOK HOUNDS TO BE ADDED TO THE ORGANIZATION'S VALUABLE PACK.

The Watchung Hunt Club has closed its first season. Meets will not be resumed until the weather cools in the fall.

From the first ride, last October, the success of the organization was assured. Applications for membership came in steadily during the season, and the roll increased from forty-five, with which it started, to seventy-eight. The degree of enthusiasm with which the sport was taken up exceded the highest hopes of the coterie that planned and launched the club.

Next season the organization will take up activities with increased strength and a very firm foundation in the city's social life. Moreover, the steplechase with which the club wound up its season a week ago has given Plainfield a high place in the regard of the "smart" horsey set of New York and Long Island.

During the season the club held about twenty-four meets. Its longest ride was to Colonia. Next season the runs will be made with an enlarged pack. Several dogs are to be purchased from the famous Meadowbrook kennels.

The officers of the club, some of whom are shown in the illustration, are as follows:

President, L. E. Waring; vice president, Charles B. Freeman; secretary, S. A. Cruickshank; treasurer, G S. Ring; M. F H., Dr. Middleton O'M. Knott. George P Mellick and Harry A. Bourne, with the five officers, constitute the board of stewards.

WIGHTMAN EXPLAINS TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

ADMITS DAILY PRESS INTERVIEW BUT DENIES INTENTION TO CRITICISE.

As provided by a resolution passed at the previous meeting of the Board, the North Painfield Board of Education asked Superintendent Homer J. Wightman, at its session Monday night, for explanation of an interview published in The Daily Press regarding the reported dissatisfaction, and wholesale resignations of borough school teachers The explanation was read in open session but considered in secret. A carefully worded statemhent made to a Daily Press reporter by President James R. Joy, yesterday, was to the effect that Mr. Wightman's explanation had been "accepted." Mr. Wightman was not asked to state all he came prepared to say. He informed the Board, in a statement preliminary to the actual reply to the request for an explanation, that he had two papers to submit. One, he said, was a general reply to the question. The other was a detailed statement of the circumstances leading to the unpleasantness, and "would necessarily draw in the names of other persons than himself."

Considerable discussion took place over the advisability of hearing the statements and considering them in public. President Joy argued strongly in favor of a secret session, in order to protect the person or persons who might be dragged into the matter through the statements in "Paper No. 2." Mr Townsend said that while not averse to a secret session, he believed that, as the matter heretofore had been public, it might just as well continue so.

"While I will not object to hearing the explanation in secret session," he said, "yet I reserve the right to make a motion that some statement of the hearing and its result be made public."

"A greater injustice has been done me in this matter than you may imagine," said Superintendent Wightman after Mr. Townsend had spoken. "But if the Board is desirous of cosing the matter, and ending it, as I have no doubt it can be ended, quietly and without further publicity, I will state my side publicly." Mr. Joy again spoke in favor of a secret session, and Mr. Cooley made a motion in accordance with the President's desire. It was not seconded, and Mr. Wightman read "Paper No-1" in open session. It was as follows:

"It has never been my wish to criticise the Board of Education through the press. It was entirely

Rev W. C. Hubbell Makes Stirring Speech in Reform Hall—Women's Corps Presents an Urn.

While all the world is ringing with the valor of an alien race, America yesterday turned loyally to the heroes of her own hearthstone and again a people not ungrateful paid a tribute to its soldier dead. Veterans of the war of the Rebellion everywhere conducted their Memorial day exercises and the fast thinning ranks were cheered by thousands of citizens throughout the country

In Plainfield, the days observance was in charge of Winfield Scott Post, No 73, G. A. R., and from early in the morning until late in the afternoon the old soldiers were faithful to the memory of those who fell in the great struggle. The memorial programme at 7:30 in the morning when the entire detail and the Crescent Band went to Scotch Pains and decorated the graves o the heroes. They were in charge of Staff Commander Charles B. Stephens and were escorted to the cemetery by the village fire department and school children.

Returning to Plainfield the graves in North Plainfield were decorated after which the usual parade to Hillside cemetery took place, the procession drawing crowds of people from all over the city. It was headed by Captain William Hand, of the post, and Acting Captain W. K. Browning, of Company K, the latter organization taking part. On arriving at the cemetery, the graves were decorated bt the feature of the exercises was the presentation to the post of the urn for the soldiers' plot by the Women's Relief Corps. Mrs. M. C. Dobbins delivered the address which conveyed the urn and it was accepted by Commander I. L. McVoy, in behal of the post. Forty school children added a touching part to the formality by singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Nearer My God to Thee.' The urn adds greatly to the appearance of the soldier plot and is to be filled with handsome flowers. The committee which se-

Two Russian Warships Have Escaped the Japs.

ROJESTVENSKY, WOUNDED, RESCUED

Russians Report Two Japanese Battleships, Two Cruisers and Many Destroyers Sunk—Togo Sweeping Sea For Fugitives.

LONDON, May 31.—A Vladivostok special dispatch says that two ships alone of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's powerful flotilla, the swift cruiser Almaz and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozny, lie at anchor there in the curving harbor of Golden Horn, they having separated from the fleet in the early stage of the battle which began in the Korea strait Saturday and headed, in obedience to orders, with full speed to Vladivostok.

No other vessels of the Baltic fleet have yet arrived, and the signal stations at Askold and Rimskykorsakoff islands have reported none in sight.

A St. Petersburg report says that Mme. Rojestvensky, wife of the commander of the Russian fleet, has received a telegram from Vladivostok, signed by her husband, saying that he had arrived there on board the cruiser Almaz and that he was severely wounded in the neck, back and abdomen.

Officers of the Almaz and Grozny say that both fleets had already sustained terrible losses when the Almaz and Grozy broke through the hostile line.

Of the Japanese two battleships had gone down before their eyes, and two cruisers, their sterns high out of the water, seemed ready to plunge foremost to the bottom of the sea.

The Russian fleet, they say, was even in a sadder plight. Rojestvensky's flagship, the Knlaz Souvaroff, and her sister ship, the Borodino, and the cruisers Oslabya and Orel were utterly destroyed, and when the fog closed down and hid the scene of battle from sight northward of the speeding ships a third great Russian battleship, the Alexander III., seemed in sore distress, but limping northward, putting up a valiant fight against throngs of torpedo boats and still continuing her attacks on the cruisers of the island empire. Torpedo boats were also clinging round the other ships of the fleet like angered wasps, separate flotillas darting in again and again to launch their weapons.

The Almaz, which has arrived at anchorage here, bears scars of the battle. Her mizzen mast is shot away, and one of her smokestacks is pierced by a cannon shot. But the Grozny, though engaged for several hours in a running fight at short range with a large Japanese destroyer, shows no signs of the fray, and finally, after her commander, Captain Andriffski, had been wounded and an officer and three men had been killed, the Grozny succeeded in sinking her opponent with a luckily placed shot and reached Vladivostok.

A warrant officer of the Russian repair ship Kamchatka who landed at Moji, Japan, says:

"Our fleet entered the strait of Korea numbering thirty-six vessels. The Kamchatka received several shots and was partly disabled. Finally a shot struck a vital part, and sixty men entered boats. When they were nearly clear a great explosion occurred, and the ship sank. The captain and seven officers were killed during the battle. Two officers were wounded, and two jumped overboard. Three other officers were drowned.

"We could see our battleships to the northward enveloped by the Japanese. Seemingly they were badly damaged."

A Tokyo dispatch says that Admiral Togo has wired Admiral Yamamoto, minister of the navy, as follows:

"The main force of the Russian second and third fleets is nearly annihilated. Please feel assured of it."

The captured Russian battleship Orel arrived at the Maizura navy yard at noon yesterday. The battleships Nikolai I. and Admiral Seniavin and the coast defense ironclad Admiral Apraxine reached Sasebo at 11 o'clock. It is reported that the Orel and Nikolai I. are slightly damaged.

Early in the battle an officer of the Almaz while watching Rojestvensky's flagship, the battleship Kniaz Souvaroff, for a signal saw the flagship shudder from stem to stern as if under a blow from a gigantic hammer and hesitate in her course, while the waves rose high from her armored sides. Then she commenced to list and sink.

The officer believes that the debut of the submarine boat as an effective agent in naval warfare or perhaps a large mine caused the disaster to the Kniaz Souvaroff. The damage, however, was so extensive that the flagship soon went down, leaving the deck officers and many of the crew struggling in the waves.

One of the Russian torpedo boats, either the destroyer Buiny or the Bravi, ran in and picked up a number of the swimmers, one of whom was recognized through a glass as Admiral Rojestvensky.

It is officially announced from Tokyo that all of the Russian battleships have been sunk except the Orel and Nickola I., which were captured. Admirals Rojestvensky, Voelkersam and Nebogatoff are all reported prisoners.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says that Admiral Rojestvensky has arrived at Vladivostok on board the torpedo boat destroyer Buiny. During the battle he sustained a wound in the head.

Admiral Durnovo, a member of the council of the empire and superintendent of posts and telegraphs under the minister of the interior, has received a dispatch from his son, who is in command of the Buiny, describing fully how his commander in chief, Admiral Rojestvensky, was saved. The admiral was washed off the deck of the Knlaz Souvaroff just before the flagship foundered and was picked up by the torpedo boat destroyer Buiny.

Other dispatches from Vladivostok say the Russians lost twelve warships sunk and captured during the engagement. According to these reports, the Japanese torpedo boats played the principal role in the defeat of the Russian fleet. They were sent in for action again and again under a perfect hail of shot from the Russian rapid firing guns. More than one-half of the Japanese flotilla of torpedo boats was sunk. The protected cruiser Jeartchug, reported sunk in the Tokyo dispatches has arrived at Vladivostok.

Official announcement is made from Tokyo that Admiral Rojestvensky has been captured and that he is seriously wounded.

Admiral Togo continues his great sweep to the northward in pursuit of the remnant of the Russian fleet. Complete reports will possibly increase the extent of the Russian disaster. It will be some days before complete results of the battle are known. At the end of the week Admiral Togo's fleet is expected to reassemble, and until then it will only be possible to secure approximate details.

The Russian government seems to be in a quandary as to how to break the news to the country. A war council was held at Tsarskoe-Selo at which the emperor was urged to issue an imperial manifesto.

So far as the newspapers are concerned the public might believe Vice Admiral Rojestvensky had achieved a victory. The censor passed all the vague rumors favorable to the Russians, but blue penciled everything indicating a Russian disaster. While the disastrous news was spread like wildfire by word of mouth over the capital and was quickly telegraphed privately to the big centers by the anti-government leaders the country can be said to be still in a state of ignorance as to what has happened. The editors of the liberal papers here, being conversant with the contents of the Tokyo dispatches, warn their readers in a roundabout fashion against harboring false hopes based upon dispatches which appear in their news columns. The Bourse Gazette quite openly declares it would be a sin to conceal the fact that all hope of Russia obtaining the mastery of the sea has vanished, adding:

"The significance of the collapse of this hope is self evident."

The Novoe Vremya and the Russ while admitting that the fate of the far east has been determined decline to accept the Japanese reports. Their editorials, however, breathe a tone of unutterable sadness.

The admiralty officially admits the sinking of the battleships Kniaz Souvaroff, Borodino, Oslabya and Orel and the repair ship Kamchatka. The loss of these vessels was definitely established by Captain Chagin of the cruiser Almaz. No statement regarding the ships captured was made.

The report that the Kniaz Souvaroff, flagship of the Russian fleet which was defeated by the Japanese in the strait of Korea, was sunk and that Admiral Rojestvensky was wounded and placed on board a torpedo boat destroyer is confirmed. The whereabouts of the destroyer is not known.

It Was British Steamer Olhamia.

SHANGHAI, May 31.—It now appears that the report of the sinking of an American vessel by the fleet of Admiral Rojestvensky grew out of the seizure by the Russian fleet of the British steamer Olhamia, bound for Japan, which was later retaken by Japanese warships.

Funeral Horses Stampeded.

BUFFALO, May 31.—The firing of a salute at the dedication of the new soldiers' plot at Forest Lawn stampeded the horses in a funeral cortege which was just entering the cemetery. Several carriages were wrecked, and four persons were injured. Emmanuel Roseau, Henry Haenlien, Kaufman Greenberg and Albert Ashley were taken to the hospital. All of them will recover.

A Fair Judge

cannot fail to eulogize the benefits accruing from a Gas Water Heater. It is not only convenient, it is necessary to Summer comfort. It obviates the pail or tea kettle brigade from kitchen to bathroom after the coal fires are out. By its use, water may be heated almost instantaneously at a minimum cost. It is so constructed that the accumulation of dirt which interferes with the operation of many such heaters is impossible. $8.50 is a small price for such a great convenience. Payments may be made monthly. Connections free.

UNION AND FREEDOM

President's Address at Slocum Memorial Services.

"A GENUINELY REUNITED COUNTRY"

"Civil War Has Left No Scars of Bitterness, Dishonor or Shame to Offset the Memories of Its Great Glory."

NEW YORK, May 31. — President Roosevelt at the unveiling of the statue of General Slocum in Brooklyn spoke in part as follows:

"Mr. Mayor, Mr. Commissioner and you, my fellow citizens, and, above all, you who took part in the great war in which the man whose statue is raised won for himself and his country renown and honor:

"I listened to a sermon recently in which the preacher, dwelling upon the exercises to be held throughout the Union, preached on the text which commemorates the altar raised by command of Moses to commemorate the victory gained by the children of Israel over the wild tribes of the desert who sought to bar their march toward the promised land, wherein Amalek came out and Israel fought all day and while Aaron and Hur upheld the hands of Moses until as night fell the sun went down on the Israelites, and they raised an altar to Jehovah—to Jehovah, who stood as the exponent of the principle for which Israel warred; they raised it to the principle of righteousness, which alone can justify any war or any struggle, and, Mr. Mayor, that is the thought that you developed in the excellent address to which we have just listened—that we make to commemorate the great victory, the triumph of the cause of union and liberty, not primarily because it was a victory, but because it was a victory for righteousness and the peace and the liberty and the eternal spiritual welfare of mankind.

"I see before me here men who won high honor serving as comrades of General Slocum, and I know that there exists in the Union no men who will appreciate more the fact that now, forty years after the war, the crowning triumph of what they did is to be found in the fact that we have a genuinely reunited country, a country in which the man who wore the blue stretches out the hand of loyal friendship to his erstwhile foe, his now devoted friend and fellow countryman, the man who wore the gray.

"A short while ago I passed through the great state of Texas. Wherever I stopped in that great state I was greeted by representatives of the Grand Army marching side by side with or intermingled with men clad in the gray uniform that showed that they fought in the armies of the Confederacy, men who had tested one another's worth on the stricken fields, men who knew each that the other had been ready when the hour of supreme appeal came to show his worth by his endeavors and men who leave to their children and their children's children as a heritage of honor forever the memory of the great deeds done alike by those who fought under Lee, for we, because of the very fact that the Union triumphed, now have the right to feel alike pride in the valor and devotion of those who valiantly fought against the stars in their courses and those who finally saw their efforts, their sufferings, crowned by triumph.

"Think of it, my fellow countrymen! Think of what a thrice blessed fortune has been ours, that the greatest war that the nineteenth century saw after the close of the Napoleonic struggles should have left, not as most wars inevitably do and must leave, memories of bitterness, dishonor and shame to offset the memories of glory, memories which make the men on one side hang their heads, but which have left, not that, but should have left to the victors and vanquished alike, after the temporary soreness is over, the same right to feel the proudest satisfaction in the fact that the Union was saved and the greatest pride in the honor, the gallantry, the devotion to the right as each side had given it the right to see the right done alike by those who overcame as victors and those who finally went down in defeat.

"I congratulate the people of Brooklyn not primarily upon raising this statue, because that they ought to do, but upon the opportunity, upon the chance, of having it to raise. I congratulate them upon the good fortune of having the fellow citizen who in war and in peace alike served the people so well as to make it their duty not so much to him as to themselves to erect the statue that it migh serve as a lesson for the generations to come. And, my fellow citizens, I am sure we all realize the peculiar appropriateness of having the statue of General Slocum received on behalf of the city of New York by its chief magistrate, whose father was General Slocum's illustrious collegue.

"We are able to point to General Slocum as the type of what a decent American citizen should be, as a man who was an example in his family life, an example in his business relations, an honest and upright public servant no less than a fearless and able soldier."

Wonder if that canvas of former Governor Murphy was varnished at the Newark factory?

Pittsburg people are angry because Senator Knox has given up his residence there. Probably they smoked him out.

"American manhood is going to rise in its might some day and carefully drop the starched shirt over into the next lot where the tin cans are," declares an exchange. Before that time comes, man should wear more comfortable gear on his head and feet.

One week from Friday, the second annual horseshow of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club will take place at the Driving Park and the committee declares that the size of the entry list is particulary gratifying. The exhibition given last year was a credit to the city in every sense of the word and the one this year will eclipse the previous attempt.

Interview with Superintendent Wightman is published in The Daily Press.

Mr. Wightman is reported as declaring interview false.

North Plainfield Board of Education calls Superintendent Wightman to account.

Superintendent Wightman admits interview published in The Daily Press is correct.

Commenting on a statement made by Dr. Duke, an eminent English specialist, that the trouble with most brains is that they are not kept busy enough, an exchange remarks that the Britisher's observation is evidenty not predicated upon a familarity with a daily routine of the newspaper man. On the other hand, its even money that the learned physician would say that to help run a newspaper would be like taking a vacation from hard work.

The census enumerators start on the rounds tomorrow morning According to arrangement they must complete their work by Thursday, June 15. It will be sometime, however, before the population of Plainfield and North Plainfield is learned for the supervisors and enumerators who work under them are stopped by law from making public any facts. When the official announcement is made, we would not be surprised to find that there are 20,000 souls in this city and 7,000 in the borough.

WHAT THE CENSUS MAN IS GOING TO ASK YOU

FACTS YOU MUST TELL HIM WHEN HE CALLS TOMORROW.

Supervisor Thomas Hanna will have his enumerators at work taking the census of Plainfield tomorrow morning. The same work will be done in the borough.

Here are the questions which the enumerator must ask and have answered in his schedule:

1—Number of dwelling house.
2—Number in family.
3—Full name of each individual, including everybody who may have died since June 1, but nobody who may have been born since then.
4—Color or race.
5—Sex.
6—Date of birth.
7—Age at last birthday.
8—Single, married, widowed or divorced.
9—Place of birth.
10—Place of father's birth.
11—Place of mother's birth.
12—Number of years in United States.
13—Naturalization.
14—Occupation, trade or profession of each person over ten years.
15—Can you read?
Can you write?
16—Can you speak English?
18—Do you own or rent home?
19—Do you own it outright or is is mortgaged?
20—Is it a farm or a house?

People wil save the enumerators much time if they will study the above questions and be all ready to answer them.

WIGHTMAN EXPLAINS

contrary to my wishes to be reported in any way regarding any of the points that were stated in the article of The Daily Press. That they should appear, either under the guise of an interview or otherwise, have been very objectionable to me.

"I had nothing whatever to do with the statements in the Weekly Review, and said that to the reporter from The Press. I also said to him I could not confirm the statement in the Review and asked him to consult the president of the Board of Education, which he said he would do.

"It was my express request that these matters be not mentioned, as they woud not benefit anyone concerned. I regret that they appeared, because it has placed me in a false light, and it has given some people the false impression that the board, as a body, are not acting for the best interest of the school.

(Signed) H. J. Wightman."

"It seems to me," said President Joy, "that this statement answers the query of the board. Is there any reason why the second paper, in which the names of other persons figure, should be submitted?" This seems to cover the ground. We were concerned with what appeared, from the newspaper report ,to be an attack on the Board. The statement just made by the superintendent, I confess, changes my view; it does not look to me now as if Mr. Wightman had designed to put out an interview deliberately, to assail the board."

The president made another appeal for a secret session, and this time a motion to that effect, made by Mr. Townsend, was passed.

When asked yesterday as to the action of the Board on the superintendent's statements, President Joy said:

"The one that was read in the public session was considered in the secret session, and the explanation was accepted. The other paper was not called for. I consider the matter closed."

"Can it be said that Mr. Wightman has been relieved of all odium in the matter in the eyes of the board?" he was asked. "Were cordial relations re-established?"

"As your paper publishes the statements," was the reply, "they appeared to be an attack on the board. The board asked for an explanaton. Mr. Wightman's explanaton was accepted."

Decoration Day passed as usual in town ,the only special event being the exercises over the soldier dead who are buried in the cemetery here. A delegation from the Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., together with the firemen and school children taking part in the exercises. The speakers were Rev. G. M. Shott and Rev. T. Moore-Smith.

The finding of the body of Frank Huber, the suicide and would-be Sunday morning, by Edward M. Johnston was a fortunate find for the county as it saved the county the expense of hunting him down. The spot selected by Huber to bring his career to an end was one seldom visited by anyone except hunters or boys out nutting in the fall and the chances were that the body would have remained undiscovered for several months had Mr. Johnston's wanderings not led him through this unfrequented spot. Miss Kreamer, the victim, is doing nicely and the doctors are hopeful of a speedy recovery.

WEBB JAY'S AUTO WON.

Barney Oldfield and Chevrolet Beaten by Chicago Expert.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Webb Jay of the Chicago Automobile club carried off the honors in the final day's racing of the automobile meet at Harlem. In a ten mile heart breaking drive with Barney Oldfield, Jay won the $1,000 cash prize in the fast time of 9:49 2-5. In addition to this, the Chicago man defeated Louis Chevrolet, the Frenchman, in a five mile special race for a purse of $500. Jay's time in this event was 4:58.

In the ten mile event with Oldfield the use of steam as opposed to gasoline was demonstrated by Jay. The Chicago man used a steam machine and although hard pressed throughout the entire race finished several lengths in the lead. This race was the most exciting seen during the meet.

The Jay car made its speed on the stretches, while Oldfield repeatedly cut down the steamer's lead at the stretch and paddock turns, only to lose ground on the back straightaway and in front of the grand stand.

The two cars got away together, but on the first lap the Chicago man gained a lead of a furlong over the champion which he held until near the end of the race. During the last lap Oldfield was steadily gaining on his opponent, but failed to get up in time to capture the rich prize. Oldfield pressed his car to its utmost, but lost considerable ground at the turns, making broad sweeps in an effort to get the rail.

Harlem Regatta Winners.

NEW YORK, May 31.—At the Harlem regatta here in the veteran doubles Monohan and Bulger of Albany, N. Y., won in what was practically a walkover, and in the junior eight oared shells Columbia university was beaten out a few feet by the Nonpareils in a thrilling finish. F. Fuessel of the Harlem Rowing club defeated the ex-champion, Titus, and Frank Vessley, another star, in the senior quarter mile dash.

Williams and Dartmouth Lead.

BOSTON, May 31.—Four well fought matches, one in singles and three in doubles, were played in the tennis tournament of the New England Intercollegiate association, and the result left Williams and Dartmouth in the best position for championship honors, although the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is still a factor and Tufts remains to be beaten in the doubles event.

Hugh McTan Beat Walthour.

REVERE, Mass., May 31.—Hugh McTan of Chelsea defeated James Moran of the same city and Bobby Walthour of Atlanta, Ga., in a twenty-five mile motor paced race at the Revere cycle track here; time, 39 minutes 35 seconds

Sale of Delinquent Lands for Unpaid Taxes and Assessments.

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, and by the direction of the Common Council of said city, will expose for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, (but not for less than the amount due from the same, as appears in the following schedule, with interests and costs,) on at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North avenue, in said city, certain lots, tracts and parcels of land situated in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Wards of said city, upon which the taxes and assessments have remained unpaid for the space of two years from and after the time when they were due and payable.

This sale is made under the provisions of the 13th Section of an Act, entitled "An Act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes, assessments and water rates or water rents in cities of this State, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subjected to future taxation and assessment," passed March 30, 1896, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the land to be sold may be obtained at the office of the subscriber on any week day prior to the day of sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The following list contains the lot and block numbers of the lots, tracts and parcels of land to be sold in pursuance of this advertisement, as they appear on the official assessment maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, together with a statement of the Wards of the city wherein said lands are respectively situated, and the amount due from each of said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot or parcel as hereinafter designated, there will be added interest as indicated, and also its proportionate share of the costs of this sale, which is hereby estimated at Three Dollars for each item of arrearage thereon.

All lots so sold will be purchased subject to all taxes and assessments levied thereon subsequent to November 20th, 1902.

Notable Women

Mrs. Ruggles Kitson, Sculptor of the Bickerdyke Monument

One winter day more than half a generation ago a little girl playing in the front yard of her home in Brookline, Mass., modeled a snow horse. It was an imposing looking animal, large, recumbent, with fore feet extended as if in the act of rising from the ground. The weather was very cold, and the snow horse remained in full view several days. The little artist was Theo Alice Ruggles, and friends and neighbors who saw her work were much impressed with it. Finally some of her parents' friends called to say that the child ought to study art by all means.

The parents were wise enough to let their daughter do as she wished. She did wish very much to be a sculptor. Accordingly she became the pupil of Henry Hudson Kitson, already a distinguished Boston sculptor. Young Miss Ruggles studied and worked very hard in Boston first, afterward in Paris, still under the guidance of Mr. Kitson. She was so gifted and industrious that by the time she was eighteen she was able to exhibit some of her modeling in the Paris Salon and received honorable mention for it. After a time she returned to America and became the wife of Mr. Kitson, her faithful teacher. The two now have a studio in Boston, where they do famous work. The woman sculptor has been especially successful with the modeling of military subjects. She has made several soldiers' monuments, one of them being in the national battleground park at Vicksburg. She is now engaged on the monument to "Mother" Bickerdyke, the great civil war army nurse. It is to be erected at Galesburg, Ill.

Lawyer and Mother.

Mrs. William George Mulligan of the law firm of Mulligan & Mulligan, New York, is a successful mother, housekeeper and lawyer all in one. Before her marriage Mrs. Mulligan was Miss Agnes K. Murphy. She was and is a real estate broker, and one of the shrewdest in New York city. She began her business very quietly, learning it from her father. She was known to none of the professional real estate brokers of New York, and when suddenly the sale of a piece of property worth over $100,000 was announced these gentlemen began to inquire who it was that had thus been cutting the ground from under their feet. They were astonished to find their rival was a woman, a very young woman at that. She was elected a member of the New York Real Estate Exchange, the only woman member.

Later Miss Murphy studied the legal profession, later still was married to one of her classmates in the law college and formed with him a partnership in business as well as in domestic affairs. Both partnerships have proved successful. Mrs. Mulligan is rich enough to afford whatever she desires, so has had constructed on sanitary and scientific principles a schoolroom and nursery as an annex to her law offices.

A Woman Sanitary Inspector.

Miss Joanna von Wagner of Yonkers, N. Y., has shown American cities, even the largest, how properly to conduct sanitary inspection. The women of Yonkers had her appointed official inspector after they had made a strenuous fight to secure better tenement house regulations.

Being a woman, Miss von Wagner intuitively knows about babies and family matters. Being a strong-minded, educated woman, she also knows how to make the poor tenement house mothers her friends and her helpers in cleaning up their homes and taking right care of their children. At first they were very angry when she insisted on examining their squalid, packed quarters. One family even threatened to throw her downstairs. But Miss von Wagner speaks French, German and Russian; thus she is able to address tenement house dwellers in their own various languages, which gains their good will at once.

Mothers learned to wait her coming and ask her advice about their troubles, thankfully following it, though at first they resented wrathfully any suggestions. One exclaimed in anger: "I ought to know how to bring up children; I've buried eleven."

MARCIA WILLIS CAMPBELL.

HAMBURG SECOND.

Kaiser's Representative In Ocean Race Off Scilly Isles.

LONDON, May 31.—The German yacht Hamburg, second contestant in the kaiser cup race to cross the Atlantic from Sandy Hook, was off the Scilly island station at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

When the Hamburg passed four miles south of Bishop lighthouse at 9 o'clock she was almost becalmed.

Captain C. Peters of the Hamburg, replying to a megaphone message, said he had a splendid voyage and had not met with any mishaps up to reaching Scilly. He had good winds and met with only one gale. When informed of the record made by the American yacht Atlantic, Captain Peters said he was astonished at such an achievement.

Philadelphia Horse Show.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31. — Rain kept down the attendance at the Philadelphia horse show on St. Martin's Green at Wissahickon Heights, but did not seriously interfere with the judging of the various classes of horses shown. Blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Horse in harness, shown before brougham or victoria, won by Dr. Selwonk, ch. g., Reginald Vanderbilt, exhibitor; ladies' saddle horse, won by Lucille, ch. m., Mrs. W. S. Elliot, New York, exhibitor; pair of horses in harness, suitable for park work in a T cart or phaeton, won by Bugler, br. g., and Fife, br. g., W. H. Moore, New York, exhibitor.

Buttling Won at Gravesend.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Before a crowd of 30,000 persons J. L. McGinnis' Buttling, a 30 to 1 shot, captured the Parkway handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, at Gravesend. Dolly Spanker, the hot favorite, was second and Major Daingerfield third. Buttling went to the front at the lifting of the barrier and led by five lengths at the finish, winning very easily. Dolly Spanker was four lengths in front of Major Daingerfield. Jacobite, the 11 to 10 favorite, won the Hudson stakes by a head from Jerry Wernberg, who closed very strong.

Stamsen Held Championship.

MUSKEGON, Mich., May 31.—Fifteen thousand people saw the Federation of American Motor Cycle championship races here. Stamsen of Muskegon, present western champion, ably defended his title against competitors from six states. His best time was in the five mile open, which was run in 6:37. Serbel of Milwaukee was second and Seramur of Toledo third.

A MAD ELEPHANT.

One Hundred Men Choke Gigantic Pachyderm to Death.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 31.—Prince, a gigantic trick elephant, was put to death here in the Yammerthawl quarry. The beast had shown signs of madness and his owners decided to kill him. It took 100 men with block and tackle ninety minutes to put the pachyderm out of existence.

Stakes were driven in the ground on both sides of the elephant. Hawsers one and a quarter inches thick were fixed to each stake with block and tackle. The ropes ended in slip nooses which were placed around the elephant's neck. A gang of 100 men then began to haul on the ropes.

Twice the hawsers broke and the dangerous operation of replacing them had to be undertaken by the trainer. Prince offered no resistance, submitting quietly to the commands of his trainer. The hide was removed from the carcass and given to the Buffalo Historical society.

Blue and Gray at Portsmouth, Va.

NORFOLK, Va., May 31.—Confederate and federal veterans marched together in the Memorial day parade in Portsmouth, Va., which also was participated in by detachments of marines and sailors from the Norfolk navy yard. Following the decoration of the graves of the Confederate and federal veterans there was a grand military mass at St. Paul's Catholic church, with an oration later at the naval cemetery by Lieutenant C. P. Shaw, U. S. N., retired.

In Memory of Phillips Brooks.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Graduates and undergraduates of Harvard college united in presenting to the Virginia Theological seminary, located near Alexandria, Va., a handsome inscribed tablet in memory of the late Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks of Massachusetts, who was once a student of the seminary. The address of presentation was delivered by Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, pastor of Holy Trinity church, Philadelphia.

Miners' Monument Dedicated.

PITTSBURG, May 31.—In memory of the Harwick mine disaster of over one year ago, in which 180 men were killed, about 2,000 miners and several thousand of their friends gathered at the Springdale cemetery to witness the dedication of a magnificent monument donated by the miners of western Pennsylvania.

Floods Cost Half a Million.

EL PASO, Tex., May 31.—A half million dollars is a conservative estimate of the damage done by the overflow of the Rio Grande north of El Paso in the Mesilla valley. Some 7,000 acres of farm lands are under water, crops and farm machinery have been lost, and all houses in the path of the waters were washed away.

Choate's Farewell to London.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Choate, the retiring ambassador, and Mrs. Choate left Easton station on their way to Liverpool, where they will embark on the Caronia for New York. A large gathering of English friends and a few Americans bade them farewell.

BIDDLE EXPLAINED.

Bowen-Loomis Controversy Reopened by Taft.

SALT BONDS PAID FOR DESTROYER

Jaurett Borrowed $5,000 From Loomis, Which Was Subsequently Returned—Russell Now Only Witness to Be Heard.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Secretary Taft has again taken up the Bowen-Loomis matter and examined at some length Nicholas Biddle, a correspondent of the New York Herald, who visited Caracas some time ago. It was Mr. Biddle who published in the Herald what purported to be a note from Mr. Loomis to Mr. Russell, the secretary of legation, notifying him that he would buy a portion of the Mercador claim. Mr. Biddle explained in detail to Secretary Taft what this meant. The letter itself was among the papers submitted to Secretary Taft by Mr. Bowen in the presentation of his case.

Mr. Bowen said he found this among other papers in a box in the legation safe after Mr. Loomis had left. Mr. Biddle told Secretary Taft that Mr. Bowen had said that he wanted his side of the case presented, but that he did not care to be quoted. Thereupon he had placed a number of papers, including this letter, in Mr. Biddle's hands.

The explanation of the letter as contained in Mr. Loomis' statement to Secretary Taft is in substance as follows:

"The Spanish government sold a torpedo boat to the government of Venezuela for 400,000 bolivars. Instead of the cash it was arranged that the Venezuelan government should turn over 1,000,000 bolivars in salt bonds at their face value.

"After reimbursing itself to the extent of 400,000 bolivars the Spanish government was to turn over the remainder of the salt bonds to the American minister at Caracas, the proceeds of which were to be applied to meeting certain claims against the Venezuelan government."

This arrangement was approved at Washington. Among these claims was one amounting to about 60,000 bolivars due Mercador, a promoter and business man, on account of a contract; another for 60,000 bolivars on account of the German railway and several minor claims. Mercador sought a loan from Jaurett, who was at that time semiofficially attached to the American legation.

Jaurett lacked $5,000 of the necessary amount and borrowed it from Mr. Loomis, pledging a portion of the Mercador claim as security, and this was subsequently redeemed by the sale of a portion of the salt bonds to the banks. Mr. Loomis was on vacation and not in Caracas at the time, which accounts for the writing of the note to Mr. Russell. He received for his $5,000 just $5,080.

Secretary Taft does not now believe that it will be necessary to take the testimony of any witness besides Mr. Russell, now en route to Washington from Cartagena.

Panic In Catskill Theater.

CATSKILL, N. Y., May 31.—Smoke from some burning paper in a coal hod standing in the entrance to the gallery of the Nelida theater here last night started a panic in the audience of over 1,000 gathered to hear the memorial exercises of Watson post, G. A. R. A moment after Pastor Knapp rose to read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg the entire gallery was on its feet in a mad rush for the one exit, and this stampede started a scene of wild excitement throughout the auditorium. Women fainted in the rush on the gallery stairs, but no one was seriously hurt.

Chicago Honors Confederate Graves.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 31.—Federal Memorial day was observed in Charleston as a half holiday by many, and at the cemeteries the graves of soldiers who died during the Spanish war en route for Cuba were decorated with flowers and flags. A significant event was the placing of wreaths, sent by Colonel Henry Turner, First Illinois regiment, Chicago, upon the monuments and graves of Confederate soldiers.

Eight Hour Day on Isthmus.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—In view of the announced decision of the isthmian canal commission to enforce the eight hour law on the canal work after June 1 Secretary Taft has stated the grounds upon which Attorney General Moody had reached his decision on that important matter. It was to the effect that as the work of canal construction, regardless of place, was being done by government labor the eight hour law must apply.

Mrs. Lord Left $2,000,000.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Nearly $2,000,000 for charity was left by Mrs. George P. Lord of Elgin, one of the wealthiest women in Illinois, who was well known for her philanthropic work. Mrs. Lord left her husband $350,000 and considerable real estate and to the town of Carpentersville, Ill., the place where she was born, she bequeathed $50,000.

Deegan pitched the afternoon game, and the crowd saw lots in his style to admire. The opposing batsmen never got within dangerous distance of hitting him until their own errors and some timely welts by his mates put the game beyond the visitors' reach. Then he slackened up, but even at that the opposition was not one to be accorded respect.

The All-Americans were weak in the pitching box and their infield did all sorts of unworkmanlike things. Plainfield scored five runs in the second. McGuire passed one man and hit two. He was batted freely and errors helped the runners to register. In the fifth three hits, two passed, and some other things netted four more runs, and Murphy was put in to do the rescue act. He did fairly well, but the Daabsters were far from subdued.

The All-Americans escaped a shut-out in the eighth, after two were down. Murphy was on first by virtue of a pass and Ottmer roosted on second, the result of a single and a steal. Holland sent one that Oldring allowed to go through him, but Ottmer was caught at the plate on Cosgrove's throw-in.

Fitz-Henry brought Murphy and Holland home. Kelly forced Fitz.

Plainfield's fielding was at top notch and the crowd got full value for its money in that quarter. Oldring's error was the only miscue marked against the team.
